At the testimonial dinner given on Friday evening at the hotel Mohican to Frederick W. Mercer, donor of Mercer field to the Bulkeley high school field association, it was revealed that Mr. Mercer had displayed another act of generosity, for it was announced that he had supplied the association with funds whereby a tract of land adjoining the athletic field had been purchased as a site for a tennis court for the students. The land was acquired of John L. and Julia Sikora and the deed transferring title from Sikora and wife to the association, has already been filed for record at the office of the city clerk.

The dedicatory exercises at the field was preceded Saturday by a street parade. The marchers formed at the school at 1.30 o'clock and headed by a platoon of 20 patrolmen, in charge of Sergeant Nelson Smith, followed by the United States Coast Guard academy band, United States Coast Guard cadets, Bulkeley students and students of Williams Memorial institute and Chapman Technical high school, passed through Huntington street to State to Bank to the athletic field. There the exercises were started by the raising of Old Glory to an immense pole, the gift of Samuel M. Prentis. The flag was hoisted into position by Walter A. Towne, former principal of the school and a member of the school faculty. Thomas E. Troland, president of the association, delivered a brief address, accepting the athletic field and Homer K. Underwood, headmaster of the school, delivered a short address in acknowledgement of the field. The first event was participated in by the football elevens of Bulkeley and South Manchester high school which resulted in a defeat for Bulkeley, 6 to 0, the South Manchester players scoring a touchdown in the final period.

The police Saturday took charge of an automobile owned by Abraham Shapiro, 29 Linden street, that had been parked nearly three days on Mercer street, by causing it to be stored in a garage, at the home of Shapiro, who was absent. No reason could be advanced for the auto being parked where it was found by Patrolman Walter O'Neill.

AGENT R. B .CHAPPELL'S GUN GETS BOYS INTO TROUBLE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 16—Patrolmen George Perkins and Ernest Opperman arrested two boys, one of them 15 and who will probably be sent to a reformatory, tonight after the boys had broken into the Chappell garage, Federal street and had stolen a 38-calibre revolver used by State Humane Agent Robert B. Chappell and owned by the state, a flashlight and field glasses. The boys went to the garage and finding a window open, the smaller of the two entered, then handing the plunder to the older youth. The pair then went to the woods adjacent to Norwood avenue where the shooting of the revolver attracted the attention of Patrolman Perkins who was at his home. The officer went to the rear of his house and a bullet whiszed dangerously close. He started for the woods and found the two boys. When they saw the officer approaching they ran and one of them jumped into a brook, waded to a marsh and escaped temporarily. The other boy was arrested and a few minutes later the second youth was seen emerging from the woods. He was arrested. One of the boys was arrested Thursday night for stealing fruit. Both boys were taken to the Salvation Army lodging house by Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield and they will be presented in court Monday.

Because of the crippled condition of the New London police department, Captain Charles A. Pinney tonight ordered Supernumerary Officer Lewis O. Tooker, 48 Reed street to report for duty. The officer went on duty at 7 o'clock with the night shift under Sergeant Samuel Hick and was assigned to beat No. 2, Broad street and intersecting streets. The assignment to duty of Supernumerary Tooker was the result of Patrolman Albert Iverson being injured last night, Patrolman Walter Rehn having suffered a fractured leg by being struck by an automobile a week ago and Patrolman Clarence Wells being suspended under charges, together with some of the officers taking their vacations.

Mrs. Ernest Tofflin of 9 Thames street; Frank Decaplo, 492 Vauxhall street; John Szywezenko, Montville Robert Tatro, Niantic and Mrs. Leo Fladell and infant daughter, 206 Jefferson avenue, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged on Saturday.

John St. Germain, 15, of Bank street extension a student at Chapman Technical high school, is a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital suffering from a possible fractured skull, a puncture wound of the right leg and laceration of the scalp, having been struck by an automobile driven by Albert D. Jeffers, Providence, Saturday morning. The young man was struck while walking along the highway in Waterford, near Station 5. Jeffers rushed with the young man to the hospital, where today it was said that there was a slight improvement in his condition.

Cecil P. Brown, 655 Congress street, Portland, Me., a clergyman, came to New London, Saturday for the purpose of ascertaining facts connected with the suicide of his brother, a college student, at the rooming house of James Allen, 36 Franklin street, on March 13, last. Mr. Brown was directed to the office of Medical Examiner Charles Kaufman.

The police of Milford, Conn., have requested the New London police to arrest Loren Cotter, who may come to New London driving an Essex coach, carrying Connecticut registration F-16612. Cotter is wanted for assault.

Alex Robinson, colored was in the police court Saturday charged with vagrancy and trespassing upon property of the N. Y., N. H. and H. railroad. Judgment was suspended. Robinson was arrested Friday by Special Agent James McGrath at the union station.

Mrs. Robert B. Chappell, 111 Huntington street, reported to the police on Saturday that a spare tire, tube and rim was stolen from her Ford automobile while it was parked in front of her home the night before. Harold Pine, employed by the New London News company, also reported the theft of a spare tire from a truck of which he was in charge.

Edgar Remick, 12 Elizabeth street, made complaint to the police Saturday that a roomer at his home was missing and so was Remick's fur coat He requested that an effort be made to arrest the roomer, Charles Lee.

Mrs. Hauser, 78 West street, Saturday evening requested the assistance of the police in finding her two sons one 7 and the other 10, who had been missing from home since 1 o'clock Auto Patrol Officer Augustus Ray was assigned to the case and after making a tour of the city went to the Hauser residence only to find that the boys had returned.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theater

Everybody clap hands!

Yes, it's Rudolph Valentino, and he's billed to appear on the screen tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday at the Strand theater.

From all reports, the dashing Rudy has carried out his determination to make The Son of the Shiek the most entertaining and lavish or all his pictures and to establish a record for all future screen desert romances to aim at.

The Son of the Shiek was directed by George Fitzmaurice. At the Strand tonight, tomorrow night and Wednesday night.

Broadway

Four million dollars of motion picture unreeled last night before a capacity audience at the Broadway theater, where "Ben-Hur," directed by Fred Niblo from New Wallace's masterpiece, had its premiere.

"Ben-Hur" is a magnificent, lavish production. It bears the impressive stamp of its four million dollar expenditure and stands in isolated grandeur as the supreme mechanical achievement of the silver sheet.

Around this adventurous youth surges a beautiful story, handled with rare deftness and reverence, by June Mathis and Carey Wilson. The pinnacle of its splendor is reached with the chariot race.

The chariot race is staged in a magnificent circus, with thousands of people swaying to the excitement of the duel to the death fought between Ben-Hur driving four fiery white steeds and Messala driving four vicious blacks. Never have we heard a first night audience give vent to such roars of enthusiasm as those that rocked the Broadway theater last night. The varying photographic shots of this race contribute greatly to its intensity. It is magnificent. The greatest thing we have ever seen on the screen of its kind.

"Ben-Hur" carries us from Jerusalem and the conquering Romans to the sea and a stirring array of Roman galleys manned by slave-driven men. To an exciting sea fight between Romans and the pirate attackers. Indeed, the scope of this picture beggars words. Perhaps, for this reason the action jerks so often.

An especially beautiful touch is created by Director Niblo's, June Mathis' and scenarist Carey Wilson's treatment of Christ. Not once does the Christ figure enter into the scene. It is either His hand or a halo, or a shaft of light.

Breed Theater

A comedy is always one of the most difficult pictures to review adequately, because of necessity most of the dramatic rules are put aside. The laugh is the thing and everything works toward that end.

"Lost at the Front" which opened a four day engagement at the Breed theater last night, with George Sidney and Charlie Murray co-starred, intrigued the present interviewer because of its novelty. Such things as the radio invention that was supposed to aid Germany to win the war, the efforts of a New York cop to get it away from his friend Krause, the saloon keeper; their adventures in Russia with the women's Battalion of Death; their experiences in the trenches and their efforts to escape dressed as peasant women, form a series of exceedingly funny episodes.

Sidney and Murray are twin kings of mirth. They have the knack of gaining laughs by all methods—from slapstick to pure characterization. Del Lord directed the picture; he has been an ace director with Mack Sennett. Frank Griffin wrote the photoplay which is presented by John McCormick, for First National Pictures. All the way through it meets the public's approval 100 per cent.

That's all that is necessary. No need to go into detail as to any features aside from the laughs and they are there aplenty.

I must not forget the good work of pretty Natalie Kingston, in the feminine lead as a Russian sculptress. She is one of the Baby Stars for 1927, chosen by the Wampas, famous Hollywood organization of movie writers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theater

The management of the Palace are to be congratulated for their untiring efforts toward giving their patrons of Norwich such wonderful entertainment. It is plainly evident that no expense is spared when booking shows. It is an art to select the proper sort of entertainment, such as will please the multitudes, and we say again that the Palace knows what Norwich wants and is giving it to them. A new show will commence this afternoon with five exceptional acts of big time vaudeville, a carefully selected program, sure to please all. "Morgan and Ross Revue" a jazz band of seven accomplished musicians and a sweet little specialty dancer will headline the bill. "State Room No. 19" a comedy skit on a ocean steamer. Kirby and Duval chasers of gloom. "Oliver Twist and Pardner" two funsters in an offering called "A day at the Circus." Jean Bodine novelty offering with class.

An elaborate and dramatic photodramatization of one of the most thrilling mystery novels ever published will be presented at this theater beginning this afternoon for three days.

The picture is "The Chinese Parrot," adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story of the same name by Earl Derr Biggers. It features Hobart Bosworth, Marian Nixon, Edmund Burns and nearly a score of other noted luminaries. It was directed by Paul Leni, ace of foreign directors who was brought to this country a year ago by Universal. His first American effort, "The Cat and the Canary" created a sensation and his present opus is considered by many to be equally as great.

No expense was spared to make this picture accurate from all angles. The sets are completed in every detail, the players are typical of the characters they represent and the locations are the exact spots described by Biggers in the original story.

The story is full of dramatic suspense and mystery and deals with the first and second generations of two wealthy families whose paths cross time and again in the struggle for fame and riches.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Whitehead and their little daughter Arline of Cleveland, Ohio, formerly of Taftville, are visiting friends in town.

NORWICH SCHOOL BUILDINGS PUT INTO SHAPE BY EXTENSIVE REPAIRS

Approximately $15,000 was spent during the past summer in general repairs to the public school buildings of the town of Norwich, some of the work alone, notably at Yantic, making considerable improvement in the school property.

Broadway—All fire escapes have been painted, changes were made in the wiring on the bell system and a new gong put in the yard. All windows were overhauled, broken glass replaced and most all of the windows reputtied. A new wash bowl put on the first floor, several toilets repaired and all of the desks and furniture were varnished.

Bishop—All desks and furniture were re-varnished and the fire escapes painted.

Broad street—The roof was repaired, floors repaired, all broken glass re-set, and all desks and furniture re-varnished.

Boswell avenue—At this school some time ago, a new cyclone fence was erected on two sides and rear instead of the old board and picket fence which was constantly in need of repairs, and when the city was changing the grade and widening the street in front of the building, the cut there necessitated a retaining wall which the city built, with steps for approach to the building. There is a heavy pipe fence along the top of this wall, and up the centre of the steps. A new front entrance has been built with vestibule and French doors. The old wooden side entrance has been removed and concrete steps and platforms have been substituted. New cement walks have been laid in front and running round both sides of the building. One tree has been removed from the front lawn and the whole front and sides graded and covered with loam. Lawn seed has been sown. Two coats of paint have been applied to all wood work on the outside, all broken glass replaced with new, and on the inside in the front hall a new wash bowl and drinking fountain has been placed. Electric lights have been added in halls and basement, and all desks and furniture re-varnished.

Central avenue—Another class room was partitioned off and furnished in the old assembly hall and new radiator installed, repaired fence, painted roof and fire escapes, painted all side walls and woodwork in eighth grade rooms and re-varnished all desks and furniture.

East Great Plain — Some repairs were necessary on the toilets and all the desks and furniture were re-varnished.

Elizabeth Street school—The usual summer cleaning was done and a number of the windows were fitted with sash chains where the sash cords were broken.

Falls school—The iron fence in front of the building was rebuilt, new cellar doors, fire escapes and ell roof painted, all desks and furniture varnished.

Hobart avenue—Roof repaired, cellar doors rebuilt, fence rebuilt, toilets repaired, new water pipe throughout the building, fire escapes painted, all desks and furniture varnished.

High street—Chimney repaired, new door with glass panels for basement leading into hall, fire escapes painted, and all desks and furniture varnished.

Laurel Hill—The rear wall and fence rebuilt, new drive way into the yard, and all desks and furniture varnished.

Mount Pleasant street—New grates for heater, and steam mains changed, repaired outside steps, platform and doors, painted the fire escapes, and refinished all desks and furniture.

Occum—The picket fence was repaired and painted with two coats of lead and oil, exterior repairs were done on the toilets. The entire outside of the building was refinished, the shingles with two coats of stain, and the windows and trim with two coats of lead and oil. The fire escape was painted and the roof and all flashings renewed with a ten year guarantee. There was considerable repairs on the heating and all desks and furniture were refinished.

Prospect street—A large tree in the yard at this school had to be removed as it was a menace to person and property. One hundred and ten feet from its base the highest limbs hung over the building, and 75 feet from its base the trunk was hollow from decay. Clapboards, floors, fences, toilets, and sewer stoppage were repaired, and all desks and furniture were refinished.

Smith avenue—All the underpinning re-pointed and new cellar windows put in, the building repaired. Many of the clapboards had to be replaced, door fixed, the fence repaired, and the whole inside and outside including the fence had two coats of lead and oil, 30 feet of slate black board was installed, all desks and furniture were refinished.

Taftville—Painted all fire escapes and iron fence, all sash and doors in both buildings repaired, all broken glass replaced with new, sash reputtied and painted two coats inside and out. A new cyclone fence was erected on the east and north sides of the lower school yard or play ground. All wooden fence on the north and west was re-built, new cement walks were laid at the upper building in the rear, cellar windows and underpinning repaired, a new cement platform laid in the rear of the lower building. Exterior changes were made in the steam mains in the upper building, all desks and furniture were re-varnished.

Town street—Owing to the crowded condition, a partition was placed through the centre of one of the rooms dividing it into two rooms. Fire escapes were painted, storm entrance at the rear repaired, leaks in steam pipes repaired and all desks and furniture re-varnished.

West Town street— Minor repairs were done and the usual summer cleaning of desks and furniture.

West Thames street— Fire escapes painted, also the tin part of the roof and gutters. Trimmed all trees on Brown street and in school yard, removing two badly decayed trees from front. These were on the sidewalk line and were removed by the street department. The front lawn was graded away from the building and new cement walks laid on Brown street and West Main street, the walk in front connected up to the building with returns to side doors. A new water service pipe was put in, a new wash bowl on the second floor connected up and all desks and furniture re-varnished.

The little building on Stanton avenue, now used as a shop and store room, was shingled.

Yantic—At this school a new room was added at the rear of the building. A good basement room with ample light and outside stairway is provided and on the main floor which is of concrete, there are toilet facilities for both boys and girls. These are of modern type. Clothes rail, and clothes racks, to accommodate the pupils were put in, closets for supplies, new plaster on walks and new steel ceilings in the two old class rooms, new desks and furniture. The removal of all the old outside blinds, two coats of paint outside and inside, new cement steps and platform with canopy roof in front, makes this school equal to any of the city schools in its equipment.

With the addition now at the rear, the school lot is too small and realizing this, the school board has asked the American Woolen Co., which own the adjoining land, for an additional width and depth to make a good playground and the contractor is holding the material excavated in the new construction that the necessary grading may be done. When this is secured, the children will not have to play on the street.

Last year, six blowers were installed in as many schools, whereby buckwheat coal could be burned and the saving in these warranted the installation this past summer of six more blowers in other schools.

This, according to the school board representative, is by no means a complete account of the work done during the summer and what is constantly needing attention in order to keep in operation the 22 school buildings.

TAGGED FOR VIOLATION OF NO-PARKING REGULATIONS

Eight automobile drivers who parked on the "no parking" side of Franklin street Saturday night was "red tagged" by the local police and their cases will be disposed of in the city court this (Monday) morning. Violation of the no-parking restriction on the easterly side of Franklin street has become so flagrant lately that there have been times, especially Saturday evenings and often many afternoons when there have been strings of machines parked there from Bath street to Willow street for long periods of time. With machines parked on both sides of the street, traffic has been greatly impeded, and there have been from time to time, traffic tieups which required sometimes as much as 10 minutes to straighten out. The traffic rules are to be strictly enforced from now on.

Dinner for Closing Summer Season

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel Cloutier, Jr., closed their summer cottage at Happyland park Sunday with a roast chicken dinner for their guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel Cloutier Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coutier and daughter, Irene, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Rondeau and son James, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richards, Fred Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Richards, Miss Rita Richards, Lawrence Richards, Mrs. Louisa Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Voech, Martin Larsen, George Staefner, Viola Cloutier.

Met With Norwich Town Member.

The S. S. club met last week with Mrs. Mary Hunter of Norwich Town. A pleasant evening was enjoyed with radio and cards. The hostess served cake, cookies and coffee. This (Monday) evening the club will meet with Mrs. Rose Carter of 78 Sturtevant street, Norwich Town.

Attending Y. M. C. A. National Council

James L. Case, one of the vice presidents of the local Y. M. C. A. is enroute to the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. national council at Chicago. Mr. Case is a national councilor from this district.

WOMEN CAN NOW DO MORE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Keeps Them Well

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

BISHOP NILAN GIVES PLEDGE TO 360 AT CONFIRMATION

Following weeks of preparation through instruction in catechism and Bible study by priests and Sisters, a class of over 360 received the sacrament of confirmation Sunday at 10.30 at St. Patrick's church from the bishop of the diocese, Rt. Rev. John Joseph Nilan, D. D. As is his custom after administering the sacrament, Bishop Nilan had all those confirmed take the pledge to abstain from all intoxicating liquors until they reach the age of 25. It is the theory of the bishop that if boys and girls keep this pledge until that age, the habit of total abstinence will remain with them through life.

The candidates for the sacrament went to the altar in groups. Of the number there were 20 children from the County Home on Smith avenue, Norwich, 30 adults including a number of converts, also there was a group of 40 Italian members of the congregation, adults and children. The sponsor for the girls was Miss Anna McGrory and for the boys John P. Corcoran; in the case of a number of the Italian boys, some relative or friend acted as individual sponsor.

The low mass was read by Rev. J. H. Griffin, of St. Thomas' seminary, Hartford. During the service, the organist, Henry J. LaFontaine played a pleasing list of hymns and other sacred melodies. At the offertory, Miss Sadie A. Driscoll sang a beautiful Ave Maria, and as portions of the mass of St. Cecelia was given, the trio "Agnus Dei" was sung most effectively by Mrs. Bernard M. Coyle, Miss Loretta Bellefleur and Mr. LaFontaine. The voice of Roderick F. Sullivan was a noteworthy addition to the quartet and ensemble numbers.

Rev. Myles P. Galvin made the announcements, also reading the gospel for the day, the 19th Sunday after Pentecost, Matthew 22 2-14, the parable of the marriage feast.

In administering confirmation Bishop Nilan was assisted by Rev. John J. Reilly, who read the names of the candidates and by Rev. William A. Keefe, of St. Mary's Memorial church. Rev. Father Galvin was master of ceremonies. The three altars had been artistically adorned with flowers and ferns by the Altar society. The rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May had general oversight of the groups as they approached the sanctuary railing.

After the confirmation and repetition in concert of the Lord's prayer, Hail Mary, the Doxology and the Apostles' Creed, Bishop Nilan spoke from the pulpit to the congregation which filled auditory and galleries. Particularly did he address the children confirmed, his topic the importance of prayer as a sign of friendship with God—"Turning of the heart to God, that's prayer," he told the children. All God's created things praise Him, each in its own way; hence the ingratitude of human beings who fail to express to their Creator appreciation of His numberless gifts, in worship, love. Christ came down to our level, lived among men, to teach them how to follow in His ways. He speaks to them still through signs and one of these signs is confirmation—that sacrament which gives strength to the soul, in which God the Spirit comes to the soul, the spirit, of each which He has made like to Himself. "I will come down in my Spirit among you and it will give you strength and wisdom." Confirmation, the giving of the gifts of the Holy Spirit, aims to make men perfect Christians, soldiers of Christ. Having received the commission of soldiers, Bishop Nilan admonished those confirmed to be true soldiers, in discipline, obedience to orders—real soldiers of Christ, proud to be chosen by Him.

He had a warning for the children's elders, lest they fail by setting these children any example which might prove for their hurt—might tend to mar that innocence which was theirs in confirmation. To parents, in particular did he utter earnest words regarding their proper fulfillment of those duties devolving upon them as guardians of their offspring, body and soul, lest through evil example they ever influence their charges to give up their morals or their priceless faith.

In general, he referred to the zeal with which all should enter into the spirit of the coming World Mission Sunday, October 23rd, hoping that every member of every congregation would enroll for the propagation of the faith and the support of missionaries in every field, proving America first among the nations in this aid to those who are carrying out Christ's command, "Go and teach all nations." The bishop concluded with administering the total abstinence pledge to the children.

The girls confirmed were in dainty white, wearing veils; the lapel flower of each of the boys was a red carnation, red being the hue associated with the Holy Ghost. Mr. LaFontaine played as the groups moved to the sanctuary railing and returned, one of his hymns being "Oh, Lord, I Am Not Worthy that Thou Shouldst Come to Me."

The Italian Catholics in the groups confirmed had had special instruction from their chaplain, Rev. John J. Reilly, who reads their mass each Sunday at 8.15 and preaches to them in their own language as well as in English.

One of the happiest of the candidates confirmed was George Bemont who takes rank as the city's most cheerful and most industrious blind man, never depressed by his lack of sight, aiming ever to be useful and self-supporting.

As spiritual head of the 572,000 Catholics in Connecticut, Bishop Nilan's visitation to the Norwich parish was an event of special rejoicing to the people. In spite of his great and ever-increasing burden it was a solace to all to note that he retains his vigorous health and to hear his instructive and inspiring words to the children and their elders.

From Norwich Bishop Nilan went to Plainfield for confirmation at 4 p. m. at St. John's church, before returning to Hartford.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING FOR COMMUNITY BENEFIT

The public health nursing department of Norwich with an office at No. 9 Washington street is a branch of the United Workers, whose work is described as follows by officers of the organization:

The object of this department is to provide graduate registered nurses to the town for the benefit of the community. These nurses give skilled bedside care and treatment under the direction of a physician and instruction in the laws of health and personal hygiene. The public health nurse responds to any call to any person in the town of Norwich, but gives nursing care only when a physician is in charge. A large part of the work is preventive and advisory for which no charge is made.

This department has charge of the following clinics and conferences: Tuesday afternoons from 2 to 4, tuberculosis clinic under Dr. Hugh Campbell's supervision, free to any person who wishes a chest examination; Wednesday afternoons from 2 to 4, the Rock Nook children's clinic for the pre-school child, with Dr. W. T. Driscoll and Dr. Clarence Thompson in charge; Thursdays, well babies conferences to which all mothers are invited to bring their babies for weighing and simple advice on child hygiene. The second Friday of each month a well babies conference is held at the Grace Church club rooms in Yantic from 2 to 4 o'clock. The third Friday of the month the same conference is held in the Occum club house from 2 to 4, and the last Friday of the month at the Taftville Red Cross room 2 to 4, at which conference Dr. Clarence Thompson is present through the courtesy of the Taftville Red Cross.

In order that most efficient service be given, two cars are provided for the nurses by the United Workers. The fees which are paid to the department cover only a small portion of the expense of carrying on the work. We are therefore asking your hearty support in the usual campaign this fall for the United Workers.

SEDGWICK CORPS VISITED BY DEPARTMENT INSPECTOR

Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps, No. 16, held its regular meeting in the Buckingham Memorial with the president, Mrs. E. Grace Fowler, presiding. The inspector, Mrs. Carrie Dawley of Westerly was introduced, also Mrs. Addie Maynard, department press correspondent, and Mrs. Louisa Atterbury, chairman of the executive committee of the department.

After the usual reports had been read and accepted, the work of the ritual was carried out in full and two new members were initiated. General orders were read. A letter was read from Sedgwick post, No. 1, stating that they would bear half the expense of repairing the roof of the Buckingham Memorial.

The president gave the new national password and towards the close of the meeting the inspector praised the work of the conductors and the color bearers and gave all some words of instruction, after which Mrs. Fowler presented Mrs. Dawley a memento of the day. There were four visitors from New London who told how much they enjoyed visiting the sister corps, Mrs. Ralph Allen Kinney, past president of Sedgwick corps, also expressed her pleasure in being back again. For some time she has been living in Providence.

CYCLONIC STORM MOVING TOWARD ISLAND OF CUBA

Observers Indicate That Havana Will Be Spared—Storm Will Be Felt Early This Morning in the Central Provinces of Cuba—Weather Bureau Warns That Strong Northerly Winds Will Prevail From the Delaware Breakwater to Boston.

HAVANA, Oct. 17—(AP)—The central provinces of Cuba are soon likely to feel the effects of a heavy storm. The cyclonic movement which located early today southwest of Grand Caiman Island, 250 miles distant, is moving toward Cuba, although reports of observers indicate that Havana will be spared.

Father Mariano Gutierrez Lanza of the Belan observatory made the following statement at 6 o'clock tonight:

"The cyclone is north of Grand Caiman and is advancing in a northeasterly direction. It will be felt about midnight or early tomorrow in the central provinces of Cuba—Santa Clara, and Camaguey. There is no danger whatsoever for Pinar del Rio, Havana and Matanzas provinces, and no danger from a recurve."

TROPICAL RADIO SENDS BAROMETRIC REPORTS

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 17—(AP)—Reports through the Tropical Radio station here today said the barometer reading at Nassau was 29.62 at 3 p. m., the lowest yet reported. Key West reported the barometer down to 29.70 and "slowing falling." The Miami reading fell another point to 29.67.

STORM WARNING ISSUED BY WEATHER BUREAU

"Advisory northeast storm warnings ordered 4:30 p. m., Delaware breakwater to Boston, Mass. Pressure falling along New Jersey coast with high pressure to the north and west will cause strong northeast winds tonight shifting to north and northwest tonight.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Oct. 17—(AP)—With a possible world record under its wings, the Sikorsky amphibian plane, The Dawn, tonight awaited an opportunity to carry out its purpose of transporting the first woman over the Atlantic.

Pilot Wilmer Stultz and Navigator Brice Goldsborough were reluctant to make any formal claims for the load which was taken up and set down today in the absence of official records, but it was believed that no seaplane or amphibian in America, and possibly the world, could show a similar performance, with horsepower taken into consideration.

A rough computation of the gross weight at the take-off was 7,500 pounds. While in the air about 1,580 pounds in the form of gasoline was dropped, making the landing weight nearly 10,000 pounds. These figures were to be more thoroughly checked, if suitable scales could be obtained.

While declining to make any relative statement, Carl S. Schory, secretary of the contest committee of the National Aeronautic society, who sealed the barograph, said that he had heard of no performance as good.

This work by The Dawn this morning did much to console Mrs. Frances W. Grayson and her crew for the severe disappointment of the sudden termination of their flight for Europe after weeks of waiting for the proper weather conditions. The work of Pilot Stultz in taking the plane into the air and bringing it back safely from a precarious position was the talk of the hundreds who spent an anxious 15 minutes.

MYSTERIOUS TRIPLE TRAGEDY IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 17—(AP)—Wilfred J. Winters, 21, a boy they had known all their lives, early today shot and killed Margaret Martin, 18, and Catherine Stadler, 19, and then shot and killed himself.

What motivated the childhood friend to murder the girls who had grown up with him probably never would be known, said the police, but this much they pieced together.

Winters recently returned from California whence he had gone in an effort to defeat tuberculosis.

Miss Martin had spurned his love, though liking him in the friendly way she always had as a next door neighbor boy.

Saturday night Winters was arrested after he had tried to choke a boy companion to death and was released on bond Sunday morning.

Both Saturday and Sunday nights Winters had been drinking, although companions of Sunday night denied he had been drunk when they left him shortly before he shot the girls.

As late as a quarter of an hour before the shooting at about 1 a. m., the party was laughing and talking, apparently in high spirits.

A man who knew Winters saw him with the girls as a rented automobile in which the triple shooting occurred, was held up by traffic lights at an intersection.

YELLOWLEY CAUTIONS CHICAGO NIGHT CLUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 17—(AP)—Unless Chicago night clubs, hotels, and cafes ban hip liquor drinking by their patrons, they will be padlocked for one year by federal injunction, Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley warned tonight.

Administrator Yellowley's warning was made following the decision of the United States supreme court, refusing to pass on the test case brought by proprietors of the Moulin Rouge and Friars' inn, two of Chicago's downtown cabarets, which have been padlocked by federal injunction because they served ice and ginger ale to their patrons and did not take steps to prevent them from drinking intoxicating liquor.

The action of the high court, Mr. Yellowley said, gave prohibition authorities the strongest weapon they have ever had to enforce the Volstead law, the action "making it imperative that cafe, hotel and night club owners prevent drink of intoxicants absolutely."

Mr. Yellowley said that the action was made "observation evidence" sufficient to warrant convictions.

GERTRUDE EDERLE CABLED APPROVAL TO DR. LOGAN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 17—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle, first woman to swim the English channel, today cabled Dr. Dorothy Logan, of England, commending the latter's sportsmanship in revealing her fake channel swim.

The cablegram sent to Dr. Logan in care of the News of the World, London, said:

"Your channel episode and expose has rendered me a personal service for which I am truly grateful and I commend your sportsmanship in revealing."

Miss Ederle is filling a theatrical engagement here.

MRS. BUDLONG LOSES FIGHT AGAINST DIVORCE

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 17—(AP)—Definite intimation that Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong had lost her long fight against the divorce proceedings brought by Milton J. Budlong of Newport and New York was given by Judge Herbert Carpenter of the superior court at the conclusion of testimony today. While not announcing flatly that he would grant divorce, he said that he was satisfied in his mind Mr. Budlong had proven his wife guilty of extreme cruelty, the ground on which he had sued.

Judge Carpenter said that his decision would be prepared in the form of a rescript. To Mrs. Budlong he added:

"I will grant the custody of the children to Mr. Budlong and will leave it to him whether you see them at all. I have the greatest faith in Mr. Budlong."

If within his power, he said, he would revoke the $750 a month allowance which Mrs. Budlong has been receiving "as from this date."

Mrs. Budlong in the course of the proceedings today said that she would take exceptions from any adverse decision.

The final day was marked by a renewal of the clashes between Mrs. Budlong, acting as her own counsel, and Judge Carpenter. At one time, when he had unsuccessfully tried to confine her to matters relevant to the suit, he exclaimed:

"If you don't behave yourself I will put you behind the bars for a year."

Counsel for Mr. Budlong acquiesced in Judge Carpenter's suggestion that no final arguments were necessary. Mrs. Budlong launched into a lengthy review of her relations with her husband which Judge Carpenter cut short by insisting that she confine herself to the charges made by Mr. Budong. She then declared that Mr. Budlong and his witnesses had failed to prove his charges of extreme cruelty and told the court she had nothing more to say

CONVENTION OF PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17—(AP)—Conservation of health and conservation of wealth are the keynote objects of the American Health association, which formally opened its fifty-sixth annual convention here tonight.

Conservation in health is represented in seeking methods of prolonging life and conservation of wealth represented in the savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually by avoiding sickness.

The convention opened with the address and report of Charles Value Chapin, M. D., president of the association and health commissioner of Providence, R. I., who reviewed the advance of preventive medicine since the founding of the association 1872.

One way to check the ever-increasing numbers of deaths from heart disease is to take greater precautions against the spread of rheumatic fever, Dr. Henry Albert, health commissioner of Iowa, told the convention.

"Heart disease now leads the list of causes of death in the United States," he said. "From 15 to 25 per cent of all cases of heart disease are apparently due to rheumatic fever."

Dr. Albert also talked on extreme serial diseases as a cause of heart disease.

MAY FLY DIRECT FROM VIGO, SPAIN, TO NEW YORK

VIGO, Spain, Oct. 17—(AP)—The Heinkel hydroairplane D-1220 may fly direct to New York from this point, Horst Merz, the pilot said tonight. Authorization has been received from the Spanish government to resume the flight.

The German aviators, who are bound from Warnemeunde for the United States by way of the Azores, were forced to land at Moana bay Sunday. Bad weather was encountered over the bay of Biscay in their flight from Amsterdam.

The new flight plan is only tentative and depends upon the gasoline consumption on the flight from Vigo to Lisbon. If the pilot considers conditions good, the plane will continue; otherwise it will come down at Lisbon to replenish the fuel.

THIRTY MEXICAN REBELS WERE KILLED IN BATTLE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17—(AP)—Thirty rebels, among them Margarito Gomez, a member of the state legislature and their leader, were killed in a battle with federal forces near Tacualzam in the state of Mexico, according to press dispatches here today. No details were given.

A RECESS APPOINTMENT BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—(AP)—Mrs. Bessie P. Brueggeman of St. Louis, was given a recess appointment by President Coolidge today as a member and chairman of the United States employes' compensation commission for another term of six years.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

VIGO, Spain, Oct. 17.—(AP) — The Heinkel hydro-airplane D-1220 bound for the United States by way of the Azores, will continue its flight when the present high winds diminish.

LENINGRAD, Russia, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The sudden appearance of Leon Trotzky and Gregory Zinovieff, recently expelled from the executive body of the communist internationale, at Tauride palace at the session of the soviet parliament has caused wide speculation.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Great Britain is following closely upon the heels of the United States in acquiring the habit of instalment buying, but A. M. Samuel, minister of overseas trade, has sounded a sharp warning against the instalment system for increasing the sales of luxuries.

GENEVA, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Some nations are seeking political influence in China through commercial penetration of that country, Chi-Yung Hsiao, Chinese charge d'affaires at Berne, declared at the international conference on important and export prohibitions and restrictions which opened yesterday. The conference is meeting to frame a convention for the abolition of import and export restrictions.

WINFIELD GRAHAM DIED FOLLOWING AN OPERATION

MILFORD, Conn., Oct. 17.—(AP)—When Winfield Graham, 75, closed his house to start for Milford hospital, where he was to undergo an operation, it is believed that he threw away the key. Graham died Saturday, following the operation, and was buried today.

For nearly half a century he was a superior court stenographer, chiefly in Hartford and New London county courts, and about ten years ago he was retired on a pension. Unmarried, and reputed to have amassed some $50,000, he is reported to have told neighbors that his relatives would not get his money. It had come from the state, he said, and would go back to the state when he died. His nearest relatives were first cousins, the sister who kept house for him having died about a year ago.

No will was found after his death, although one was understood to have been drawn up by a New Haven attorney. Nor was the key to the house located, and no one considered himself to have authority to break into the building without a court order, to search for a possible will.

Arrangements made by Graham, shortly before his operation, to have a local bank arrange a trust fund to care for his grave indicated to his friends that he did not expect to survive the operation.

REFERENDUM IN MAINE TODAY ON DIRECT PRIMARY

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Statements were issued tonight by leaders of both sides on the referendum in Maine tomorrow on the question of the repeal of the direct primary.

Governor Ralph O. Brewster called for a vote of "no," on the repeal, and pleaded that the citizens of Maine should not repudiate a forward step taken 15 years ago when the primary was adopted.

District Attorney Frederick R. Dyer, active in the work of the primary repeal throughout the state, called for the voters to turn out to the polls and register an intelligent vote on the primary according to their convictions.

State Senator Frank H. Holley of North Anson, president of the popular government league, organized to retain the direct primary, predicted a victory for the primary as great as that in the original vote when the state repudiated the convention system 60,000 to 20,000.

Former Governor William T. Cobb of Rockland, leader in the movement to repeal the primary, said the issue had been set before the voters in full and an intelligent vote by all franchised citizens remained for tomorrow, he felt.

BIG FIGHT PICTURES ARE BEING RUN AT LOWELL

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 17—(AP)—Despite the declaration of John V. Spaulding, assistant United States attorney that the Victory theatre in this city would show Tunney-Dempsey fight films at the peril of its proprietors, the theatre ran the pictures at three performances today and has advertised further showings at tomorrow's performances.

The Lowell license commission viewed the pictures this afternoon and later met to hear protests against their exhibition, but the commission finally ruled that no local ordinance was violated by the screening of the film and that whatever action may be taken is up to the federal authorities.

TO INOCULATE MONKEYS WITH PARALYSIS GERMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(AP)—Twenty gray monkeys, chattering today in their cages at Willard Park hospital, were being fattened and groomed for an ordeal of life and death in the interest of science. In a few days they will be inoculated with infantile paralysis germs to aid the search for a cure of the disease.

Dr. Josephine B. Neal, in charge of the experiment, said the primary effort will be to discover just how much progress is made toward a cure by the injection of serum from the blood of patients convalescing from the disease, or from that of persons apparently immune to it.

62 HUNGARIAN COMMUNISTS ON TRIAL AT BUDAPEST

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 17—(AP)—Sixty-two Hungarian communists headed by Zoltan Szanto, the associate of Bela Kun who came from Moscow to establish communist centers in Hungary, were placed on trial today charged with conspiring to overthrow the Hungarian government.

The public prosecutor declared that those on trial receive regular remittances from Russia to enable them to pursue their alleged subversive activities and to establish a proletarian republic in Hungary.

WIFE OF BALL PLAYER HAS BEEN GRANTED DIVORCE

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 17—(AP)—Mrs. Adolfo Luque was granted a divorce from her husband, the Cuban pitching star of the Cincinnati Reds within ten minutes today.

Mrs. Luque told the court that when the Reds lost a baseball game she was afraid to go home because her husband let all of his pent-up wrath loose upon her.

Judge Charles Hoffman granted the decree on grounds of extreme cruelty and awarded her alimony of $2500.

New York Officially Welcomed Levine

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(AP)—Charles A. Levine came back to his homeland today and was officially warned that he might expect to hear much criticism of himself, inspired by jealousy of his exploit in being the first to fly the Atlantic as a passenger.

"There are always those ready to give ear to every [illegible] disparagement," Mayor [illegible] told Levine at a welcome [illegible] "but half the rancor is [illegible] jealousy."

"Wh[illegible] these people belittle you[illegible] what you say to them: Th[illegible] the Atlantic. There is the air. [illegible] is still where I found it when I landed in Germany. There are no traffic cops in the air to prevent you from going right ahead and trying to duplicate what I accomplished."

Earlier in the day, at the official reception to Levine at City hall, the mayor likewise spoke of criticism the flier might expect.

"But no amount of whispering," he said, "can efface the memory that you are a genuine New Yorker and a patriotic American. And I remember that when you stepped forward to take the seat beside Clarence Chamberlin in the trans-Atlantic plane, no one was killed in the rush to get that seat ahead of you."

About 9 o'clock he was transferred to the city tug Macom bearing members of his family, friends, and the mayor's reception committee, and taken to the Battery.

As he was climbing into an automobile a process server with papers in a suit brought by a magazine tapped him on the shoulder and service was accepted by his attorney. The next paper offered him, which he took himself, was a scroll tendered him at City hall dilating on what he had done "To the honor and glory of New York."

The crowds at the Battery and City hall were nothing like the gatherings that have welcomed other fliers during the past summer, but a heavy rain that fell all morning was believed to be responsible, at least in part.

After the reception at City hall and the hotel luncheon Levine was taken to his own Rockaways where preparations had been made to begin ceremonies lasting throughout the week.

While steaming up the bay in the Macom Levine told reporters that next year he planned to fly from Europe to America and that he proposed building three types of planes, one of them a giant seven-motored mail plane for trans-Atlantic mail service.

ALLEGED MURDERERS FIGHT AGAINST FINGERPRINTING

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 17—(AP)—Federal aid and old statutes may be invoked to compel Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl and Willis Beach, jointly indicted for the murder of her husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendahl to submit to having their fingerprints taken. The accused repulsed Trooper Orsechowski, fingerprint expert of the state police, in a recent attempt to fingerprint the pair at the county jail. A letter has been received at the prosecutor's office from federal authorities authorizing the taking of the finger-prints. It was hinted at the prosecutor's office that an old statute has been found calling for the taking of fingerprints of anyone "indicted for a felony."

Chief County Detective Harrold stated that two new affidavits obtained in connection with the murder led to a secret trip by one of his investigators today.

The authorities also are investigating a report that Mrs. Lilliendahl carried on a correspondence with a man in New York, in addition to the "Peggy Anderson," correspondence with Beach.

TESTIMONY THAT MRS. STOKES WAS DRUG ADDICT

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(AP)—Prescriptions purporting to show that Mrs. Rita De Acosta Lydig, divorced wife of the late W. E. D. Stokes, received 5,460 quarter-grain narcotic tablets within a year, were introduced today at the examination before trial of Herman Johnson, once Mrs. Lydig's butler, in connection with her $500,000 libel suit against the New York Daily News. The hearing was held on application of the newspapers.

Her suit is based on testimony printed by the newspaper as having been given in recent bankruptcy by proceedings against her when it was said that Johnson had testified she used narcotics and had lived for six months in 1921 at a Westchester county estate of the late Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, while the minister also lived there. They occupied separate rooms, the butler testified today.

AMERICAN PUBLIC GOAT OF PROFESSIONAL POLITICIAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(AP)—The unthinking American public is the willing goat of the professional politician, said President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University tonight.

The average American has lost the art of reflective thinking, and no longer eager to examine questions for fundamental truths, is the puppet of political prejudice, said Dr. Butler, in an address before the institute of arts and sciences.

Political minorities have used this lethargic state of mind to further their own ends, he continued, and cited the eighteenth amendment as an example of a minority attempt to change the fundamental functions of government.

MILLION DOLLAR ALCOHOL DIVERSION RING CASE

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 17—(AP)—After a day featured largely by technical and semi technical arguments of counsel, Judge Edwin S. Thomas assigned Monday for continuance of the hearing of a long series of pleas in abatement and demurrers, motions to quash the indictments against the ten men and two corporations under indictment in the "million dollar alcohol diversion ring" cases and other technicalities.

Three Brazilian Aviators Killed

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 17—(AP)—A tragedy marked the arrival at Rio Janeiro today of the French aviators Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Le Brix on their trans-Atlantic flight, which started from Paris a week ago when three Brazilian aviators, Captain Attila Oliveira, Lieutenant Salustican Silva and Lieutenant Thomas Barreto, attached to the welcoming squadron, were killed. The Brazilians were flying at a height of about 300 feet when their plane crashed and burst into flames.

The accident greatly affected the French fliers, who asked that all festivities in their honor be abandoned.

Nevertheless they were greeted enthusiastically by representatives of the French chamber of commerce, members of the French colony and their Brazilian colleagues, whom they joined at a luncheon.

Costes and Le Brix plan to resume their flight to Buenos Aires Wednesday. When they drove from the flying field to their hotel they were followed by a long caravan of automobiles. Their flight today from Caravellas, Brazil, their stopping off place last night on the way from Port Natal, was made at fast speed and without incident.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS IN SESSION

WEST BADEN, Ind., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Out of speeches, committee reports and recommendations of officers placed today before the directors and councillors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will evolve a firm definition of the policy of organized business on virtually every contested legislative and economic issue before the close of the four day session Wednesday.

The speech of Lewis E. Pierson, New York, president of the national chamber, was to call to business to stand firmly for federal tax reduction, federal control of Mississippi flood relief, sympathetic co-operation with agriculture and swift revision of postal rates.

No sooner had Pierson enunciated his view of what the chamber's position on these issues should be than a succession of committee reports and recommendations of other officers touched a half dozen other subjects.

James R. MacColl of Providence, R. I. amplified Pierson's statements on tax reduction when he presented the report of the federal taxation committee recommending a score of specific reforms, among them reduction of the corporation income levy from 13 1-2 to 10 per cent, repeal of the excise taxes, repeal of the federal estate tax, discontinuance of the governmental policy of building up huge surpluses, establishment in the bureau of internal revenue of the classified civil service and numerous changes in existing provisions for taxing special kinds of income. He also expressed the view that formal action should be taken continuing the powers of the joint congressional tax committee.

MYSTERIOUS TRAIL OF BLOOD IN SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 17—(AP)—The mystery of a trail of blood found leading from foot of Moseley avenue, West Springfield, to the Connecticut river, still remained unsolved tonight as another clue led away from the scene.

Notified by Mrs. Felix Sorel of this city that her husband had disappeared Wednesday, leaving a note saying he was going to jump off the north and bridge, police started to drag the stream for his body. In the midst of their efforts, however, word arrived that Sorel's body had been found hanging from a tree in Longmeadow.

AMERICAN RELEASED BY MEXICAN BANDITS

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 17—(AP)—Special advices to the Nogales Herald today from William P. Blocker, American consul at Mazatlan, Inalca, said Charles Thomas, mining man of Esperanza, Nyarit, who was kidnapped two weeks ago by the bandit chief, El Pilaco, has been released upon payment of $1,000 ransom. First reports said Thomas was an American citizen, but Blocker's telegram today said he had been naturalized in Mexico. Thomas was reported to be back at the mine from which he was taken during a raid.

OBITUARY

George B. M. Houston

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 17—(AP)—George B. M. Houston, for 21 years editor of the Haverhill Gazette, died at the Gale hospital here today following an operation for appendicitis. He was 64 years old. Mr. Houston was born in Newburyport and came here from Brockton. Previously he had been a newspaper man in Lynn, Mass., and San Antonio, Texas, and had acted as a war correspondent during the Spanish-American war. He had been Haverhill correspondent of the Associated Press since 1922.

Mrs. Orville H. Platt

WASHINGTON, Conn., Oct. 17—(AP)—Mrs. Orville H. Platt, widow of United States Senator Platt, died at her home, Kirby Corners, today from infirmities of age. She would have been 93 years old this coming December.

Since the death of her distinguished husband who had served in the senate from 1879 to 1905, longer than any other senator from Connecticut, Mrs. Platt had lived quietly at her home here.

Mrs. Platt's marriage to Mr. Platt had a touch of romance in it. They had been friends as young folks and later in life when as widower and widow they met they were married.

Mrs. Platt was the daughter of United States Senator Truman Smith of Connecticut who had served from 1849 to 1854. As a girl attending a girls' school here, her native place, she met Mr. Platt then a young man. At the age of 22 she married Mr. Hoyt of Stamford, then president of the Pennsylvania Coal company, a widower with four children.

Chicago Player Injured

CHICAGO, Oct. 17—(AP)—Harold ("Inky") Bluhm, sophomore quarterback of the University of Chicago's football squad suffered a broken vertebra during practice today. He was removed to the university hospital and may be out of the line-up for the remainder of the season.

I. W. W. MEMBERS WARNED FROM COAL FIELDS OF COL.

On the Eve of a Strike a Citizens' Committee Ordered Members of the I. W. W. to Leave Two Coal Field Towns—Headquarters of the I. W. W. Were Raided and Records and Files Were Burned

WALSENBURG, Colo., Oct. 17—(AP)—Orders of citizen committees to leave the towns of Walsenburg and Aguilar tonight faced members of the I. W. W. on the eve of a strike called in the Colorado coal fields.

Tranquil conditions prevailed in the district, but Sheriff Harry J. Capps of Aguilar swore in special deputies to prepare for any contingency. There was no apparent reaction to the citizens' committees' orders to the I. W. W. whose leaders sponsored the movement for tomorrow's strike.

Sheriff Capps said no attempt would be made to enforce the order of the committees, since he regarded it as illegal. Mayor Boccaccio of Aguilar, who headed the citizens' committee in that town, today headed a delegation that instructed the I. W. W. members to close their headquarters and leave.

Headquarters of the I. W. W. in Walsenburg were raided after the committee meeting in the court house Records and files were burned. Mayor John J. Pritchard, who approved the orders demanding the I. W. W.'s to leave, expressed regret that property had been destroyed. Several members of the party got beyond control, he said, explaining that the original plan was merely to serve an eviction notice on the I. W. W.

Leaders of the I. W. W. said the strike would go through, as scheduled. Mine officials expressed the view that the majority of the miners would remain at work and that there would be no trouble.

All three members of the Colorado industrial commission are in the fields and they have intimated that legal action might be taken to stop the strike. The industrial commission contends the workers have not filed the proper notice of the strike, as required by the Colorado law.

PETITION OF THE UNITED MINE WORKERS DENIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—(AP)—With no explanation for its action, the supreme court today denied the petition of the United Mine Workers of America for reviews of twelve cases in which the lower courts enjoined the union from carrying out certain activities among non-union miners in West Virginia.

The effect of the refusal will be to give full force to the injunctions granted by the federal district court for southern West Virginia to the Red Jacket Consolidated, the Borderland and other mining companies.

The injunctions are sweeping, prohibiting the union from interfering by threats of violence with the non-union miners, from destroying mining property or interfering with the interstate business of the mining companies. The lower courts held that the United Mine Workers were engaged in an unlawful conspiracy to prevent the interstate shipment of non-union coal.

WAGE REDUCTIONS IN THE NON-UNION MINERS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17—(AP)—A wage reduction for coal loaders and pick miners employed at its non-union mines was announced today by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation. The new rates, the company said, were put into effect to place wages of Terminal miners upon the same level as those employed by the Pittsburgh Coal company, leading non-union operator in the Pittsburgh district.

Loaders were reduced from 70 cents to 65 cents per ton and pick miners from $1.01 to 94 cents per ton. The union scale calls for 77 cents for coal loading and $1.12 for pick mining.

A new wage scale was also put into effect for various grades of day labor, but the company explained those rates applied only to new men hired in the future. If the new men prove good workmen, a company spokesman said, their wages are raised to the level of other day laborers of their class.

First intimation of the wage cut came from Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers, who is directing strike activities for the union in the Pittsburgh district. Murray gave out the new rates, as reported to union headquarters, which the company later confirmed.

PEACE OFFICERS TO COMBAT STRIKE ORDER

TRINIDAD, Colorado, Oct. 17—(AP)—Peace officers of the southern Colorado coal fields tonight were prepared to combat a strike order, issued by the Industrial Workers of the World, effective tomorrow at all mines in the district.

Roads leading to mining properties will be patrolled and protection given miners who wish to work, Sheriff J. J. Marty of Lasanimas county announced. The state industrial commission has contended the strike is illegal, saying the 30 day notice required by the state law was not given. The I. W. W. claims notice was given.

Meanwhile, word from I. W. W. sources in Walsenburg and Aguilar tonight was that ultimatums issued by citizens' committee banishing members of the organization from the two towns would not be obeyed. However, authorities at Aguilar announced I. W. W. headquarters there was deserted, with indications that the order had been obeyed. The order served on the I. W. W. offices at Aguilar declared all workers must leave the camps by nightfall.

SELECTING JURORS FOR THE TRIAL OF FALL AND SINCLAIR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—(AP)—Three women, one a gray-haired mother, qualified today along with eight men as prospective judges of the guilt or innocence of Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair on government charge of criminal conspiracy in the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

In all, 26 veniremen were examined by counsel at the opening day of the second big felony trial growing out of the senate oil investigation. Nine were excused for cause since they had formed definite opinions in the case and six others were excused, three by the government and three by the defense, on peremptory challenges.

Each side had seven such challenges left when court adjourned and it is possible that all of the 11 accepted today will be taken from the box tomorrow and replaced by new jurors chosen from an additional panel which was summoned overnight.

STUDYING THE LATEST FRENCH TARIFF NOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—(AP)—While first glances at the new French tariff note in official quarters found it highly unsatisfactory in some respects, the document was submitted to expert examination today with representatives of the state and commerce departments and tariff significance to be attached to the conditions under which France offers concessions as to customs rates on American goods.

Neither the state department nor the French embassy was prepared to give out any summary of the communication, one of a series hoped to end tariff disputes between the countries and enter upon new commercial relations.

At the state department, comment was restricted to the declaration that the conditional clauses appeared unsatisfactory but without any definite indication as to their nature.

TRIAL FOR FLOGGINGS HAS BEEN POSTPONED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 17—(AP)—Trial of 11 men indicted for bribery and kidnaping in connection with masked floggings in Jefferson county, has been postponed until Jan. 2, 1928. Attorney General Charlie G. McCall of Alabama announced late today.

The attorney-general said the action was taken to await the outcome of appeals now pending in the cases of Eugene Doss and L. A. Clayton, sentenced at Oneonta in Blount county last July to 10 years in the state penitentiary for participation in the lashing of Jeff Calloway, youthful farm worker.

REMUS GIVEN UNTIL THIS NOON TO MAKE FORMAL PLEA

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 17—(AP)—Judge Chester R. Shook overruled the petition of George Remus to enter a plea of temporary insanity when the charge against him of killing his wife comes to trial Nov. 14 and gave him until noon tomorrow to make his formal plea.

Judge Shook said if the insanity plea was made then he would set a hearing for it on Oct. 31.

Charles Elston, Remus' attorney, said the insanity plea would be filed tomorrow.

ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF RECKLESS FLYING

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17—(AP)—Lieutenant George J. Finch of the army air service attached to Selfridge field, Mich., went on trial before a court martial at Fort McPherson today on a charge of reckless flying.

The alleged offense took place when the officer, in company with other army aviators was piloting an army plane to Fort Sam Houston, Texas. In passing over Atlanta it was charged that he flew under 1,000 feet, the safety limit fixed by the army, that he flew "recklessly", and performed several "stunts", in defiance of regulations.

Lieutenant Finch also is charged with perjury, it being alleged that he violated his oath in a statement made before Judge J. M. Graham, inspector general, on June 16. The officer is said to have told Judge Graham that he was flying "around 1,000 feet," when he passed over the Atlanta home of Royal J. Miller on May 1, and this is held to have been perjury by the prosecuting officers.

A PAROLE RECOMMENDED FOR GASTON B. MEANS

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17—(AP)—After recommending a parole for Gaston B. Means, former department of justice investigator, and completing consideration of the application of Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, the federal parole board ended a four day special meeting here today.

What action was taken on Carroll's petition for clemency will not be known until the attorney general, who must approve it, makes public the board's findings. Papers in the case were sent to Washington during the day.

Both Means and Carroll, among more than 125 prisoners at the federal penitentiary here whose cases were considered by the parole board, were summoned for personal hearings in behalf of their applications.

INQUIRY OF BRILLIANT METEOR SUNDAY NIGHT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 1—(AP)—The Harvard college observatory tonight broadcast an appeal for reports and observations from any persons in New England who noted the passage of a brilliant meteor about 10 o'clock last night. The place of observation, time, passage among constellations, compass bearings on its point of appearance, disappearance or bursting, apparent height in fractions of distance from horizon to the zenith, duration of flight, slope and direction of the motion and description as to size, color, the train and noise of bursting are included in the information desired.

Dr. William J. Fisher of the observatory staff asked that all communications be addressed to meteors at the observatory in Cambridge.

ASTMAN HAS LIABILITIES OF $29,878 AND ASSETS OF $12,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 17—Referee in Bankruptcy Louis A. Wolzard of Danielson presided over a second hearing in the Joseph Astman bankruptcy proceedings at the superior court chambers today. The bankrupt was questioned at length as to several loans made prior to going into involuntary bankruptcy on August 29th last, the examination being to show how the money was expended during the three months prior to the bankruptcy and reasons for borrowing money. An endeavor was also made to determine when Astman first noted that his business was not profitable. Attorneys who questioned were: Thomas J. Kelley of Norwich representing the Sisham Provision company of Norwich; Attorney John H. King for Harry J. Blanchette of Springfield, Mass., formerly of this city; Attorney Arthur T. Kelley for Gail Shamback of this city and Attorney Harry S. Gaucher for other creditors. With the conclusion of the examination Referee Wolzard asked the attorneys to nominate a trustee for the bankrupt estate and Deputy Sheriff Lester H. Blish of this city was chosen. His bond was fixed at $1,000. The attorneys then selected the following as appraisers of the estate: Attorney John H. King, Pierre T. Laramee and Samuel Adams. Orders to make an accounting of the estate as soon as possible were given the trustee and appraisers. Joseph Astman conducted a meat market and grocery store here for 14 years, being located for the most part at 25 Center street. The involuntary petition in bankruptcy which he filed showed liabilities as $29,878.59 and assets at $12,000. The liabilities were itemized as follows: Taxes due state, city and town $444; wages due employes $300; secured claims $16,024.54; unsecured claims $13,109.62. His assets were: Cash on hand $75.24; bills, promissory notes, etc., $2,300; stock on hand $2,- 500; debts due on open account $5,- 000.

Property of the bankrupt Quidnick-Windham Manufacturing company and known as the Quidnick mill estate in Coventry, R. I., will be sold at public auction at a mortgagee's sale next month. The estate comprises 167 1-2 acres and include mill buildings with all equipment and water rights and tenement houses. On May 20, 1926, Charles N. Newell, William H. Thornley of Rhode Island and Walter B. Knight of this city were appointed temporary receivers of the Quidnick benefit of the company, and on July 14, last year, the superior court appointed these receivers as permanent receivers.

Miss Anna Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of Chaplin was united in marriage in St. Philip's church, Warrenville, this morning, to Peter Tremko, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tremko of Westford. Rev. William H. Dunn, the pastor, solemnized the nuptials and was celebrant of a high mass which was largely attended. John Tremko, brother of the groom was best man and Miss Gabrielle Bujak of Hartford was maid of honor. The bride was charming in a gown of white satin trimmed with lace. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. Her maid of honor was attired in pink georgette and she carried a shower bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tremko leaving by motor later in the day for a honeymoon trip to Pennsylvania. For traveling the bride wore a gown of tan crepe under a coat of maroon. After November 1 they will make their home in Stafford Springs where the groom is employed by the Rhode Island Worsted company. The bride has been employed at the Willimantic plant of the American Thread company. They received numerous gifts.

Another Windham boy is making his way into the realm of prominence. He is John M. Nash of Windham Center who is gaining renown as a speaker and who has captured first prizes in various speaking contests. Mr. Nash recently won first prize in the annual speaking contest at Williams School of Dramatic Art, affiliated with Cornell university. In addition to reading chosen selections the contest included original interpretations of unfamiliar passages. The award entitles the young man to the first scholarship in that school.

The "wildcat" uproar is booming again in this section. This time it centers in the vicinity of the home of Charles Larrow on the North Windham road some two miles from this city. Sylvandale residents are highly incensed at the promiscuous parking of machines both sides of the road at night, making traffic almost impossible at times. The machines are parked there for no other reason than waiting for certain girls, and if they do not stop, the girls hold them up, in some cases. The language that pedestrians and residents in that vicinity are obliged to hear is decidedly objectionable. Saturday night, one Connecticut bus driver could not get through and was obliged to sound his horn time and again before the machines could move. Complaint has been made and the nuisance will be abated.

Two children Robert Bryant and Edward Brozynski, three years old, living near the Ninigret mills, disappeared Monday morning, and were missing over two hours. The families were frantic, and finally summoned Deputy Sheriff Dolan. An umbrella mender was in town, and the story went that he had taken the children away. But down the Pachaug road came the children, frightened and crying. They said they had been given a ride by the "bread man," who was going to Voluntown, and he put them out somewhere beside the road to go back home.

MODEST CAPT. BUDDINGTON HAS SAVED 110 LIVES

Alex Bogue was riding his bicycle to the Bayside dock but did not steer right and he and his wheel went into the icy water. The little fellow could not swim and cried for help. Capt. Fred Buddington was cleaning fish about 100 feet away and came on the run without even taking off his vest with a watch in the pocket. The lad went down twice but a good dive by Capt. Buddington saved the lad from drowning and he was soon safe on land. The lad thanked the captain a dozen times and said never again on the dock for him. Capt. Buddington in the last 25 years about the dock fishing has saved over 110 persons from drowning many of them children, but he don't want any praise for his hero work and said "Well, some one had to do it."

Mystic Ironmen's football team came down to the village Saturday afternoon to Williams field to battle the Noank Crushers team. Ironmen's team had the four horsemen in the backfield, Lightning Don Beaney fullback, Swift H. Holmes quarterback, Jumping B. Steward left halfback, Fatty Crotell right halfback. The Crushers were standing pat on their light backfield men, Flash McDonald, quarterback, Left Halfback Speed Carson, Right Halfback Deer, G. Deveau and Fullback Big Mike Passi. In the first half long runs were pulled off on both sides. Crushers' stonewall line held their rivals on the 2-yard line for 4 downs and Ironmen's team held the Crushers on the 5-yard line. The first half ended 0 to 0.

Big Passi, fullback for Crushers made an end run and his two men in front of him for a touch down, tying the score 6 to 6; and the right foot of Speed Carson sent the ball over the bar for the extra point, making the final score, Crushers 7, Ironmen 6. Referee, E. Burns; attendance 150.

Two men from Baltimore, Jerry Newell and Berard Scott came to the village Saturday and were looking for a place to put up a barrel shop. They heard that Noank was a great fishing place and a good barrel shop would help the fishermen, so they would not go out of town for barrels in which to pack fish. The men said they have been to California and out west and Noank could not be touched for scenery. After picking a good large lot for the barrel shop they asked an old resident if the town had city water. He said no and that is what the town needs. The men were surprised to hear this. The plans for the barrel shop were knocked in the head for the men said without water they could not build. The plant was to employed over 400 men.

DANIELSON

OSCAR J. STILLWELL DIES AT DAY-KIMBALL HOSPITAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 17.—Oscar J. Stillwell, 72, died this morning at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam, where he had been a patient for over a fortnight. He had been in failing health the past five years, and did not rally after undergoing a surgical operation. The body was brought here in charge of A. F. Wood.

Mr. Stillwell was born in Huntington, L. I., December 6, 1855, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Stillwell, and lived thereabouts for many years. For another long period he has been a resident of this town, having a farm in the Sparks district. Mrs. Stillwell died in 1916. Mr. Stillwell leaves two sons, Eden, who made his home with him, and Raymond of Danielson. There are two grandsons, Ernest Linwood Stillwell and Archie Stillwell. A sister and four brothers, all residents of New York state, also survive.

This afternoon at the home on Hawkins street at 2.30 funeral services for Mrs. Ella Woodworth, widow of Martin V. Woodworth, were conducted by Rev. Ernest A. Legg, formerly of Danielson, and Rev. Albert Abbott, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Numbers of relatives and friends attended the service. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. The bearers were John W. Gallup, H. M. Thompson, George Stone, Sidney H. Perry, Charles M. Smith and A. Putnam Woodward. There were many beautiful floral pieces. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. A. F. Wood was the funeral director.

Funeral services for James Day, last of Pomfret's Civil war veterans, were conducted at his home in that town this afternoon by Rev. George A. Barker of the Pomfret Congregational church. Burial was in Dayville cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Barker and taps sounded by Dr. Harry W. Sharpe of Putnam. The bearers were four sons of the deceased, Louis Day, Robert Day, Albert Day and Henry Day. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

The death of Patrick Weaver, resident in this town and Brooklyn for approximately half a century, occurred at his home in Dayville this morning. Mr. Weaver had been in poor health for years and a week ago suffered a shock. He was a native of Ireland. Coming to this country as a young man he was variously engaged, being one of those who worked on the construction of the railroad line between Putnam and Willimantic. Later for years he was one of the expert workers at the yards of the Quinebaug Brick company in Brooklyn. Leaving Brooklyn with his family, he has since resided in Dayville. Mr. Weaver leaves his wife and three children, John, James and Annie, all of Dayville. There is a sister resident in Ireland.

Of local interest was the wedding at Grace church, Utica, on Saturday of Miss Julia Tyler Doolittle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius T. A. Doolittle of that city, and Lyonell Hutchinson Putnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Putnam, formerly of Danielson, where the bridegroom lived as a boy.

Mrs. Samuel R. Campbell, sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Marcella R. Putnam, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. A. Douglas Russell, Princeton, N. J., sister of the bride, Miss Gertrude T. Robinson, Hartford, Miss Suzanne Smyth, Miss Jean Chase, Miss Mary Kearnan, all of Utica, Miss Eleanor Scovill of New York and Miss Laura Towne of Washington, D. C.

Albert D. Putnam, Hartford, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were John Learned of Manchester, Ostrom Endess and Hamilton Maxim of Hartford, Raymond Daniels of Manchester, N. H., William Van Antwerp of Albany, Lyman A. Smith of Pittsburg, Robert Johnston, Jr., and Charles C. Hubbell, Jr., of New York.

The newly wedded couple will, after their wedding trip, make their home in Hartford, where Mr. Putnam is associated with his father in the firm of Putnam and Co.

Here's Michael Wiczekl of East Thompson back in the news, this time for violations of the liquor laws. A raiding party headed by State Officer Elton Nolan of the Danielson barracks made a visitation to Wiczekl's place Saturday, found a still in actual operation and seized 150 gallons of mash and 15 gallons of moonshine. Later, on two counts, he was fined in a justice's court of the town $400 and costs and given a sentence of 30 days in jail on each of two counts, execution of the sentences being suspended.

Wiczekl has an imposing court record. He has been arrested 16 times since 1923, on charges involving intoxication, breach of the peace, violations of the liquor laws and what not. Only recently he was released from the state farm for inebriates after serving a period of six months. Wiczekl, a man in his late 30's, has agreed, it is understood, to mend his ways.

The still seized in the raid was made of a wash boiler and was the usual crude arrangement with coil. The still will be destroyed.

The past week end having brought a birthday anniversary for Mrs. Sarah Jaegar, wife of Francis Jaegar, a few of her friends from Norwich came here to observe the event. They were Mrs. Elizabeth Eccleston and daughter, Dorothy, and Mrs. Frank Patterson. The visitors presented Mrs. Jaeger with gifts. The day was a happy one for all who participated in the gathering.

Delegates from various Baptist churches in this territory were at Hartford today for the opening of the Baptist state convention, which will continue through Wednesday.

Dewey Burke, who had his leg broken in an automobile accident near West Woodstock Saturday afternoon was for years a resident of Danielson.

People who happened to be up at that time were surprised at about 11.40 Sunday night by the hum of an aeroplane motor over the central section of Danielson. Night-flying planes are not common hereabouts.

An observer relates having noticed, in Plainfield, a small touring car with the legends "Spirit of Canterbury", "Old Glory" and "Miss America" neatly painted on its sides and at the rear.

That Florida is going after winter tourists business in earnest is indicated by the flooding of apepaling literature coming from that state into this territory. One pauses to ponder, however, over the assertion on one folder that "It is cheaper to spend the winter in Florida than to stay home and buy coal." Now we wonder.

Joseph Berthiaume, a resident of the Riverview section, has taken the management of a new chain store opened in Dayville.

It is of general interest to the people of this town that James N. Tucker of East Killingly, a former judge of the town court, recently observed his 79th birthday, which found him enjoying reasonably good health and his ever keen and lively interest in all the doings of mankind.

Irving W. Davis was in Hartford today on a business trip.

SADLAN WILL BE SENTENCED THIS MONTH

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 17—John Sadlan, who was arrested in New York last summer and brought to Ashford on a charge of attempting to set his house at Ashford afire in an attempt to defraud an insurance company will be sentenced to jail on Friday, October 28. He was arraigned before the superior court and when the trial was about to begin, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty. The court allowed him time to arrange his business affairs before beginning the sentence the court will impose.

The crime was committed on June 2. After being brought from New York, Sadlan was arraigned in the justice court and held in bonds of $5,000 for the superior court. The bond was not furnished and he was sent to jail but the bond was subsequently reduced to $3,000 which was given. The trial was to have been a jury trial.

Mrs. Fulton will also stop at Honolulu and Yokahama.

PUTNAM BUSINESS MEN ASK FOR BETTER MAIL SERVICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 17—A petition has been drawn up and is sponsored by the Putnam chamber of commerce asking for adequate mail service. It is addressed to the postmaster who is in accord with the action of the business men and manufacturers of the city and who has forwarded it to the proper authorities. The petition reads as follows:

"To the Postmaster of the City of Putnam:

"With request that this petition be forwarded to the proper postoffice official or department.

"The undersigned, business men of the city of Putnam, deeming the present facilities for receiving their daily mail are inadequate, intolerable and injurious to the city of Putnam and its business interests, respectfully petition that immediate steps be taken to remedy the situation now existing and give this city a mail service that is adequate, dependable and early, so that business may not be retarded and interfered with."

The postmaster states that the mail from the north, the motor truck service from Worcester and New London, is maintaining its schedule north and south, as there is no further complaint as to this service. It is the early morning mail that has reached such a state of unreliability that has brought local business men and manufacturers to make this protest. The same dissatisfaction is being expressed all along the line from Worcester to Norwich.

Manufacturers are especially dependent upon this early morning train, that brings the mail from New York and from the sales agencies of a number of local mills. The train now bringing this early mail is a mixed freight and is consistently late in reaching here.

Garde Jean D'Arc of the woman's council of St. Jeanne Baptiste of this city, are making an enviable reputation as a drill team. They won first prize at Fall River recently as the best drilled team and Miss Estelle Beaudreault was awarded the prize as the most popular captain.

JAMES RICHARD LEE, NORWICH, FIGURES IN DOUBLE WEDDING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 17—There was a double wedding at St. Michael's church in Pawcatuck this morning at 8:15 o'clock when there were united in marriage Miss Ann Elizabeth Sullivan and James Richard Lee of Norwich and Miss Lillian Agnes Sullivan and Bernard Thomas Smith, of New Britain. The brides were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sullivan of 42 Garden street. Mr. Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lee of Norwich, and Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith of New Britain. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward J. Houlihan of Baltimore, Md., a cousin of the brides. Each couple acted as attendants for the other. The nuptial high mass which followed the ceremony was celebrated by Fr. Houlihan and music was by the church choir, under direction of Mrs. Thomas Murray. At the offertory, Miss Theresa McMahon sang "Ave Maria." Both brides wore gowns of white georgette, trimmed with princess lace. Their silk tulle veils, with French bridal caps of princess lace, were caught with orange blossoms and they carried shower bouquets of white roses, lilies of the valley and baby breath. The altar of the church was attractively adorned with ferns and flowers. Following the ceremony at the church, a breakfast was served for relatives at the Elm Tree inn. Mr. and Mrs. Lee left Monday morning on a motor trip to Canada. Upon their return they will reside at Shannock and will be at home after Nov. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left by automobile for Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Cleveland, Ohio They will reside at Hartford, Conn., and will be at home after Nov. 1.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, rector of the church. Miss Lonitta Carr was bridesmaid and Stanley Barber was best man. Following the ceremony a reception for relatives and friends was held at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Henry Barber of Greenman avenue. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Cahoune will make their home at 62 Cross street.

NOMINATION PAPERS MAY BLOCK REPUBLICAN CHOICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Oct. 17—The election caucus of last Saturday by the Westerly republican party made nominations that may not prove equivalent to election. The two town offices in the contested caucus election in which candidates won by a small majority were those of highway commissioner for 6 years, also that for sixth councilman and in these two contests there were reported enough blank ballots cast to give either candidate a much larger winning vote. Certain political leaders were reported Sunday as going over the figures and names checked, with a possible view of placing the matter before the Westerly electors on election day, Nov. 8th next, the names of other candidates than the nominees of the republican caucus on citizens nomination papers are to be filed with the Westerly town clerk. No chances has been held by a Westerly democratic party and of course no democratic nominations are to be on the election ballot. With the required number of names signed to a petition on nomination papers and filed in the case of a town 15 days before election day, where signers have not participated in a caucus as members of an accredited political party, the nominees of such citizens' nomination papers will appear on the printed ballots as such for town election day use.

Shortly before noon, Monday, the Westerly fire department responded to a telephone call for a stubborn chimney fire at Bradford, on Main street across from the Bradford post office. The Seagraves pumper with Fire Chief George E. Egger, Engineer George A. McKenzie and force of men were not long in arriving at Bradford where the 80 gallon booster tank was used in extinguishing the fire in the chimney in the main part of the house occupied by the families of Edward Hindle, Daniel Breen and Alexander Riddell. It was feared that if the fire were allowed to burn out sparks might set fire to neighboring property. The interior of the house was not damaged.

Care of Babies

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. And it is so pleasant to take. Taste it yourself, and you'll know why "Children Cry for It."

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic; or when you even suspect the approach of constipation; or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. See how quickly all fretfulness or wakefulness will cease!

Only one word of warning: the above advice is true of genuine Castoria.* The kind called Fletcher's, bearing Fletcher's signature is genuine—and does not contain opiates or any other drug that can harm your baby. Other preparations may be just as free from harm; the writer does not know as to that, but does know one family whose children will never make the experiment!

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

RAIDING THE COUNTRYSIDE

There were the days, some years ago, when owners of farm land found it unnecessary to put up "no trespassing" signs. Those who delighted in roaming the fields and the woods were permitted to do so, for they did no harm and they knew the owners in most instances. They were appreciative of the privilege and mindful of their responsibilities.

But times have changed. Those who were once obliged to drive a horse, or walk, in getting out into the country are now whisked there in a jiffy by automobile, and most everyone has a motor vehicle that will carry from three to ten. The transportation change would make little difference if there was the same disposition to respect the rights and property of others, but there doesn't seem to be. There is an inclination to employ the motor vehicle for not only getting to the country but in raiding the farm land of whatever seems to be needed or whatever pleases the eye of the trespasser.

Posted land and farms are to be found on all sides, and there would not be so much surprise if the side of the landowner or farmer was understood. Not so many persons would think of going through a neighbor's kitchen garden and helping themselves to what they wanted, but when they contemplate an orchard, a potato patch, a corn field or most anything in a truck garden in the country they seem to think that it is their privilege to start a raid, and the only thing they need to be careful about is being caught.

Such raiding is, as a matter of fact, no different than dipping into the supplies in a grocery store for such things as are needed or would taste good, or the taking of whatever looks attractive on the counter of a department store when the clerk isn't watching. That the farmers lose much of their stock in trade is no secret and when they take measures to better protect themselves, even if it bothers the raider, or even results in his prosecution, there's no one to blame but those who force the country people to resort to such protection.

LOWER TAXES

It is refreshing to note the response that is being made to the demand for lower taxes in Massachusetts cities. The insistence has brought action that cannot fail to be pleasing since it indicates a willingness to meet demands or the placing of those in control of affairs who are mindful of the best interests of those cities.

Among the Massachusetts cities there are two classes. Those that are seriously concerned by the industrial situation, and where grand lists as well as taxes have been cut, and those where the mill situation is not a factor.

Among the cities Holyoke has the lowest tax, $24.20 a thousand while the highest in the state is Revere with $38.40. Not one it will be noticed begins to approach the high double tax which is paid in Norwich.

From the fact that there were 28 cities where taxes were reduced and only seven where increases resulted this year, it is apparent that the tendency in the neighboring state is for lower taxes. Valuation was cut in seven of the cities which are cotton mill centers, amounting to $25,000,000 in Fall River where the purpose was to bring about a readjustment of the tax burdens for the benefit of the industrial properties. This was the purpose in the other six, but there were three cities where both valuation and tax were lowered. In other communities the usual normal increase of the grand list resulted.

In Massachusetts the tax reduction movement was general. It was not confined to any one locality. There was a demand for readjustment and the demand was heeded and the result will be to the decided advantage of each one. There will not only be relief for the industries which have been hard hit but there will be relief for the tax payers in general. This is of course only as it should be and it makes other highly taxed cities wonder when they are going to experience relief of that character through readjustments or greater efficiency.

ALABAMA'S FLOGGINGS

Violence of a nature which creates resentment has occurred in certain parts of Alabama. The situation got to the point where the terrorization by hooded bands required action. Floggings followed floggings until it became necessary to submit the matter to the grand jury. In such circumstances the situation has too often been that those engaged in such activities have been able to influence juries and authorities, but whatever has prevailed in the past did not prevail in this instance for 102 indictments against 46 persons have been returned in one county. The claim is made that all those indicted are members of an organization which is featured by wearing masks, except one.

It was set forth in the verdict that it was not the intention of the grand jury to indict the Klan as an organization, or to impute sinister motives to all the members of the organization, but when it found an organization which appeared to be guided in part at least by certain ones unworthy of trust it was time to act for the proper protection of society.

In Alabama there have been repeated instances of lawlessness which by their very nature arouse the public. Such acts are in direct conflict with the law and make a joke of the legal machinery which is maintained by the state, just as long as they are tolerated.

The grand jury in Alabama has apparently been driven to action and done its duty. If it is backed up by equally convincing testimony before the trial juries and they are as much concerned in upholding the law of the state there will be a continuation of the fine beginning. There is no more justification for floggings than there is for lynchings. Alabama has established laws to deal with such conditions. If it is simply a case of enforcement the problem ought to be easily solved and if the action by the grand jury can be accepted as evidence of the temper of the people in that county such a solution is just what is wanted and needed.

WALKERS AND DRIVERS

In a letter to a New York paper a New Yorker sets forth that automobile accidents are not all attributable to the carelessness and indifference of the drivers. He is a driver himself and takes the position from his own experience both as driver and pedestrian that the pedestrian is very much inclined to take chances in crossing the street. It is as the result of this that many accidents occur for which the drivers are not to blame.

There can be no question but what there is full justification for such an assertion. It is demonstrated repeatedly that people afoot, and especially children, are disposed to step out into the street with little or no thought of the danger they are encountering. They go from in back of other cars and even step backwards into the street when traffic on narrow streets runs close to the curbstone.

This does not absolve the driver from being careful but it shows a situation where the driver is powerless to prevent accidents because he has no warning and the care he may be exercising is of no avail.

There is responsibility resting upon both the pedestrian and the motor vehicle driver to avoid accidents. If that responsibility is assumed and due attention is given to the anticipation of motor vehicle traffic by the walker and consideration shown by drivers for conditions which invite accidents large contributions will be made to the increased safety of the highways, and those who use them as well as those who cross them cannot fail to understand the importance of attaining such a goal. It is a situation where everyone should do his part.

HANDICAPPING THE GUNMAN

Before the first of November in the state of Michigan it is necessary for every owner of firearms to register the weapons with the chief of police in the cities, or with the sheriff of the county for those outside cities. The requirements embraces pistols or revolvers and in each case the number, make and model must be set forth. If a person desires to purchase such a weapon he must get a license to do so and then the person selling the weapon files the license with a complete edscription of the gun, the complet description of the gun, the comstate being kept by the state commissioner of public safety.

Michigan is trying to do what New York did with its Sullivan law. It is seeking to keep such guns out of the hands of criminals and believes that the gunmen and bandits will be handicapped under such a law, since provisions is made that all those who fail to register a weapon will be liable to a fine of $100 or a three months' jail sentence.

Apparently the test in Michigan is going to be as to how successfully the possessor of a pistol can keep it concealed. Very frequently it is being found in New York that individuals are keeping firearms in their homes in violation of the law which calls for a severer penalty than the Michigan law. Whether the authorities in the western states will be any more successful in getting enforcement is something that will be watched with keen interest from outside. It is a manifestation however of the growing tendency for the placing of effective restrictions upon the possession of firearms as the prevention of crime.

The only handicap to a Prune day is that for some people it is observed too many times a week already.

With the government in the market for nearly a million pounds of apple sauce, what have you got to offer?

Possibly there are some who can recollect when boys were busy at this time of year gathering barrels for the Thanksgiving fires.

The aviator who says: "We cannot fail," must remember that equal confidence was displayed by all those fliers who have been lost.

If you follow your calendar you will recall that Navy day is due next week, but that is not the only day in the year we think of our navy.

With the New York district attorney opening a campaign against nudity on the stage will it be a blow or a boost to the box office receipts?

The provoking part of it to all swimmers is that the new record for crossing the English channel was made at the close rather than the opening of the season.

LETTERS OF A CLIFF DWELLER

Dearest Mayme: If you received an invitation to the annual green gambol of the Mayfair Country club wouldn't you feel as frightened as a spring lamb? How can a girl like you or me, brought up on a bottle in Monona Minn., be expected to know her way about Chicago's smartest set, where there is so much danger of falling all over yourself? The mere thought made me wabbly.

But ever since Stuart was lifted right over the heads of half a dozen rivals to the chairmanship of that new sales sub-department I've been thinking we ought to lift ourselves up socially, too. You know what I mean, Mayme. So when Mr. Adelbert Greer, the youngest of one of the firm's oldest families, dropped a flag of truce on Stuart's desk in the form of a brilliant green envelope we didn't take it as a challenge.

That is, I didn't, though Stuart feared that Mr. Greer's friendship had a tinge of the same color as the invitation which, probably, he had proffered on a wager of being able to exhibit our small-town manners to his friends. Wasn't that just like a man?

"Why, Stuart Hodges," I gasped, "I believe this new job has given you an inferiority complex!"

He nodded.

"It's given me a number of things that weren't specified in the contract," he agreed.

"Then you admit, perhaps, that your wife's manners are such as to give Mr. Greer satisfaction for his wager?"

"I admit nothing until proved," snapped Stuart.

After that, Mayme, I bought a book on "How to Make Contacts Count," and determined to show Stuart that I could walk shoulder to shoulder with him to the pinnacle of success without stumbling. I was in earnest about it, too.

Well, Thursday evening found us at Mayfair, "en rapport" (that's rubbing elbows, Mayme) with distinguished men and women of the world. Mr. E. Wellington Fuller, to my left, seemed at first distinguished only by the expanse of his remarkable strawberry complexion. Later I discovered that the world acclaimed him as a story teller. But after he had favored me with a private rendition I was afraid my complexion would be as remarkable as his own for color; so to change the subject I asked where he had collected his fund of anecdotes.

"I picked most of them up in the locker room," he chuckled.

"Have you looked on the bulletin board? Perhaps the housekeeper is offering a reward," I suggested.

"What for?" His face went blank.

"Their return for renovation." I answered in the quiet tone recommended by the book. And it was evident that I was not one of the contacts that would count in the future with E. Wellington Fuller! From the corner of my eye I caught a glimpse of Stuart leaving his table with a stunning brunette on his arm.

"Don't you think dancing is divine?" I crooned. This was an actual quotation, Mayme, from H. T. M. C. C. "And on a night like this, when the beauty of nature and the art of man are in conspiracy with loveliness!" (Stuart was dancing without a sign of an inferiority complex.)

"Why the daydreams, innocent?" came a blase voice from the right. "This is nighttime, when all the crimes are committed. Look!"

"Isn't there a law to prevent a stunning brunette from teaching my husband the black bottom plainly against his wishes?" I whispered.

"Some people won't admit there's a limit to education," he answered.

"Some people won't admit they have an ounce of gallantry left in them. But if you'll rescue him for me I'll never forget it," I wept as I made my way to the cloakroom.

YOUR HEALTH

DIPHTHERIA HAS LOST MUCH OF ITS TERROR

By L. W. Oaks, M. D. Provo, Utah
Member Gorgas Memorial

Not so many years ago the bare mention of diphtheria struck terror to the hearts of people everywhere. It was justly feared as one of the most treacherous diseases known to man. A great percentage of those who contracted it died in spite of the best treatment to be had. In fact, there was little that could be done, except to sit by while they died.

Death from diphtheria occurs in two ways. First, there is the filling up of the breathing passages with a gray, false membrane which forms as a result of action of the bacteria upon membranes lining those passages. This goes on to a point where the individual can no longer get air through. Then, unless something is done to open a route for breathing, the person dies of asphyxiation. Individuals who succumb in this way are always blue in color, because of air starvation. It was formerly said that such a death was due to black diphtheria. Second, the poison of diphtheria has a special affinity for the nerves, particularly for those nerves which control the heart action. Not infrequently a person ill of diphtheria tries to sit up, or even just to lift his head from the pillow, and suddenly falls back dead. Death in such a case is due to paralysis of those heart-controlling nerves, so that heart action stops. Even cases of diphtheria which are supposed to be very mild may die in this way, unless properly cared for.

Diphtheria antitoxin, a serum, has changed all this. Today, through the agency of antitoxin, diphtheria, has changed all this. Today, through the agency of antitoxin, diphtheria has lost much of its terror; and we are no longer forced to give it a high rating among causes of death. In this day of scientific advancement, a death from diphtheria is nearly always traceable to delay or neglect upon some one's part. Responsibility almost invariably falls upon the patient or his relatives, as physicians are all cognizant of the danger that lies in procrastination and give antitoxin as soon as they can get it.

There are individuals, ignorant or incorrectly advised, who argue that antitoxin is dangerous and should not be given. They say the serum causes paralysis after the disease is over, a statement which is without the least foundation. It is true that a number of individuals who have diphtheria do get paralysis of the throat muscles as well as paralysis of the accomodation muscle, so they cannot read for a time; but this occurs more often in people who have not had antitoxin. Other extravagant things have been preached against the serum by various cultists. Practically the only inconvenience arising from diphtheria antitoxin, properly given, is the temporary occurrence of hives. As a rule, these last only a few weeks.

Diphtheria antitoxin offers the only sure hope in offsetting the dangers of this disease.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Peter Watches Mr. Blacksnake

Ere you jump look where you'll land,
For danger lurks on every hand.
—Old Mother Nature.

It was the day after Peter had been spying on Mrs. Peter in the dear Old Briar-patch that he almost had an adventure up there in the Old Pasture. Thinking so much of himself and his own troubles, which after all were imaginary, Peter Rabbit had become very careless. So it was that he hopped over an old log withou. first looking to see that everything was all right on the other side. You know it is a very careless thing to jump without knowing just where you are going to land and all about where you are going to land.

No sooner had Peter's feet struck the earth than there was a great commotion among the dead leaves close beside him, and Peter jumped again with surprising quickness. "My goodness!" exclaimed Peter, as he looked back. Then he exclaimed again when he discovered that he had just missed landing on Mr. Blacksnake.

And Mr. Blacksnake was in a dreadful temper. Yes, sir, he certainly was in a dreadful temper. He was striking this way and that way, as if he were trying to strike someone. At the least little sound Mr. Blacksnake would strike in every direction. Peter kept still and presently Mr. Blacksnake quieted down.

"He looked rather queer to me," thought Peter. "He looks dull. He hasn't got that black, shiny coat that he usually has. No, sir, Mr. Blacksnake doesn't look himself. I wonder if he is sick."

Just then Mr. Blacksnake moved in such a way that Peter had a good look at his head. There was something queer about Mr. Blacksnake's eyes. They were dull-looking. In fact, Mr. Blacksnake looked as if he might be partly or wholly blind. Certainly he looked queer.

Presently Mr. Blacksnake moved close up to the old log over which Peter jumped. Peter could see that there was a very narrow space under one end of that old log. Mr. Blacksnake began trying to push his head through under the old log at this place. At first he couldn't seem to succeed. But he worked and he worked, and Peter sat there and watched. Presently, after working quite a while, Mr Blacksnake forced his head through. From where Peter was he could see Mr. Blacksnake when he came out the other side. It wasn't the same Mr. Blacksnake at all. At least, it wasn't in appearance. There was nothing dull about the Mr. Blacksnake who was coming from under that old log. His eyes were as bright and staring as ever Peter had seen them. He ran his tongue out at Peter now. Peter grinned. He wasn't afraid of Mr Blacksnake for he knew he was too big for Mr. Blacksnake to eat. Still he didn't want to have any trouble with Mr. Blacksnake.

Suddenly it came to Peter what had happened. Mr. Blacksnake was getting rid of his old coat. Underneath it he had a new coat and so he had no use for two coats. It was that old coat that had made him look so dull. And he really had been blind for a few minutes. You see, when Mr. Blacksnake gets rid of his old coat he gets rid of a film over his eyes also, and after this is loosened and until he actually gets rid of it he cannot see very well.

He loks rather queer to me, thought Peter

Now Mr. Blacksnake was literally running out of his skin. But, of course, his old coat was really his old skin. It was turned inside out. He had started it that way by forcing his head under that old log. Once started it peeled off easily. In just a moment Mr. Blacksnake was entirely free, and never had he looked handsomer and never had he appeared livelier and, truth to tell, never had he been hungrier.

Little Talks on Thrift

SYSTEMATIC SAVING

Most of us think of thrift as a modest virtue through which people save money, take care of their health and try to employ their time to the best advantage.

But how few of us think of it also in terms of the great material progress going on all about us.

Because somebody saved, more than $6,000,000,000 in new buildings are being erected in the United States this year. Because somebody saved, millions upon millions of dollars worth of new highway construction is going on today all over this country. Somebody had to save to build our railroads, to provide agricultural implements for our farmers, to construct our electric light systems and power plants, and build our rapid transit lines.

These aspects of material progress did not just grow of their own volition, or come into being through the working of some magic force.

Through the slow, steady, systematic saving of the people of this nation all of this was made posible, and all the material progress the United States shall ever attain will be based on this same patient thrift of the people.

Let the people of this nation ever cease to save and the result will be immediate and eventful ruin.

Thrift is not merely a modest virtue to be encourated by happy phases and apt platitudes.

It is a tremendous necessity. It is the foundation upon which the entire structure of our national development is built. Happily we are coming more and more to a genuine appreciation of its serious importance.—American Society for Thrift.

After 14 days on the Pacific, the Japanese steamer Montreal Maru arrived at Tacoma, Wash., reporting a dusty voyage. Captain Nemaru said that two bucketfuls of dust were swept from the decks every morning. The dust powdered passengers and lifeboat coverings. It was produced by salt crystallizing in the hot summer air.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in hundreds of cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Lee & Osgood Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Disease Germs Never Sleep

YOU CAN DEFEAT THEM WITH

Father John's Medicine

IF enemies come to attack your home, you would not open your door and invite them in. Day and night armies of disease germs lie in wait to attack your body. Do you fight against them or do you invite them in?

The weak body is an easy prey to disease, especially after the wasting effects of coughs and colds.

Father John's Medicine fights disease germs by aiding the system to throw off impurities and building up strength, vigor and physical fitness. It is a food medicine perfectly blended, pleasant to take, easy to digest. Has had seventy years of success and contains no alcohol or harmful drugs.

RAN INTO MACHINE PARKED IN SYVANDALE

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 17—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Everett were calling on friends in Sylvandale Sunday evening, leaving their machine parked across the street. Hearing a crash, they found that Julian Przedpelski of 16 Yantic street, Norwich, intoxicated, had run his machine into the rear of the Everett car. When the deputy sheriff, arrived, according to onlookers he found the man taking the numbers of the Everett machine. When asked for his registration papers he was so thoroughly muddled that he said they were under the seat in the Everett machine.

The Norwich man was presented tonight at Grand Juror George Helmbodt's home in Lisbon on the charge of driving under the influence of liquor, but the case was continued to next Friday.

OBITUARY

Frank W. Johnson

The sudden death of Frank W. Johnson, 53, occurred sometime Sunday night at his home, No. 30 Avery street, Mr. Johnson died in his sleep. He was born in Sweden and came to this country when a boy. For 35 years he had made his home in Norwich, and for about 30 years of this time had been employed by H. A. Wolf. In Norwich 28 years ago he was united in marriage with Augusta Ericson who survives him. There are also two sons, Carl and Harold, both of Norwich, and the following brothers and sisters; Carl O. Johnson of Norwich, Emil J. Johnson, Ernest Johnson of Boston, Mrs. Annie Henderson of Middletown and Mrs. Emily Anderson of New York. Mr. Johnson attended the Swedish Lutheran church.

Mr. Johnson was well known to many Norwich people who are grieved to learn of his sudden passing and who extend heartfelt sympathy to the stricken family.

Frank E. Sawyer

Frank E. Sawyer died suddenly at his home in Montville Saturday evening. He had been in good health up to within a month when the severe nerve strain caused by his work hastened the end.

Mr. Sawyer was born in Lyme, the son of William M. and Harriet Babcock Sawyer. He came to Montville with his parents when he was six years of age and attended the public schools in that place.

A paper maker by trade, he was employed as foreman at the Ironside Paper Co. of Norwich and the Robert Gair Co., Uncasville, and later transferred to their New Jersey plant where he remained until the World war broke out. He returned to Norwich to take a position as foreman in one of the departments of the Marlin-Rockwell Co. manufacturers of war materials.

At the close of the war he opened a general store in Norwich. About five years ago he was given the position of general foreman in the Montville plant of the Palmer Brothers Co.

He was respected by all who knew him and was of a very pleasing disposition and very fond of all children.

He leaves a widow, one daughter, Lillian M. Sawyer, R. N., three brothers, Willis, George and James, who reside in Montville.

Mr. Sawyer was a past grand of Thames lodge No. 22 I. O. O. F. The Odd Fellows will take charge of the funeral, in the death of Mr. Sawyer the town loses a good citizen.

Sandt, Willington, first essayist; Rev. A. W. Warren, Torrington, alternate; Rev. W. I. Cousins, Ansonia, second essayist and Rev. J. C. Hendricks of Stamford, alternate.

The 115th annual meeting of the Baptist Education Society of Connecticut, was held at 7.30 p. m., Rev. Burtt N. Timbie of Meriden, president of the society, presided at the meeting. The main address was by Rev Everett Carleton Herrick, D. D., president of the Newton Theological institution at Newton Centre, Mass., Dr Herrick's subject was "equipping the minister." He said that intellectual equipment of a high standard was more than ever necessary to combat the active, organized teaching of atheism that are being broadcast.

ACCOUNTANT WINS SUIT AGAINST HARTFORD WOMAN

Judgment for the plaintiff to recover $476 and costs was handed down Monday by Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court in the suit of John F Murphy of New London against Mrs. Jeno C. Beneway of Hartford, whom Mr. Murphy sued on a claim for $2,000 damages.

Murphy claimed a commission of about $1,800 for services in connection with her income tax returns. According to testimony the government proposed an additional assessment of $35,000. Murphy claimed that he discovered that the government owed the defendant $169. Mrs. Beneway conducts a ladies' apparel store in Hartford under the name of Madam Beneway. Attorney Arthur T. Keefe appeared for the plaintiff and Attorney George Curtis Morgan for the defendant.

SUPREME COURT HERE WITH SHORT DOCKET

Two continued cases and three new cases are on the docket for the supreme court of errors which holds its session this (Tuesday) morning in this city.

The new cases are defendant's appeal in Elizabeth Jennes vs. City of Norwich and defendant's appeal in Louise Menzie vs. Samuel Kaimonovitz.

The Jennes vs. City of Norwich is coming before the supreme court for the second time for a reargument. A jury gave Mrs. Jennes a verdict for $2,000 against the city in her suit for injuries received in a fall on Summit street, Dec. 24, 1925. Judge Newell Jennings of the superior court accepted the judgment but the city took the case to the supreme court and won there, having the decision reversed and the judgment thrown out.

One of the new cases on the list are Mary Kalamian vs. David Ka'amian, defendant's appeal in a case in which a wife sues her husband for injuries in an automobile accident.

The other new cases, neither of which is printed, are plaintiff's appeal in Audrey A. Palmer vs. Theodora Palmer, et al., administrators, appeal from probate, and plaintiff's appeal in Melville Smith, et al. vs. Automobile Insurance company of Hartford.

Eagles Initiated Fifteen

Norwich Aerie, 367, F. O. E., initiated a class of fifteen Saturday night. The speakers for the meeting were State Vice President Richard Dempsey of Hartford, and Past State President Johnson of Hartford. After the meeting the committee in charge served a buffet lunch.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. C. Edward Smith, of Warren street was a visitor in Meriden Monday.

The Monday Afternoon Sewing club met with Mrs. W. Russell Baird, of Williams street.

Mrs. E. Carleton Granbery of New York and Greenwich, Conn., has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Weston Goodnow, formerly of Norwich, and now of Huntington, West Virginia.

When Mrs. John L. Leonard entertained at auction Saturday afternoon at her home in Willimantic for her daughter, Mrs. Robert Colt Johnson, of Norwich, the prizes were won by Mrs. Donald E. Crane and Miss Myrtle Jordan.

The meeting of the Monday Study club was held with Mrs. Robert W. Perkins, of Broad street, Miss Alice W. Cogswell having the paper on "Henry VIII and the Founding of the Anglican church." Miss Edith M. Bliss considered the oral topic, "The Field of the Cloth of Gold."

Norwich friends were in New London Sunday when, at an informal tea, Mr. and Mrs. George Tracy Brown, of 38 Faire Harbour place announced the engagement of their daughter, Sallie Lee Brown to Lucius Goffe Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Briggs, of 253 Broadway, Norwich. At the tea, Mrs. Harry H. Walker and Mrs. Philip Z. Hankey poured. Assisting were Miss Marion Brewer Briggs of Norwich, Mis. Harriet C. Chappell and Miss Phyllis Hankey, of New London. Miss Brown was graduated from the Burnham school, Northampton, Mass., and attended for two years in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Mr. Briggs attended Choate school, Wallingford and the Bryant-Stratton business college, Providence. He is associated with his father as secretary of the Edward Channell company of Norwich.

TAFTVILLE GIRL SUES ANOTHER FOR SLANDER

Suit for $1,000 damages for slander has been brought in the common pleas court by Florence Paquette, 19, against Rose A. Gauvin, all of Taftville. The plaintiff brings the suit through her father, Alphonse Paquette.

It is alleged that on Aug. 24, 1927, at Taftville, the defendant, Rose A. Gauvin, spoke, in the hearing of Romeo Gauvin, Albert Morin and Aurore Morin, all of the town of Norwich, the following words concerning the plaintiff: "You, (meaning the plaintiff) are the meanest——in Taftville, and every body knows it; you are a —— and the boys in the mill" (meaning the Ponemah mill, in said town of Norwich) "know what you are;" and again on Aug. 26, 1927, at said town of Norwich the above quoted words, concerning the plaintiff, in the hearing of Albert Morin, and Rose Morin of Norwich.

Said words, according to the complaint, were false and malicious.

SUGGESTS CITIES JOIN TO CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 17—At the meeting of the city council this evening Mayor May suggested that the city consider what it was proposed to do in the observance of Armistice day, the 11th of November. He said that when the city undertook to observe the day a year ago that plan was abandoned that New London might cooperate with Norwich in the celebration of the anniversary. Now he said Norwich should be held to its agreement and assist New London. He thought that one or more battleships might be secured in the harbor and that the Corticelli company, the Ship and Engine company and perhaps other industrial establishments might be induced to form a procession with the troops and sailors that are in the city. He suggested that the city manager inquire into the situation and report to the council. The city manager agreed to do that and suggested that he would confer with the veterans of foreign wars and with the American Legion to interest them in the plan.

COURT REMITS HALF OF FINE OF $200

When Michael J. Bishop of 274 Central avenue was presented in the city court session Monday morning he admitted his guilt to a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested Saturday night at Occum. He was fined $200 and costs with half the fine remitted, claiming that his financial condition was such that he could not pay a large fine.

AMBULANCE TAKES INJURED MAN TO THE HOSPITAL

A man said to be Frank Bedack, address not known, was taken to the W. W. Backus hospital in the ambulance about 10.30 o'clock Monday night suffering from lacerations. He is said to have been hit by an automobile near Tafts station. Little is known of the manner in which the man received his injuries. He was reported to have been in an intoxicated condition at the time. No report of the accident had been made at police headquarters up to an early hour this (Tuesday) morning.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Rev. C. H. Ricketts gave the regular weekly shop meeting talk at noon Monday at the Richmond Radiator Co. plant.

The board of directors is to hold the October meeting at the "Y" building this (Tuesday) evening.

DEATH IN WORCESTER OF COLCHESTER NATIVE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 17—The funeral of Edward J. Moriarty, a well known interior decorator and a native of Colchester, Conn., was held Monday morning with high mass of requiem in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Burial was in St. John's cemetery.

Mr. Moriarty died Friday afternoon at Worcester City hospital. He had been a resident of Worcester for the past 45 years.

Racicot of Worcester.

He was born in Colchester, a son of Maurice and Ellen (Fenton) Moriarty.

WEDDINGS

Gerosoli-D'Elia

At St. Patrick's church, Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. John J. Reilly united in marriage Patsy Gerosoli of this city and Miss Gladys D'Elia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D'Elia of No. 76 West Thames street. The bride was charmingly gowned in white satin, trimmed with Spanish lace, wore a flowing Spanish veil and carried white roses. The maid of honor, Miss Rose Fiore, was gowned in pink beaded georgette. The bridesmaids were Miss Louise Quarte, Harrison, N. Y., gowned in pink georgette; Miss Mary D'Elia, pale blue georgette; Miss Jennie Pagano, peach georgette; Miss Rose DePinto, orchid georgette; Miss Mary DeNicola, rose georgette and Miss Anna Caldarola, blue taffetta.

The flower girl, Miss Nancy Barbarosa, was gowned in pink taffetta. Thomas Tangari was the ring bearer. The bridesmaids carried pink carnations and the flower girl a basket of assorted flowers. Following the wedding ceremony there was a dinner at the home of the bride's parents and in the evening there was a reception at Roseland. After a wedding tour of two weeks to New York and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Gerosoli will reside at No. 76 School street. The bride received numerous and useful wedding gifts.

Kirchner-Chenette

Robert E. Kirchner of No. 27 Division street and Miss Rosina B. Chenette of No. 262 Franklin street, were united in marriage Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the rectory of St. Patrick's church. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May conducted the marriage ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Freda Kirchner of Rockville and the best man was Henry Chenette. The bride was charming in a gown of two-tone tan georgette, with picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses and pink carnations. The bridesmaid was gowned in midnight blue chiffon velvet and carried pink carnations.

Following the wedding ceremony there was a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chenette of No. 262 Franklin street. The bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Springfield, Worcester and Hartford. The bride's traveling costume was of blue georgette. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Kirchner of Willimantic. Both bride and groom are well known and popular with their many friends who wish them sucess and happiness in their married life.

Downey-Blanchette

At 8 o'clock Monday morning at St. Patrick's church, James Patrick Downey, son of Mrs. Michael Downey of No. 52 Roath street, and Miss Gertrude M. Blanchette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Blanchette of No. 76 Boswell avenue, were united in marriage by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May. Many guests from this city, New York, Springfield and Providence were present.

The bride was beautifully gowned in shell pink georgette and carried pink dahlias. Her bridesmaid, Miss M. Genevieve Connell, was gowned in French tan georgette and velvet and carried yellow dahlias. The best man was John T. Keeley. Henry J. LaFontaine had charge of the musical program at the church.

A wedding breakfast and reception took place at the home of the bride's parents and later in the day the bridal couple left for a wedding trip to New York and Springfield. On their return, in about 10 days, they will reside at No. 193 Broad street. The bride received numerous and beautiful wedding gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls and to the best man an Elks charm. The bride's gift to the groom was a wrist watch and her gift to the bridesmaid was a goldpiece.

Mr. Downey is employed as a plumber. Both he and Mrs. Downey have many friends and acquaintances who extend them best wishes for their future life.

Charpentier-Gaucher

Henry Charpentier and Miss Annie Gaucher were married Monday morning at 8 o'clock at a nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. Frederick R. Desureault at Sacred Heart church, Taftville. The witnesses were Adelard Gaucher, father of the bride, and Joseph Casavant, brother-in-law of the groom. The bride wore an attractive gown of tan georgette with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

Following the ceremony there was a reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Gaucher of North A street which was attended by members of the family and intimate friends of the couple. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Charpentier left on a wedding trip and upon their return they are to reside in the village where the groom is employed in the weaving department of Ponemah Mills.

St Germain-Donovan

Leon St. Germain, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. St. Germain of New London, and Miss Eileen Donovan, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Donovano f Montville were married at 8 o'clock Monday morning in St. John's church, Montville. Nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. J. A. O'Meara.

The bride wore a period gown of white maline over white satin. Her large white velvet hat was trimmed with maline and her shoulders were draped with maline. She carried a colonial bouquet of lilies of the valley and gardenias edged with white maline.

Her only attendant, Claire St. Germain, a sister of the bridegroom, wore pink maline over pink satin and a large velvet hat with maline arranged in a fashion similar to that of the bride. Her bouquet was also colonial, of pink roses and sweet peas and edged with blue lace. John Donovan, a brother of the bride, was best man.

Both the bride and bridegroom are well known in New London, the former having attended Williams Memorial institute and the latter, Bulkeley high school. He is also a graduate of Notre Dame university and is associated with his father in the contracting business.

MRS. DUTTON RE-ELECTED STATE PRESIDENT, C. L. OF C.

Mrs. Margaret Dutton of this city was re-elected state president of the Catholic Ladies of Columbus at the 13th annual state convention which was held Friday and Saturday in New Haven.

The other state officers elected were the following: Vice president, Miss Margaret Crane of Hartford; secretary, Miss Lillian Patchett of Rockville; state treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Bree of New Haven; state lecturer, Mrs. Jennie Carroll of New Haven; state councilor, Miss Charlotte M. Holloway of New London. Board of Di- Hartford, Miss Mae Conklin of New Haven, Miss Lucy Murphy of Norwich, Miss Eileen Strange of South Manchester, Mrs. Mary Myers of Rockville, Mrs. Anna Heullivan of Thompsonville, Miss Anna Henly of New London, Miss Helen Ward of Danbury, Miss Rose Cribbons of Shelton, Mrs. Mary Woods of Baltic, Mrs. Mary Taylor of Bridgeport and Mrs. Anna Fitzsimmons of Derby.

Each assembly reported membership gain in the past year and one new assembly was organized in Derby.

GAVE ORGAN RECITAL AT PARK CHURCH

An organ recital given at Park Congregational church Monday evening by Miss Annie L. Taft, organist of the church, provided a thoroughly enjoyable hour for the good number who attended. Miss Taft had arranged her programme with nice discrimination to which the artistry of her playing added a definite charm and made the evening one of much pleasure for her audience.

The programme was given as follows:

Sonata No. 2 in C Minor Mendelssohn
Grave
Adagio
Allegro
Fugue

Au Soir D'Evry
A Sea Song MacDowell
Priere et Berceuse Guilmant
Prelude and Fugue in F Bach
Indian Summer Sketch Brewer
Joy Sanders
From the South Gillette
Marche Pontificale Lemmens

Miss Janet Blackstone, Miss Helen Clapp, Miss Constance Clapp and Miss Helen Risley served as ushers for the evening.

SHOWED MOVING PICTURES OF GROTTO CONVENTION

Nemrod Grotto members enjoyed seeing moving pictures of the national Grotto convention at Cleveland at its meeting Monday night in Grotto hall. They were shown through the courtesy of Monarch Philip Jones of Syria Grotto, Hartford, who took the pictures and has shown them at a number of meetings in the state.

He was introduced by Monarch Everett Peckham, who spoke to the members of the next Grotto convention in June at Richmond, Va., for which a local "On to Richmond" club is being formed under the direction of Louis Brown.

FUNERALS

Clarence Arthur Walden

With many relatives and friends present the funeral of Clarence Arthur Walden of 219 West Main street, was held Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the parlors of Undertakers Church and Allen. Rev. E. C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the service and Mrs. Reuben P. Potter sang It is Well With My Soul and Abide With Me. The burial took place in Johnson cemetery, Boxrah, and Rev. Mr. Dunbar conducted the committal service. The bearers were Charles Duerr, Charles Pillar, William Walden and Frank Walden. There were many beautiful floral tributes of esteem. Mr. Walden, who was 22 years old, died Friday from injuries when he was struck Wednesday on Norwich avenue by a machine driven by Peter Lapple of Fitchville.

Mrs. Manuel Leion

The funeral of Mrs. Manuel Leion was held Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock from the parlors of Hourigan Bros., and at 10 o'clock there was a requiem mass at St. Patrick's church. Rev. Myles P. Galvin was celebrant of the mass and Miss Beatrice Gadbois had charge of the musical programme. Walter LaFontaine sang at the offertory, De Profundis, and as the waiting hymn, Nearer, My God to Thee. The burial took place in Starr cemetery, Groton, and the bearers were Timothy Twomey, John Sheridan, Edward Caughey, James Sisson, Patrick Creary and Frank Williams. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including mourners from New London, New York, Providence, Webster and Holyoke and there were numerous and beautiful floral tributes.

Entertained Philathea Class

The Philathea class of the First Baptist church was entertained Friday night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Beetham of Wauwecus hill. A delicious supper was served by the hostess. Several matters of business were discussed at the first business meeting of the class after the summer vacation. The class regrets the removal of Mr. and

BAN JOHNSON QUIETLY RETIRES FROM PRESIDENCY OF THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP)— Byron Bancroft Johnson, for many years the storm center of major league baseball, quietly retired from the presidency of the American league, delivering his resignation verbally to the board of directors.

Frank J. Navin, vice president of the league and head of the Detroit club, assumed the executive authority until a meeting of club owners can be called to choose Johnson's successor. Navin said he did not know how soon that would be, and declined to comment on the persistent reports that Ed S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland club, has already been selected.

Johnson, the founder and only president of the league, explained the records and bank account of the league to three of the directors in an hour's talk, gathered his collection of pictures from the walls and walked out. Tonight he left for Excelsior Springs, Mo., for the beginning of a long rest. His plans beyond that trip were indefinite, he said.

The blank spaces on the walls, outlined by lines of just where his pictures had hung, were the only marks left in the office by Johnson's 27 years of control, but the annals of the major leagues are full of the accounts of his battles, starting with the formation of the American league in 1900.

He fought the National league until a truce was signed in 1903.

He fought rowdyism on the diamond, in the early days of his own circuit. He dominated the old national commission, gaining the title of "Czar" of baseball. He opesed the appointment of a neutral commissioner to "clean up," baseball after the Black Sox exposure of 1920, when Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis was chosen off the federal bench. And he fought the commissioner at every turn until his club owners, one by one, began to desert him.

The beginning of the end came last January, when Commissioner Landis gave out the details of an investigation of "fixing" charges against Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, managers of the Detroit and Cleveland clubs. Johnson criticized Landis severely for making the affair public, months after the details were turned over to the commissioner. For this outburst the club owners voted to send their president on a leave of absence, "to recover his health," which preceded his resignation.

Navin, Clark Griffith, of Washington and Tom Shibe, of Philadelphia came to receive their president's farewell. Phil Ball, of St. Louis, the fourth director, who spent two days last week with his old friend, Johnson, was in the east today on business.

To these three Johnson turned over his accounts, and thanked them for their regrets. He was glad to be a private citizen again, he said, and walked out of the office smiling after 27 years at the helm.

YALE SCRUB TEAM IS BEING GIVEN STIFF WORK

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Facing the probability that virtually every member of the second team will be called on at one time or another in the course of the Army game Saturday, the Yale coaching staff devoted more time today to the scrub eleven than to the varsity.

The first string men had only a light workout. Caldwell, injured near the end of the Brown game Saturday after starring throughout surprised the coaches by reporting today for practice, but Duncan Cox, regular back, watched the workout from the sidelines. Hubbard took Cox's place today, but Cox is expected back tomorrow to enable the lineup which started against Brown to practice intact for the Army contest, expected to be the hardest on the Blue schedule this fall.

KEARN'S SUIT AGAINST DEMPSEY HEADS CALENDAR

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Jack Bearns breach of contract suit for $333,333.33 against Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, was placed at the head of the equity calendar for November by Federal Judge Runyon today.

Kearns, formerly Dempsey's manager, was in court and smiled broadly when he heard the decision which will bring the suit to trial within a month.

The suit is based on a three year contract Kearns had as Dempsey's manager. It was signed on August 18, 1922.

The damages are based on two fights for which Kearns, in an affidavit, states he signed Dempsey previous to their break a short time before the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia.

BUFFALO PRO FOOTBALL TEAM IS DISBANDED

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Buffalo team of the National Professional Football league will disband, it was decided today by President Ray P. Weil and Alfred J. Lowe, secretary and treasurer of the club. Remaining games on the schedule will be cancelled, they announced.

Action to disband was taken after the club received the resignation of George "Dim" Batterson, coach and manager of the team. He gave lack of co-operation from players and interference by club managers as the reasons for his resignation. Financial reverses sustained because of five straight defeats were given by club officials as reasons for the disbandment.

EXPECT 700 BOYS TO ATTEND STATE CONFERENCE

One of the largest representative groups of young people held each year in Connecticut is the State Older Boys' conference. The 28th annual session will be held in New Haven, October 25-26. The conference opens on Friday afternoon at five o'clock. This conference is conducted under the joint auspices of the Connecticut Council of Religious Education, State Christian Endeavor union, denominational agencies and the state, county and local Young Men's Christian associations.

The theme of the conference this year is "Predicting World Brotherhood" and different phases of the subject to be discussed include "Heroes of World Brotherhood," "My Country and World Brotherhood," and "My Responsibility in World Brotherhood."

It is expected that over 700 older boys with leaders will be present from all sections of Connecticut.

For a large part of the time, the conference will split up into 30 small group sessions, where the boys themselves will thoroughly discuss the themes.

The speakers include Rev. Henry H. Crane, popular pastor of the Center M. E. church of Malden, Mass., who will address the conference on Friday evening.

The devotional addresses will be given by Phillips P. Elliott of Boston, the New England student secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

H. W. Gibson, of Boston, will lead the singing and give the address at the Sunday afternoon session.

Two of the principal addresses will be given by M. H. H. Joachim of Calcutta, India, now living in New York city. His life in India and years of study and observation have well qualified him to talk on India and her people. Dr. Kenneth S. Latourette will have charge of the discussion groups and will make the opening address of the conference. Dr. Latourette is professor of mission in Yale Divinity school. He has served as instructor in Yale in China and leader in many national missionary conferences.

The conference banquet will be held at the state armory on Saturday evening at which time the greetings of New Haven will be presented by Mayor John B. Tower, Rev. Orville A. Petty, president, New Haven Council of Churches, and Leon Andrew, president, New Haven Boys' Inter-Church federation.

Two older boys (15 to 20 years of age) and one adult are invited from every Sunday school class, boys' club, scout troop, high school class or club, Y. M. C. A. group, Young People's society, etc.

The boys will be entertained over night, Friday and Saturday in the homes of New Haven.

On Saturday afternoon the delegates will be guests of the Dartmouth and Yale University associations at the Yale-Dartmouth football game.

It is expected that a delegation of 25 representing the various churches and boys' clubs of Norwich will attend.

Registrations must reach E. H. Davis, boys' secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., by Friday, October 21.

BANCROFT'S SUCCESSOR TO BE NAMED THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Selection of a pilot to succeed Dave Bancroft as manager of the Boston Braves will be announced shortly, possibly within a week, Emil E. Fuchs, president of the club, said today.

"We have a successor for Bancroft under consideration" said President Fuchs "and expect to close negotiations in a week or so. Until that time, I do not deem it advisable to mention any names.

Meantime considerable speculation was rife in baseball circles. The names of several diamond stars were discussed but President Fuchs spiked a report that Eddie Collins of the Athletics had been offered the post.

When Collins joined the Philadelphia club at the opening of the 1927 campaign there was talk that he would eventually lift the managerial burden from the shoulders of Connie Mack and that is still the general expectation. Collins is on a hunting expedition in Canada.

Just where Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker will fit in next year's baseball picture still hangs fire. Either would furnish lustre to the Braves whose fortunes in recent years have been at low ebb.

The former manager of Detroit was signed by Mack for a single season while Speaker had a like contract with the Senators. It is generally understood that Speaker is headed for another camp and that Cobb will shift allegiance also if he plays again.

Speaker rose to fame and had his best days with the Red Sox in Boston, where he still has a large following. At the same time, Speaker was well liked in Cleveland and reports have been current that he would return to his old job as manager of the Indians under a new ownership.

Bancroft was released by the Braves to the Brooklyn Robins last week.

Cochran to Play Erich Tonight.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Welker Cochran, holder of the world's 18.2 balkline billiards champion and Erich Hagenlacher, former champion, will begin tomorrow a 2,400 point exhibition tournament at the 18.1 balkline game. It will be the first tournament in the difficult 18.1 game to be played here in many years.

NAT. BOXING ASSOCIATION UPHOLDS BARRY BUT DRAFTS NEW K. O. RULE

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The National Boxing association, after endorsing the Illinois state athletic commission and its referee, Dave Barry, in the handling of the world's heavyweight championship battle between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey in Soldiers field, Sept. 22, today incorporated a new rule in its code quite opposite to that of the Illinois commission.

The all day session of the boxing representatives from 24 states and five foreign countries brought out only one thing of importance—the new rule regulating the count over a fallen boxer.

According to the new rule, approved by the association, the time keeper shall arise when a boxer is floored and immediately begin to toll off the seconds. The referee is ordered to conduct the boxer scoring the knockdown to the farthest neutral corner, then return to the fallen boxer and pick up the count with the time keeper.

Should the contestant scoring the knockdown leave the farthest neutral corner, the new rule provides that the time keeper and referee shall halt the count until he returns to the designated corner.

In the Tunney-Dempsey battle, the time keper started counting when Tunney hit the oor while the referee was shooing Jack to the neutral corner. When Referee Barry returned to the fallen title holder, he took up the count at "one," although the time keper's toll had reached four.

Walter M. George, secretary of the Illinois commission, declared that Leo P. Flynn, manager of Jack Dempsey, had failed to register as manager of Dempsey with the Illinois commission and for that reason he was not permitted to make a formal appeal. George said that Flynn had promised that Dempsey would present his side of the case, but had never done so.

After hearing the report of Secretary George, the N. B. A., congratulated the Illinois organization and declared the Tunney-Dempsey tangle a dead issue.

Although the new rule adopted by the national association does not follow the Illinois regulations to the letter, President Thomas Donohue of the N. B. A. stated that it was adopted at the suggestion of Mr. George.

Another rule regarding knockdowns also was incorporated into the N. B. A. rules. It stipulates that when a boxer falls or is knocked out of the ring, he shall be given 20 seconds to return. If he does not, or is unable to do so, the referee shall cout him out.

The discussion regarding knockdowns nd knockouts took up practically the whole day and this caused the postponement of action on Sammy Mandell, Mickey Walker and other champions until the championship committee reports tomorrow.

It is expected that the proposed action to deprice Sammy Mandell lightweight champion, of his title, unless he fights an outstanding challenger within the lightweight limit, will provide plenty of fireworks. Mandell is scheduled to defend his title in Chicago on November 14, against an opponent that has not been elected.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL IN EASTERN CONNECTICUT

There was intensified activity along the "Big Six" battlefront the past week as the high school grid season hit its regular stride. Some big guns continued to roar while smaller ones made loud noises. Others still were yet to be heard from.

This week is not only the most notable of this season but it can take its place with many of other years as well.

A few of the happenings were the Academy's decisive win over Westerly, their first grid victory over their deadly Rhode Island rivals in seven years, Stonington's first win of the season, a 31 to 6 win over Chapman Tech, Bulkeley dedication exercises o her new athletic center, Mercer field, etc. Stonington's win also gave her her first points of the year.

Friday

N. F. A. 19, Westerly 6.
Windham 14, Conn. Aggies Frosh 0

Saturday

So. Manchester 6, Bulkeley 0.
Stonington 31, Chapman Tech 6.

No Upsets

The results of these games were just about what was expected. The only "upset" might be found in the one sidedness of Stonington's win. Although O'Brien's men were known to be much better this year, it was not thought that they would have that easy time with their New London rivals.

Windham continued to remain unscored upon by whitewashing the Freshman B. team of Conn. Aggies. This, the scrub outfit of the freshman, went down before a lighter Windham team.

Bulkeley had a gala opening day for her new field. Beneath blue skies and a bright sun the program was carried out to perfection to the point where the football game came in. An 80-yard dash by Farr provided the margin for South Manchester. Bulkeley has not scored this year.

The Chapman Tech-Stonington game opened the grid season of the Eastern Conn. Western Rhode Island Interscholastic Council, a three team loop. Westerly is the other member of the affair. Whether these three teams are a fair representation of the football talent in southeastern New England is left to the reader. Outside of the football league there are Windham, N. F. A. and Bulkeley. The Academy has already "taken" two members of the league by decisive scores.

The summary of work done by the Big Six to date follows:

	W.	L.	T.	Pct.	T.P.	Op. Pts.
Stonington	1	2	0	.333	31	15
Chap Tech	1	2	0	.333	13	49
N. F. A.	2	0	0	1000	44	12
Windham	2	0	1	1000	40	0
Bulkeley	0	3	1	.000	0	48
Westerly	0	1	2	.000	6	19

The Academy and Windham are still technically tied for first place with precentages of 1000 although the locals have won all three starts while Windham played one tie. Windham has not been scored upon while the Academy has scored the most points of any team in this locality.

This Week's Games Important

The schedule for teams of this section during the coming week brings two of the best elevens in the state to Eastern Connecticut. While the Academy is entertaining the school that has proven their strongest rival of late years, Warren Harding High of Bridgeport, Windham has Hartford Public High as the opposition. This is Windham's mammoth home attraction while the Harding game vies with the Windham game on Nov. 5th for the local's best home game.

Both camps are expected to hum to get ready to turn back these strong adversaries and thus raise the dignity of high school teams of this section.

An important Intra Big Six game Saturday brings together Westerly and Chapman Tech at New London. Of course, this is a league tilt.

Stonington is at Plainfield Saturday.

Saturday, Oct. 29, the Academy is slated to go to Waterbury and tackle Wilby, whom they beat last year 22 to 0. However, it should be nothing like that this year for Wilby has been hitting top speed of late. This game will come in Brassco park, home of the Waterbury Eastern league club.

Windham has but one more home game after this Saturday, that with Bristol, Nov. 12.

The new stands at the Academy have been nowhere near filled in the two games at which they have stood but Saturday should give them a test.

Chapman Tech has yielded the most points of the "Big Six."

Acording to percentages there are three ties in this standing, although in some way or other the one placed ahead has an advantage.

When Capt. Spellman retrieved a fumble and scampered 20 yards across the goal line in the last quarter last Friday against the Academy he scored Westerly's first points of the season.

Incidenally, the Academy's win over Westerly in cross country in the meet held between the halves of the grid game last week was its first since the sport was started last year at N. F. A. The score was 27 to 29.

Coach Matthew Sheridan seems to have a capable bunch of performers ready and they should establish quite a record.

There is a prospect of a meet with Stonington this week although nothing definite has been announced.

The Interscholastics this year in cross country will be held between the halves of the Stonington-Westerly game Thanksgiving morning at Stonington.

Although it has not been officially announced, it is planned to hold the Academy-Bulkeley game Armistice day, Nov. 11, instead of the previously scheduled date of the next day, Saturday, the twelfth. This leaves not much more than three weeks before the traditional struggle

PANDERA IS WINNER OF ALLEGHENY HANDICAP

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—H. P. Whitney took the feature of today's program at Laurel the Allegheny handicap at six furlongs when Pandera, with Jockey Workman up, got the decision over Illegitimate by a neck. Illegitimate's verdict over Prince of Wales for the place was nose finish. Illegitimate broke on top but was collared in the stretch by Pandera. He lasted long enough to beat the Prince, however. Pandera's time was 1:12 3-5.

The fifth race at Latonia, the eminence stakes, feature of the day's card, went to Keenland Stud's Don Diego, odds on favorite, with Acirema second and Frank McMahon third. Don Diego took command at the start and never was headed, being raced along nicely by Jockey Willie Garner to win by a length. The time for the six furlongs was 1:12 3-5.

Arlington's fourth race for three year olds and up at five and one half furlongs, went to Gibbons, who stepped the distance in 1:08. Big Sweep was second and Voshell third.

Martinez Wins Verdict.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Hilario Martinez of Spain was awarded a judges' decision over Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, in a slow and uninteresting 10-round bout at the Broadway Boxing club in Brooklyn tonight. Martinez scaled 144 pounds, and Britton 146 1-2.

RAIN FAILS TO HALT PRACTICE OF EASTERN TEAMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Steady rains and soggy gridirons failed to halt preparations of eastern football teams for the fifth week on the season's schedule as they went to work today on another week of practice.

Light work was the order in some of the camps but the majority plunged into long signal drills, forward passing and tag scrimmage.

Coach Lou Young at Pennsylvania announced that three regulars would not be available for Saturday's game at Chicago against Alonzo Stagg's Maroons. Paul Schull, halfback; Johnny Shober, quarterback, and Utz, guard, were missing from practice. The condition of the squad following the Penn State game makes light work necessary.

Army, beginning its drive for the Yale game, engaged in signal drill and topped off with blackboard diagramming.

West Virginia emphasized aerial work in its preparation for the Georgetown game. Penn State's regulars indulged in only passing and kicking. Navy rested while Coach Ingram pointed out weaknesses in its p ay against Notre Dame. Ian Eddy, tight guard, will be out of the game for a week because of a dislocated shoulder. Pitt's squad returned home from Des Moines, where it soundly trounced Drake, but there was no practice. Washington and Jefferson also rested. Yale coaches spent the day drilling the second team, as plans are being laid to make many substitutions against Army Saturday. Coach Jesse Hawley brought the ghost ball into play in the Dartmouth camp as the big Green worked long after dark for the Harvard game.

BIG ENTRY LIST FOR JUNIOR CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Based on the number of requests for entry blanks for the junior Connecticut three-mile cross country championship, which will be run over Yale's three mile course on Saturday under the auspices of the Yale Athletic association, the hill and dale run this year will be one of the most interesting in the history of the event. Applications for blanks have come in from all parts of the state, and many fine runners will be on hand.

The race will start at 1 o'clock promptly, and will be open to any athlete who has been registered in the Connecticut Association of the Amateur Athletic union. Men who have resigned from a club member of the Connecticut association and were bona fide members of the Connecticut association at least six months prior to the date of the event may enter. Athletes who are not members of the Connecticut association, living in Connecticut may complete by registration.

A gold medal, emblematic of the Connecticut association championship, will be awarded the winner, with a silver medal going to the winner of second place and a bronze medal to the third man home.

Any one requesting entry blanks may address W. H. Queal, 200 Orange street, New Haven. Entires will close with Mr. Queal on Saturday.

PENN AND CHICAGO HAVE SCOUTING AGREEMENT

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP)—An agreement with Coach Lou Young, of Pennsylvania, not to scout each other's teams, sent the Chicago football squad into practice tonight for the Penn invasion Saturday, with nothing but the old "hidden" ball blay to work on.

This trick accomplished the down fall of Chicago last year at Philadelphia, but the freshmen were notably unsuccessful with it tonight.

ARMY HAS ONLY LIGHT WORKOUT IN THE RAIN

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Army went through a light practice in the rain today as a beginning of the final drive for Yale this Saturday. Nothing but a blackboard lecture and a signal practice was on the program. The Cadets came out of the Davis-Elkins contest in good physical condition. The schedule calls for heavy work tomorrow and Wednesday, a let-up on Thursday and departure Friday noon for New Haven.

Welsh Given Verdict

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 17—(AP)—Young Freddie Welsh, of Atlantic City, 138 pounds, won the newspaper decision by a wide margin over Al Winkler of Philadelphia, 135 1-2 pounds, here tonight.

Sayers Beats Mitchell.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Tom Sayers, Detroit heavyweight, won the decision over Roy Mitchell of Halifax, N. S., in a slow 10-round bout at the arena tonight. Sayers weighed 198 pounds and Mitchell 178.

Ross Gets Verdict Over Gitlitz

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 17—(AP)—Benny Ross, Buffalo, received the decision over Murray Gitlitz, of New Haven, Conn., in a ten round bout here tonight. Both fighters weighed 177 1-2 pounds.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

To "Wise Eyes"

With eyes like twin jade pools you gaze at me.
What thoughts, I wonder, 'neath that gaze can be;
I fear, Wise Eyes, though innocent your stare,
You dream of future victims to ensnare.

With charming lithesome body, soft and warm,
And fall asleep a-napping on my knee.

But as you lie all cuddled up so snug
In fitful doze contentedly benign,
I know full well that underneath that mien
There beats a heart of cunning-sly design.

Still, though you are a selfish little witch,
Blame never should be given you for that;
For you by nature's whims were born that way,
My pretty, graceful, green-eyed tiger cat.

—May Gibson Sherbakoff.

To an Old Friend Gone South

"Towhee," "chewink," no more you call,
In cherry tones at break of day,
You've heard the threat'ning winds of fall,
And set your course for far away.

All summer long your friendly ways,
Made us love you little bird
You added to the pleasant days;
And often in the rain we heard,

Your happy song that sunshine brought,
Behind the clouds when drear and gray.
You drove away all gloomy thought,
With music tuned to single lay.

A jet black throat, brown chestnut side,
A tail that flashes black and white,
Short wings that beat the air you ride,
And cause your fluttering flight.

"Towhee," you said but yesterday,
Then loud to you the south call came,
And down some airy, high pathway,
You left us, calling out your name!

—J. B. Carrington.

On With the Hunt

Pleasure, do you call it
To chase the hunted thing,
Or to quench the joyous song
Of bird upon the wing?

Sport to kill and frighten
Harmless beasts at play
In the woods and meadows
All the summer day?

Hunting is an instinct
Not to be denied?
Well, let's hunt with camera—
In its shots take pride!

—Louella C. Poole.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

In common with many of our birds most of our waterfowl migrate with the coming of the seasons. The waterfowl spend their winters in the southern sections of our country and some go as far as Mexico. Their summers they pass in the northern parts of the United States, in Canada and even as far north as Alaska. Their young are raised while they are in the north.

The migrating seasons are spring and autumn and during the migrating wild ducks and geese are frequently seen in large flocks, usually in V-shaped formations, as they follow their leaders. In the course of such a migration these wild birds sometimes fly several thousand miles. During these long journeys they pause only for food, water, and brief rest periods. They are often seen to migrate about the time of a marked change in the weather. While they cannot anticipate weather changes, they are probably more sensitive to such changes than we are. Thus they begin to fly northward in spring at the first approach of warm weather, before we are aware that a change has begun. So, too, in the autumn, they begin their long journey southward about the time of the approach of the first severe cold wave, and occasionally fly ahead of it a day or two.

There are probably fewer wild waterfowl in North America now than there were a generation ago. Today they are found in large numbers only in frontier regions.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

A Dream

Dear Uncle Jed: One night I had a dream. I thought I was in a huckleberry pasture picking fine large huckle berries with mama. We each had nearly filled our five quart pails, when suddenly I heard a rattling sound in the bushes near by. I became frightened and asked mama what that noise was. She said, "A rattlesnake must be near." I looked cautiously about me and only a shot distance from me was a large snake all curled up ready to spring at me.

As soon as I saw him, I started to run. In my excitement I lost all of my berries. The snake chased me and after a long chase I came suddenly upon the edge of a ledge. With the steep side of a ledge in front and the snake following me I was almost paralyzed with fear. I looked cautiously down the side of the ledge and I discovered a way of escape. I crept down the side of the ledge by holding onto trees and bushes.

Just as I was near the bottom there appeared a big colored man who grabbed me. At this moment the rattlesnake jumped from the ledge and fastened himself around the colored man's neck. I called for help and awoke, very glad it was only a dream.

A Cat and Her Kittens

Dear Uncle Jed: I have been reading the stories the Wide Awakes send you and like to read them very much. I wrote a story to you some time ago and received a book. The book was very good. This time, Uncle Jed, I will tell you about a cat named Susie.

Susie is a cat which belonged to a lady that moved away. She did not take Susie along because she was going to live in a hotel. Susie is a tramp cat and goes around to houses begging.

One day she came to my grandmothers house. She cried for something to eat. My grandmother gave her some bread and milk. After that she came every day. And, one morning our cellar door was open and I heard baby kittens crying. I went down and found Susie with four baby kittens.

Susie did not love her little kittens because she would run away from them and spit at them. One day she came back to the cellar and found them given away. Now Susie cries for them. They all have good homes now and I do not think they would go back to their mother.

KIDS

Our Little Red Hen

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write you the true story of our little red hen. One hot day in early August my sister and I had been trying to swim in our pond. After we had been there about a half an hour we came back. When we got home we threw ourselves down on the grass south of the corn house to watch a hen that had just hatched and was coming from under the corn house with her little chicks. And for a while we could not tell how many chicks she really did have. At first we thought she had seven; then we saw one stick it's head out and then another until there was 12 little chicks. Then my sister gave her some feed and some milk. She has chickens under the corn house every night, until a few nights ago she started off for the hen house with her 12 chickens. But her chickens would not go with her, so after trying a few times she gave up and went back under the corn house. Finally after a few nights she succeeded in getting her family into the hen house. We all think she did wonderfully well in raising so large a family.

Billy and her Kittens

Dear Uncle Jed: I want t otell you about my pet cat and her three kittens. One hot summer day I was out in the barn. I heard some kittens meow in the hay. I went over where I heard the kittens. There in the hay I saw my pet cat. I look to see how many kittens she had. I saw two little white kittens and one yellow, black and white. I told my father, and he said he did not want so many cats. He said I would have to give them away.

The next day as I did not want to give away my kittens, I gave the two white ones to my gray cat. She took them up in the other side of the hay mow and stayed there.

In about a week all three disappeared. After about a month Billy came to the barn with a little maltese kitten. We never knew where she got this kitten.

The Farm

Dear Uncle Jed: One day last summer I went to the farm, which is in Preston City, Conn. On the way I saw some pretty flowers, birds, and trees. After a little while I picked some beautiful red roses. Then we played school and hide-and-go-seek. I saw some big ducks and chickens and little ducks and chickens. In the meadow, I saw a cow and he was busy eating grass.

I ate some apples we picked off the tree and while we were picking them it began to rain so we had to leave for home.

In the Country

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write to you about my visit in the country. It was Monday morning and I was awake early after a sleepless night. It looked like rain and I was to go out in the country if it did not rain. We were to go in the afternoon. When afternoon came we were all packed for my grandma was going with me. My uncle came and we got into his car and started for it did not rain. We were going to Rhode Island to stay with my aunt Nell. We were there in less than three quarters of an hour.

My aunt and uncle lived alone but below her house my Aunt Ethel and Uncle Earnest and three children resided.

Their names were Helen, who is 8 years old, and Erma, who is 11 years old, and Earnest who is 16 years old. Earnest had a bicycle that was too small for him and he gave it to his sister Erma. Erma taught me how to ride the bicycle. I have one of my own now.

One afternoon Erma, Helen, and I went exploring. In back of my Aunt Ethel's house there were some ledges, very long and high. Erma, Helen and I would go up one side and down the other.

We went farther and farther into the woods when suddenly we heard Erma's mother calling, her voice seemed weak and far away. That called our attention to where we were and we did not know where we were.

Erma's house was in the northeast so we started toward the northeast and soon we came out of the woods and ledges into a pasture below Erma's house.

We soon reached home, had our supper and went to bed.

The next morning Erma, Helen and I went down to the boiling spring which I have already told you about. We took our lunches and an extra empty basket to get some blueberries in. As they were thick it did not take us long to fill them. Then my friends and I went home. I stayed with my aunt two weeks and then my grandma and I went home.

My Sister's Dog

Dear Uncle Jed: I have not written to you for a long time. I hope my story is interesting.

When my sister was a little tot, she lived on a farm. She had a lovely bull dog. His name was Ned. She liked her pet very much. Every day she would lie upon the dog's back for a nap.

One day my sister went out to play near a little stream of water. My mother did not know that my sister had gone to the spring. When she spied her she ran quickly to get her. Ned would not let her get to my sister, but just looked at her as if to say, "I can protect her."

Saved Master's Life

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write you a story I made up. One day a man was going hunting. On his way he met a wolf. He did not see it. It sprang out of a bush. The man was afraid of the wolf. But the man had a dog. He was a police dog. When he saw that the wolf sprang at his master he went at the wolf and killed it. His master was not hurt. Then he took the wolf and put it on his back and started home. He gave his dog a bone. He was a very happy dog because he saved his master's life. His master said that he would not go hunting in the woods again.

In Second Grade

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I am in the second grade and I like to go. I will tell you about the time my Uncle Tommy took us for a ride. We went after crabs and stayed there for a while. Then we left there and on our way home we stopped and had lunch. Then we found some berries and picked them. When we got home we were so tired we were glad to go to bed.

Picking Blueberries

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about last summer. One Sunday afternoon my father asked me to go with him in the woods and pick blueberries. I agreed. When I got on the hill it was beautiful. It seemed as though the leaves were changing their dresses. Thistles were blooming. I started to pick blueberries. It was not a very easy job. Every once in a while I would stop and gaze on the flowers around me. Finally my father and I had picked a good quart of berries. My back was very sore. When I got home I laid down.

A Partridg

Dear Uncle Jed: When one day last week mama was ironing in the kitchen, my sister said, "Oh, look mama."

Then mama looked and she saw a partridge walking around in the backroom.

It went out the door in the grass, and after a while it went down the cellar window. After dinner dad went down and caught it but he let it go again.

The Fair

Dear Uncle Jed: I have written to you for a long time and I hope you will like my story.

At the September fair I was an exhibitor in vegetables. I received a free ticket for three days. I have seen the vaudeville acts, side shows, horse racing and other attractions. Best of all I liked the floats. I won several first prizes.

A FLOOD OF SELLING ORDERS SENT PRICES OF STOCKS DOWN 2 TO 9 POINTS

NEW YORK, Oct. ..—(AP)—The stock market was subjected to a steady bombardment of selling orders today with the result that prices of many leading issues sold down 2 to 9 points. A few rallies developed, but they proved feeble in character. Pools, in general, showed little disposition to take stocks on the way down, although they succeeded in lifting a few specialties in which the floating supply is small, to new high records. Total sales ran over 2 1-4 million shares.

In the absence of any specific news developments, the reaction was attributed to the disappointing character of fall business. Some effort was made to associate the early selling with the early selling with the higher call money renewal rate of 4 1-4 per cent but the lowering of the rate to 4 per cent. around mid-day failed to stem the tide of liquidation.

Selling pressure was particularly effective against some of the popular industrials. General Motors, U. S. Steel common, Allied Chemical, General Electric and American Smelting all sold down 3 points or more, final quotations being around the lowest of the day. Brooklyn Union Gas, Case Threshing, Commercial Solvents new, Dupont, International Harvester, Mathieson Alkali, Mullins Body and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, all closed 5 to 9 points lower. Weakness of the chemical shares may have been due to selling inspired by the announcement of the formation of a new International Chemical Trust in Europe to compete with American firms in foreign markets.

Unofficial predictions of poor third quarter earnings for the American Sugar Refining company were reflected in another 5 point break in that stock, which carried it close to the year's low. Punta Alegre fell back nearly 2 points but losses in the other sugars were held to fractions, although several of them sank to new 1927 lows.

Coty, Inc., Fidelity-Phoenix Insurance, Frank G. Shattuck, Inland Steel preferred and International Shoe all reached new high ground. Some of the public utility stocks also developed independent strength, particularly Manhattan-Brooklyn Transit and Philadelphia Co.

For the first time in months, the number of new low records for the day largely exceeded the number of new highs, no less than a score issues breaking below their previous 1927 minimum prices. The list include advance Rumely common and preferred, Autostrop Safety Razor, Lackawanna Railroad, Dodge Bros. preferred, Eaton Axle, Lima Locomotive, Loft Candy, Pierce Arrow common and preferred, Remington-Rand, Sinclair Oil and Vivaudou.

In the railroad group, Erie common duplicated the year's high, but later lost the day's gain. Union Pacific, New York Central and a few other recent favorites lost 2 points or more.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were slightly reactionary, sterling cables ruling just under $4.87 and French francs just under 3.92 1-2 cents.

Wheat futures dropped more than a cent a bushel under the pressure of offerings inspired by a large increase in the available supplies of the commodity. Cotton fell back $1 to $2 a bale in reflection of disappointing foreign cables. Coffee and sugar prices held fairly steady.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks heavy; Case Threshing breaks 8 points.

Notice to Architects
In conformity with the provisions of Section 64 of the General Statutes, Revision of 1918, "An Act Regulating the Employment of Architects on Public Buildings," architects are hereby invited to submit competitive plans for Buildings to be erected at Mansfield State Training School and Hospital at Mansfield Depot, Connecticut.
General Requirements:
Item 1. A Dormitory for 100 boys. Two stories and basement. Dormitories, day rooms, twelve single rooms 10x12, office, lavatories, bathrooms, clothes rooms, broom closets. Floors, tile over cement. This building to be heated from central heating plant.
Item 2. A Pavilion for contagious cases. Foundation is already in place. This building is to be one story with its own heating plant. Half glass partitions arranged with a bath and toilet between each room, and to accommodate twenty patients. Floors, tile.
Costs, including architect's fees, not to exceed as follows: Item 1, $100,000; Item 2, $34,000.
For further particulars address Dr. Charles T. LaMoure, superintendent, Mansfield Depot, Connecticut.
The architect of the plans selected by the committee in charge will be employed to prepare the working drawings and specifications and to superintend the construction of the buildings. For his compensation he will receive the commission authorized by the American Institute of Architects. No compensation will be paid for plans not finally accepted.
An estimate of cost from some reliable contractor will be required to be submitted with each plan. All plans must be signed by the architect and deposited with the Comptroller of the State at his office in the Capitol, City of Hartford not later than November 21, 1927, at 12 o'clock noon.
The committee in charge, in accordance with law, will give a public hearing on said plans in Room 8, State Capitol, on Monday, November 28, at 11 o'lock a. m.
Dated at Hartford, Connecticut, October 18, 1927.
FREDERICK M. SALMON,
Comptroller

Chandonet-Tonon Wedding

Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Catherine Tonon on High street, Miss Florina Tonon became the bride of Armand T. Chandonet, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Chandonet of Boston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Levi Rees, pastor of the Congregational church. The wedding march was played by Benjamin Kalman of Springfield, Mass. Miss Edith Tonon of North Andover attended her sister as bridesmaid and Leonard Gage of Boston, was best man. The bride wore a gown of silver gray velvet and carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids. The bridesmaid's frock was of green georgette and she carried pink roses. After the ceremony a reception was held for members and friends of the two families. Later Mr. and Mrs. Chandonet left for a wedding trip through the Berkshires to Canada. The house was decorated with autumn leaves and English marigolds.

Mrs. Chandonet is a graduate of the local high school and Simmons college, Boston. Mr. Chandonet is a graduate of Essex college and of Tufts and is associated with the General Electric company at Schenectady. Guests were present from Boston, Brooklyn, Holyoke, Hartford, Suffield, Cambridge and Springfield.

The last named died several years ago. Mrs. Helm is the daughter of the late John Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Helm have resided in St

CAB DRIVER'S CASE AT NEW LONDON CONTINUED TILL COP CAN TESTIFY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 17—Elbert Chapman, of Poquonoc road, Groton, employed as driver by the Yellow Cab company, was arrested today by Sergeant John Cavanaugh charged with reckless driving. He was given a hearing in the police court, but the case was continued to Dec. 1, when the complainant will be able to appear against Chapman for the former is confined to his home on Blydenburg avenue, suffering from a fractured leg, sustained by being struck by the cab that Chapman was driving. The complainant is Patrolman Walter Rehn. The officer was off duty on the night of Oct. 2, and on State street, near Union street, he attempted to cross the street. "In stepping from the curb, Rehn was run down, being struck by the cab. Chapman assisted Rehn into the cab and took him to the office of a physician where it was found that his right leg was fractured.

NEW LONDON, Oct. 17—Catherine Doty, 22, married and residing at 49 Perkins street, Charleston, Mass., and Catherine Wilkinson, 23, also married, and residing at the same address, were presented on charges of street walking and being idle persons without visible means of support. Their cases were continued to tomorrow. The girls were found loitering about the streets by Patrolman George McCaskey.

In the city court today Pembroke Boykin, a dining car waiter, was charged with breach of the peace. The case was not proceeded with, because Acting Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky recommended a nolle and it was granted. Boykin was arrested early Sunday morning by Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolman George Labous upon complaint of Charles E. Etheridge. Boykin and Etheridge engaged in a fight and the latter had Boykin arrested. Etheridge was also arrested and held as a witness against Boykin, but today Etheridge was discharged.

John Kelley, Keare Erickson and John Murphy, strangers, were charged with train riding, but judgment was suspended in each case. They were arrested Saturday night and Sunday by special agents of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Four cases of intoxication were also presented, one of them being William Barclay, a tile worker. He was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman George Labous after Barclay had become boisterous. Labous and Barclay were in a restaurant on North Bank street and as the officer started to leave, Barclay forced him through a glass cigar case, causing considerable damage. His case was continued to the 22nd inst.

The condition of Patrolman Albert Iverson, seriously injured at Plant hall, State street, Saturday night when he lost his balance and fell over a railing and landed 15 feet below on the stairs, is reported as improved today, at Lawrence-Memorial hospital. In falling Iverson's head struck the stairs and it has not been determined whether the officer has suffered a fractured skull, but as the hemorrhages from the ears is an indication of such injury, it is believed that a slight fracture exists. He will be detained at the hospital several days.

The police of Milford, Conn., have notified the New London police that Leon Cotter of the former place, who has been wanted for assault, has been arrested. The Milford police had made a request of the New London police to arrest Cotter for it was believed he would come to this city.

At the first fall meeting of the advisory board of the diocesan bureau of social service held during the week at the bureau headquarters, 42 Jay street, a report covering five months was submitted by the secretary, Miss Delia M. Moroney. She stated that 73 children were supervised. Free homes were found for five children, two of whom receive compensation as well as a home and an education. Four children were placed in boarding homes, 12 in institutions. One thousand ninety-seven dollars and eighty cents was collected from parents, relatives, city and town for the board of dependent children; $2,519.46 was paid by the bureau. The bureau is constantly seeking free and boarding homes for dependent children. Fifty-one families were supervised and assisted. Relief to the amount of $262.98 was given to 13 families. Twenty-five new articles of clothing and 103 used pieces were distributed. Legal aid was provided for five families, permanent positions found for the bread winners of five families and temporary positions for six. Present at the meeting were: Frank L. William E. Brown, patient at Norwich State hospital, made his escape Sunday night and the New London police have been asked to keep a lookout for him. Brown is described as being 43, about five feet eight inches in height and weighs about 145 pounds. He has brown hair and light blue eyes. Brown's home is in Hartford.

Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney today took another step toward increasing the personnel of the police department because of officers being incapacitated by injury, others on their vacations and another being off duty because of suspension. Last night Supernumerary Officer Lewis O. Tooker, 48 Reed street, was assigned to duty and today Edward Skoczylas, another supernumerary was ordered to report for duty. He will probably be assigned to night duty tomorrow or Wednesday night. City Manager William A. Holt today administered the oath of office to both officers. City Manager Holt, who today returned to his duties from his vacation of a fortnight, has not appointed a date for a hearing of Patrolman Clarence Wells charged with conduct unbecoming an officer. City Manager Holt stated that as soon as he had had an opportunity to review the report of Sergeant Smith he would assign a date for the hearing. It is believed that the date will be fixed for the latter part of the present week.

There appears to be the makings of a contest between the city and parties who have applied for permission to erect a gas filling station at School street and Ocean avenue. The council this evening refused to grant permission to the parties seeking the permission and the matter will have a hearing Friday at the court house before a representative of the motor vehicle department. City Manager Holt referred to the fact that if the petitioner complies with the provisions of the building code and the building is not a menace to the safety of nearby property that is as far as the city can go in the matter.

Contractors who were awarded a contract to remove condemned buildings at 9 and 11 Atlantic street are unable to furnish a bond as required by the city, so the vote to award the contract was rescinded and another award will be made.

Gager and Crawford have asked for permission to change a building on Water street, condemned by the city, into a garage, and before action is taken on a report from the committee on public safety is desired. Referred to that committee for report.

A building on Truman street owned by Fritz Voght and wife was condemned by the council some weeks ago. Now the owners ask for an extension of time for the removal of the building to a date six months in the future. Referred to committee on public safety. It is proposed to erect a new building on the site.

Harriet E. Colen has given notice of a claim for damages against the city for injuries sustained by falling over a heap of stones left on Reed street without lights. She has engaged attorneys and has given notice of a suit at law. Referred to the director of law that he advise council.

Lessees of the Empire theater on Bank street desire to erect a marquee at the theater. The city has exacted that such a construction have a strength of 140 pounds to the square foot. Now the petitioners represent that in Bridgeport and other places strength of only 40 to 50 pounds to the square foot is required and they ask that the order of the city council be modified.

Councillor Streeter called for a report from the zoning commission and was informed by Councillor Walton that Mr. Pond, employed to advise the commission, is preparing a map showing the proposed lines of the districts for zoning and that such map would be ready in a few days. Then the matter will be reported to the council.

PEQUOT BEACH CLUB CASE TO COME INTO SUPERIOR COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 17—The city council this evening instructed the director of law to secure an assignment of the case of the City of New London against the Pequot Beach club for trial in the superior court. The city seeks to oust the Pequot Beach club from land it occupies in part on Pequot avenue and which the city holds in part of the highway.

Lieutenant of Police James C. Culliran and Patrolmen Thomas Cavanaugh and Frank Philopena have started on their vacations of two weeks.

Mrs. Russell N. Putnam, 57 Squire street, made complaint to the police today because of boys having damaged a cement step that her husband had installed in front of their home.

Mrs. William J. Gramo, 208 Crystal avenue, complained to the police this evening because of boys having damaged her property.

Bennie Rosenhoth, 21 Linden street, was arrested this afternoon for violation of the city's parking laws. Rosenhoth parked his auto on Pearl street and where parking is not allowed at any time during the day or night. He provided a bond for his presentation in the police court tomorrow.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the return of the driver's license of John Miga, 17 New street. The license was suspended two weeks ago.

David Watchinsky did not believe in retaining an attorney to draw his will, for such an instrument, very brief and written by Watchinsky, was filed in the probate court today. But one paragraph constituted the will as follows: "Sunday, Feb. 13, 1927. I hereby declare that I, give all my possessions, personal and otherwise, to my son, Harry Watchinsky, upon my death. this son, Harry Watchinsky, is to care for me to my death. Also all that will be due from the Bosolover society." The will was witnessed by Fred Herman and G. Goldstein.

Mrs. Jacob Friberg and infant son, of 43 Denison avenue, and Mrs. Benjamin Bloomer, 25 Grove street, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Hugh A. McDonnell, son of Mrs. Teresa McDonnell, of Plainfield; N. J., and Miss Isabelle Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah J. Lyons, 134 Montauk avenue, were married at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's church by Rev. William C. Fitzsimmons. Albert F. Bryniarski, of Plainfield, was best man and Miss Elizabeth Lyons, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The ushers were John P. O'Keefe, Plainfield and Jeremiah P. Lyons, this city, brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell will reside in Plainfield where Mr. McDonnell is employed by the New Jersey Bell Telephone company. The bride was attired in white transparent velvet with picture hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore orchid crepe georgette with hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of butterfly roses. Following a reception at the Mohican hotel, Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell left for a two weeks' honeymoon trip. The bride received many beautiful gifts. Guests attended the ceremony and reception from Norwich, South Norwalk, Newark, N. J., Orange, N. J., Bridgeport, New Haven and Plainfield, N. J.

John G. Kenyon, of this city, was presented in the Groton town court this morning charged with violation of the prohibition law in transporting. Through counsel, Kenyon entered a demurrer, which was overruled and he was fined $200 and costs, the latter amounting to $12.55. Kenyon was driving an automobile across the Thames river highway bridge at 4.30 o'clock Sunday morning and at a time when State Police Officers John Smith and Peter Busch were on duty there. The officers held up the auto and its search revealed 143 bottles of whiskey.

John Yurenda, of Noank, was fined $50 and costs, the latter amounting to $11.55, for evading responsibility. Yurenda was driving an automobile last Wednesday that struck and injured a cow owned by Frank Williams. Yurenda did not stop his auto to determine the extent of the injuries to the cow and was arrested by State Police Officer John Smith. Yurenda informed the court that he had agreed to pay for any expenditure that Williams had made in the treatment of the cow.

Louis C. Crandall, of Center Groton, was fined $25 and costs of $11.55 on a charge of reckless driving, but $15 of the fine was ordered remitted. An automobile driven by Crandall struck a motionless auto of Russell Gavitt on the Center Groton road last Friday.

Conn. College Concert

Giuseppe De Lucca, the celebrated baritone of the Metropolitan Opera company, who will be heard at the New London State armory, Oct. 25, is one of the favored few who meet with instantaneous success at every appearance. Of De Lucca it has been said, "He came, he sang, he conquered."

A rare, pure bel canto is one of his most important qualities. It is seldom that an artist meets with the wholehearted approval of public and critics without exception, yet at his very first appearance at the Metropolitan Opera house on November 25th, 1915, in the role of "Figaro" in "The Barber of Seville", his success was complete—not one adverse criticism marred its perfection.

The superb beauty of his voice, his magnetism, and his winning personality make him as popular and sought-after an artist on the concert stage as in opera.

Caiganovitch, the surviving murderer of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, whose assassination led to the outbreak of the World war, has died at Uskub, Jugoslavi

Strand Theater

Papa love Papa? No!
Loves "Son of Sheik."

Does papa love papa? No, sir! He loves Ahmed, Son of the Sheik, because he's like himself, a case of "I'm a sheik," and so's your old man. More handsome! More dashing! More thrilling! and love as only "The Son of the Sheik" can love.

At the Strand tonight and tomorrow night.

Breed Theater

If you are not prepared to laugh until your sides ache, stay away from the Breed theater today and Wednesday, where the screaming First National comedy, "Lost at the Front," is the attraction!

Humor at its best. George Sidney and Charlie Murray in the stellar roles, and lovely Natalie Kingston as the leading woman. The combination is superb.

This story by Frank Griffin was directed by Del Lord, king of slapstick, and produced by John McCormick. It details the experiences on the Russian front during the World war of Patrick Muldoon and August Krause, friendly but at dagger's points over a girl!

Broadway Theater

When you see "Ben-Hur" the lavish Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer screen spectacle which is showing to capacity audiences at the Broadway theater, you will have the first century history of many different nations displayed before your eyes, with all the glamor and splendor and turbulent drama of the life of the first century of this era.

Here you see Romans and Greeks, Egyptians and Syrians and Jews, and a score of other races with their actions, customs, mannerisms and accomplishments.

"Ben-Hur" is as authoritative an account of the life of ancients as any history, and more so than the average, for not only has everything pertaining to costume, mannerisms, religion, education, social life, sports, etc., been authentically reproduced, but the very temperament and air of the age represented as it actually was thousands of years ago.

The result of all this is that when you see the picture you will, in a very short period of time, learn more about the world in the first century than you could possibly do by studying for months. Aside from what you will be learning of history you will be seeing the most gigantic production that has ever been offered the public.

In order that the school children of Norwich and vicinity may have an opportunity to see "Ben-Hur" the management of the Broadway theater has arranged for a special school children matinee to be given at four o'clock tomorrow.

Palace Theater

It is difficult at times to express one's feeling, and this applies to reviews as well as other things in life. The performance seen at the Palace last night is one of those creations that is hard to put in words, suffice it to say that the show is perfect. A lot of energy has been made in booking this show because it has every element of entertainment. Comedy, flash, music, singing, dancing and a sketch such as you rarely see. "Morgan and Ross Revue" headline the vaudeville presentations. This act has a band of six musicians, all of them peppy performers and accomplished musicians. The little lady who does the dance specialties is very clever and judging from the applause received they are a sensation. "State Room No. 19," with Gates and Lee is a comedy sketch supposed to happen on board a steamer, very funny and quite interesting. The scenery is nothing short of a real ocean liner stateroom. Kirby and Duvall, a man and woman comedy team billed as 6-foot-3 foot of comedy and they have more laughs in a minute than one could imagine possible. The man is really a six footer and alongside of the lady looks like a giant. Sandy Shaw a Scotch singer and story teller did very well and the audience got quite a kick out of his work. Oliver Twist and company offer a very neat act which was very well done and received. A great show, so don't miss it.

A deft and skillful combination of melodrama, pathos and comedy told in scenes both colorful and thrilling make "The Chinese Parrot," which opened yesterday afternoon at the Palace theater, one of the most entertaining photoplays of the season.

While Marian Nixon and Edmund Burns are billed as the featured players the cast in reality is all-star and every member deserves equal credit for the success of the picture. The work of Hobart Bosworth, who plays a dual role, and K. Sojin as the Chinese detective are especially good.

Mrs. Ruth Jacobs, Mrs. Ralph Buell and Bertha May Buell spent the week end at Mrs. Jacobs' cottage at Groton Long Point.

A truck of the Willimantic Lumber Co. loaded with coal broke through a small wooden bridge over the ditch in front of Mrs. Trythall's Saturday afternoon. Another truck had to come and pull it out.

W. H. Perry, who owns a place at the lake called "Wildacre" is having his ground ploughed by Ralph Buell and Percy Carver and is to have the land graded and laid out with walks and shrubs.

Miss Eleanor Collins of New York spent the week end at the home of her parents.

Miss Elizabeth Bertsch spent the week end in New Haven.

The Ladies' Aid society is to meet this (Tuesday) afternoon at Mrs. Natsch's.

HOPKINTON

Mrs. Benjamin F. Clarke, of the Shore road, Westerly, was the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo P. Kenyon, last week. She went Saturday afternoon to the home of another brother, William L. Kenyon at Tomaquag Valley, for a few days' visit.

Mrs. George T. Kenyon remains in a critical condition; her husband is very feeble.

The Ladies' Aid society of Hopkinton City served a harvest supper in the parish house Thursday evening.

Quite a number saw the Los Angeles on its passage over this town en route to Newport, Thursday evening.

The storm and wind of Thursday morning shook the fruit from many trees and washed the roads in many places.

The frost has now destroyed most of the flowers in local gardens.

BALTIC

Saturday afternoon Wilfred Robitaille of Baltic, who was driving a horse hitched to an express wagon belonging to Joseph Sevigney of Scotland road, misjudged the backing distance in front of T. J. Burke's garage in Baltic. He backed the team into a Buick sedan owned by William Bouchard of Baltic.

The damage consisted of a dent in the rear fender. Robitaille stated that the horse was too lively and became unmanageable when he attempted to avoid hitting the automobile. A satisfactory adjustment was made by Robitaille.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

GREENEVILLE

Napoleon Kecoack has returned to Putnam, after spending a few days at the home of his parents on Central avenue.

At St. Mary's Memorial church Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock an anniversary mass of requiem was offered for the late Mrs. Elizabeth Shea by the assistant pastor, Rev. Frederick M. Coholan, with many friends and relatives attending.

Preparations are now under way for the annual harvest festival at St. Mary's parish, which takes place the latter part of November.

In making the announcements in St. Mary's Memorial church Sunday, the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe, stated that Sunday next, the 23rd, the Catholic world will observe as Mission Sunday, when the priests in the various pulpits will discuss the wants of home and foreign missions. To those who receive the sacraments of that day and pray for the success of this work, a plenary indulgence is granted, applicable to the souls in purgatory.

Michael J. Farrell has returned to New York city, after a week-end visit at his home on Prospect street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Wilson of North Main street spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Thrope at Haughton's cove.

Raymond Portelance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Portelance of 213 Central avenue, left Monday morning to enter the Putnam Trade school. He is taking up the trade of mason.

WEDDING

Kirby-Ziegelmayer

In St. Mary's Memorial church Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe, united in marriage Miss Alice Ziegelmayer, the daughter of Mrs. Albert Ziegelmayer of Cliff street and Andrew Francis Kirby, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kirby, with many friends and relatives attending the ceremony. The bride was beautifully attired in a robin egg blue georgette gown trimmed with rhinestones with hat to correspond. She was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Ziegelmayer, gowned in coral pink georgette with picture hat to match.

The musical part of the ceremony was given under the direction of Mrs. M. J. Farrell, organist; special selections were rendered by the choir and Loech's mass was sung. Edward J. Connelly sang Gounod's Ave Maria at the offertory.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Albert Ziegelmayer, at 30 Platt street with members and friends of both families being present. The bride and groom received many useful presents including cut glass, linen, silver, checks. Relatives who attended the wedding came from Philadelphia, Providence, Hartford and New York city. Following a two-weeks' wedding tour which will include visits in Providence, Hartford and New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby will reside upon their return at the home of the bride's mother on Cliff street.

Acid Scalp

How many carefully coiffured heads can stand the test of eyes only inches away, and reveal not a speck of dandruff? How many women can warm to the dance, and know their hair will have no taint for the partner who holds them close?

No one can be sure who has acid scalp.

If you even suspect this acid condition of the scalp, it is time for Danderine. This scientific preparation will neutralize any acidity and dissolve all dandruff if there is any. And it always gives the hair itself a lovely softness and sheen. It will wave better, hold a wave longer, and behave better all the time if you just occasionally apply a few drops of Danderine. Try it! Every drugstore has this perfect conditioner of the scalp and hair, and a thirty-five cent bottle lasts for weeks.

WM. E. RYAN AND BABY DAUGHTER KILLED IN AUTO-TROLLEY CRASH

William E. Ryan, formerly of this city and Colchester, was killed Saturday evening about 6.30 o'clock at Gary, Ind., when his automobile was struck by a trolley car. His two year old daughter, Margaret, died Sunday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from injuries received in the crash and his wife is a patient at a Gary hospital. Details of the accident are lacking. The bodies of Mr. Ryan and his daughter will be brought to Norwich for burial.

Mr. Ryan was born in Colchester and was the son of Martin and Margaret Brennan Ryan. At Wethersfield, May 7, 1924, he was united in marriage with Beatrice Carter, who survives him. Mr. Ryan was engaged in the real estate business.

DEED OF SLAVE SOLD BY PRESTON MAN IN 1773

F. Leon Hutchins, formerly superintendent of the Backus hospital, is in possession of an unusual and unique reminder that slaves were once held in New England. This is the original deed by which a Negro boy was sold by a resident of Preston to a resident of West Greenwich, R. I., in 1773. The paper is yellow with age but the ink with which the document was written is still of good color.

Know all men by these Presants that I Elias Brown of Preston in ye County of New London & Colony of Connecticut for and in consideration of the Sum of 45 Pounds lawfull money to me in hand paid by Robert Hazard of West Greenwich in the County of Kent and in the Colony of Rhodisland the Receipt whearof I do Hearby Acknowlidge myself Satisfyed have Bargained Sold Conveyed and Confirmed, and do by these Presants in Open Market Bargain Sell Convey and Confirm unto him ye said Robert Hazard his hairs and assigns one Negro Boy named Towerhill aged about 14 years during the whole term of his life and further I the said Elias Brown do hereby oblige myself to warrant and Defend ye said Towerhill against all lawfull demands whearof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 2 day of February A D 1773.

AUTOMOBILE DRIVER WAS FINED ON TWO COUNTS

A fine of $25 and costs for reckless driving and $50 for evading responsibility was imposed on Harold Winslow of New London, disabled World war veteran, when he was presented in the city court before Judge Arthur P. Libby Monday morning. After considering all the circumstances in the case, Judge Libby ordered half of the $50 fine remitted. Winslow claims to have been with Sergt. Major Robert O. Fletcher of this city when he was killed in action in France.

Frederick Bosworth, who was arrested with Winslow was freed on an intoxication charge. After the machine Winslow was driving had collided with a machine owned by Percy Avery Holmes of No. 23 John street, Saturday night at the junction of North Main street and Central avenue, Winslow and Bosworth, who was with him, left the machine and disappeared. Bosworth was later arrested in this city and Winslow was arrested in New London by the police of that city for the local police.

SOCIAL WORKERS COUNCIL TO HOLD JOINT MEETING

A joint meeting of the Social Workers council of New London and Windham counties will be held at Lighthouse inn, New London this (Tuesday) afternoon from 1 until 4 o'clock. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged by Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins, chairman of New London county, and Mrs. C. C. Case, chairman of Windham county. The program follows:

The Juvenile Court and the Child Welfare Bureau—Kenneth Messenger, state commissioner of child welfare.

MOVED OCCUM BEACON AND WRECKED IT

The flashing beacon on the road at the Occum flats was moved about 25 feet Monday morning when hit by the automobile of Maurice Bazer of 140 Sacket street, Providence. The crash wrecked the beacon, but the automobile was not so badly damaged but that it was able to drive away under its own power.

Given Miscellaneous Shower

Sunday afternoon a miscellaneous shower was held for Mrs. Robert Kelley at her home, No. 2 Penobscot street, in honor of her recent marriage. The home was prettily decorated in Halloween colors. Miss Pauline Betley gave an exhibition of the black bottom and Mrs. Rose Monahan sang several selections accompanied by Miss Josephine Chmielewski. Games were played and dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. E. Kelley assisted by Mrs. W. G. Lewis and Mrs. Robert Boyd. Mrs. Kelley received many beautiful and useful gifts, including linen, silver and money.

Motorcycle Struck Woman

Struck by a motorcycle at Washington square, early Monday morning Mrs. Jennie Curtiss of No. 43 Union street was knocked down and dragged about 20 feet. Mrs. Curtis, who was badly shaken up, was taken to her home. It was at first thought that James C. Gilbreath, 35, of the submarine base, who was driving the motorcycle, was under the influence of liquor. A physician's examination at police headquarters showed that he was not under the influence of liquor.

WILL BE SPEAKER FOR CHAMBER OF COMMEDCE

The speaker for the next dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, which is to be held at the Wauregan hotel next Monday evening is to be Howard C. Baldwin, educational director of the Babson Statistical organization of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

This meeting will form part of the program for management week, which is observed throughout the country in October with the department of commerce.

During the past eight years, in addressing audiences of business men in nearly every leading city throughout the country, Mr. Baldwin has had unusual success in combining economic theory with actual business practice. On the theoretical or technical side of has the Harvard degree of Master of Business Administration, together with a university fellowship in industrial research. He is a lecturer for many of the foremost colleges and universities, a member of the American Economic association and the American Statistical association, and a contributor to technical publications.

However, Mr. Baldwin's peculiar appeal to a business audience is not so much this technical background as his direct and personal contact with the real, everyday affairs of business. He has been closely associated with Mr. Babson in the development of the great statistical community now under construction and has also acted in an advisory capacity for many business concerns in correlating general forecasts with specific business conditions.

The greatest weakness in the present business situation, Mr. Baldwin thinks, is the widely prevalent feeling that the great level of business activities of 1925 and 1926 will be continued indefinitely. While the stock market indicates a strong business future, he asserts, the market is not invariably right. In his opinion, however, the next downward trend of business, whenever it may come, will not transpire suddenly or unexpectedly as has happened a number of times since the Civil war period. He advises business men not only to watch the business cycles but also to keep an eye out for any changes that may be taking place in their own industry or related ones that may affect them.

One of the most interesting features of this occasion will be the informal discussion period following Mr. Baldwin's address.

JUDGE HEARS ASSAULT SUIT AGAINST LANDLADY

In the suit brought for $1,000 damages against Mrs. Harriet Adams Rosenfeld by Mrs. Helen White, both of Blackhall, Judge C. B. Waller took the papers and reserved decision after hearing trial of the suit in the common pleas court at New London Monday.

According to the complaint the defendant on April 3, 1926 assaulted the plaintiff, causing her to have considerable pain in the left side and chest and causing her to expend sums of money for medical care and attention.

It was brought out in court that the alleged assault resulted when Mrs. Rosenfeld opened a door in the house against a baby carriage, which rolled into the plaintiff. The plaintiff claims that it was done maliciously, but the defendant denied the allegations and in court Monday testified that she had no idea that the baby carriage was against the door when she started to open it from the other side.

The situation, according to testimony, was that the defendant owned the four-room bungalow in which the affair took place and that she had rented it to the plaintiff, reserving one room for the purpose of keeping something in there and of coming there if she cared to.

The defendant claimed that there came a time when her brother got through at his work in another place and she notified the plaintiff that she needed the house. There was some hard feeling over the matter but the defendants came to the room which she had reserved for herself. It was when she was opening the door from this room that the alleged assault took place.

FAMILY WELFARE DEPARTMENT DEAL WITH MANY PROMLEMS

Regarding the work of the family welfare department of the United Workers, the following statement is made by officers of the organization:

This department of the United Workers has charge of all outdoor charitable relief as it assists those in the temporary distress arising from unemployment, sickness or the infirmities of old age. When our people are in difficulties we try to help them and to encourage them to make a new start. The problems with which we deal are many and varied. They include cases of desertion of, unmarried mothers, and also of children whose parents are unable to care for them for a long or short period. Although certain worthy cases we retain as a permanent charge, for the most part we give only temporary assistance. If after patient and well considered effort on our part our clients fail to regain self-support, we turn such cases over to the town. It is our constant aim to use the money at our disposal judiciously and in a way to do the greatest possible good.

We hope when you are called upon by the district visitors you may remember our work generously, for our department has had but few bequests and we therefore have almost no funds of our own. The United Workers are mose grateful for all donations, large or small, fully appreciating the demands in these days of many worthy objects; at the same time we urge our contributors to think before carelessly giving a quarter when 50 cents could as easily be afforded, or one dollar when five might be given; in other words, first of all consider that the fund raised must be divided between six departments, and give according to their means.

WILL CONTINUE OPERATION OF KITEMAUG ORCHARDS

Operation of Kitemaug orchards in the town of Montville, which were developed by the late Frank W. Browning, is to be continued by his son, Carl P. Browning, who has engaged L. Gwyther, a former California fruit and poultry expert, to take charge of the Kitemaug apple orchards. Mr. Gwyther is now engaged in studying Connecticut climate and marketing conditions.

The Kitemaug orchards are in prime condition through the late Mr. Browning's vigilant, personal care of every tree and there is no better fruit in the country as evidenced by the awarding of nine first prizes and two second prizes out of 12 exhibits at the recent county fair.

Mr. Browning, who will continue the ownership of the orchards in the Browning family, is general manager of the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd., of Britannia Beach, British Columbia.

The late F. W. Browning originally developed Kitemaug as a peach orchard, testing out the apple trees at the same time. As the apple trees reached maturity, the peach trees were gradually removed. Peach trees, maturing at an earlier age than apple trees, yielded revenue for the owner while the apple trees were attaining full growth.

Workmen's Compensation

Edward Bloom Co., New London, employer, and Miss Ophelia LaRue, employe, two fingers lacerated, Sept. 27, at rate of $7.89.

New London Ship & Engine Co., Groton, employer, and Karl M. Anderson, employe, piece of steel embedded in forearm, Sept. 20, at rate of $21.

Palmer Bros., New London, employer, and Gurdon Tracy, Fitchville, employe, strained back, Sept. 12, at rate of $8.37.

Fined for Parking Violations

At the Monday morning session of the city court, seven of eight auto drivers tagged Saturday night were fined $5 each for parking on the "no parking" side of Main street. One man's case was nolled by Judge Arthur P. Libby.

MOOSUP WOMAN CLAIMS NOVENA CURED PARALYSIS

Moosup is discussing the claim of Mrs. Blanche L. Mathieu, 31, that she has been cured of paralysis in a remarkable way. Mrs. Mathieu lives with her mother, Mrs. Mathilde Mathieu.

Mrs. Mathieu, who was stricken December 27, 1926, now has the use of her limbs and attributes her recovering to Saint Therese. On September 20, after spending more than six months in hospitals receiving treatments from specialists who pronounced her incurable, she began making a novena to St. Therese at All Hallows church. Her condition improved, but on Saturday, October 1, she felt worse. The next day, while sitting on the porch with her mother, she was able to raise her hands. Suddenly she jumped to her feet and ran into the garden, crying "I am cured."

On St. Therese's day Mrs. Mathieu walked to church to give thanks for her cure, which she says is complete.

Ferry Carried 350 Automobiles

The Groton ferryboat carried 350 automobiles and a large number of pedestrians during the five hours Sunday morning when the Thames river highway bridge was closed to traffic while a new jack was installed on the north end of the short draw of the bridge. On one trip the ferry took over 14 autos and, on an average, 11 cars were taken on each trip.

TAFTVILLE

Twenty-two of the employes of the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah mills enjoyed a banquet Saturday evening at the Wauregan hotel in Norwich, having with them William Thompson, who severed his connections with the mill as overseer of that department Saturday, to return to his home in New Bedford, Mass. Elmer Audette acted as toastmaster for the evening, and called upon Mr. Thompson to speak. Mr. Thompson dwelled upon the pleasant relations between the operatives and himself since coming to Taftville and extended his wishes for a happy future for all the men who had been associated with him. Others who spoke were Charles Kloss, George Kinder, George Adams and Thomas Grimshaw. After the dinner, cigars were enjoyed during the social hour and there were vocal solos by John Herd and Thomas Grimshaw. Humorous stories and anecdotes were told by George Kinder, Andrew Hedler, Elmer Audette and Andrew Frohmader. The committee which arranged for the pleasant evening, which was more than enjoyed by all present, including John Seddon, George Adams, and John Herd.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Heselton and their children Kendall and Revelle of North B street have returned from a week end visit with relatives in Boston, Mass.

Daniel McSheffery and his daughter, Miss Mary McSheffery, R. N., of Hartford, former Taftville residents, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Daley and family of Providence street.

When William Thompson resigned his position as overseer of the No. 4 weaving department of the local mills, he was presented a Masonic charm, watch chain and knife by the employes of the department.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood of North B street, Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. Wood and their children Mahlon and Joan with Peter Lukoff of North Third avenue have been recent visitors in Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Whitehead and their little daughter Arline of Cleveland, Ohio, who are visiting friends in town, have been spending a few days with Mr. Whitehead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Whitehead in Westerly, R. I.

Left Brainard Field, Hartford, For Boston at 4 P. M. Yesterday—Residents of East Thompson Reported the Plane Flying Low Over the Hills—With Stinson in the Plane Were His Wife and Five Friends—Stinson Was Flying the Last Lap of 18,000 Mile Tour to Stimulate Interest in Airports—Was Designer of the "American Girl" and the "Pride of Detroit."

BOSTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—Five hours overdue on a short 100-mile hop from Hartford, Conn., to Boston, Eddie Stinson, Detroit airplane designer and builder, and a party of five friends including his wife and a German baron, were missing late tonight, presumably forced down somewhere by a cold, blustering "northeaster" which has lashed the New England coast all day.

They hopped off from Hartford at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the last lap of an 18,000 mile air tour in the interest of airport promotion. They should have reached Boston in two hours at the outside, but at 11 o'clock tonight they had not been heard from. At that hour state and local police in the vicinity of Natick, Framingham and Sherburn were investigating reports that a big plane had gone down in the woods near the Natick-Sherburn line.

With virtually half the Boston airport personnel searching the countryside in Natick and Framingham, airport officials announced at midnight that every available plane at the port will be manned at daylight ot carry on the hunt for the Stinson plane.

AIRMAN BATTLED WITH WIND AND AIR POCKETS

HARTFORD, Oct. 18—(AP)—After battling strong head winds and bumpy air pockets that caused his wife to become violently ill while flying over Meriden, Eddie Stinson, designer of Ruth Elder's plane, "American Girl," and also of the "Pride of Detroit," landed at Brainard field here this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, two hours behind schedule. Following a two hours' visit at the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft company, Stinson hopped off for Boston.

At five o'clock Stinson's plane was seen over the town of Ashford, according to residents of the village of Warrenville. It was flying low and headed toward Boston on the regular air route.

Shortly after the time the plane believed to have been Stinson's was seen over shford, the same plane was seen over Pomfret, near Putnam and over the village of East Thompson in the town of Thompson. Residents of East Thompson said the plane was flying low over the hills, apparently in an effort to keep below low hanging clouds.

AIRPLANE FLEW OVER PUTNAM AT 5 O'CLOCK

PUTNAM, Conn., Oct. 18—(AP)—An airplane flew over Putnam at about 5 o'clock this afternoon, flying very low and slowly. Since no regular plane goes over this town at that hour, it was believed that the one today might have been that of Eddie Stinson, missing on the way from Hartford to Boston.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 18—(AP)—Princess Ileana, youngest daughter of Queen Marie of Rumania, who was recently reported to have eloped with a naval lieutenant attended services in the cathedral here.

STINSON FOUND IN MASSACHUSETTS

Sherburne, Mass, Oct. 18 (A.P.)—Eddie Stinson and his five passengers landed safely in their Stinson-Detroit plane on a farm near here at 6 o'clock tonight according to Chief of Police Lewis Holbrook of Hollister, who said he had visited the plane tonight. Stinson and his passengers left for Boston immediately after landing.

$20,000,000 MERGER OF STEEL AND TIN PLATE COMPANIES

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 18—(AP)—Ohio steel interests tonight were awaiting public announcement of details concerning the $20,000,000 merger of six steel and tin plate companies of northern Ohio, which was consummated here today by Floyd A. Deal and his associates.

The firms included in the combine are the Mansfield Sheet and Tin Plate company, Ashtabula Sheet Steel company, Empire Steel company of Cleveland and the Falcon Steel company, Thomas Steel company and Waddell Steel company, all of Niles.

Deal in announcing that details of the merger would be given out later, said that he obtained agreements from the six companies containing contracts to combine the properties on an appraisal basis with an exchange of securities. There will be no public financing.

The combination brings together 61 sheet mills producing approximately a half million tons annually, a bonded indebtedness of $3,000,000 and a total value of $20,000,000.

SALESMAN ROBBED OF JEWELRY VALUED AT $45,000

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 18—(AP)—C. H. Brown, 38, salesman for a New York jewelry importing firm, reported to the police he had been robbed of $45,000 worth of jewelry by six men who forced him into a motor car on Main street here today and drove him to a point north of Fort Douglas.

An attorney and physician found Brown handcuffed to a post near the Fort Douglas golf course and released him.

He related that two men placed pistols at his back as he stopped at a drinking fountain, and compelled him to get into the car. Four others were in the machine. He was strapped, blindfolded and taken for a ride.

Brown said he was preparing to leave the city and had dispatched a large part of his stock to the depot. The rest he was carrying in two small bags.

The police were given only meager descriptions of the men.

TWO WOMEN ON JURY IN THE FALL-SINCLAIR CASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—Two women are to have their say with ten men as to whether Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair criminally conspired together to defraud the government in the lease of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve in Wyoming.

The twelve jurors, selected after a day and a half devoted to the examination of forty talesmen, today heard the opening statement for the government and part of that for the defense and will begin tomorrow to listen to the testimony of nearly a hundred witnesses.

Then they will hear more argument by counsel and an exposition of the law by Justice Siddons before they retire to deliberate on a verdict. Upon being locked up at that time they will elect a foreman and there was speculation whether the men would honor one of the women with that office.

The two women of the jury are young and comely, one married and the other single, and are the first to serve in an important criminal trial in the District of Columbia supreme court.

VIOLENT STORMS ALONG GULF COAST OF MEXICO

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 18—(AP)—Delayed reports of the Herald today told of high winds, rains of cloudburst proportions and ocean storms striking along the gulf coast of Mexico Sunday and Monday with heavy property loss.

The state of Tabasco was visited by heavy rains which fell for fifty-two hours, causing streams to overflow and flood many small towns. Many houses in the city of Huimanguillo were reported tumbled in the rush of flood water. The Grijalva river cut a swath through the town of Tlacotalpa while heavy losses were incurred in farming districts.

James Alexander

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 18—(AP)—James Alexander, a motorcycle officer of the city police force, who was struck by a machine operated by George T. Trueman, of Manchester, Conn., Saturday, died today from his injuries. Trueman was held in bonds to await the result of the officer's injuries, which were fractures of skull and leg.

The explanation of the collision given at the time was that Alexander rode out of a side street into Quinnipiac avenue, in the Fair Haven section, just as Trueman drove along. The question was raised as to whether the autoist could have avoided collision and this will be determined by thecoroner's inquiry.

DEPUTY DRY ADMINISTRATOR AND HIS SON ARE INDICTED

COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in the federal courts for a consideration of $20,000 George Griffin, acting deputy prohibition administrator, and son, Claude Griffin, and Richard Mullins and Albert St. Clair were indicted by the federal grand jury here today.

The indictment charged that the four entered into a conspiracy to keep witnesses away from court and conceal material evidence in the government's case against the Wideman Brewing company, for which they to receive $20,000.

Frank Benton, attorney for the Widemann company whose brewery has been padlocked by federal order, conferred to District Attorney Sawyer Smith the information upon which the indictment was primarily based.

The true bill further charged that Claude Griffin, Mullins and St. Clair met at a Lexington, Ky., hotel where they had conversations with several parties during the hearing of the government's padlocking case against the brewery, and attempted to collect the money.

Several department of justice agents and a high government official who were also at the hotel were alleged to have overheard some of the conversations.

The government now has a case against Charles Widemann, president, and several other officials of the company charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

BERGER TO SUCCEED THE LATE EUGENE V. DEBS

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Election of Congressman Victor L. Berger, socialist, of Wisconsin, to succeed the late Eugene V. Debs, as chairman of the national executive committee of the socialist party was announced at the local headquarters of the socialist organization here tonight.

Berger's election to the post formerly took place at a meeting of the national executive committee of the socialist party recently held in Detroit, the announcement said. At the same time plans were discussed for the forthcoming national convention of the socialist party, which will be held here next April. The convention is scheduled to open April 10th. Arrangements also were made to conduct an independent campaign for the socialist party's candidates for president and vice president.

WEST HAVEN FRUIT DEALER HELD UP

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18—(AP)—Joseph Ricci, a fruit dealer of West Haven, was held up on Forest road, connecting link between the Boston Post road and the Waterbury road, by two armed men, he reported to police here, tonight.

Ricci was drivin ga horse and team and as he drew abreast of a parked car, two men clamberde out and halted him, with a request to show them som apples. Before he could comply, they drew guns and demanded whatever money he had on his person. After taking the $15 he gave them, they jumped back into the car and drove off. Ricci furnished the police with the license number and a description of the machine.

BEHRENS AND ATWATER NOMINATED IN MERIDEN

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 18—(AP)—Mayor F. William Behrens and Fred Atwater oppose each other for the second time as candidates for themayoralty as the result of republican and democratic city and town conventions tonight. four years ago Mayor Behrens, the G. O. P. nominee beat Atwater, then mayor, by a scant 84 votes.

Nominations came to both candidates tonight without opposition. Both conventions were unanimous on every nomination and question. The regular republican organization was in complete control as was the regular democratic organization.

VA. MILITARY INSTITUTE STUDENTS OUT ON STRIKE

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 18.—(AP)—The entire cadet corps of Virginia Military institute went on strike today, remaining at barracks while all military activities and classes were suspended. The strike was precipitated by the suspension of W. F. R. Griffith, a senior, by Superintendent W. H. Cocke.

It was unofficially reported that Griffith's was the 29th suspension since the start of the present term but this could not be verified at the college.

A freshman is reported to have told the superintendent that he was forced to undergo an operation for appendicitis after hazing in which Griffith is said to have been implicated.

Student leaders declared that the cadet corps was not in favor of hazing and insisted that the strike was not directed at Superintendent Cocke or Major R. S. Dodson, the new commandant. Various students, however, expressed doubt as to the guilt of the dismissed upper classman.

JURY WILL PASS ON SANITY OF GEORGE REMUS

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 18.—(AP)—George Remus will be given a hearing November 7, when a jury of 12 will pass on the question of whether or not he was insane when he shot to death his wife, Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus.

Remus entered a formal plea of insanity today and the court immediately appointed three alienists who will act with the jury to decide Remus' sanity. Charles Elston, attorney for Remus, and Carl Basler, assistant prosecuting attorney will at once begin a tour of the country, taking depositions which will be introduced at the hearing.

Elston announced that he will seek to prove with the depositions that Mrs. Remus with Frank L. Dodge, Jr., former prohibition agent, who exposed the Remus gigantic bootlegging ring, conspired to kill him.

The two attorneys accompanied by William Copeland, court stenographer and newspapermen will visit some of the nation's high officials before their trip is concluded.

The deposition party will leave here tonight for Atlanta, Ga., where it will remain until Oct. 20. It will spend October 20 and 21 in Washington, D. C.

KILLED ATTEMPTING TO LAND "SWALLOW" BIPLANE

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Going into a nose dive, when they attempted to land their "Swallow" biplane at the Portsmouth airport this afternoon, William Cottrell, 50, of Cleveland, was fatally injured and his son, Chester Cottrell, 27, also of Cleveland, was seriously injured.

The plane crashed in a corn field just off a highway opposite the Scioto county infirmary about three miles from Portsmouth.

Both men were rushed to a hospital here where the elder Cottrell died. He sustained a crushed skull when the motor crashed through the fuselage. The young Cottrell sustained a broken leg and internal injuries. The victims were on their way from Cleveland to the south on a combined business and pleasure trip. Both men were married.

STEAMER AGROUND IN THE WELLAND CANAL

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Oct. 18—(AP)—The steamer Wiarton, bound down with a load of grain, went aground in the Welland canal aqueduct at Welland today. The vessel was floated after the water supply to the old canal and for the power house of the Dominion power house at Decew falls had been shut off. Low water in the Lake Erie level of the present cadal is believed to be caused by prevailing strong east wind.

Outlook For Industry Is Reported Good

WASHING[illegible] 18—(AP)—A national bu[illegible]tion of satisfactory p[illegible]iving good prospects for [illegible] into future months, w[illegible]ed today at the white h[illegible] the basis of reports to President Coolidge by his cabinet.

At the president's request his advisers sketched for him the condition of industry, agriculture and labor as revealed to the government's agencies for observation and action, convincing the president that the future outlook for productive industry in the United States was more than ordinarily good.

Secretary Mellon assured the president that the financing and banking world expected the present money situation to continue, with its guarantee of fully supply for credit for sound enterprise. The probability of further tax reduction next year was heightened, as well, by treasury estimates that it would be possible to ask from taxpayers $250,000,000 less than was taken this year.

Emphasis that American export trade for 1927 was reaching record levels, and that industry as a whole was fairly well occupied was given by Secretary Hoover, while the agriculture department told the president that on the whole farm producers during 1927 would experience a marked recovery of buying power. With prices for cattle at a new high level. The livestock industry was pictured as experiencing better conditions, with the grain growers sharing a more cheerful outlook.

Secretary Davis completed the picture for the labor department, informing the president that employment on the whole was fairly full with an outlook of continuance. A diminution of labor controversies in the country was also remarked, with but 27 strikes in progress this year as against fifty at the same time last year. Even in the matter of the cotton crop, somewhat late this season, the president was told that high prices prevailing had bettered conditions for the southern territory concerned.

WEATHER AGAINST HOP OFF FOR COPENHAGEN

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, Oct. 18—(AP)—A second start of the Sikorsky plane, The Dawn, on a non-stop flight to Europe seemed more distant tonight than at any time since the ship landed here more than a week ago.

During that week conditions were never perfect, but tonight a cold, misty drizzle was being borne in from the sea by a moderate east wind.

With reports of disturbances moving in this direction it appeared highly improbable that the flight could be begun tomorrow.

Mrs. Frances W. Grayson and her navigator, Brice Goldsborough, today were the guests at luncheon in Portland, of the Lions' club to whom they outlined their purpose of proving the worth of the amphibian type of plane for long oceanic flights. The rest of the party spent the day quietly at their hotel here.

SEES IMPORTANT PROGRAMS FOR FUTURE OF RAILROADS

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Sounding a note of optimism for the railroads of the United States, General A. A. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, declared in an address today that the carriers were "looking forward and planning enormous programs for the future."

"Investments are made in confidence," he told the National Association of Railroad and Utilities commissioners, and the railroads are doing new things—"the are co-operating with the air mail and air service. It is the job of the railroads to co-operate with all new enterprises," he declared.

"Never before has there been such a period of prosperity," General Atterbury continued, "Railroad earnings have improved and at the time the service has been vastly improved."

WOULD INCREASE CAPITAL TO TE EXTENT OF $36,000,000

WATERBURY, Oct. 18—(AP)—The Connecticut Light and Power company directors through its president, J. Henry Roraback, are asking stockholders to authorize increased capitalization to the extent of $36,000,000 for the purpose of financing merger of the Bristol and Plainville Electric company and the Middletown Gas Light company with the Connecticut Light and Power company and for other developments during the next few years.

TRUCK STRUCK BY A BOSTON & MAINE TRAIN

Immediate Parole For Earl Carroll

Was Approved Yesterday by Attorney-General Sargent —Action is Final.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—Earl Carroll, the New York theatrical producer, will be released from the Atlanta penitentiary within the next few days.

The recommendation of the parole board for his release was approved late today by Attorney General Sargent and papers were forwarded immediately to the warden of the penitentiary directing him to liberate the prisoner.

Carroll began serving a sentence of a year and a day last June 8 for perjury in connection with his famous bath tub party on the stage of a New York theater. He became eligible for parole on October 8 and yesterday the board passed favorably on his application. This action, however, did not become known until today when it was announced by the attorney general.

In addition to his prison sentence, Carroll was fined $2,000. He was described in the parole application as a model prisoner with marked improvement in health after his collapse on his way to prison. When he was removed from the train and kept for some time in a Greenville, S. C., hospital.

Conditions under which Carroll's parole was granted include one that during the term of his parole he is not to frequent saloons or other places where intoxicating liquors are sold or furnished and that he will not drink intoxicating beverages."

Carroll also will be required to abstain during the time of his parole from associating with persons of bad reputation. In all respects to conduct himself honorably and work diligently and honestly for himself and his employer, and to avoid "violating the law".

The conditions are the usual ones laid down for paroled federal prisoners.

CARROLL PROBABLY WILL BE RELEASED THURSDAY

ATLANTA, Oct. 18—(AP)—Earl Carroll probably will be released from the federal penitentiary here Thursday, Warden John W. Snook said late today when informed of the attorney general's action in approving the New York theatrical producer's parole.

4,000 MINERS ON STRIKE IN COLORADO COAL FIELDS

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Approximately 4,000 miners today answered a strike call of the Industrial Workers of the World in Colorado coal fields.

Suspension of work at several mines in northern Colorado occurred without disturbances, while in the southern section Sheriff Harry Capps of Walsenburg investigated reports that I. W. W.'s had received a freight carload of rifles and ammunition and four carloads of food in preparation for any possible emergency.

Reports also were prevalent that the I. W. W. had numerous secret quarters in Walsenburg and that several bands were congregated in nearby hills.

Eighteen pickets were arrested by Sheriff J. J. Marty of Las Animas county, were lodged in jail at Trinidad. No formal charges were filed against them.

The Lignite producing fields in the northern part of the state were hardest hit by today's walkout. Mines in the southern section, near Walsenburg and Aguilar, were reported operating with about half of their regular forces. At Trinidad only a few miners failed to report for work. Coal mines in Fremont county were not affected.

Earl Hoage, president of the Colorado Federation of Labor, announced today that the state labor body would take no part in the strike, although he said the organization believed the miners had a just grievance. He called the I. W. W. a "renegade radical organization."

COAL TIPPLE DYNAMITED NEAR STEUBENVILLE, OHIO

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Dynamiting of the United States Coal company's tipple near here, today with losses estimated at $30,000 will be investigated by state and federal authorities, Sheriff W. T. Allison announced tonight following an investigation.

The sheriff said he had found that between 45 and 50 sticks of dynamite had been planted near the loading platform of the tipple, but that for some reasons, all had not exploded. Had all gone off, he said the tipple would have been destroyed. Only the landing platform was damaged.

The mine is one of the most modern in this section and is electrically operated.

Sheriff Allison announced he would question officials of the United Mine Workers of America in connection with the blast and said he held them partially responsible. He said investigations showed that to have planted the dynamite two or three men would have been necessary.

A note written in a foreign language was found near the tipple. This is being translated.

Officials believe it may offer some clew.

SALE OF THE POLI CHAIN OF THEATRES IS ANNOUNCED

Purchased by a Boston Syndicate—$30,000,000 is Mentioned as the Sum Involved—Chain of Theatres Includes Houses in Norwich, Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford, Waterbury and Meriden, Conn., and Worcester and Springfield, Mass., Besides Property in Jersey City

BOSTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—Sale of the Poli chain of theaters of New England by S. Z. Poli to a Boston syndicate headed by Max Shoolman and Aaron L. Strauss was announced today by Mr. Poli and the purchasers. The chain includes theaters in Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford, Waterbury, Meriden and Norwich, Conn., and Worcester and Springfield, Mass. Property in Jersey City, N. J., also is involved.

It is expected, the announcement said, that the transfer will be made about January 1, next, when the conditions of the contract are completed.

To those in close touch with the Poli interests, it was particularly noticeable that the properties mentioned in the formal announcement, which neither Mr. Poli nor anybody in his organization would amplify, did not include his theaters in Washington, D. C., and Scranton, and Wilkesbarre, Pa., nor his hotel holdings in Springfield and Worcester, Mass.

Who, besides themselves, Shoolman and Strauss are representing in the deal, could not be learned. Both were at one time connected with the former Olympia Theaters, Inc., and Shoolman was originator the new Metropolitan theater in Boston.

It was said tonight by one of Mr. Poli's managers that the new owners propose to continue with the project for the building of a new theater in Springfield, with a seating capacity of 4,000, for which Mr. Poli had already procured a site and which he had intended as a memorial to his late son, who had been trained to follow the father in the theater business.

Quite aside from the large financial aspect of the sale, it is of interest locally because of the romantic rise of the almost penniless young Italian immigrant to a position as one of the outstanding individuals in the theatrical field.

When Poli came to this country his sole visible asset was his ability at modelling wax figures. His first figures were sold for exhibition in New York. Later he purchased the exhibition of his own works—his first venture as a showman. He is first remembered here for his museum of wax figures.

In 1888 he attempted his first venture into the theatrical field, purchasing a theater in Toronto with a seating capacity of 500. The seating capacity of the houses of the circuit just prior to the sale was about 50,000. Poli is said to have owned a majority interest in the circuit.

According to his friends, Mr. Poli is still in good health and strength and fully capable of carrying on his former duties, but he wanted a relief from the exactions of the business.

SALE CONFIRMED BY S. Z. POLI LAST NIGHT

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 18—(AP)—The sale of the Poli chain of theaters in New England and New Jersey was confirmed to the Associated Press tonight by S. Z. Poli, who declined, however, to amplify in any way the statement given out today in Boston by his attorneys.

No information could be obtained from Mr. Poli as to the amount of cash or other considerations involved in the deal.

For some time rumors have been extant regarding such a sale, and several times of late sale of the chain to interests represented by Mr. Shoolman has been reported, only to be denied by the Poli interests here. In connection with these reports the sum of $30,000,000 has been mentioned.

Mr. Poli and others associated with him were in Boston yesterday, at which time arrangements were made for the sale, but public announcement was withheld until today.

SHOT WINDSOR MAN WHO REFUSED HIM CARFARE

HARTFORD, Oct. 18—(AP)—A squad of state policemen tonight were searching the towns in northern Connecticut for Harold Hayes, 35, who this afternoon shot and seriously wounded Charles Fernett, 20, a laborer on the tobacco plantation of Frank S. Clark of Windsor.

Fernett told the police that he was lying in bed at the plantation boarding house shortly after 1 o'clock when Hayes walked in and asked him for carfare to Hartford. Fernett replied that he did not have it and Hayes pulled out a 32 calibre revolver and fired at Fernett. The bullet entered his head behind the left ear and flattened against the skull.

Fernett picked up a poker and started after Hayes, who, still carrying the gun, escaped. Fernett collapsed and was brought to Hartford hospital. It was said tonight that his condition is good.

Hayes has worked on tobacco plantations in Windsor and vicinity for several summers past, and came to the Clark plantation last night looking for work. He spent the night with Fernett, whom he had known in other years and with whom he had worked before. His home is understood to be in South Boston, Mass.

It was believed that Hayes was heading for Hartford and police here were on the alert.

TO CONTEST WILL DISPOSING OF $20,000 TO CARE OF PETS

BATH, N. Y., Oct. 18—(AP)—Seven venerable cats must defend their heritage here in what promises to be one of the strangest will contests in history. The tabbies, heirs to a $20,000 fortune which they can't possibly dispose of, must enter suit with relatives of Mrs. Lewis Presho, of Lindley, whose will is being contested.

Mrs Presho willed that her property be used to care for her pets. In 1911, when the will was drawn these pets numbered a horse, a dog, and several cats. Of this family all save the cats have died.

In addition to a valuable dwelling in which the cats live, the property in dispute includes a store and thousands of dollars in banks. According to the will this property is to be held in trust and devoted to the care of the pets, the trust not to be terminated until the last of the cats has died. After that time the residue of the estate is to go to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with headquarters at Boston, Mass.

The trial begins this week.

TROPICAL DISTURBANCE TO SOUTHEAST OF CUBA

GLOATED OVER MURDER OF GENERAL SIMON PETLURA

PARIS, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Facing the red and black robed judges and lawyers in the dim court of assizes, Samuel Schwartzbar, blonde Russian watchmaker, today exultingly told his story of how he determinedly tracked down General Simon Petlura and cold-bloodedly slew him to avenge the deaths of thousands of Jews slain in Pogroms he believed were instigated by his victim.

Shocked by the story the 31-year-old watchmaker told with gleaming eyes and hysterical grimaces, the 400 spectators crowded in the court room gasped with surprise. White-robed Jews from central and eastern Europe sat beside flappers with bobbed hair and exchanged shocked glances with Slavic featured Ukrainians as Schwartzbard told his story of relentless pursuit and death before the muzzle of his revolver.

Outside reinforcements of gendarmes patrolled the corridors to prevent disorders. Inside the gleam of candelabra struggled with the gloom of a murky Paris day, and a hush fell upon the courtroom as Schwartzbard began his story of the assassination. He told of how he had followed General Petlura, pistol in his pocket, waiting for the moment when he might kill the man he considered the persecutor of his race.

SENATOR NYE WOULD FORCE LOWDEN TO SHOW HIS COLORS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Frank O. Lowden must show his colors in the republican presidential race before the newly organized group of western republican senators passes on his candidacy; it was asserted tonight by Senator Nye, of North Dakota, one of its members. In a speech before the Washington chamber of commerce.

Although leaving the door open for acceptance of Lowden as the candidate of the westerners, Senator Nye reiterated that he favored Senator Norris of Nebraska, the tentative choice of the insurgent organization for the republican nomination.

Senator Nye expressed regret that the movement of Senator Norris or Senator Borah had been construed as in opposition to Lowden or as an attempt to embarrass his candidacy which, he said, already has shown strength. But he declared that the interests of the west and of agriculture involve "more than the mere enactment into law of the McNary-Haugen farm bill," which has been favored by Mr. Lowden.

MARINES ARE IN BATTLE WITH NICARAGUAN BANDITS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 17—(AP)—American marines and Nicaraguan constabulary, in search of the missing marine corps aviators, Second Lieutenant E. A. Thomas and Sergeant Frank E. Dowdell, in battle with bandit contingents, have killed or wounded sixty-seven of the marauders.

Four members of the constabulary were killed, but there were no casualties among the marines.

MAINE DEFEATS MOVEMENT FOR THE REPEAL OF THE DIRECT PRIMARY LAW

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 18—(AP)—Decisive defeat of the movement to repeal the direct primary law in Maine was indicated at 9 o'clock tonight when returns from today's special election were available from more than half the election precincts in the state, including Portland and several other large cities.

At that time the supporters of the direct primary law, which has been in force in Maine for 15 years, had outvoted their opponents more than two to one.

Returns from 584 out of the 633 election precincts in the state showed a more than 2 to 1 sentiment in favor of retaining the direct primary law. These precincts gave:

Of the 519 cities and towns in the state, 460 were represented in the returns.

The direct primary law was adopted by the voters of Maine in September, 1911, the vote at that time being 65,810 for and 21,774 against. Minor interest was shown in the campaign for repeal of the measure, and today's vote was very light throughout the state.

The cities, which had been regarded as the strongholds of repeal, failed to show the expected strength, and the rural districts for the most part voted overwhelmingly against the referendum.

The fight to retain the primary was headed by Governor Ralph O. Brewster while the leader of the opposing forces was former Governor William T. Cobb of Rockland.

Mrs. John Tourjee Monday morning was hanging clothes on the line in the back yard, looked down on the ground and saw a coin, the color of the dirt. Taking it into the house she got a piece of sandpaper so the date could be read. After working for ten minutes she discovered that it was an American 2-cent coin, the date 1864 making it 63 years old. There are not many 2-cent pieces no win the United States and it is quite a find. An old sea captain, Olsen Jackson used to live there and had a garden and probably lost the coin, an old resident of the village claimed at the fish market at Riverside today.

Harry Robertson spent a day in Deep River recently.

Boat Louise, Capt. Orlando Clark and Mate Gordon, went to Essex on Sunday to tow back the Spray as the engine broke down. A telephone message came to Noank for a tow. With the wind blowing and the waves breaking high over the boat, the Louise came up the harbor Monday afternoon and tied up at Rogers' dock where the Spray will be hauled out on the ways to have the engine repaired by Noank's expert on engines, Earl Foster.

At the Haley farm Monday afternoon Frank Schoolmaker was driving his cows in from the field to milk, when a cow started to run away from the barn. He got a rope and swung it high over his head and in a pretty throw lassoed the cow on the run and soon brought her to a stop, then putting the cow in the barn in her proper place. Mr. Schoolmaker when a young fellow lived out west and worked on a ranch and became a cowboy and was one of the best on the place. So a rope comes in handy to him once in a while.

D. Martin and S. Bryer from Fulton market, New York spent a few days in the village around the fishing docks, watching the boats bringing in the fish. They were surprised to see all the barrels of fish in one day shipped out of the fishing village to New York, around 100 barrels. Martin and Bryer made a speech to the fishermen, stating that in all the fishing towns they have visited the last ten years Noank has them all beat for catching fish. Fulton market dealers are all interested in the fishing men and hope the industry will keep up.

BALTIC

A few of the young boys were surprised Monday afternoon, to have the cop and an inspector of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. Co., looking for them. The boys had been having a good time on Depot hill and took down a fence which belongs to the railroad company. All had to part with a nice three dollars, which some of them get for spending money. The others not receiving such, gave their relatives a chance to square for them.

Mrs. Schleigh, who is employed at the Baltic mills, was taken ill, while at work. Permission was granted her during her absence to go home. On her way she collapsed Mr. Adams and DeGray, who were in the neighborhood, with the mill truck, hurried and took her home. A doctor was summoned, but up to noon Mrs. Schleigh had not regained consciousness.

Question: Why should my cod-liver oil be emulsified?

Answer: Because I can absorb it more readily, like the emulsified fat in milk. What's more, it tastes pleasant when I take it in the form of

SCOTT'S EMULSION

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Boalmann's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that cautious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort.

That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Belching will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Boalmann's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine, in the yellow package, at any good drug store. Price $1.

DOG WARDEN DOES AWAY WITH 18 STRAY CANINES

DANIELSON, Oct. 18—Probably it will surprise the average resident of Killingly to learn that within the past three weeks from 15 to 18 dogs, roaming about without apparent ownership—no collars or no tags—have been passed on to the happy hunting ground through the efforts of Dog Warden Charles E. Ayer of Dayville. Sad as was the necessity in some cases, for really good dogs, deserving a better fate, have fallen victim to the processes of the law.

Being a good dog and roaming about Killingly without collar or tag, is going to get a dog nothing at all in the immediate future. A representative of the department of the commissioner of domestic animals happens to be checking up this town, as is done at least once a year. Excuses to the court do no good at all. A way out—while there is yet time—is to step down to the office of the town clerk—and have unregistered dogs made legitimate in the eyes of the law. Eventually it gets one nothing to try to duck out on a dog tax. So say officials who having a look at Killingly as to its dog registrations and as to how they are running about, unless with collars and tags.

TWO SAILORS ARE ARRESTED AS DESERTERS

DANIELSON, Oct. 18—Louis Boramarte and Howard Birch, members of Uncle Sam's navy, were given a free ride from this little town to the submarine base at New London today by State Officer Irving Nelson, incidentally as deserters from the service.

The sailor boys have been out on a party since August 10, when they deserted from the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., while both were under charges, in the naval service, it may be mentioned. Since then they have enjoyed a vacation working in sawmills operating in Scotland and Canterbury and other peaceful sections of Windham county, and have been driving a car—when they had a chance from their vacation duties—that was registered in New Hampshire, but run hereabouts with Connecticut markers. The boys talked plenty in their endeavor to establish an alibi, part of which involved the assertion that neither one ever belonged to the navy and that a rowboat would be an utterly strange contrivance to them. All of which did not get them much of anything.

It so happened that when Chief John McFarland walked into the police station here this morning and looked the pair over he immediately recognized Birch as a farm hand who was employed on a place in Brooklyn a few years ago. He didn't tell Birch anything about that, but it all went into the inventory that the sailor boys will have to straighten out with the naval authorities who will, in due time, have something to say to them.

ESCAPED INSANE MAN LOOKS FOR GLASS POLE

DANIELSON, Oct. 18—Abdul Hamid has gone back to an asylum in Rhode Island from which he escaped on October 7. The sultan was over in Pomfret seeking diligently for a glass telephone pole, which has been the object of search by more than one person supposed to be more or less normal mentally, but not so good at times, since prohibition came to bless the world. Of course, Abdul did not find the pole, but the hunt for it will continue. And Abdul, as he may be called for the time being, does not appear to be a probably permanent victim of bad liquor. He is of the unfortunately insane.

His name, as officials here have it, is John Trelfon. Where he spent the ten days from the time he escaped from the Rhode Island institution until he appeared in Pomfret is not known, and probably does not matter. Pomfret became interested in him when he appeared there with a lady's black velvet cape swung over his shoulders and appearing much like a figure out of some highly imaginative musical comedy cast. Some people fled in fright from him, while others gave him a laugh—and called up the state police barracks in Danielson to take him away, which state officers did.

The Sultan, as it pleases some here to call him, told the officers who took him in that he had been presented with the velvet cape, that classified him with Don Juan, after he had wandered about in woodland and swamp and utterly ruined his street clothes.

John Thelfon, erstwhile Sultan, is back at Howard's. The hunt for the glass telephone pole over in Pomfret will continue, notwithstanding. There are a great many people who believe there is such a thing over there, or will tell you they do just to give you a good time. In any event, it all goes to make an interesting fall season.

KILLINGLY PEOPLE FEAR VISIT FROM ESCAPED CONVICT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 18—Here's a thriller for those who need one periodically. Frank Weedon, dread one-eyed murderer who hed this section—or parts of it—in an uproar of excitement two or three years ago, when he was reported to have escaped from a penal institution in Rhode Island where he was serving a life sentence for the murder of a little girl, and was reported to be hiding in that section of Killingly north of the Chase reservoir, is at liberty again.

Will he head for Killingly? That was a question that had nervous people looking to their windows and doors as sun set tonight, and numbers of men pledging themselves that it would not be well with Weedon should he venture about their homes.

Weedon, a strange and fearsome character in the criminal history of Rhode Island, has escaped from prison a number of times since he was first incarcerated for a particularly brutal murder of a little girl. At times after his crafty escapes he has been at large for months.

The last time, as one recalls, that he got out, he was reported as being in hiding in this town near the Chase reservoir, but eventually he was captured in New York state. However, when the news comes that Weedon is out again, many Killingly people, especially those in isolated parts of the town, do not rest peacefully. It so happens that state officers at the Danielson barracks were under orders tonight to be on the lookout for Weedon. He may be hereabouts, or elsewhere, but this community will rest better when it hears he is locked again, if he ever is, but as he always has been.

Representatives of the state fish and game commission continue their fish-trapping activities in the Chase reservoir and the Hygeia reservoir of the Crystal Water company, and both bodies of water continue to yield fish. Today little could be done by the workers on account of the high wind that was leaking things about and making it practically useless to continue operations. Many hundreds of fish have been taken out of the two bodies of water mentioned during the last two weeks. How long the operations will continue remained uncertain today, but it was said that as long as reasonably mild weather continues and the traps continue to invite fish within themselves the trapping will be kept up.

Now Halloween favors have made their appearance in the stores, and one hears of little parties being arranged for that night.

Employes of the town are engaged in clearing drains that carry off surface water from various streets of the town.

Road repairs in Killingly cost $20,084.37 last year, figures in the recently issued town report show, this involving the care of nearly 150 miles of highway, for this town has many roads requiring constant care.

Chauncey Genung, a deputy of the commissioner of domestic animals department, was here from Hartford and in adjoining towns on business today.

A line to carry power, a 11,000 volt line is under construction by the Eastern Connecticut Power company from a point near French's crossing in the town of Plainfield to Moosup, where service for power is to be supplied to manufacturing concerns.

Daniel Meehan of Dayville, injured in an automobile accident in Woodstock last Saturday, was reported today as making favorable recovery from his injuries

To many a happy little incident of the fall season in Danielson is that a number of pretty gray squirrels have elected to spend their time around the Public library and in trees in streets in that section of the community.

Killingly grange will have representation at the special meeting of Quinebaug Pomona grange with Little River grange of Hampton on the evening of October 29.

Assin Deputy Game Warden Gurdon E. Withey has scored as a fox hunter, bringing in his second red reynard of the season, the best record to date in this territory.

Construction of the new Blumenthal building, probably with four stores on the street level, at the corner of Main and Academy streets, will be undertaken in the spring.

PUTNAM

MISS WELLS TAKES UP HER DUTIES AS DISTRICT NURSE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 18—The service of the Red Cross district nurse in Putnam has proved to be invaluable, especially in the care of babies and their mothers. She is on call for maternity and bedside nursing, and prospective mothers are given care and advice both before and after the birth of the baby. The service of the Red Cross nurse is furnished at a nominal charge of seventy-five cents. Maternity nursing is $1.00 with twenty-five cents more for the baby. Hourly nursing at a stated hour is $1.25 and fifty cents is charged for each half hour after the first hour. On account of the many demands upon the nurse not over two consecutive hours can be given any one patient. Care at confinement, including prenatal visits, is $5.00.

Although the above is the fixed scale of charges, where the patient cannot afford to pay the state prices less amounts are acceptable, except in hourly service. Only emergency cases are taken care of on Sunday. On each Friday of the month the nurse is in attendance at the well baby conference held under the supervision of the state department of health at the high school.

Miss Esther Wells of Hartford is now established as the Red Cross district nurse as successor to Mrs. Harry Torrey, resigned. The Red Cross rooms are in the Bradley building, Front street, and her office hours are from 8 to 9 in the morning and 1 to 2 in the afternoon. In addition to the public health nursing, Miss Wells does nursing for two of the insurance agencies and these companies help to bear the expense with the local Red Cross chapter.

A recent fire drill given by the pupils of the Putnam high school. The building was emptied in thirty-two seconds, the best time that has yet been made. The drill was witnessed by Fire Chief Thurston and Captain of Police Jarvis. After the drill the pupils marched to the auditorium of the school and listened to an interesting address made by Mr. Thurston about the causes and consequences of our fires today.

The Pomfret Golf club has issued an invitation to the amateur members of all golf clubs in Windham county and all residents of the county to take part in its annual handicap competition for the challenge cup to be held on the links at Pomfret on Saturday, October 22, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. The winner to be the player who returns the lowest net score for eighteen holes. All cards to be completed the same day. It is asked that all desiring to compete send their names and club handicap to the secretary.

The Glenwood Damper Can't Warp—Can't Stick

Notice how the damper is built out to allow for expansion and keep the edges always flat and tight.

The back of the oven is just as thoroughly heated as the top, bottom and sides

Glenwood ovens have straight sides and square corners

A Glenwood oven gives you more room to bake in . . .

THE sides of a Glenwood oven are made straight up and down, from top to bottom, so that the interior is all clear cooking space. In other ranges, oftentimes, the firebox projects out into the oven, with the result that you lose a good three inches at the top that you need for large utensils.

Notice the generous width and height of the oven in this famous Model "C" Glenwood. It will hold the biggest Sunday roast or Thanksgiving turkey without crowding. Remember, too, that Glenwood ovens are so arranged that they are thoroughly heated on all five sides (instead of four). The back of the oven is just as thoroughly heated as the top, bottom and sides.

We have all styles of Glenwoods to show you, in all sizes, both in the standard black finish and in beautiful gray porcelain enamel.

Compare it with $1200 to $1400 cars

THERE are a hundred points of merit in which Chandler's new Special Six Sedan equals, or excels, other cars $200 to $400 higher!

It's an arrestingly beautiful car—styled as if the nation's best artists and sculptors designed it.

It's a thoroughly modern car—with a chassis that lubricates itself from end to end the moment you press a plunger—with an oil-filter, air-cleaner, 4-wheel brakes, self-adjusting noiseless spring shackles—so forth and so forth!

And with its famous high-compression Pikes Peak motor, it certainly has the power—loads and loads of power. It's off like a shot as you step on the gas—and it glides right up the tallest hills as if it could easily climb to the moon!

ROAD SIGNS

Full appreciation must be given to the efforts which are being put forth for the guidance of highway users. Some of the signs which have been or are being erected may seem needless to those who are acquainted with every inch of the road, but such is not the case with those who are utter strangers. To them the signs are of real value, and the number of strangers using all the highways increases each year.

Every driver has reason to be grateful for the information which is contained on the signboards which tell of a hill, a curve, a winding road, a bridge or other condition of the highway which may well be disclosed in advance in the interest of safety. But he will also applaud such assistance as is being given by the highway commission of Indiana in not only marking the limits of villages, towns and cities, but of putting on such markers the names of those communities.

There hasn't been a motor party which hasn't inquired the name of each small community as it has been reached. Someone has strained their eyes to locate the postoffice, railroad station or some business sign that would indicate the name of the locality and invariably they have gotten little satisfaction. The marking of the villages and larger communities is in keeping with a practice that is followed in Canada where the name is placed upon uprights which also set forth the speed limit that is permitted.

It is information of a practical nature which does not depend upon the public spirit of some civic organization in erecting "welcome" and "goodbye" signs and when all the localities of a state are marked those who ride will be well informed while they pass.

It is to be hoped that the time will come, as the result of the good effects of such signs, when there will be signboards placed at all intersections whether it is a main or a country road. Within the past few years there has been an increased tendency to set forth such information, but there's plenty of opportunity for much more of it. Let every road as well as every street be marked.

STEALING FROM LIBRARIES

Nothing is much more contemptible than the defacing or stealing of library property. It is an experience which almost all institutions of that character experience at some time or other for there are those who do not hesitate to cut out such parts of books or magazines as they desire or even pocket such volumes as they think they ought to have without purchase.

There can be little or no sympathy for those who are caught in such practice. Some of the larger libraries have found it necessary to establish a system of policing in order to put a check upon the losses. There are ways employed which discourage those who would cut out pictures with the idea of selling them but it doesn't interfere with those who set out to make a collection for their own benefit. They may find that library marks are a bit embarrassing in case they loan or display such books to others, and they promptly experience difficulties when they try to dispose of them, but so long as they keep them under cover they are not likely to be detected unless suspicion is turned in their direction.

There's a selfishness about such acts that deserves every possible discouragement. The idea that what is provided for the benefit of the entire community should be appropriated for personal use alone is bad and the person who harbors it soon becomes a great nuisance and a source of endless trouble and expense to libraries. Such persons not only encroach upon the rights of others but they are the cause of increased restrictions and additional outlays, all of which detract from the advantages which it is desired to extend to the general public.

FLOOD CONTROL

Just what the recommendations are going to be in regard to the harnessing of the Mississippi river will be disclosed before long. In only a few weeks congress will be in session and the solving of that problem will be one of its important jobs. When the reports are made public there will be an opportunity for passing judgment thereon, but until such a time and probably after there will be a disposition to shout Amen! to the statement made by Secretary Davis of the war department when he says that the Mississippi river must be kept out of politics and within its banks.

The measures that are taken to prevent a repetition of the flood disaster will call for large expenditures, and it will of necessity take much time to carry out all the details, but there is no reason why a half dozen other projects should be tacked onto the river project just because it is a big problem and there is a common feeling that it must be taken care of. There is no question but what the flood relief measure will go through after the proper amount of study, but there is no reason why it should be loaded down with other expensive propositions which might and probably would have difficulty in standing by themselves.

That is what the secretary of war has in mind when he demands that the river plan be kept out of politics. Let there be a concentration of the best efforts to afford the relief which is recognized as necessary and which is of the utmost importance to those areas which have felt the effects of the flood and have no desire to do so again.

It is conceivable that there will be more than one plan proposed. The merits of any worthy proposition is deserving of due consideration, but the secretary of war bears down on the importance of promptly frowning upon those who would bring forth a lot of entangling alliances, a series of riders, whereby support would be given to the Mississippi valley relief provided approval was insured for various other projects of questionable character. By all means keep the Mississippi by itself and handle it as a separate matter.

ENFORCING DOPE LAW

Not only are difficulties encountered in the enforcement of the prohibition law, but the authorities who are charged with the responsibility of upholding the provisions of the narcotic law likewise have their troubles. This is well disclosed by the seizure this week of six trunks brought into this country, each containing opium to a total estimated value of $900,000.

Smuggling is a profitable proposition whether it concerns narcotics, rum or immigrants provided it is successful. There is a demand for the habit forming drugs which interests those who are ready to risk arrest and heavy sentence. They are not only willing to defy the law but they are ready to contribute to the further demoralization of humanity for the dollars with which they hope to line their pockets. There is no concern for the addicts or the individuals who know nothing of the unshakable grip which dope fastens upon its victims. The smugglers and the peddlers are ready to do their part in enslaving the weak just as long as the shekels are rolling their way.

It is thus a constant fight which must be waged by the narcotic agents in their endeavors to intercept the smugglers and block the distribution of the drug. All sorts of schemes are resorted to. Careful study is given to the ways in which the vigilance of the authorities may be eluded. In this latest instance is appears that the cleverness of the smuggling plot lay in its boldness. The dope in trunks went through customs and was not discovered until a tip was given. Then there was a scurrying and by good fortune six have been located, with one missing.

This represents good work on the part of the narcotic squad, but it is unfortunate that in the seizure of the trunks it was not also possible to get hold of those who were connected with the huge smuggling scheme. The capture of the goods will not have the same effect upon those involved that arrest, conviction and a good stiff sentence would have for any and all concerned in the plan to peddle dope illegally throughout the country.

A BAD PRACTICE

It is quite in keeping with what might be expected when Principal Moton of the Tuskegee institute calls attention to the fact that where it was first claimed that two Negroes were responsible for two recent sensational murder cases subsequent disclosures proved no Negro had anything to do with them.

This indicates the sentiment that too often prevails in some states. There are crimes enough where Negroes are responsible, and there is no reason for claiming that they should not be properly dealt with when they are guilty, but the practice of stringing up a colored man on general principles, whether he is guilty or not has no justification.

General Moton points to a condition which is too prevalent when he writes "It is a common occurrence that when a crime is committed in a community where there is a considerable number of Negroes, the first utterance on the part of the excited citizens is, 'Get the Negro.' And as the result the real criminals have sometimes gained sufficient time to cover up their tracks while the officers of the law and the infuriated citizens are the all too willing victims of this time worn ruse. And this applies, as evidence shows, to Michigan as well as Georgia, to the north as well as the south."

There are those among the blacks as well as those among the whites who are a detriment to their race. Their acts have helped to throw suspicion toward them when trouble develops, but that doesn't justify a general practice of attributing everything in the way of crime to the Negro. Principal Moton makes the most of his opportunity to accentuate that point. It is a bad practice to figure that any crime must have been committed by a black man, or that a man is guilty because he is black.

DYERS LANE

Dyers Lane was at the end of the pavement. And Zeb Terry ran Old Glory, the weather-handled car, down Dyers Lane. Long before gold braid, epaulets and tips enhanced the dignity of public service, Zeb had his own idea about it. The young bucks whom he broke in on the creaking architecture of Old Glory sneered and called it blah and bologna.

But there was Zeb, working for a promotion for 20 years on the strength of it, spoiling Dyers Lane, waiting every morning for Mr. Janis to run back for his lunch can, shooing Mrs Martin's prize leghorns off the track, riding the six Smith kids to school and when they handed up their hot pennies, saying, "Keep them, young ones. They do say there's some fine milk over to Farmer Wilkins dairy today that could be bought for them pennies."

"Besides," he argued with his conscience, later, "what the company doesn't feel will never give 'em any pains. Seein' as I've jest about raised them kids, rescuing them a dozen times a summer from the creek, stopping between runs to give 'em their bottles, tying up sprained fingers for 'em, taking the baby riding so's she'd be asleep when poor Miss Smith got home from washing—guess that gives me a certain right. Anyway, the company's always preaching about kindness being a step toward promotion."

"Oh-h, Zeb. Hey, there, Zeb," Mrs. Wilkins yelled across the meadow; "say, Zeb, will ya jest drap this basket o' doughnuts over to the church for the Ladies' Aid supper tonight? And tell Jenny Martin I'll be right over soon's I change my apron. And if you're any hand at doughnuts, why help yourself, Zeb."

"Thanks, Mis' Wilkins. I'm always right handy at fresh doughnuts."

The errand was done. An hour of idleness watching the weeds and witches' grass brush against the car windows, urging Old Glory up the hill whiffing at the breeze from off the Wilkins meadow where the violets and bluebells sang their own spring song. Up past the creek where the trolley always got tangled up in the knotty branches of the red oak; close to the woods where the truck sagged ditchward and Zeb stopped each trip to lumber down and test the security of the log prop.

Farther on to the seedy Smith domain. Mrs. Smith always brushing the hair from her eyes and wonder where the baby was. "Wal, now, Mis' Smith, you jest set down and rest easy," Zeb would comfort her awkwardly. "I'll smarten up Old Glory a bit and we'll have him back in your lap faster'n a jiffy."

Old Glory was resentful to "smartnin' up" and it often took considerably longer than a jiffy to stop her every few steps and examine each coppice and cranny for the Smith fledgling, who true to ancestry, was often found chasing squirrels in the woods. But that was Zeb Terry's idea of public service; besides there was his promotion.

It came and landed him proudly in a swanky new apartment section of the city, with a handsome two-car train that had automatic doors, trained trolleys, and select passengers. Ah, the select passengers!

"They look like they was raised in an icebox," Zeb mumbled disparagingly to himself after the hundredth vain effort to pass the time o' day. "On and off like the blocks of ice that float down the creek in spring." The fine apartment buildings—no green, just pavement!

At the end of the week Zeb was creeping sheepishly to the manager.

"Say, Mister Ward, I asked for a promotion, but ef I was you I'd jest kinda cross that outa yore books forever. Gosh I hope that young buck you had on Old Glory all this week hasn't gone and smashed her pore ribs. An' ef that Smith baby got lost more'n ten times while I was away, I'll never forgive my sassy old hide."

"Sometimes," said the motorman of Dyers Lane, leaning over the control box, a practiced eye sweeping the stretches of the creek for Smith progeny, "sometimes ole sawbucks like me don't know what they wants 'til they almost loses it."—Chicago News.

YOUR HEALTH

WHAT CAUSES APPENDICITIS?
By Franklin Martin, M. D. Chicago, Ill. President Gorgas Memorial

Next to the removal of teeth and tonsils, the removal of the appendix is the commonest surgical operation performed today. It is the most frequently performed emergency operation. What causes such a wide-spread and dangerous disease? Dr. Frank K. Boland of Atlanta, Ga., has answered that question most interestingly as follows:

"The experience of Robert McCarrison, an English surgeon, seems to suggest one answer," he says. "Recently he practiced for nine years among the natives of northern India, and although he performed 3,500 surgical operations during that time, he did not see a single case of appendicitis. Not only that, he did not see a case of gallstones, or ulcer of the stomach. In fact, indigestion of all kinds was unknown.

"When he searched for a reason for this remarkable state of affairs, he discovered that these people ate foods as near to nature as possible; that is, they subsisted on milk, eggs, grains, fruits, and leafy vegetables. They ate no meat and the amount of sugar consumed in a year in a town of 30,000 inhabitants was less than that used in a large New York hotel in one day!

"We do not have to leave our own country to find examples similar to this. One hundred and fifty years ago there was practically no appendicitis in the United States. If there had been any considerable number of cases, such keen medical observers as Benjamin Rush and Ephraim McDowell would have found it out and left some record in their writings, which they did not. The natural inference may be drawn, therefore, that the diet of our forefathers of those days must have resembled somewhat the diet of the people of India, except that our forefathers did eat meat.

"Another illustration supporting the idea that over-preparation of food may have something to do with causing appendicitis is found in the report from a large city hospital in the southern part of the United States where it is shown that appendicitis is four times more common among white patients than negro patients. While negro cooks are noted for their preparation of luscious rich dishes for the white folks, when it comes their time to eat they sit down to cornbread and turnip greens.

"During the latter part of the 19th century, when appendicitis first became so fashionable (Dr. Fitz of Boston said it was 1886), the super-preparation of articles of diet became prevalent. Now our foods are often so over-seasoned and over-prepared that our great-grandmothers would not recognize them as something to eat. If there is any way we can return to some of the natural foods of our ancestors, surgeons will not have appendicitis operations."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Who Knows?

Mr. Editor: Thinking someone may know I would like to ask these questions through The Bulletin:

Were the Franklin stoves and the iron fireplaces used in Connecticut made in Connecticut?

(I remember seeing wrought iron fireplaces—mantel shelf, and wings, all of a piece, in one or two farm houses in or near Scotland, Conn. There used to be an iron fireplace in the old Windham inn—it may be there now).

Was there an iron foundry in Scotland or Hanover?

Who founded the iron foundry in Yantic?

What part, if any, did Benjamin Franklin have in the development of this work? (Franklin visited in Scotland, I know.)

How did Franklin come to be in touch with Scotland?

Was Franklin street named offhand? or was there a personal connection?

How about the town of Franklin?

COLLANDER.

Norwich, Oct. 18, 1927.

Who Was to Blame?

Mr. Editor: On the 20th of May I was driving on a certain street. I dodged a certain car to avoid an accident. My license was taken away for driving under the influence of liquor, but the party I was dodging can drive and I have to go a year without driving.

Who was to blame, I or the other party?

LEROY N. DARROW.

Stories That Recall Others

Sounded Like Bunk

Lucy and Lois, girls living in the same neighborhood were making one of their customary visits to an adopted aunt on another street. Lucy wanted Lois to bring her something so she said to her, "Lois, get me that bag!" Lois rebelled.

Aunt Elizabeth overheard the affair and she thought it a good time to put in a good word so she said, "Don't you think it would have been nicer if you had said, 'Lois, won't you please get me that bag?' and then Lois would have said, 'Why, yes, Lucy, I'd be pleased to get the bag for you,' and then Lucy would have replied, 'Thank you so much for getting the bag, Lois.'"

Both of the girls listened attentively to the dissertation and then Lucy piped up, "Oh, that sounds like bunk to me."

"Come Out of the Kitchen."

One evening, after dinner, the family was reading when Junior, age five, said: "Daddy, will you go in the kitchen with me to get a drink? I'm afraid."

"You don't need to be afraid," replied the father. "You can take your dog, Pat, with you."

Junior seemed to approve the idea and started to arouse the dog, sleeping near by. The dog growled some at being disturbed

RURAL LIFE IN SIAM TREATED ON SCREEN

BERLIN, Oct. (AP)—Prince Rangsit of Siam, a brother of the reigning king, has produced a film here which has the merit of dealing with an entirely novel subject:—rural life in Siam.

The prince has studied in Heidelberg and is married to a German woman. He conceived the idea to show the western world how the eastern world really lives. Avoiding hackneyed scenes and pictures of palaces and temples, he has chosen as the central figure of his story Kru, a Lao peasant. Kru's hard struggle for life in the jungle, with wife and children constantly menaced by wild elephants, tigers and snakes, is faithfully portrayed. The film is shown under the name of Chang.

"Kru is the typical Siamese tiller of the soil, and he stands as the symbol of Siam," the prince says.

GIRLS OF SCHOOL AGE KEEP IN GOOD HEALTH

LOUISE LOUTHAN
ROUTE 2, CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS

From the days of the polonaise to the days of the radio, mothers have given this dependable medicine to their daughters. School girls are often careless. They get wet feet. They overstudy or they tire themselves with too many dances and parties. They get run down.

Many an active girl of today, like the demure maiden of the 1870's, has found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is helping her to find better health and energy.

"I gave my fifteen-year-old girl Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it did her a wonderful lot of good. She had been out of school for four months. I read the advertisements of the Vegetable Compound, and since she has taken it she has improved and has gone back to school again. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be."—Mrs. Alice Louthan, Route 2, Charleston, Illinois.

"My daughter was out of school two terms. I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all my life and finally decided that she should try it. Three bottles helped her in various ways for the next couple of years."—Mrs. W. E. Gillette, 986 E. 52nd Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

"I have always been sickly, and until I was fourteen my father was very strict about my perfect attendance at grammar school. I have gone to school through hard storms and often taken cold. When I was fourteen I took to my bed and did not get up for eighteen months. Everyone thought I could not live. Just four months ago I began taking your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I could notice a great change almost at once. Now I feel like a new person. I wish all girls would try Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful medicine."—Mrs. C. M. Smith, Union Village, Vermont.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia, especially prepared for stomach use.

Peter Tries to Use Mr. Blacksnake

Never let another use you
When the reason they refuse you.
—Mr. Blacksnake.

Peter Rabbit had just watched Mr. Blacksnake change his old suit for a new one. It had been very interesting. From where he sat he could see on one side of the old log the old suit of Mr. Blacksnake. It was complete. There wasn't a hole in it.

"If this were not the time of year it is I know who would like that old suit," said Peter.

"Who?" demanded Mr. Blacksnake.

"Cresty the Flycatcher," replied Peter. "Cresty never thinks that his nest is complete unless it has a piece of snakeskin in it. By the way, Mr. Blacksnake, I never saw you look so handsome."

"Then you haven't used your eyes, Peter Rabbit," replied Mr. Blacksnake. "I always look handsome when I've got a new suit. By the way, what are you doing up here in the Old Pasture?"

"What's the matter with the dear Old Briar-patch?" demanded Mr. Blacksnake, eyeing Peter sharply.

"Nothing. Nothing at all," replied Peter. "I wanted a change, that's all."

"Where is Mrs. Peter?" demanded Mr. Blacksnake.

"Oh" replied Peter, "she decided to stay there in the dear Old Briar-patch a while. By the way, you don't happen to be going down that way, do you?"

"I might," replied Mr. Blacksnake "If I thought I could find some mice down there I certainly would go. I'm hungry. I can't remember when I was ever hungrier. Mrs. Peter doesn't happen to have any newly-born babies down there does she?"

"No," replied Peter indignantly.

"Don't get cross, Peter, don't get cross," said Mr. Blacksnake. "I asked just out of curiosity. I believe I'll run down there on the chance that I may find a nest of mice in there somewhere."

"You may," replied Peter. "I've known of such things. By the way, will you do something for me?"

"If it isn't too much trouble," replied Mr. Blacksnake. "You mustn't ask me to do anything that is much trouble."

"Then you haven't used your eyes, Peter Rabbit," replied Mr. Blacksnake

"Oh, it won't be any trouble at all," replied Peter. "If you happen to go over to the dear Old Briar-patch I'll be obliged to you if you just sort of look around and see if Mrs. Peter seems all right."

"Why don't you go back and find out for yourself?" demanded Mr. Blacksnake eyeing Peter suspiciously.

"Well," replied Peter, "if the truth must be told, Mrs. Peter said that I was never to come back again. So I think perhaps I'd better not go back right away."

"Oh," said Mr. Blacksnake, "so that's the way it is. All right, Peter. I'll look around when I'm down there, but I won't promise that I'll come back to the Old Pasture."

"I think you will," replied Peter, looking very knowingly.

"Why do you think so?" asked Mr. Blacksnake.

"Because it is getting cool and I have an idea you pass the winter up here in the Old Pasture somewhere," replied Peter.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The Marquis of Londonderry, who is mentioned as most likely to succeed Viscount Craigavon as Premier of northern Ireland, has been a leader of the Ulster movement and one of the stanchest supporters of the British Unionist party in its opposition to home rule for Ireland. During the liberal administrations of the period from 1906 to 1915, he sat in the house of commons as conservative member for Maidstone, and during the war he was second in comamnd of the royal horse guards. The marquis, whose full name is Charles Stewart Henry Vane-Tempest-Stewart comes from an Irish family which first became enrolled among the nobility with the creation of Baron Londonderry, in 1789. Viscount Castlereagh, as he then was, succeeded to the title and the large estates of his father upon the latter's death in 1915.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed away the mucous membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better, but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for autointoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

"I SEARCHED a long time for any real relief from my bad auto-intoxication. Strong purgatives just drove the poisons into my perspiration until I felt like avoiding people. I'm all serene now, just through occasional use of—

ACOLYTE VESPER SERVICE WAS IMPRESSIVELY CONDUCTED

The Most Reverend William Henry Francis, D. D., of New York, archbishop and metropolitan of the Old Catholic church in America, attended the annual acolyte vesper service at Christ Episcopal church Tuesday evening. The service had been arranged by St. Vincent's guild of the church, and representatives of not only Episcopal churches in the diocese, but clergy of the Eastern Orthodox churches were present. Solemn even-song was sung by the rector, Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong.

The high altar, beautiful with its massed flowers, and decorated in red in observance of the feast day of St. Luke, evangelist and martyr, was a blaze of lights. Before the service, Stanley Pierce, organist at the church gave an enjoyable musical program.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Louis B. Howell, rector of St. Paul's church of Norwalk, and the offertory solo was sung by Master William Prothero.

The festal procession of the vested clergy and acolytes was most impressive, each guild being headed by its crucifer. Color was added by the copes of the clergy and the beautiful vestments of the Orthodox priests. Archbishop Francis, vested in cope and mitre was preceded by crucifix and candles, and his pastoral staff was borne ahead of him. Two attendants held open the front of his cope. His Eminence is the ranking prelate of the Old Catholic church in America, and under orders from the Archbishop of Utrecht, he is the supreme head of the church in this country. The deacons of honor to the archbishop were Rev. G. C. Bartter of the Philippine Islands and Rev. Leonard Richards of Danielson.

Among the other clergy assisting at the service were Rev. Dorotheos Nemon, rector of the Greek Orthodox church of the Holy Trinity; the Very Rev. Archpriest John Chernavin of Paris, France, representing the Metropolitan Platon, spiritual ruler of the Russian Orthodox church in America; Rev. Octavius Edelow, of St. Peter's church, Springfield, Mass.; Rev. Frederick C. Williams, rector of St. Paul's church, Willimantic; Rev. George Lindsley, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Hartford.

Supper had been served to the visiting clergy and acolytes at the parish dining room early in the evening. The following committees had charge of the affair: Supper committee, Mrs. Frank Robinson, Mrs. John Moody, Mrs. Laura Williams, Mrs. William Clark, Miss Julia Brewer, Mrs. William Hobson; committee on decorations, Miss Mary E. Richards, Miss Louise Robinson; dining room committee, Mrs. C. Montgomery Budlong, Mrs. Lawrence Sylvia, Mrs. Fred Leffingwell, Mrs. Olive Magnuson, Miss Arline Cobleigh, Miss Obelina Lambert, Miss May Vallin, Mrs. Otto Berberick, Miss Gertrude Hathaway, Mrs. Charles Saxman; committee on vestments, Miss Virginia T. Cooley, Miss Elizabeth Robison.

WEDDINGS

Dickerson-Sterling

Last Friday evening at the Elms in Hamburg, the residence of Miss Fanny Griffin Ely, and Miss Elizabeth Chadwick Ely, their niece, Miss Elizabeth Chadwick Sterling, daughter of Gilbert Bill Sterling and the late Mrs. Florence Ely Sterling of Windsor Locks and Hamburg, became the bride of James Benjamin Dickerson, son of James H. Dickerson of Danville, Va. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. Hoag, pastor of the Old Lyme Congregational church, using the single ring service.

The old Ely homestead was lighted by vari-colored candles and an old brass prismed chandelier suspended from the ceiling of the spacious living room added to the charm of the interior. The house decorations were palms, lavender and yellow chrysanthemums and ferns.

To the bridal chorus from Lohengrin played by Miss Ola Rankin, piano, and W. B. Stevens, violin, both of Deep River, the bridal party entered the north parlor and stood before a bank of palms and beneath an arch of ferns and lavender and yellow chrysanthemums—the same one which the bride's parents used at their wedding with like decorations—where the nuptial knot was tied.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white satin bouffant Venetian lace trimmed gown with tulle veil with lace cape caught with lilies of the valley and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Katharine Putnam of Lake Forest, Ill., a classmate of the bride at St. Margaret's school in Waterbury, attended her as maid of honor and wore a gown of lavender taffeta, silver trimmed and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Katharine Wells of Springfield, and East Windsor, and Miss Minnie Mitchell of Waterbury, another classmate and wore bouffant yellow taffeta gowns and carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Howard Abbott of Hartford was the bridegroom's best man and Esmond Ely Sterling, brother of the bride, and James Goodwin of Hartford, were the ushers.

The bride attended St. Margaret's school in Waterbury and the bridegroom is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and University of Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson left for a wedding trip to Maine and Canada, and on their return will be at home after Nov. 15 at Windsor Locks.

The bride's going away frock was of brown satin and velvet hat to match with a brown velour fur trimmed coat.

MAKES CLAIM SHE WAS TRAPPED INTO MARRIAGE, WANTS ANNULMENT

On the claim that Leonard H. Chapman, who lived on Union street, "entrapped and forced" her into a "pretended and compulsory marriage ceremony", when they were married on June 1 last by Justice of the Peace John H. Barnes, Mrs. Jennie Kane Chapman of 2 Elmwood avenue is seeking annulment of the marriage and damages of $5,000. Trial of the suit was begun Tuesday morning in the superior court at New London with Judge Allyn L. Brown presiding and after a day of testimony was continued to next Friday after the short calendar session.

Quite an array of witnesses were in court, many of them employes of the American Thermos Bottle Co., where both plaintiff and defendant were employed. According to the allegations, "on or about May 31, 1927, the defendant, by deception, entrapped and forced the plaintiff into a pretended and compulsory marriage ceremony with him by inducing the plaintiff to take a ride with him in his automobile on the pretense that they would drive a short distance and shortly thereafter return to her home; but instead thereof, he took the plaintiff a long way from her home and from her relatives and against repeated protests of the plaintiff kept her out all night at the home of his relatives and because of said deprivations, hardships loss of sleep and worry, the plaintiff became physically and mentally exhausted and did not appreciate or consent to the marriage ceremony which was performed on the morning of June 1, 1927.

"That said marriage ceremony was made and performed without the plaintiff's real consent and her voluntary will, that her apparent consent then given was only a feigned consent given by the plaintiff from the defendant's power and control and her apparent consent was extorted from her while she was in a state of physical and mental exhaustion caused by the defendant's acts as set forth in the preceeding paragraph."

The complaint also alleges that the plaintiff has "never cohabited with the defendant at any time." A second count alleges that the "defendant falsely and fraudulently represented to the plaintiff that he was a man of 39 years of age and by deceit concealed from the plaintiff, until after the marriage, his real age, which is 46 years, for the purpose of inducing the plaintiff to consent to the said marriage."

Judge Arthur F. Libby with Attorney E. W. Perkins is counsel for Mrs. Chapman and Attorney V. P. A. Quinn for Mr. Chapman.

The first witness to be called to the stand was Mrs. Sarah H. Kane, widow of Sergt. J. H. Kane, of Norwich. She testified that her daughter's age was 27 and that Chapman had not called at the house more than "a dozen times," and that he came to see "the whole family". She said he sent flowers to Jennie on Valentine's day.

It was brought out on cross-examination by Attorney V. P. A. Quinn that Chapman had been rather friendly with the family, that he bought the girl an engagement ring and that the night he was alleged to have kept her out all night he took her to one Nancy Harrison's home, where she spent the night. Mrs. Kane admitted that she had never heard of anything wrong with Chapman's character.

Judge Libby was put on the stand and was questioned by Attorney Perkins about Chapman and Miss Kane coming to his office on the morning of June 1. The witness said that he found them at the office when he returned from the city court session and that they wanted to get married. As he did not have any marriage blanks in the office he sent his stenographer out to get some and while she was waiting he observed the bride-to-be. He testified "she didn't look right to me" and seemed disinterested in the whole proceeding. He finally asked her if she wanted to be married and she said she didn't know as her mother didn't approve of it. Whereupon Judge Libby said he didn't want to perform any marriage ceremony where the bride did not know whether she wanted to get married or not. He testified that the couple left the office, but before they were Chapman referred to the judge's lack of knowledge of women.

Jennie Kane Chapman, the plaintiff was the final witness, before court adjourned for the day.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS LET BY STATE DEPARTMENT

Announcement was made Tuesday by the Connecticut highway department of the award of contracts for five pieces of work on and near the bridges, the contract in each case going to the lowest bidder. All of the work went to different contractors.

The awards were as follows: Concrete retaining wall and incidental work at Windsor underpass, Windsor, to Lathrop and Shea, New Haven $25,995; concrete girder bridge over Raymond brook, Colchester-Hebron road to L. Suozi Construction Co., Meriden, $8,632.50; concrete pavement on approaches to Johnson's bridge, East Hampton to F. D. Miller, Norwich $8,897; 2,000 feet of 8 inch reinforced concrete pavement on approaches to Castle bridge and substructure, Litchfield and Harwinton to John DeMichael & Bros., of Torrington $73,776.50; rigid frame bridge and approaches over Little River on Scotland-Canterbury road to Thos. F. McGovern, of Southbridge, Mass., $13,665.

LOYALTY CLASS PLANS FOR SEASON ACTIVITIES

At the recent meeting of the Loyalty class of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, the president, Mrs. John Phillips, of 23 Watrous avenue, conducted the business meeting at which $12 in class dues was handed in and several different ways of raising money were discussed. A chicken supper was decided upon and the class voted to give $26 towards painting the church parsonage at 85 Williams street. Miss Lena Hagiund, class treasurer, read her report which was accepted. It showed what good work is being done, one thing being the sending out of the church calendar into the homes of about 50 different shut-ins every week. The expressions of gratitude from these people more than encourage the class to keep up its good work. Rev. J. Harlow Graham, the pastor, gave a brief talk and the president, Mrs. Phillips, provided ice cream and wafers as a treat for the social hour.

ASPINOOK CO. EMPLOYES IN GROUP INSURANCE

The Aspinook Co. of Jewett City has carried for several years group life insurance and has just provided for all employes the opportunity to obtain accident and sickness protection at a very low cost under a new group plan while working for the company. The plan provides $10 per week for all time lost from accidents other than those covered under the compensation insurance and also pays $10 per week for time lost by sickness beyond the first week from any cause.

Nearly 95 per cent of the employes showed their approval of the plan by making application within two and one-half days after it was offered. All details including the payments of claims are handled by the Norwich office of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co.

CHAPLIN YOUTH ARRESTED FOR AUTO PARTS THEFT

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 18.—Florimond Guay, 18, of Chaplin, was arrested tonight by Constable Trenor A. Rice of that town, charged with theft of automobile parts from a car owned by Stephen Ershina of this city. It was alleged that Guay stole a motor meter and generator from Ershina's Ford some time between Monday night and 5 o'clock this morning while the machine was parked overnight in the rear of a lunch wagon property on Main street near the railroad crossing.

FINED ON CHARGE OF OPERATING UNDER INFLUENCE

Pleading guilty to operating a machine while under the influence of liquor, Archie Tate, a local auto mechanic, was fined $200 and costs in the city court Tuesday morning. Tate was arrested late Monday night after the machine he was driving collided with a machine owned by Daniel Harris of Poquetanuck, which was parked near the post office. Both machines received damaged fenders.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGES HAVE BEEN WITHDRAWN

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—(AP)—Miss Anne Magovern, arrested last month for embezzlement from her employer, August Harmon, vice president of the Commercial Investment Trust Co., today was freed when charges against her were withdrawn.

It had been specifically charged that she misappropriated $8,000 of the firm's money but police said she had confessed to taking between $50,000 and $100,000 in bonds.

WOMEN'S CITY CLUB OPENS THE SEASON

With 300 present the Woman's City club held its opening meeting of the season Tuesday evening at the Wauregan hotel. The program opened at 7:30 o'clock with a delicious supper served at very attractively decorated tables. During the supper Miss Marion L. Bishop, the club president, announced several matters of interest to the club members. She displayed the new gavel, the gift of Mr. Henry Parker, and made by Mr. Parker's brother. Attention was again called to the new decorated club room and especial mention was made of Mrs. Neil, chairman of the decorations, who has kindly loaned rugs for the club room.

Mr. Hannigan, manager of the hotel, was referred to as the "fairy godfather" of the club He was given a vote of thanks for the many attentions which he has shown them. Miss Marguerite Suck presented a group of the music committee who sang the new club song written by Miss Mazie Caruthers. Miss Caruthers was given a vote of thanks.

Henry A. Tirrell was the five minute speaker of the evening. He spoke briefly on the W. W. Backus hospital auxiliary membership drive. He gave as the three principal points of the hospital auxiliary the following: First, the furnishing of material things; second, a good name rather than great riches; third, the hospital auxiliary puts good emotions into actions. He urged the club members to enroll in the auxiliary.

Mrs. Allyn L. Brown followed up speaking of the campaign for new members. Each member of the club was asked to join the auxiliary and to induce one or two others to join. Announcement was made that on Thursday and Friday members of the campaign committee will be in the Woman's City club room at the hotel to enroll members.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Thomas Van Ness of Boston, and his topic was China. He spoke, in a very conversational manner, on Chinese life in general. Dr. Van Ness possesses a gift of original humor and his word pictures were presented in a very vivid manner. He spoke interestingly of incidents in the street life of Namking and Peking.

Dr Van Ness told of his arrival in Peking, which he said is one of the six cosmopolitan cities in the world. He spoke of the contrasts in street scenes that may be seen in a few seconds on the Peking streets. Speaking of one hotel he visited, Dr. Van Ness said it rivalled in magnificance any hotel in the world. In Peking he saw a church typical of New England.

He referred to the three outstanding qualities of the Chinese as reverence, honesty and a desire for peace. Dr. Van Ness told of the many things they have done to promote peace in their country, among these being the building of the Great Wall to keep their enemies outside the empire.

Dr. Van Ness told of visiting the president of China and compared the old type of Chinese prison to the new type of modern prisons. During his stay in China Dr. Van Ness visited a number of the schools. In each school he was called on to speak and he told several stories to illustrate how quickly the Chinese students grasped his meaning. He, at one time, addressed a gathering of Chinese girls and they were principally interested in the feminist movement in America.

Sun Yat Sen, he said, is called the Washington of China, and will go down among the greatest men in history. The speaker said he especially wanted to see Sun Yat Sen and when he did see him, he found him just as he pictured in his mind. Sun Yat Sen told him the Chinese people are looking for help and sympathy from the United States.

Speaking of the Chinese flag Dr. Van Ness said that in making the flag of the Chinese republic the Chinese people used the red, white, and blue of the American flag, adding yellow and black. The red, white and blue of the Chinese flag stand for the same ideals as the red, white and blue of the American flag. The yellow and black denote different parts of the Chinese empire. The Chinese people hope that their flag will stand for a United China just as the flag of our country stands for the United States.

Dr. Van Ness was heartily applauded for his interesting and instructive address. Following Dr. Van Ness' address a business session was held. The secretary, Mrs. W. F. Lester, read the report of the June meeting. Miss Bishop, the president, presented the following recommendations, which were adopted by the club: 1. That the club furnishings be insured; 2. That the club become incorporated; 3. That the use of the rooms be for members only; 4. That men be allowed to attend such club meetings as the executive committee deem wise.

Mrs. Willis P. Austin was named chairman of dramatics to succeed Miss Lina Ritchie, resigned. Mrs. Lester resigned as recording secretary of the club and was succeeded by Mrs. F. S. Bunnell. Mrs. Frederic W. Cary was named chairman of the hospitality committee as successor to Mrs. Leonard O. Smith. Miss Louise C. Howe of the membership committee reported the present membership as 557.

Mrs. Charles Gilbert, chairman of the civics committee, reported on the activities of the summer months. In her report she called attention to the fact that certain sanitary conditions in Norwich Town have been corrected and that three septic tanks are to be installed in the vicinity of Lowthorpe meadows. The committee cooperated with the city's recreation commission in supervising recreation for the young people from 14 to 20 years of age. The committee has also protested the proposed removal of 15 trees on the military highway, at what is known as The Pines, in order to straighten the highway at that point. Their protest was taken to Hartford and is being joined in by the Norwich Rotary club and the Norwich Lions club. Out of the 60 New York Herald-Tribune fresh air children who spent a two weeks vacation here the past summer, the Woman's City club placed 14 in homes for the two week period, this work being under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Huntington.

Miss Amy Burlingame was in charge of the tables and table decorations for the supper Tuesday evening. Copies of the club's first year book were distributed to the members. The book is very attractively arranged and contains much information of interest to the members.

APPEALS ARE ARGUED BEFORE SUPREME COURT

In session here Tuesday the supreme court of errors heard for its first case the re-argument of the defendant's appeal in the suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Jennes of this city against the city of Norwich. Prayer at the opening of the court session was offered by Rev. J. Eldred Brown of Trinity Episcopal church.

Mrs. Jennes obtained a $4,000 verdict against the city for injuries in a fall on Summit street, Dec. 24, 1925, but this verdict was reversed and thrown out by the supreme court at its April session. Later the court granted motion for re-argument. Attorneys John H. Barnes and Edwin W. Higgins appeared for Mrs. Jennes, Corporation Counsel William H. Shields, Jr., and Attorney C. V. James for the city.

In the case of Audrey A. Palmer of New London against Theodora Palmer, et al, administrators of the estate of Louisa T. Palmer, an appeal by the plaintiff, several motions were argued. Frank L. McGuire of counsel for the defendants, argued a plea in abatement on the claim that the appeal taken from the decision given by Judge C. L. Avery of the superior court was not filed within the time prescribed by law. Another motion argued was to dismiss the appeal and erase the case from the docket. The suit involves the estate of $1,400,000 net which was left by Mrs. Louisa T. Palmer, who was the mother of Charles T. Palmer, husband of Mrs. Audrey A. Palmer. Mrs. Audrey Palmer claims that she was induced by Mrs. Louisa T. Palmer not to make any claim against the estate for her husband's share through Mrs. Louisa Palmer's promise to leave her the amount which would receive as the next of kin and heir at law of Charles Palmer, but Mrs. Louisa Palmer's will made no provision for Mrs. Audrey Palmer.

Attorney McGuire filed a motion to expunge the draft finding from the printed record of the plaintiff's motion to order trial, judge to certify evidence or for other relief in alternative because:

1. It is scandalous, serves no useful purpose and the only effect of printing it will be to further publish the ill-founded charge against the name and repute of a family domiciled in this Commonwealth.

2. Said printed record will be permanently kept in every public law library in this state.

3. It would be manifestly unfair and improper to print the draft finding in the permanent record of said motion to so order Judge Avery, if said motion be denied.

4. Particularly would it be unfair to print the draft finding without printing the finding as it would make a public record of the plaintiff's ill-founded claims and no public record of the finding of the court as to the falsity of such claims.

The defendant therefore prays:

That said finding be exnunged from the printed record of said motion, or in the alternative that the clerk be ordered to print the finding in said record.

Defendant's appeal was argued in the case of Louise Menzie of New London against Samuel Kalmanowitz, a Colchester fish peddler, against whom Miss Menzie obtained a verdict for $8,500 damages for injuries received when she was hit by the peddler's automobile after she got off a trolley car in New London.

Attorney Arthur T. Keefe, representing an insurance company, argued the appeal in which the company endeavored to have set aside a judgment for $2,500 given in favor of Mrs. Mary Kalamian of New London against her husband David Kalamian. She was injured when she was riding in her husband's automobile which he was driving and which turned over on the Hartford-New London turnpike near Chesterfield on Easter Sunday, 1925.

CLUB DEPARTMENT CONDUCTS CLASSES FOR GIRLS

The work of the club department of the United Workers is described as follows by officers of the organization:

"For many years the United Workers, through their club department, has conducted classes in sewing and cooking for girls of grammar school age. Here, free of charge, girls of all nationalities are taught how to sew and cook, at the same time acquiring habits of neatness and accuracy, patience and friendliness, qualities which make for better service and citizenship in the community. Scores of women have given their time for this instruction, their faithfulness and devotion to the task making this work possible.

"About 175 girls were enrolled in these classes last year. Another busy year is ahead of the club department. Money is needed for its maintenance. We ask the public to be most generous in their contributions this year, that this department may have the best year ever known in its history."

Continuance In Reckless Driving Case.

At the Tuesday morning session of the city court James C. Gilbreath, 35, of the submarine base, was presented on a charge of reckless driving. His motorcycle knocked down Mrs. James Curtis of No. 48 Union street at Washington square, Monday morning. As Mrs. Curtis is confined to her home and unable to appear in court the case was continued until October 24 and Gilbreath was released on bonds.

EARLE W. STAMM TO ATTEND NAT'L BANKERS' CONVENTION

Earle W. Stamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Stamm, of 15 Ann street, Norwich, who is a vice president and cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, New London, is to leave New London today (Wednesday) for New York. On Thursday, with 20 other Connecticut bankers he will start by special train for Houston, Texas, as a delegate to the convention of the National Bankers' association. Mr. Stamm is to be away two weeks. The young Norwich man, who ranks high in banking circles in the state, has earned such a vacation outing and many friends and neighbors in Norwich will hope that it may prove a pleasant and restful one.

RAN INTO TROLLEY CAR WITH HIS AUTOMOBILE

Frank Braback of Hanover is a patient at the Backus hospital with cuts and lacerations of the face and head received when he ran his Ford sedan head-on into a trolley car at Taftville just outside the city line Monday night.

The trolley car was proceeding towards the city in charge of Motorman Harold Talbot and Conductor Harold Bennett when the motorman saw two machines approaching him, both riding in the trolley track. The first turned out of the way all right, but the second which was Braback's and about 300 feet in the rear, came straight on and plunged against the trolley car, breaking all the glass in the trolley vestibule and pinning Braback in his damaged sedan.

He was taken out and was attended by Mrs. Urban until Dr. Louis T. Cassidy arrived. He fought the doctor, tearing off his shirt and grabbing him by the throat before he was put into the hospital ambulance.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Edwin C. Atwood.

Mrs. Albina Lambert Atwood, 45, wife of Edwin C. Atwood of Station 6, Waterford, died Monday in the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospital, New London, as the result of shock by which she was stricken at her home last Wednesday. She was removed to the hospital Thursday morning shortly after midnight.

Mrs. Atwood, a native of Wauregan, this state, was born Aug. 11, 1882, a daughter of Joseph and Mederize Lambert. She married Edwin C. Atwood in Baltic, May 4, 1903, both being residents of Baltic at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Atwood resided in New London for several years prior to their removal to Waterford seven years ago. Mrs. Atwood was a member of St. Joseph's church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Atwood leaves a daughter, Mrs. Alphonse Martin, and a son, Charles Atwood of Waterford, three brothers, Eddie, Almedos and Rodolph Lambert of Baltic, and a sister, Mrs. Walter Mathews of 32 Central avenue, Norwich.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Rogers are at their home on Washington street following a motor trip of three weeks with visits to Bethlehem, N. H., and Poland Springs, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Falconer Rogers will arrive from Yonkers, N. Y., today (Wednesday) to remain for the balance of the week at Mr. Rogers' home on Washington street.

Mrs. Walter T. Camp, her son Raymond G. Camp, of Norwich Town and her niece, Miss Emily Blackstone Camp, of California, who have been abroad since late in August, will reach New York Monday on S. S. Arabic.

Mrs. Flint Brayton, of Lincoln avenue, was present when Miss Jean Schnell of South Orange, N. J., gave a dinner and bridge Tuesday night at her home for Miss Edith Fischer Meyer, sister of Mrs. Brayton, whose marriage with Harry F. Ranney of New York will take place Friday night. Miss Schnell will be one of the bridesmaids. Miss Ruth Whitney, daughter of Mrs. G. W. S. Whitney of South Orange, who will also be a bridesmaid, will give a luncheon at Sherry's in New York and a theare party in honor of Miss Meyer today (Wednesday).

Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Willis Phipps Austin opened her home for the meeting of the College club, about twenty members were in attendance. Miss Beatrice M Smith, Mt. Holyoke, the president had charge of the meeting, during which plans and programs for the year were discussed. Three members were admitted, all from the Academy faculty, Miss Talcott, University of Wisconsin, Miss Hersey, University of Maine and Miss Erwin, University of Michigan. Tea was served by Miss Jane Bill and Miss Louise C. Howe.

ACID STOMACH RUINS APPETITE

Thin, pale people — the despondent sort who never have an appetite, and complain of headaches, indigestion, dizziness, biliousness, usually have too much acid in their stomach. And unless they displace it, any food they eat turns into sour bile and foul gases, which poison their system.

Pape's Diapepsin dissolves that poisonous acid, sweetens the stomach and digests your meals. Many thousands of people have brought back the appetite of their youth and gained weight simply by chewing one of the pleasant tablets of Pape's Diapepsin after meals.

It does what it promises. That's the reason 5 million packages are used a year—ask your nearest druggist for it.

MUCH LOCAL INTEREST IN BOXING CARD AT NEW LONDON THIS EVENING

Bobby Maya, the New Bedford Frenchman who now gets his mail in New London and Ralph Landis, rugged New Yorker meet in the main go of ten rounds tonight at the Lyceum theater, New London; Kid Wagner, aggressive New Londoner, formerly of this city, tackles Mickey Genaro of Meriden in the eight round semi-final, while Young Peceeni and Young Belizzi, both of this city and Jimmy Geri of the U. S. S. Tucker and Young Raymond of the Coast Guards meet in six rounders. The card is put on under the auspices of the Thames A. C. and is for the benefit of the John Coleman Prince post, No. 9, American legion.

KID WAGNER

All of the New London boys, four of them, finished their work yesterday after two weeks of conditioning for the first indoor card in the Whaling city. Mays, one of the claimants of the New England lightweight title appeared to be ready. His ironman stunt of last week in training 12 rounds during the day and with three hours notice entering a New Haven ring to outpoint Georgie Day in eight hot rounds left him "hardly tired at all".

His supporters are freely letting it out that Wagner will be able to notch one more in his mitts for he has shown tremendous improvement during the past few weeks.

The All-Norwich scrap between Peecheeni, pride of the West Side, and Belilzzi, favorite all over the rest of the town will no doubt draw many from here. These two wound up their training Tuesday.

The other two slingers from New London, Reymon and Gerl, also reported ready Tuesday after strenuous work during the past ten days.

MANY SHAKE-UPS IN "BIG TEN" ELEVENS

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The surprises of last Saturday's football upsets were passed on to the players today in reconstruction to western conference teams that failed to satisfy their coaches. Illinois and Ohio squads were given the greatest shakeups. Both the backfield and the line of Ohio state will be revamped, when it faces Michigan next Saturday to dedicate the new Michigan stadium.

The Michigan worked out today with nearly the same regulars that defeated Wisconsin last Saturday, though Harrigan may be ready for a place at tackle by the end of the week. In the passing drills, Miller, halfback and Bovard, center, were worked into the plays previously used. The drill of forward passes consumed most of the two-hour practice.

Dick Yanley, the Northwestern coach, who opened his big ten career auspiciously with a well-earned victory over Ohio, has a hunch that Coach Zuppke at Illinois has been "pointing" for his team this fall.

The Iowa line is being stiffened into a defense expected to withstand the Minnesota charges better than the Indiana forward wall of last Saturday. The Hawkeyes, notable usually for outstanding tackles, have discovered this year Carlson, a rangy sophomore who broke through several times last Saturday to smear Wabash players.

The longest gain through the Iowa line Saturday was six yards.

The Wisconsin passers made about the best showing of any team in last Saturdays games and the squad resumed tossing drill today as the best weapon against Purdue.

YALE VARSITY HAS HARD TIME SCORING ON SCRUBS

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Left in possession of the pigskin on the scrub's 20-yard line, the Yale varsity eleven this afternoon managed to secure only two touchdowns in a half hour's scrimmage. The regulars were handicapped today by absence from the lineup of Bruce Caldwell, star of the Brown game, and Duncan Cox, another regular back. Besides the scrimmage, the varsity had a long signal drill. Caldwell and Cox were both in this drill, and are expected to take part in tomorrow's scrimmage, the last planned for the week.

Johnny Garvey, substituting today for Caldwell, made both the touchdowns scored by the first eleven.

SCHOLASTIC FOOTBALL IN EASTERN CONNECTICUT

Jim Kelly and Harry McGlone, halfbacks are tied for the lead in scoring points for the Acedamy. Each has twelve on two touchdowns. No field goals have been attempted.

In seven tries the locals have only been responsible for but one point after touchdown. In addition to a forward pass, McGlone to LaCroix, one was given for an opponent's offside.

The summary:

	T.	Pts. A.	PT.
McGlone	2	0	12
Kelly	2	0	12
LaCroix	1	1	7
Greene	1	0	6
Tirrell	1	0	6

Academy-Harding in Third Game

The Academy and Warren Harding High of Bridgeport clash here Saturday will be the "rubber" game of their short but bitter athletic rivalry. These teams have met but twice and each has a decision.

The summary of their meetings:

1927

Baseball, Academy 4, Harding 3.

The football game was not as much Bridgeport as the score show, two fumbles providing the touchdowns while another fluky play gave the safety.

The baseball game last Memorial day was just about the best high school tilt that has ever been played in these parts. It was won in the last inning and was crammed full of action throughout.

So that, in this coming meeting the rivalry will be taken up just where it was let off and if the game comes anywhere the past two meetings in the matter of closeness, etc. then Rose of New England fans are in for a treat.

The Chap Tech-Westerly game will be played Friday instead of Saturday, at New London.

Many have been interested, especially of late in determining whether high schools of this section are capable of competing with squads from other parts of the state. To date, in football, elevens of the "Big Six" have, at least been able to hold their own. Of eleven contests with outsiders four have been victories, four losses and three ties.

In games among the "Big Six" the standing follows:

N. F. A.	2	0	0	1000
Stonington	1	0	0	1000
Windham	0	0	1	.000
Bulkeley	0	0	0	.000
Westerly	0	1	1	.000
Chap Tech	0	2	0	.000

It's going to be pretty hard to pick even an unofficial champ in this section this year.

Bulkeley has been given some more land at Mercer Field. It will probably be used for tennis courts, and spaces for parking.

It looks like a stiff scrimmage session for the Academy gridsters this afternoon. The work has been comparatively easy to date this season but today will probably find Coach Whitney giving his boy friends some stiff business.

The same Saturday with Warren Harding of Bridgeport here is being viewed as just about the most important of the season and special preparations are going along toward making a win out of it.

CRUSADER IS WINNER OF LAUREL FEATURE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Cecil handicap, mile and one furlong feature of today's card at Laurel, was carried off by Crusader, with Earl Sande in the saddle. Sir Harry finished second and Dolan third. There were only three starters. Sande got Crusader away first and he stayed there all the way, winning by a length over Sir Harry. Crusader carried top weight of 126 pounds and covered the sloppy going in 1:53 2-5.

The Erlanger handicap, feature at Latonia, went to Rolled Stocking, who beat Fresco by a length. Rothermel was third. Rolled Stocking took the lead at the half mile turn and was never headed. The winner paid $15. The mile was covered in 1:37 3-5.

The Aknurst stable's premier, Odds-on-Favorite, simply smothered his field in winning the Gowanus claiming stakes at Jamaica. Premier was a 7 to 10 favorite. The race was worth $2,825.

The mile and one sixteenth was run in 1:48 3-5.

RAIN KEEPS HARVARD TEAM FROM SCRIMMAGE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Rain forced Harvard's coaches to abandon plans for a hard scrimmage today and the Crimson's activities were turned to the bucking machine, dummy practice and signal drill. The coaches centered their attention on picking a substitute for Tim Clark, varsity left tackle whose leg injury suffered in the Holy Cross game will keep him out of the lineup against Dartmouth. Web Barrett, former Worcester academy captain and first string freshman tackle last year, and Jack Hitch, a made-over halfback from last year's freshman squad, seemed to be leading candidates for the position. Howie Burns, who started the year as a quarterback, and Jim Combs worked out on the wings of Team A today in place of Lord and Hep Strong who are temporarily out of the lineup with slight injuries.

ARMY HOLDS PRACTICE IN RIDING HALL

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Rain drove the Army squad into the Riding hall for practice today in preparation for the Yale game. Although the drill was thorough the men were somewhat handicapped because of the soft tan-bark footing. Army lined up with Harold and Born, ends, Sprague and Saunders, tackles, Hammack and Seeman, guards, Hall, center, Meehan, quarterback, Wilson and Cahle, halfbacks, and Murrell, fullback.

Most of the practice was devoted to the offensive which did not work as smoothly against Davis and Elkins last week as was desired.

SPORT SLANTS

(By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—College football is putting on its flip-flops earlier than usual this year.

Where the "dope" usually is strong enough to weather most of October's shocks, it has already been knocked up against the ropes by a series of form somersaults. It will be a topsy-turvy season, as bewildering to keep up with as the rule changes, if November unfolds anything like the upsets that October already has ushered in.

The climax battles are yet to come but the carnage so far finds defeat escaped by only one of the eight major teams that finished the 1926 campaign unbeaten.

Lafayette, the only eastern team neither conquered nor tied in 1926, is the only survivor of the unbeaten and even this team has one tie marked against its record so far this season. The Maroon juggernaut ran into unexpected opposition rfom West Virginia last Saturday and barely escaped with a 7-7 score. Lafayette may stumble this week against an old rival, Washington & Jefferson, to complete the downfall of last season's race setters.

Alabama and Stanford, intersectional rivals who fought to a tie in last New Year's day post-season battle after mopping up all rivals previously, met swift and sudden downfall this season. Georgia Tech's golden tornado swept over Alabama last week, handing the Crimson tide its first defeat in three years. Little St. Mary's college toppled Stanford rather unceremoniously, 16 to 0.

In turn St. Mary's was trimmed by California, whose Golden Bears appear to be staging a come-back and bidding for the Pacific coast conference title they held for so many years under the guidance of the late Andy Smith.

The Navy, Brown and Boston college, undefeated along the eastern front last season, all have bitten the dust so far. Notre Dame humbled the Midshipmen, Pennsylvania and then Yale bowled over Brown's "Iron Men," while both Duke and Geneva plucked the feathers of Boston college's eagles.

It is a coincidence that the two most famous Johnsons in baseball history, Ban and Walter, have retired from major league fields of activity within a day or two of each other.

Ban has turned over to other hands the affairs of the American league, which he founded and ruled for 27 years. Walter has turned in his Washington uniform after 20 years of marvelous pitching achievement.

In opposite ways, "Big Ban" and "Old Barney" hung up records that will stand for many a test of time or rival accomplishment.

Ill health handicapped the spirited old executive in his last few years of office, along with a series of disputes with Commissioner Landis, but baseball men, whether his friends or opponents, agree that Byron Bancroft Johnson did more than any other executive over a long period of years to erect the national game's present solid structure.

Walter Johnson's contribution to the sport lay not only in his great pitching feats, climaxed by his world's series work of 1924 and 1925, but in a personality that made him beloved by all fandom and an idol of all boys. "Barney", enjoyed a hold on the popular imagination that only the late Christy Mathewson and Babe Ruth have rivalled.

Curcio Beats Blampain

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 18—(AP)—Johnny Curcio, Providence, led all the way against Fernand Blampain, France, here tonight. The men are middleweights.

Duke Menard of Biddeford, Maine, flyweight champion, outpointed Jim Picardi of Boston, and Joey Ross of Lynn stopped Johnny Troy of Boston in the third round.

All were six round bouts.

N. B. A. NAMES CHAMPIONS IN ALL DIVISIONS; DONAHUE IS PRESIDENT

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 18.—(AP)—After approving Mickey Walker as middleweight champion of the world, the National Boxing association today ordered the New Jersey bulldog to meet Tiger Flowers, the Georgia deacon, in defense of his title within sixty days. If, at the end of the sixty day period, Walker has not met Flowers, the board of governors will decide whether or not Mickey shall be stripped of his title and barred in 24 states and allied bodies of the association.

Walt Miller, manager of the Negro, appeared before the association today and produced evidence that Jack Karns, the champion's manager, had agreed to give Flowers a return match within 90 days after the Georgian lost his championship to Walker in Chicago in December of last year. Before closing the annual convention the association named champions in every division of the boxing game, with the exception of flyweight, which is vacant due to the retirement of Fidel La Barba.

Slattery was named light heavyweight king through his victory over Maxie Rosenbloom. Tommy Loughran is recognized as champion by the New York state commission, which is not affiliated with the N. B. A.

Thomas Donohue, of New London, Conn., who ascended to the presidency upon the death of Allen Bacher, late of Cincinnati, was chosen to succeed himself. Paul Prehn, a member of the Illinois state athletic commission and Mr. Donohue's only rival for the presidency, was named firht vice president. Latrobe Cogswell of Baltimore, Md., a former president, was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Thomas Murphy, Canada, Stanley Isaacs, Ohio, and Tom Biggers, Mighigan, were other vice presidents named.

The 1928 convention of the N. B. A. will be held in Toronto.

Montana, Arkansas, Colorado, Missouri, the territory of Porto Rico and the city commission of Galveston were formally admitted to the national association.

RAIN AGAIN FORCES FOOTBALL TEAMS INDOORS

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Rain continued along the eastern football front today and forced many squads to remain indoors for their practice work toward Saturday's contests. Squads that did take to the gridiron cut their practice short and then spent the rest of the afernoon around blackboards while coaches diagrammed plays that are expected to be brought into use in the games just ahead.

Princeton was scheduled to play a practice game with Temple university but rain forced a postponement. Instead, Bill Roper put his charges through 20 minutes of scrimmage and a signal drill. The Tigers donned rubber pants.

Cornell, who is to play host to the Roper squad at Ithaca, had to remain indoors because of the driving rain. A dummy scrimmage was held.

Pennsylvania, getting ready for the invasion of the University of Chicago camp, tried out two quarterbacks. Johnny Shober, the regular signal caller, will not be available for the game against the Maroons. Ratkewsky probably will see service, for Wilner, who is scheduled to direct the team, has a bad shoulder. Paul Murphy, regular quarterback all last season, will hold down a halfback's job against Stagg's eleven.

PLAINFIELD FACES REAL TEST IN STONINGTON HIGH

(Special to The Bulletin)

PLAINFIELD, Oct. 18—On Saturday afternoon the sturdy Plainfield high school football team faces the strong Stonington team at the Community field Getting away to a rather poor start, due to the lack of experienced material, in the first game the Plainfield boys have finally hit their stride and for the last three Saturday's have turned in decisive wins. With their old rivals, Putnam and Killingly, swamped and left by the wayside, their attention is now focussed on much larger and better fields for their prowess. The opening of the new field at Plainfield and the success of each Saturday has gradually worked up interest, so that a much larger crowd is expected at the game Saturday. The attendance at the opening game was about 700.

There is a feeling about the school and among the players themselves that it is impossible for any team to trim them on their own field. This "team of destiny" feeling has circulated freely and confidence is very strong among Plainfield's supporters.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18—(AP)—"It's ridiculous," said Tommy Loughran, today, when he heard that the national boxing association had not listed him as the world's light-heavyweight champion and had recognized Jimmy Slattery as the title holder in that class.

"No one pays any attention to the national boxing commission, and that is why I turned it down when it wanted to hand me the title long before I fought Mike McTigue," Loughran said.

"The association has no authority in Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, California and Massachusetts, where the real boxing public of the country live and where the big fights and big purses can be gotten, and where I am recognized as light-heavyweight champion."

FUCHS DENIES RUMORS OF NEGOTIATIONS WITH SPEAKER

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 18—(AP)—Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, denied here tonight that any negotiations have been made with the Washington Senators to secure the services of Tris Speaker as mesager of the Braves to succeed Dave Bancroft.

President Fuchs declared that a number of men are under consideration and that, while the air is full of rumors concerning the possible selection, the choice has not yet been made.

He pointed out that yesterday there was a rumor about to the effect that Eddie Collins was to be the new manager and added that the decision may be made known within a fortnight, possibly this week, to avoid idle speculations which may be causing embarrassment to the men mentioned without authority.

Judge Fuchs also said that the club has not entered into any conversations or correspondence with prospects.

NEW HOCKEY TEAM TO PRACTICE AT NEW HAVEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Eleven players were ordered to report today to the training camp of the New York American Hockey club at New Haven, Conn., next Monday in preparation for the National Hockey league season.

Wilfred (Shorty) Green succeeds Newsy Lalonde as manager of the team. His place at right wing has been assigned to Billy Boucher while Vernon Forbes, goalie, has been replaced by Joe Miller. The other players on the squad are Lionel Conacher, Joe Simpson, Clarence Boucher and Leo Reise, defense men; Billy Burch, Norman Himes, Alex McKinnon, Eddie Bouchard and Red Green, forwards.

Cochran Leads Hagenlacher

BOSTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—Welker Cochran, world's 18.2 billiard champion, led Eric Hagenlacher, of Germany, by the score of 600 to 361 at the end of the second block of their exhibition 18.1 match here tonight. Cochran, with a high run of 136, won the afternoon match 300 to 163, and repeated tonight with a 300 to 198 triumph. Eight blocks will be played.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Myles Lane, flashy Dartmouth halfback, who has gained a running start on most of his football scoring rivals by piling up 87 points in four games, probably won't find the touchdown path so pleasant from now on. On four successive Saturdays, starting this week, the Green encounters Harvard, Yale, Brown and Cornell.

Edvin Wide, famous Swedish runner, has suffered a knee injury, according to information from Sweden, which may keep him out of track competition for some time. Neither Wide, Paavo Nurmi, his Finnish rival, nor Dr. Otto Peltzer, noted German middle-distance star, are expected to come to the United States for the indoor track season, foregoing invitations to do so through preference to focusing on preparations at home for the 1928 Olympics.

West Virginia has more Glenns on its backfield squad then the Pirates had Warners in the outfield. Albert ("Big Sleepy") Glenn and Marshall ("Little Sleepy") Glenn are brothers and regulars. Francis ("Tarzan"), Glenn is no relation to the others but may break into the lineup this Saturday against Georgetown.

Yale has an unusual squad of football giants. Nine of the first string eleven are six feet or over while among the reserves Ladd, a tackle, is six feet, six inches tall and Miner six feet four. The prize for height, however, goes to a freshman tackle, Fred Weicker, who towers six feet eight inches and has the official distinction of being the tallest individual ever to enter the New Haven school.

NORWICH TOWN

"A Competent Critic," was the theme of Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey at Sunday morning worship at the First Congregational church. Matthew 7:5 was the text. "Thou hypocrite, first cast the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye." Emphasis was laid on the first clause.

The Young People's Christian Endeavor service Sunday evening, at both the Norwich Town Congregational and Methodist churches, was omitted, to afford members an opportunity to attend the Interchurch Girls' rally, under the auspies of Norwich Council of Girl Workers, held at Trinity Methodist church. Miss Dorothea Buckley from the Congregational church made the invocation, while a group of girls from this church, in charge of Mrs. Carlos Ricker, responded with Scripture verses. From the Methodist church, those who had a part on the program included Misses Effie Ladd, Beula Rogers and Ruth Lathrop.

At the Norwich Town Methodist church Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. Albert E. Whitten preached from John 13:17. If ye know these things, happy are ye if we do them.

For the third time, Miss Ruth Lathrop was hostess Monday evening, when members of Miss Florence M. Bennett's class of young women from the Norwich Town Methodist Sunday school, assembled at Miss Lathrop's home on Wauwecus street, to formulate plans for a supper to be given under the auspices of the class. Miss Effie Ladd is president.

In the study of the Heroes of Faith, at the Congregational mid-week service, Thursday evening, the Scripture reference will be Matthew 15:29-39, with special reference to Acts 17:26-28. Heroes mentioned for this lesson are General O. O. Howard and Samuel C. Armstrong.

The Drop-in class of the Congregational church school, is to hold a meeting this (Wednesday) afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles P. Learnd, of East Town street.

Mrs. Ruth Johnson and sons, Richard and Lawrence Johnson of Swampscott, Mass., were guests over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Donald Brigham, of Scotland road.

State Supervisor of Schools Edwin B. Floyd, with Mrs. Floyd and their children, Culver, Marjory and Alfred, of Sentry Hill, motored Saturday afternoon to Canterbury and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fleming and little daughter, Gloria, of Town street, were automobile guests Sunday of Mr. Fleming's brother, William Fleming, Jr., who with his wife and children, also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming, motored to Waterbury for the day. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Orr, Mrs. Orr being sister of Carl and William Fleming, Jr. Others in the party, which filled two automobiles, included another brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Fleming, a sister, Miss Elizabeth Fleming and Mrs. Henry Fournier and son, Henry Fournier.

Dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoppman of Town street, were Mr. and Mrs. William Symington and infant daughter, Roselle, of New London. Mr. Symington is brother of Mrs. Hoppman.

KAPLAN IS FLATTENED BY M'LARNIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 18—(AP)—Jimmy McLarnin, of Los Angeles, knocked out Louis ("Kid") Kaplan, of Meriden, Conn., the east's contender for the light weight championship in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round fight in the coliseum tonight.

Kaplan, who until a few months ago held the world's featherweight championship, gave it up because he no longer could make the weight, was dropped three times before he was counted out.

He was knocked down for a count of nine in the fifth round, after having floored McLarnin twice in the first and second.

In the eighth, McLarnin smashed over a short right to the chin and the chunky Kaplan hit the floor for the count of three.

The knockout of Kaplan was an upset, as he had been boomed as an outstanding challenger for a championship match with Sammy Mandell.

McLarnin scaled 135 1-4 and Kaplan 136. The match drew about 6,000 and the receipts were around $18,000.

Archie Bell, the Brooklyn bantamweight challenger, won from Kid Lencho of Mexico City in the fifth round on a technical knockout. Bell weighed 119 pounds, and Lencho 117 3-4.

Roleaux Saguero, the Cuban light-heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Earl Blue of Fargo, N. D., in the third round of another bout scheduled to go to ten rounds. Saguero weighed 170 1-2, and Blue 174 pounds.

My Sullivan, St. Paul welterweight, knocked out Howard McLain of Louisville, in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round bout. Sullivan dropped the elongated Kentuckian with a short left hook to the chin. Sullivan weighed 147 pounds, 7 pounds more than his foe.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

During the second week in October there was a slight increase in building activities in Norwich as reflected by the number and size of the building permits granted by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton. During the week there were nine permits issued and of this nine there were four for new dwelling houses, two of them being of the two-apartment type while the other two are to be single houses. The approximate value of the four new houses will be about $34,000 although the cost on the permits is at a somewhat lower figure, and not wholly in keeping with the specifications.

During the past week the work of razing the Osgood house at the corner of Washington and Sachem streets has been completed to make room for the erection of the new Masonic home.

The steel structural work on the new eight story building for Silberman Furniture company has been started and the frame is going up fast and within a short time will be ready for the brick and re-inforced concrete.

The work on the new Mohican building is also practically complete. At the Norwich State hospital the excavation work has been started by the H. Wales Lines Co. which has the contract.

To Homer Monty to erect a two story frame house on upper Asylum street. The house will be 24x26 feet with cement and stone foundation and frame superstructure. The house will be two stories high with hip roof. The interior will be in hard finish plaster and hardwood, while the exterior will be finished in wide clapboards.

To Fowler and Rathbun to build an addition, 6-8 feet, to the present house on Ann street for Mrs. John V. Reynolds.

To George W. Allen to erect a two-story house for Lyle Fillmore on Huntington place. The house will have seven rooms and bath and will be modernly appointed. The building will be 26x30 feet with cement foundation and balloon frame.

To Fred H. Roath to add to present frame building on Talman street. The addition will be 26x28 feet and will be used as a shop.

To Charles W. Burton to build a two-story house at 619 and 621 Boswell avenue. The house will be 29x42 feet with stone and concrete foundation and frame superstructure. The house will be for two families. In the rear of the building will be a frame garage, 18x18 feet, for the accommodation of two cars.

To Charles W. Burton to erect another house and garage at 615 and 617 Boswell avenue of the same dimensions and type as the other house.

To Samuel Taylor to add to the present frame garage in the rear of 154 Washington street. The addition will be 10x24 feet.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were five sales of real estate as compared to 11 sales during the corresponding week in 1926. The mortgage loans from the respective weeks were $20,200 and $45,250.

There were 20 sales of real estate in New London during the past week, an increase of two sales over the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $146,336 and $135,636.

New London

Some variance evidently exists among local contractors as to the outlook in new building for the coming winter. With some it is contended that the local winter building program will be on a par with that of the past few years, especially in regards to new dwellings and additions and alterations. On the other hand the comparatively slackening by building operations during the past few months is taken by some contractors as a sign that a slack winter is in store for local contractors.

Thus far this year, it is pointed out, the amount of new buildings has been compared favorably with the first nine months of 1926, although the early part of the year has aided in maintaining the average which would have dropped below normal in the past few weeks.

The optimistic outlook is the one shared by the majority, and there is basis for an optimistic outlook in the amount of construction now under way and that to be started in the immediate future. While the work at present includes no major buildings there is much of the smaller buildings under way. During the past two years there have been more than 200 new homes built in this city and as a whole the city is in a prosperous condition which would indicate a continuance of the new dwelling program, especially of the single family homes which constitute a good proportion of the new building during the year.

A New London architect has completed plans for a new two-family house to be built for Anthony and Mary Irland in Squire street. The new house will have five rooms and bath on each of the floors together with tile baths and bay windows. The floors and trimmings will be of oak, the walls plastered, and the plumbing of brass pipe. A steam heating system will be installed and the electric fixtures will be of modern design. The first story siding will be clapboards and the upper story stained shingles. The general appearance will be enhanced by bay windows and gable windows. A two-car garage will also be constructed on the site.

Work is progressing favorably on the construction of a new brick and stucco house for Carlo Cecchini in Ashcraft road. The new structure is of modern design, 26 by 32 feet, and is being built from private plans. Hardwood floors, steam heat, brass piping and modern electrical and plumbing fixtures are included in the specifications.

The framework is being erected on a new bungalow being built for Lena Swiebel in Ann street. The new structure is to be 22 by 35 feet, of frame construction, and has a concrete foundation. It is the first new dwelling to be built in that street in some time. The work is being done from private plans by the day.

Preston

The H. Wales Lines Co., is starting excavating for the north and south ward building, which is to be erected at the Norwich State hospital, from plans of Architects Cudworth and Thompson, Norwich.

Gales Ferry

Under the direction of Walter Phillips, of Norwich, work has been started on the erection of the proposed new parsonage for the Gales Ferry Methodist Episcopal church.

At the annual town meeting of Ledyard Center, held last week, it was voted to erect a two or three-room school at Gales Ferry. Billings T. Avery is chairman of the town school committee.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

Everything that human nature desires is furnished in "Ben-hur." There is revenge, wondrously sweet; there are love passion, religion, the building of empires and the tearing down of them. There are wealth and beauty and, to help us appreciate them, there are poverty, aginness and misery.

The picturization of Gen. Lew Wallace's famous story, that has been three years in the making, that was filmed in three countries—Italy, France and America—at a cost of $4,000,000 which has been showing to crowded houses all the week, closes its engagement here tonight.

In order that all school children may have an opportunity to see "Ben-Hur" the management of the Broadway theater has arranged for a special children's matinee at four o'clock this afternoon.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the feature attraction will be Laura La Plante in "The Cat and the Canary" an adaptation of John Willard's great stage success of the same name. It is acclaimed by critics everyw

SHARP RECOVERY IN STOCK PRICES; COLLAPSE IN WHEAT AND CORN FUTURES

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—(AP)—Speculative interest in today's markets was divided between the sharp recovery in stock prices, following a heavy opening, and the collapse in wheat and corn futures to new low levels for the season. While final stock quotations disclosed a number of 1 to 2 point declines, most of the early losses were wiped out and in a few cases converted into net gains ranging from 3 to 5 points. Total sales were just above 2,000,000 shares.

Elimination of many weakened marginal accounts in yesterday's reaction undoubtedly had strengthened the technical position of the stock market. Operators for the rise were helped by the lowering of the call money rate from 4 1-4 to 4 per cent and President Coolidge's announcement of a cabinet survey showing an improvement in business, coupled with his belief of a further reduction in taxes this year. Strong buying support for General Motors and U. S. Steel common, two of the weak features yesterday, also helped to revive bullish confidence.

Pool operations were particularly effective in a number of public utilities. Radio corporation, which is expected in quarters to earn $7 on the common stock this year, rallied from a low of 67 to a new high record at 73 1-2, closing at the top. Philadelphia company soared 11 1-4 points to a new peak at 118 and then sold down to 115, and Montana Power touched a new top at 109 1-2 in response to reports that the Great Northern was contemplating an extension of its electric lines.

Other issues to break through to new peak prices were Christie Brown, Collins and Aikman, Coty, Fidelity-Phenix Insurance, Outlet Co., and Underwood Typewriter. On the other hand, Westinghouse Air Brake, Sinclair, Remington-Rand, Eaton Axle, Vivaudou and Advance Rumely preferred sold at the year's low.

Wabash common was one of the leaders of the railroad group, the heavy demand for this stock which advanced 2 points to 73 being attributed to some quarters to Lackawanna railroad interests. New Haven also was well bought, although the day's gain was held to a point. Most of the other rails moved within rather narrow limits.

Distribution of about $300,000,000 in dividend and interest payments this month, coupled with the retirement of about $500,000,000 in government securities before the end of the year, is regarded as bullish influence on the market on the theory that it sets up a huge potential investment demand. While current business is somewhat disappointing, some encouragement is derived from the recent stiffening tendency of some of the basic commodity prices.

Call money after dropping from 4 1-4 to 4 per cent, was reported to be available in the "outside market," as low as 3 3-4.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Wheat dropped two and more cents a bushel on selling inspired by the favorable Canadian crop weather, the increase in available domestic supplies and the continued unfavorable export demand. Other grains reacted in sympathy. Cotton moved within a narrow range, closing only 4 to 12 points net lower. Coffee and sugar prices showed little change.

Establishment of a new high quotation for the year by German marks at 23.86 cents, coincident with the Reichsbank's announcement of a reduction from 27.30 to 27.84 marks in the selling price of gold, and a 10-point jump in Polish zlotys to 11.20 cents in response to the announcement of the prompt oversubscription of the American portion of the $70,100,000 Polish loan, shared chief speculative interest in today's foreign exchange market. Sterling cables and French francs held steady around $4.87 and 3.92 1-2 cents, respectively.

The Best-known Fisherman in the World

From early childhood this fisherman has been a familiar figure, yet few know the circumstances that brought him into use as a trade mark. As the record reads, over a third of a century ago one of the founders of a house of Scott and Browne, while on one of his annual trips to the Land of the Midnight Sun to select and purchase supplies of pure Norwegian cod-liver oil which has always been the basis of the merit of Scott's Emulsion, had his attention attracted to a strong, robust Norwegian fisherman, on the shore of one of the Lofoten islands, who was just coming in with his daily catch and who was struggling under a heavy load. He had just brought ashore the largest cod-fish ever caught on that coast. Impressed with this unusual sight of the bronzed-faced fisherman with the large cod-fish strapped to his back, it was decided that they could be made into an effective advertising symbol, to send throughout the world in the interest of Scott's Emulsion of pure Norwegian cod-liver oil. Right on the shore the man with the big fish was sketched and later put into color, and since that day until now this picture has been sent as an advertising evangel in newspapers, magazines, on cards, posters, and in many others ways, to the ends of the earth.

Shortly after its origin the advantage of using this picture was more fully realized and it was registered as the Scott's Emulsion trade mark. For more than a third of a century it has annually been placed upon millions of bottles of Scott's Emulsion—a guarantee of purity and goodness. Small wonder that the slogan, "See that the Emulsion that you buy always bears the Fisherman," has been accepted and endorsed by millions who know, from experience, the rich, tonic-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion.

Probably among all advertising devices or symbols used in the world, none enjoys greater prominence or is so widely known as this picture of the honest, bronzed-faced Norwegian fisherman, a picture of health taken out of real life. Those who take Scott's Emulsion are assured that it is cod-liver oil, rich, pure health-building, pleasantly flavored, scientifically emulsified—and made easy to take and assimilate.

Al-Pierre Tabarin

The reopening of the Al-Pierre Tabarin at Willimantic for the fifth season this fall has met with a response of banner crowds, that for this time of the year, tend to break the records for early-season indoor dancing. The Peerless orchestra, defined by any musical "Webster" as meaning real music, is showing its strength as magnet to the Tab. The attendance has been so gratifying for the past month that the Tab managers, the congenial Messrs. Albert J. Piche and Pete Laramee have decided to initiate the mid-week dances on Wednesday evenings. The Al-Pierre Tab, one of the most beautiful and best appointed dance halls of this section, is "going strong" this year, according to the managers. Everything has been done for the comfort and thorough amusement of the patrons. A new machine has been purchased to treat the floor and its present condition cannot be excelled. The catering service in the gallery has been put on an improved plan and is meeting with appreciation. The hall is festive in new decorations. The lady's parlor has been renovated. Among other improvements will be installed a telephone pay station. These numerous items will place the Tab on a par with the best.

WINFIELD GRAHAM'S SAVING HABITS ARE BEING RECALLED AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 18.—Dispatches from Milford that death had come to Winfield Graham, 75, who for many years was a stenographer in the superior and common pleas courts at New London and Norwich, and that he had amassed some $50,000, was a surprise to people hereabouts, though it was known that Mr. Graham was a prudent man who, from his earnings, might have saved a considerable sum of money. He resided in Alger place, a mile from the county court house, but he never patronized trolley cars or taxicabs, but instead made use of a bicycle. This was his mode of travel in the many years he was employed here. His death came at Milford Monday following a surgical operation.

PROBING OF NURSE'S CASE BRINGS NO NEW INFORMATION

NEW LONDON, Oct. 18—Police Sergeants Nelson Smith and John Cavanaugh were in Providence yesterday afternoon in connection with the death from septic poisoning, following a criminal operation 10 days ago, at the Rhode Island State hospital, of Miss Hannah S. Frederickson, former Lawrence-Memorial hospital nurse. The officers intervogated the nurses and physicians who attended Miss Frederickson and from them it was stated that Miss Frederickson steadfastly claimed that she had performed the operation and that a physician or midwife had not been even consulted with a view to the performance of any operation. The nurses said that Miss Frederickson did not intimate who was responsible for her condition.

There was another burglary last night and like all the others perpetrated here for the past few weeks, the last thieving is apparently the work of boys. This morning when the candy and periodical store of Henry M. Papajohn, 75 Truman street, was opened it was discovered that the store had received a visit from thieves. The plunder obtained consisted of confectionary and $4.60, the latter having been taken from the cash register. Entrance to the store was gained by smashing a window. The store is located in a conspicuous place for electric lights on two corners illuminate the entire exterior of the building. Eight youths, who had figured in two other burglaries yesterday were placed on probation and were turned over to the custody of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield. Two other boys, charged with statutory burglary, are awaiting trial.

Harry Skinner and Harry Flynn, United States navy, were in the police court today charged with trespassing upon property of the New Haven railroad. Judgment was suspended in both cases and the sailors were turned over to the naval authorities that Skinner and Flynn could be provided with transportation to New York, as they are absent without leave from U. S. S. New York. Skinner and Flynn were arrested in the local railroad yard last night by Special Agent Ferreault, railroad police and Patrolman Michael Dorsey when the sailors were detected attempting to steal a ride on an east bound freight train.

The only other case to claim the attention of the court was that of Bennie Rosenholtz, 21 Linden street, charged with violation of the city's parking laws. He failed to present himself in court and his bond was declared forfeited. Rosenholtz parked his car on Pearl street, where no parking is allowed during the entire day or night.

Supernumerary Police Officer Edward Skoczylas was assigned to police duty today by Captain Charles A. Finney and he started performing patrol tonight. Skoczylas reported for duty at 7 o'clock and was assigned to one of the beats in the outlying section of the city. The ordering of Skoczylas to duty was because of the several regular patrolmen off duty. He is the second supernumerary to be called to duty within 72 hours, the other being Lewis O. Tooker.

Chief of Police Henderson, of Longmeadow, Mass., accompanied by Harold C. Dudley came to New London last night and went to police headquarters where assistance was asked in an endeavor to locate Dudley's son, Harold M. Dudley, who ran away from home Sunday. The boy, who is 15, is known to have arrived in New London and it was believed he would seek enlistment in the United States Coast Guard. The boy is large for his age. He wore a blue suit and gray overcoat, but no hat. An officer assigned to the case visited numerous rooming houses and hotels, but did not find any trace of the missing youth.

Mrs. Margaret A. Damas, 73, widow of Joseph F. Damas, a former member of the New London police department, died this morning at her residence, 41 Crystal avenue, after a brief illness. Mrs. Damas is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Austin and Misses Anna and Teresa Damas of this city and by two sons, Walter Damas of New York, and George Damas of Chicago.

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy E. Avery widow of George P. Avery, of Groton, whose death occurred at Deaconness hospital, Boston, last week, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Groton Congregational church and was attended by a large assemblage of mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. Henry W. Hufburt, pastor of the church. The bearers were Edward Calvert, Charles E. White, Milton M. Baker, David H. Seaman, C. S. Woodhull Davis and Carlow W. Allyn. Burial was in Starr cemetery.

VISION AND USE OF LIMBS LOST BY EDWARD MURPHY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 18—Edward Murphy, of Golden street, a meat huckster, was taken to Lawrence-Memorial hospital this afternoon when found helpless in his room. While his condition is serious, it is not believed, at least, at this time, that it is dangerous, but he will be kept under observation for several days. Murphy went to his room during the morning and while there lost his vision and the use of his limbs, for besides being unable to stand he could not see. About 4 o'clock one of Murphy's acquaintances went to the Golden street rooming house and there Murphy was found seated on the bed. He could not recognize his acquaintance except by speech and neither could he walk. A physician was summoned and after examining Murphy, ordered him taken to the hospital. The attending physician stated that Murphy was suffering from high blood pressure and that the patient would probably regain normal health in a short time. Murphy's condition tonight was said to be slightly improved. Murphy's home is in Boston, where he has several brothers and sisters. He has been a resident of New London about ten years.

Frank E. Sawyer's funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his residence in Montville and was attended by many mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. E. L. Neild, pastor of Montville Baptist church. The mourners included a delegation of members of Thames lodge of Odd Fellows and members of that organization acted as bearers. Burial was in Comstock cemetery, the committal service being carried out according to the Odd Fellowship ritual.

Mrs. Henry Sistare, 92 Willetta avenue and Mrs. Frank Aticella and infant son, of Groton, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital were discharged today.

A young man who had been drinking heavily was injured this afternoon when he fell on State street. He was arrested and City Physician George P. Cheney was summoned to police headquarters and dressed two ugly cuts, one over the left eye and the other on the left ear.

The building known as the Reeves property has been demolished as a fire menace and unsafe. It was located on the site next south of the customs house. Thus is opened up a view of the harbor that has not before been possible. What structure will take the place of the dilapidated building removed is not known, but it is certain the site will be occupied as is too valuable to be allowed to remain unyielding in revenue.

Brainard Masonic lodge worked the fellow craft degree last evening on several candidates.

James B. Dickerson, son of James H. Dickerson of Danville, Va., and Miss Elizabeth C. Sterling, daughter of the late Gilbert B. Sterling and Mrs. Sterling, formerly of Windsor Locks and Hamburg, were married on Friday night at the residence of Miss Sterling's aunts, Misses Fanny and Elizabeth Ely, the Elms, Hamburg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. Hoag, pastor of the Old Lyme Congregational church. Howard Abbott of Hartford, was best man and Miss Katherine Putnam of Lake Forest, Ill., was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Katherine Wells, Springfield, Mass., and East Windsor, and Miss Minnie Mitchell of Waterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson are now on a wedding trip and upon its completion they will reside at Windsor Locks.

Mrs. James J. Burns and son of Pomfret, are visiting Mrs. Burns' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McDonald, of 14 Centre street.

There is every probability that this year will see the most elaborate celebration of Armistice day since 1917, when a mammoth parade was sponsored by the city. Already plans are under way for the celebration and with November 11th drawing nearer it is believed that plans will have been formulated whereby an event similar to the 1927 celebration will be the result. Mayor James A. May is in favor of such a celebration and made it known at the meeting of the city council last evening, even urging that such an event take place. The matter was referred to City Manager William A. Holt for an early report. Today Superintendent of Schools Warren A. Hanson announced that the schools throughout the city would suspend sessions Armistice day at noon.

The high wind and rough sea of last night caused the harbor to be the shelter for a greater number of boats than has been the case in a long time. At day break today there were many barges anchored in midstream while their tugs were moored at wharves. Most of the tugs and their tows arrived in port early yesterday afternoon, the weather being such that the towboat masters did not deem it advisable to continue further eastward for the storm was sure to become more severe during the night. This afternoon several of the tows resumed the voyage eastward, although there were three or four tows still in port tonight awaiting more favorable weather conditions before continuing to their destinations.

Mrs. Frank Savage of 62 Colt street, Mrs. Caesar Cioci and infant son, 15 Walbach street, Mrs. Richard Johns, 201 Connecticut avenue; Mrs. Wallace Deveau and infant daughter, Waterford and Mrs. Nathan Wexler and infant son of Salem, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

William J. Everts, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Everts, 172 Howard street, has begun work as electrician at the plant of the D. E. Whiton Machine company. Mr. Everts is a graduate from Chapman Technical high school also the school of engineering of Northwestern university.

Catherine Doty, 22, married and Catherine Wilkinson, 23, also married, both residing at 39 Perkins street, Charlestown, Mass., were arrested yesterday charged with street walking and being persons without visible means of support, had their case continued until today in the police court. They have been sent back to Charlestown, with advice to remain away from New London.

Continued improvement was displayed today by Patrolman Albert Iverson, who was injured Saturday night when he was precipitated over a railing to a flight of stairs at Plant hall, suffering injuries to his head. He is receiving treatment at Lawrence Memorial hospital and the physicians do not believe that the patrolman will be a patient there longer than a few days.

Carl B. Hanson has qualified as administrator of the estate of Josephine B. Hanson, whose death occurred last week.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

Adventure, mutiny, the rough-and-ready life of the sailor before the mast, and a haunting romance are the ingredients worked into The Blood Ship, Columbia Pictures specially produced drama about those who went down to the sea in clipper ships, in the days when "hell ships" were a reality and a captain admitted no higher authority than himself. This pretentious picture, which had its world premier at the Roxy Theater in New York city, comes to the Breed theater on Thursday, for three days, boasts a superlative cast headed by Hobart Bosworth, Jacqueline Logan and Richard Arlen, the latter having been "loaned" to Columbia Pictures for the part by Paramount-Famous-Lasky. George B. Seitz, known best for The Vanishing American, directed.

Palace Theater

For the last times today the Palace will offer to theatergoers of Norwich, one of the outstanding show hits of the season. Five extraordinary acts of real big time vaudeville, each act a special feature, none conflicting with each other in any way. The headline attraction "Morgan and Ross Revue" a band of six talented musicians and a premier dancer, one with technique and daintiness. A very entertaining offering and is making a big hit. Four other acts of equal importance are also featured, but lack of space makes it impossible to enumerate. The feature screen attraction "The Chinese Parrot" with Marian Nixon and Hobart Bosworth is one of those pictures you could look at, over and over again. A very clever story and the acting is superb. This is a story by Earl Derr Biggers and was the outstanding Saturday Evening Post sensation. Remember today will be your last chance. Commencing tomorrow for three days another of the famous Palace vaudeville bills will be presented as well as the sweetest girl in movies "Dolores Costello" in "The College Widow." This picture is a revival of George Ade's stage play. The cast includes William Collier, Jr., Anders Randolph, and Douglas Gerard. The picture is of college life and tells the story of the daughter of a college president who revived the fortunes of the school, and secured her father's insecure job, by recruiting a winning football team by feminine wiles. It gives one that grand and glorious feeling in the finest football story ever filmed.

NIANTIC

Niantic lodge, No. 241, New England Order Pritection which was to have met on the evening of October 20th has postponed the session till Nov. 17th at which time installation and celebration of the 33rd anniversary of the founding of the order will take place.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The tropical disturbance is central tonight near the southeastern Cuban coast in about latitude 20, longitude 78. It continues of slight intensity, but there are some indications that it will move to the north, northeast, in which case an increase in intensity may be expected. The Atlantic coast disturbance is advancing northward or north northeastward, being central south of eastern Long Island with increased intensity and storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Eastport to Cape Hatteras. Pressure is high over the Canadian maritime provinces and the upper lake region.

The outlook is for rain on Wednesday in New England. Temperatures will rise quite generally on Thursday.

GREENEVILLE

The Third Baptist church has extended a call to Rev. Harry P. Brothwell, of Pownel, Vermont, to become its resident pastor. The call has been accepted by him and it is expected that he will begin his duties there the first of November. Mr. Brothwell, a native of Scotland, has been a resident of this country about seven years, and comes highly recommended by the Vermont state convention. He has a wife and two children and expects to make his home at 37 Twelfth street. During the summer months the church has had a number of different pastors and laymen occupy the pulpit and among them was Rev. R. Daniel Trick, a former pastor; also Mr. Brothwell. Last Sunday Mr. Edwin Hill, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. occupied the pulpit and delivered a very inspiring sermon. Next Sunday the Rev. Dr. [illegible]st of Hartford will be the preacher. The church has been very active during the summer, raising $450 in a few weeks time with which to install an electric motor in the pipe organ; also had it tuned. George A. Howard was chairman of the committee and had as his assistants the trustees and music committee.

Mrs. Herbert I. Peckham of 29 Margerie street is spending a few days in Somerville, Mass., as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ford.

Mrs. Hattie F. Lund of Boston is spending the next two weeks with her sister, Miss Ida L. Baker. Mrs. W. E. Duberger of Boston was a Sunday guest of Miss Baker.

Mr and Mrs. William A. Service and daughter Marjorie, of Waterbury, have been week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox and Mr. John Service of Twelfth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haydon and daughters, Winifred and Althea, spent Sunday in Dayville.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Shea gave a surprise party at their home on Central avenue Saturday evening in honor of the birthday of Mr. Shea's mother, Mrs. Jeremiah Shea. Mrs. Shea was very much surprised to find all her children present after being summoned to her son's home on false pretense. She received a number of beautiful and useful presents from her children, grand children and from a number of intimate friends, who were informed of the affair. Among those present were her daughter, Mrs. James Blackford of Danielson and an aunt and niece from Springfield, Mass. Mrs. William Shea served dainty refreshments and was assisted by Miss Josie Shea.

The ladies of the Greeneville Congregational church are to pack a barrel of clothing to be sent to Atlanta university. This (Wednesday) afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frederick Sears of 129 Prospect street, the barrel is to be packed.

Miss Josephine Pusateria has returned to Willimantic after spending a few days at the home of her mother on Central avenue.

John Nolin has returned to Danielson from a few days visit at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Nolin of Fifth street.

Miss Helen Greene of Fourth street, is spending a few days with relatives in Worcester, Mass.

Mrs. Ida Eaton has returned to Mystic after a few days stay at the home of Mrs. Daniel Shaw of Boswell avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. David Dunn and family have returned to their home on Fifth street after spending a few days with relatives in Natick, Mass., the trip was made by auto.

MERCHANTS VIEW JOINT NEWSPAPER OWNERSHIP WITH APPROVAL

WM. H. CRUICKSHANK

JOHN M. LEE

Prominent business men of the city, when interviewed Tuesday to give their views upon the purchase of the Evening Record by The Bulletin Co., expressed their satisfaction that the publication in the evening field is to remain in local hands and voiced their belief that the joint ownership will work out to the benefit of the community.

In brief their comment was as follows:

John M. Lee, secretary of the Porteous & Mitchell Co.—I am glad to see the Bulletin getting hold of the paper in the evening field. It seems to me that with their experience and their knowledge of the field they ought to be able to make a better newspaper of it and serve the evening field much better. The change is a very good one. With the resources at their command The Bulletin could and should be able to make a great improvement in the service to the evening field.

William H. Cruickshank, vice president and general manager of the Reid & Hughes Co.—Of course we are naturally interested as to what effect the change is going to have on advertising. The Reid & Hughes Co., in business here over 45 years, has always looked upon the two newspapers as landmarks in the community. Business relationships with both have been most pleasant and now that a change has been made we are pleased that the control is to be with local Norwich men.

Rutherford C. Plaut, president of The Plaut-Cadden Co.— We will certainly miss Mr. Pullen. I have never done business with a finer man. Consolidation seems to be the coming idea all over the country. We have seen it near here in the newspaper field in Providence where the Providence Journal and the Evening Bulletin are combined and it works out well. There seems to be no good reason why it should not be the same here and if we have as good success under the new joint management as we have had under the old we will be perfectly content.

Joseph M. Lahn, secretary and treasurer of Schwartz Bros., Inc.—I believe that with the support the Record will receive now from The Bulletin ownership and management they will put new life into it. They will have to get a larger circulation. The man who comes home at night wants to read interesting news of people and events somewhere in his own locality and I would advise an increase in the personal columns. The town needs an evening paper and I think The Bulletin ownership will give it to us through the Record. It will be better for both papers. I wish them all success

INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESSES FOR SOCIAL WORKERS COUNCIL

A joint meeting of the Social Workers council of New London and Windham counties and the Connecticut Child Welfare association was held at the Lighthouse inn, New London, Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 4 o'clock with luncheon at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins, county chairman of the Connecticut Child Welfare association, presided. About 200 attended. Among the Norwich organizations represented were the United Workers, Woman's City club, Business and Professional Women's club, Connecticut Child Welfare bureau, Children's Aid society and the Diocesan bureau.

A short business session of the Social Workers council preceded the interesting program arranged, which included an address by Mrs. Percy T. Walden on the subject, State Child Welfare association, its Past and Future. The second talk by Miss Ettienne Baldwin, visiting teacher of Greenwich, was on the topic, Teaching the Problem Child, her discourse proving unusually interesting and instructive. The next speaker was Kenneth Messenger, new state commissioner of child welfare, who spoke interestingly on the Juvenile Court and Child Welfare bureau, at the conclusion of which Miss Mabel Matthews, social worker for the Mansfield State Training school, furnished her listeners with a synopsis of the work of the training school in Connecticut and the need for its extension. The speakers were given a rising vote of thanks for their fine discourses, after which the meeting adjourned.

NORWICH MINISTERS TO HEAR TWO SPEAKERS

Walter F. Lester, chairman of the town school board, is to be a speaker at the monthly meeting of the Norwich Ministers Ass'n which will be held at noon next Monday at the chapel of the First Congregational church of Norwich town. His subject will be "Problem of the Norwich Evening Schools."

Rev. Dr. Cornelius H. Patton of Boston, secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions will speak on "The Present Outlook of World Missions." Dr. Patton has lately returned from extensive travels in the far east.

The meeting will be under the auspices of the women of the church and after the lunch and the addresses there will be a business session.

LADIES OF COLUMBUS WERE HOSPITABLY ENTERTAINED

The delegates from the Catholic Ladies of Columbus of this city who attended the 13th annual convention at New Haven held Friday and Saturday, this being the first time it was so held, are very enthusiastic in their reports of the treatment which they received at the hands of the Elm City assembly. From the time of their arrival to departure their reception was marked by hospitality, courtesy and consideration in every detail. The program was as follows: Address of welcome, Mrs. J. Carroll, state lecturer; addresses by Father Casey and Chaplain F. May; exemplification of degree, by Danbury team, choir and drill; and 9 o'clock mass at St. Mary's church on Saturday morning; address by Rev. Fr. Baxter; 10 o'clock business meeting at Fraternal hall; 1.15 reports and election of officers. The 72 delegates present were entertained during their stay. A banquet was held Saturday evening at the Hotel Garde and the speakers were Rev. Fr. Baxter, pastor of St. Mary's, Miss Charlotte Molyneaux Holloway, state industrial investigator for Connecticut. When nominations were called for Miss May Conklin of Elm City assembly in a fitting and well chosen speech nominated for president Mrs. Margaret Dutton of Norwich who has been a signally successful president of this organization for the past two years and whose unflagging zeal and energy have always kept the organization in an enviable position. Mrs. Dutton and her entire staff of officers were unanimously elected amidst resounding applause. So appreciative are the directors and officers of the organization of the arduous tasks that confront and have confronted their president that they have passed a resolution pledging themselves to assist and relieve her in all possible ways. Miss Lucy Murphy, president of Mercier assembly, was appointed a director on the state board. One of the many pleasant features of the convention was the presentation of a bouquet of roses in yellow and white, the colors of the assembly, to Mrs. Dutton by Elm City assembly. The next annual convention will be held at South Manchester.

RED CROSS CHAPTER MEMBERS TO MEET WITH MISS TYLER

Miss Edna L. Tyler of New London, is to entertain the Chapter Development committee of the New London Red Cross chapter and representatives from the nine branches of the chapter, Montville, Groton, Noank, Mystic, Stonington, Waterford, East Lyme, Niantic, Lyme and Old Lyme at tea at her home, The Elm in Gardner avenue, Saturday afternoon next at 2.30.

Tom Speirs in Band

Thomas C. Speirs, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Speirs of Mohegan avenue, New London has passed the military band test at Lehigh university and is now playing in the college military band. Mr. Spiers, a freshman at Lehigh, was graduated from Chapman Technical High school in June.

MRS. L. T. GARDNER SAILING TO PASS WINTER IN ITALY

The coming Saturday, a former Norwich resident, Mrs. Leila Troland Gardner, the New York singer is to sail on the Italian liner Duilio to remain in Italy all winter. In association with musical friends she is to teach English diction to singers. In May, she will go to France and the British Isles.

A short time ago, while visiting in Washington, Mrs. Gardner sang at the Walter Reed hospital to 800 invalid boys under the Red Cross. It was a great triumph for the singer over her sorrow, since a short time ago her husband, Herbert M. Gardner died at their New York home. So earnest an effort did Mrs. Gardner make to please her listeners that she had 12 recalls.

Mrs. Gardner is the niece of John Troland, of Winchester Place, Norwich and is a native of this city.

FORMER PUPILS GREETING TEACHER, SISTER MADELEINE

Sister M. Madeleine, of Hartford, who has been spending a few days at St. Patrick's convent, Perkins avenue, was a teacher in Norwich 20 years ago in St. Patrick's school for 22 years and later in St. Mary's school for six years. A number of Sister Madeleine's former pupils have improved the opportunity to call on their devoted and revered teacher, the reunions being very pleasant. Sister Madeleine was accompanied from St. Michael's convent, Westerly, where she had spent several days by Sister M. Rosalie, of Westerly convent.

FIRE IN LEAVES IN THE OAK STREET CEMETERY

The fire department received a call at 10:02 o'clock Tuesday evening from a resident in the Oak street district for a supposed fire in a tree in the Oak street cemetery. On arrival of the deputy chief, who responded, it was found that the blaze was in a pile of leaves, which had been set by someone, who had evidently left without ascertaining if it had burned out. Three gallons of chemical were used to extinguish the blaze.

Rally Day at Salem

Rally day was observed in the Salem churches Sunday. Rev. Sherrod Soule of Hartford conducted the morning service in the Congregational church also the afternoon service at the Paugwank meetinghouse, when the 150th anniversary of the birthday of Lorenzo Dow, the far-famed evangelist, who often preached in that locality, was celebrated. The services were largely attended by residents of Colchester, Montville and other towns. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were the lunch at the close of the services.

Called For Automobile Fire.

Tuesday afternoon at 1.50 o'clock the fire department answered a call for an automobile fire in front of No. 22 Cliff street. A Nash touring car owned by Joseph Poplaski of Colchester had caught fire from a relay switch. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Evelyn M. Copeland, who lives nearby.

For Mohawk Trail Trip

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Freeman of Union street, Miss Maude Delaney and Miss Iona Breckenridge leave this (Tuesday) morning for an automobile trip over the Mohawk trail.

TAFTVILLE

Sunday afternoon the newly elected officers of Ponemah council, No. 34, Knights of Columbus were installed at Parish hall by District Deputy John Hennon of Jewett City. Following the ceremony of installation there was a social hour and the members listened to a very interesting talk by District Deputy Hennon about his recent trip to Oregon. Refreshments and cigars were served by a committee which had the matter in charge.

Victor Chartier of North A street is spending the next several weeks in Canada with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Belval and Mrs. Maltida Caron of Riverside grove entertained over the week end Mr. and Mrs. William Martel and their children Eleanor and Richard and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lindberg, all of Brockton, Mass.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Benevolent society of the Taftville Congregational church is to be omitted on Wednesday because of the supper and social which the members are planning for the evening.

Kiepetovsky, the Samoyede dog bred at Rurik kennels completed his championship at the Newton, Mass., show last Saturday, according to the American Kennel club records. This dog, who is a son of Champion Snyeg has gone to winners at four shows in succession in the face of as strong competition as has been benched in New England in many years.

URGES THE REGULATION OF TEXTILE MANUFACTURING

Proposal Made by Walker D. Hines, President of the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc.—Would Have Individual Manufacturers Strive to Anticipate Increase or Decrease in Demand—Warns Against the Danger in Flutuating Prices—Six Mills of the Quidnick-Windham Cotton Manufacturing Co Are to Be Sold Between Nov. 8 and 12.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—Regulation of textile manufacturing by the individual manufacturer to meet increase or decrease in demand, and research to find new uses and new fields for cotton goods, were urged by Walter D. Hines, president of the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc., in his first annual report to institute members today.

"We see shining examples of sensible and sound methods in the steel and automobile industries where production goes up when demand goes up and goes down when demand goes down, and there does not exist any destructive instability of price to the disadvantage of customers nor to the producers and their employes," Mr. Hines said.

Mr. Hines stated that information now available concerning supply and demand "ought to enable a cotton manufacturer by close attention to appreciate when the time approaches, as is natural some time in the near or remote future, when demand for cotton textile products will fall below the existing high level of production.

"The cotton textile manufacturer and his customers are at best sufficiently confronted with danger of fluctuating prices, due to the great possibilities, year in and year out, of fluctuations in the price of raw cotton. Certainly it is in the interest of everybody, from the grower of cotton throughout the processes of manufacture and distribution, that additional elements of instability shall not be created by a failure to pay intelligent attention to the reasonable relationship that ought to exist between the amount of production and the amount of prospective demand.

Increasing the demand for cotton textile products, Mr. Hines believes, is one of the most important branches of the institute's work. That, in connection with keeping the manufacturer informed of the demand for his product, should be the principal work of the institute, he said.

"We have in this country," he continued, "a population with a purchasing power which it is difficult to exaggerate. There is also a tremendous purchasing power abroad which in many countries is almost wholly latent up to the present time. Our work in this direction, therefore, involves a world wide field."

Mr. Hines urged all members to "encourage the adoption of sound cost accounting principles where those principles are not now observed."

The habit of "working together in these matters and of discussing them with the utmost frankness, recognizing that openness of method is far superior to any method of individual secretiveness, will vastly strengthen our industry," Mr. Hines declared.

"I am delighted to be able to say that we are beginning to see the evidence of the psychological effect of working together for the broad purposes of the institute. The central organization and group organizations all constitute machinery to be used in this organized effort. It is not only gratifying that we have these facilities, it is even more gratifying that there i sa manifest spirit to use them," he said.

SIX QUIDNICK-WINDHAM COTTON MILLS TO BE SOLD

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 19—(AP)—Six cotton mills, capable of giving employment to nearly 1,000 hands, are to go on the auction block here and in Quidnick, R. I., between November 8 and 12 next, it was announced here today by Agent Walter D. Knight of the Quidnick-Windham Cotton Manufacturing company.

The order for sale is to satisfy a judgment rendered in Windham county superior court October 7, in the foreclosure suit brought by the Rhode Island Hospital Trust company of Providence, R. I.

The Quidnick branch, including three mills capable of employing from 500 to 600 workers, besides more than 50 tenements and the machinery of the plant, is to be offered for sale November 8 and 9. About half of the original 106 tenements have been disposed of at private sale.

The local branch also includes three mills, capable of employing about 400 workers, together with 15 houses and 51 parcels of listed land. The local property is at present assessed on the grand list at $340,000. It is to be offered for sale November 10, 11 and 12.

Both plants of the company have been closed since November 1, 1926, and in the hands of a receiver, who has tried vainly to dispose of them at private sale.

The competition of southern mills, situated so as to produce more cheaply, was blamed by Agent Knight for the failure of the concern.

OFFICERS OF THE COTTON TEXTILE INSTITUTE, INC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—Walter B. Hines, late today was re-elected by the board of directors as president of the Cotton Textile Institute Inc. Stuart W. Cramer, of Cramerton, N. C., and Robert Amory, of Boston, were elected vice-presidents. Gerrish H. Milliken, of New York, was re-elected treasurer and George A. Sloan, of New York, secretary.

Last year's executive committee of 18 members was continued in office with T. M. Marchant, of Greenville, S. C., taking the place of B. E. Geer, of Greeneville.

EARL CARROLL'S HEALTH IMPROVED IN PRISON

ATLANTA, G., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Earl Carroll will start his return to the bright lights of Broadway tomorrow after more than four months in the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

And that gay thoroughfare will find him a heavier, stronger, man than it formerly knew, in the opinion of Dr. Charles T. Nellans, the prison physician, who has watched his condition carefully since the New York theatrical producer entered the prison to begin serving his term of a year and a day.

Physically he has been benefited considerably by his stay in the penitentiary and when he walks through the gates a free man he will carry some 25 or 30 pounds additional weight, Dr. Nellans said.

"Carroll is a healthy man physically," he added. "We cannot say, of course, to what extent his mental strain has affected him. He has gained weight steadily and looks strong, and well. He could still stand a few more pounds, though without being fat. He has spent considerable time out of doors and his appetite has been in proportion to such open air exercise."

SPEEDING AUTOMOBILE TURNED OVER THREE TIMES

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Speeding toward New London, Conn., upon receipt of the news that he had become the father of an eight pound boy, Arthur S. Fox, former Brown athlete and now baseball coach at Williams college, nearly met death today when his automobile skidded and turned completely over thre times. He escaped with minor injuries, however. The accident occurred when Fox made a quick stop to avoid striking another machine.

SEC'Y KELLOGG CONFERRED WITH SENATOR BINGHAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Secretary Kellogg was in conference at the state department today regarding the Chinese situation with Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, who returned a few weeks ago from an extended Far Eastern tour. The precise purpose of the conference was not disclosed, further than that the secretary had desired to get a first hand statement of the senator's experiences and views in regard to the present disturbed conditions in China.

Minister MacMurray, who has been in the United States on leave after having been called home for conferences, will return to his post at Peking early next month.

BOSTON BOUND SCHOONER AGROUND ON TURKS ISLAND

AIRMAN STINSON STILL 30 MILES SHORT OF GOAL

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 19—(AP)—Eddie Stinson, round-the-rim flier due in Rochester late this afternoon, fell about thirty miles short of his goal when fog and rain forced him to land in an open field near Marion.

Stinson left Boston at 1.55 o'clock this afternoon with five passengers in his Stinson-Detroiter cabin monoplane and expected to make Rochester in four hours. About fifty miles from the city, the party encountered the storm area that had been hanging over the city all day, and after battling the elements for an hour decided to make a landing.

Sidney H. Bentley, a brother-in-law of the flier, and a party of friends began to fear for the safety of the aviator when he failed to arrive on scheduled time and no word from him was received. They had been waiting in the rain at the aviation field here more than an hour, when they finally learned the monoplane was down.

WOMAN ESCAPES FROM THE NEW HAVEN COUNTY JAIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—While supposedly engaged in her duties in the private kitchen at the New Haven county jail tonight, Mrs. Lillian Penfield of Hartford, serving a year for bigamy, walked away without attracting attention.

Mrs. Penfield, sentenced about the last of September in superior court, after she had confessed to having husbands both here and in Hartford, was a trusty at the jail.

Police tonight were conducting a general search for the woman, with no clue as to where she had gone.

CUT ANKLES WITH AXE AND SLOWLY BLED TO DEATH

MORRILL, Me., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Placing a quilt on the floor and sitting with her back to a wall in one of the rooms in her home here today, Mrs. Abbie Morrill Merriam, aged about 54, cut both ankles with an axe and slowly bled to death.

Her body was discovered by members of her family, which besides her husband, Herman Merriam, consists of seven children. A fit of temporary insanity was thought to have caused her act.

ONECO, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Frank Perry, 7, was drowned in Marriott's quarry pond, just over the state line in Coventry, R. I., this afternoon. The boy is believed to have been playing around the small pond and fallen in. His cries were heard by his sister, Clarabelle, 14, who went to his aid and was herself saved by their father, who brought the boy's body to shore. The family had lived here until within a few weks

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

LONDON, Oct. 19—(AP)—Resolutions favoring the bringing of the spirit of the league of nations into home and industrial affairs and urging that the influence and the authority of Great Britain should be exercised to promote peace and disarmament were adopted today by the executive council of the liberal party in session here.

LONDON, Oct. 19—(AP)—An American widow who described herself as the agent of an American oil company and gave her name as Mrs. Dorothy Amber McMillan was sentenced to serve six months imprisonment today when convicted of obtaining $5,000 by false pretense. Mrs. McMillan's victim was a woman of comparatively humble means.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 19—(AP)—Eager to complete their great flight from Paris to Buenos Aires, the French aviators Dieudonne Costes and Lieutenant Joseph Le Brix, took off from Rio Janeiro at 5:27 this morning for the Argentine capital. But they were halted on the way by unfavorable weather. A message received by the French embassy from the consul at Rio Grande Do Sul, reported that the Frenchmen were forced to land at Pelotas, Brazil. They had flown a distance of something more than 800 miles from Rio, and had about 400 miles to go.

RESIGNS FROM KU KLUX KLAN AND DENOUNCES THE ORDER

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 19—(AP)—In a denunciation of the activities of the Ku Klux Klan in the state of Alabama in which he said that he is convinced "that the organization is in the hands of a lawless leadership," Attorney General Charles C. McCall tonight tendered his unconditional resignation from the organization.

The attorney general, who brought to light the recent floggings in Onconta, Blound and Crenshaw counties and personally directed the prosecution in the outgrowing cases, charged that "instead of aiding the constituted authorities in their efforts to ferret out crimes committed by Klan members, leaders of the organization have spread a wave of intimidation over many law abiding citizens therein, and have dealt in caustic and cowardly remarks concerning the motives of officers of the law who have sought and are seeking to enforce the law."

"When I entered the Klan I sincerely believed in these principles and I sincerely believed that the Kan practiced, as well as pronounced them," Mr. McCall declared. "However, in the course of my investigation of the activities of the Klan in this state I have become convinced that it is not the purpose or intent of its leaders to aid the duly constituted officers of the law in their efforts to enforce the criminal laws where crimes are committed by its leadership. I have become personally convinced that many of these crimes by hooded mobs which I have investigated have been plotted and planned by Klan leaders and the perpetrators of those crimes have encouraged and shielded in the commission there."

BODY OF WEALTHY MAN FOUND IN SHALLOW HOLE

TWIN LAKES, Colorado, Oct. 19—(AP)—His neck broke by a fall into a shallow prospect hole, the body of Richard L. Mather, wealthy resident of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was found near here today. Mather had been missing since October 2nd, when he started to climb the lofty slopes of Mount Elbert.

A short time after he started his ascent a blizzard swept the peak and the New York man evidently was rushing for shelter when he stumbled into the five foot hole that caused his death. He was near the base of the peak and only about two miles from a well traveled road.

Searching parties set out to hunt for Mather the same day that he began his climb. Experienced mountaineers made up the parties that searched the snow clad mountain for miles around.

Frederick Lovelace, power company official of Niagara Falls and stepfather of Mather arrived here several days ago and enlisted additional help. Yesterday Mather's gloves and field glasses were found near where his body was discovered today.

Mather was accompanied here by a Mrs. Mather. She remained at a hotel, where he started his climb. After disappeared dispatches from Niagara Falls said that Mather had a wife there who declared she had never been divorced from him.

Mather, who was 33 years old, was an experienced mountain climber and before he came here had ascended numerous peaks in the vicinity of Colorado Springs and Trinidad, Colorado.

COOLIDGE AT DEDICATION OF GEN. MEADE STATUE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—(AP)—A statue of Major General George Gordon Meade, commander of the union forces at the battle of Gettysburg, was accepted from Pennsylvania today by President Coolidge who braved a cold and rainy day to honor the Civil war commander.

Although partly shielded from the elements by a canvas canopy, the president laid aside his hat and overcoat when he read his speech accepting the memorial in behalf of the nation and waited afterwards in the increasingly chilly weather until the lengthy program was over.

During the ceremonies, H. H. H. Spayd, past commander of the Pennsylvania G. A. R., became exhausted during a recital of his experiences with General Meade and although he seemed about to collapse in front of Mr. Coolidge, doggedly kept on.

Colonel Blanton Blinship, aide to the president, finally induced him to sit down and Major James F. Coupal, the white house physician, went to his aid. He soon revived.

Accepting the memorial of General Meade, the president paid the union commander a high tribute, describing him as "a responsible and reliable commander," whom none surpassed in courage.

ENGINEER KILLED IN LACKAWANNA WRECK

TOWANDA, Pa., Oct. 19—(AP)—Lackawanna passenger train No. 28 struck a washout about three miles east of Hallstead, Susquehanna county, tonight, and the engine and four cars crashed down a bank.

Engineer Esterbrook of Scranton and his fireman, whose name was not learned, were killed and the mail clerk and baggage clerk were seriously injured.

The baggage car, mail car, and two express cars plunged down a 20-foot embankment and piled on top of the engine. The passenger cars all remained on the tracks but the passengers were severely shaken.

Red Cross Drive For 5,000,000 Members

Will Ender[illegible] Next Month to Increa[illegible]mbership From Pres[illegible],000,000.

MERI[illegible], Oct. 19—(AP)—The American Red Cross will ask for five million interested citizens to join its membership ranks instead of the present three million at the annual membership drive next month, James T. Nicholson, assistant manager of the eastern Red Cross area, stated in an address at a Connecticut state regional conference held here today.

Fully 150 delegates from the various chapters of the state attended the session, and addresses were given by several national Red Cross officials relative to the work of the organization.

Other speakers at the conference were Major Thomas J. Bannigan, head of the United States veterans' bureau regional office at Hartford; A. L. Schafer, assistant regional director of the Junior Red Cross; Miss I. Malinde Havey, assistant director of public health nursing of the American Red Cross, and Miss Edith Spray, assistant director of post war service of the American Red Cross.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—(AP)—Governor Al Smith, of New York, has "won the west" Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, declared here today, upon his return from a trip through that section.

Appealing to the "generosity and sense of fairness of the south," Senator Copeland asserted in a long statement that "all that is now essential to the nomination of Governor Smith as the democratic candidate and his election as president is for the south, the cradle of democracy, to support his candidacy."

On the basis of his western canvass, the New York senator insisted Governor Smith will go into the convention next year with the delegations from California, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado. Most of the delegations, he added, from the Mississippi valley including Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois will be for Smith.

"Add to these," his statement continued, "the votes from New England and the Atlantic coast states and it becomes apparent that Governor Smith will have a majority in the convention before we come to consider the vote from the 'solid south.'

"The opposition to Governor Smith in the so-caled 'solid south,' I am convinced, is not as strong as it has been represented. Some of the most substantial citizens of Dixie and have told me that they are convinced that Governor Smith is the only democrat who can win next year and that the entire solid south will vote for him in the elections."

FREED BY COURT MARTIAL OF RECKLESS FLYING CHARGE

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 19—(AP)—Found not guilty by a court martial late today of one charge of perjury, Lieutenant George Finch, of Selfridge field, Mich., tonight faced a second charge of perjury and one of using profane language in addressing enlisted men.

The charges against the young aviator grew out of his alleged reckless and low flying May 1, when he left a squadron with which he was flying from Selfridge field to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and circled about the home of his wife's parents here. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Royal J. Miller, testified yesterday that Finch flew so low over her home that her daughter, ill at the time, almost went into convulsions.

The verdict of the court today freed the officer of the charge of perjury brought against him in connection with his alleged violation of army regulations prohibiting "reckless" flying.

The verdict was returned after the prosecution had rested its case, the ten officers comprising the court retiring and taking a secret ballot on the charges.

The remaining charge of perjury grew out of his testimony at a hearing in Washington over the incident.

WEATHER STILL AGAINST FLIGHT FOR COPENHAGEN

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, Oct. 19—(AP)—A northeast rain storm, with low-hanging fogs which drenched Old Orchard throughout the day, forced the crew of the Sikorsky plane, The Dawn, to turn to pursuits other than aviation today.

The mechanics found it impossible even to work on the plane, so cold and damp was everything they touched. The weighing of the plane, with its full load and testing and correcting of the landing gear retraction, were put over until tomorrow.

Mrs. Frances W. Grayson and others of her party drove to Sanford, about 25 miles west of here, for luncheon with the Kiwanis club at noon. The afternoon was spent in shopping in Biddeford and Portland, while those who remained at the hotel clung close to the warmth of the fireplace. Tonight the party attended special services at the Congregational church in Saco.

With apparently no probability of the weather becoming favorable to a second start before Saturday or Sunday, there was much speculation as to the time limit within which a flight might be attempted.

BISHOP IN DEFIANCE OF ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY

LONDON, Oct. 19—(AP)—"No man shall drive me to Tennessee or to Rome."

This striking declaration, made today in a long open letter to the archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, is the bishop of Birmingham's answer to the sensational protest made by Canon G. R. Bullock-Webster last Sunday to the bishop's presence in the pulpit of historic St. Paul's cathedral, known to the British throughout the world as "the parish church house of the empire."

Dean Ince of St. Paul's cathedral also figured in today's developments in the latest flurry in the church of England over the "Anglo-Catholic" question by sending a blunt letter to Canon Bullock-Webster demanding a full apology for the latter's scandalous and disgraceful behavior in brawling in the cathedral

Sinclair Defense in Teapot Dome Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—(AP)—With bold strokes which the defense frequently sought to stay, special oil counsel began unfolding today the story of the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval reserve, on which they will ask a jury in the District of Columbia supreme court to find Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair guilty of conspiracy to defraud the government.

Before presentation of direct evidence began, Martin W. Littleton concluded his preliminary statement for the defense in which he promised that there would be no evidence to show that Sinclair ever had any connection with any of the $200,500 in Liberty bonds which reached Fall or his relatives—a transaction which forms a high point in the government case.

Soon after Littleton had concluded his, at times, dramatic address to the two women and ten men jurors, the government put on the stand one of its most important witnesses, Edward C. Finney, first assistant secretary of the interior under Fall and still holding that job. Previously it had placed in evidence the leases and contracts affecting Teapot Dome.

From Finney, Owen J. Roberts for the government elicited the direct statement that Fall took out of the hands of his associates in the interior department the handling of the Teapot Dome reserve and personally conducted the negotiations with Sinclair for its lease.

Moreover, Finney said, Fall had imposed upon his associates concerning the lease, which lay locked in his desk for days while senators and others vainly sought information as to whether there was intention to execute one.

Replying frequently upon documentary evidence, which Finney identified, the government showed that in leasing Teapot Dome to Sinclair without public notice and competitive bidding, Fall departed from a practice obtaining both as to wells leased in the naval oil reserves in California and the public oil lands in the Salt Creek field of Wyoming, adjacent to Teapot Dome.

Sinclair's lease called for royalties on extracted oil ranging from 12 1-2 per cent. to fifty per cent. whereas the evidence was that the royalties fixed by the government on the Salt Creek field lands was from 25 per cent. to 33 1-3 per cent. plus a cash bonus for the leases themselves.

RUDDERLESS SCHOONER HAS BEEN TAKEN IN TOW

CAPE MAY, N. J., Oct. 19—(AP)—The schooner Elizabeth Bandi, which lost its rudder in the northeast gale that swept the Delaware capes last night, was taken in tow today by a coast guard cutter and a patrol boat from base No. 9.

With the seas still running high, the cutter and patrol boat crews made several attempts before they finally succeeded in getting a line to the disabled schooner, which for several hours had been anchored eight miles off Five Fathom bank. After making the line fast, the little craft headed for the Delaware breakwater, where they were expected to arrive late tonight. The schooner is owned by Walter L. Reed of Bath, Maine.

The coast guard cutter Gresham managed to get a rope around the Neptune line barge Old Dominion, which also had been anchored in the vicinity of Five Fathom bank after having broken adrift from the tug Jupiter last night. Previously the Gresham had taken off the two members of the barge's crew. The Old Dominion also was towed to the Delaware breakwater.

Both the Elizabeth Bandi and the Old Dominion were tossed about by the heavy seas for many hours, but neither was believed to have been seriously damaged. Commander Addison, of Coast Guard base No. 9, said the loss of its rudder was the only damage suffered by the schooner and that the barge was reported to have weathered the storm in "fine shape."

STRUGGLE BETWEEN COAL MINERS AND OPERATORS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 19—(AP)—The struggle between the United Mine Workers and Ohio coal operators became more intense today with the granting of federal court protection to five more mining companies in their plans to operate on a non-union basis.

The companies granted federal protection by District Judge Benson W. Hough, were the Central Coal Mining company, the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal company, the Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal and Mining company and the United States Coal Mining company, all of Cleveland, and the Cambria Coal Mining company of Toledo. They operate 16 mines in Belmont and Jefferson counties.

Judge Hough's order granting the five companies protection was supplementary to an order granted last August to four other companies operating in the eastern fields, restraining officials of the miners union from molesting them in their efforts to operate their mines with non-union labor. It also prescribes the method of picketing to be employed by the union.

United States Marshal Stanley Bothwick now is enforcing the August order with 25 special deputies. Others will be needed to carry out the court's orders in the five cases today, he said.

COLORADO COAL MINERS CONTINUE THEIR STRIKE

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 19—(AP)—Coal miners in Colorado peaceably continued their strike for higher wages and shorter hours while the state took steps to warn them against illegal activities to enforce their demands.

Conflicting claims of success came from both the operators and the Industrial Workers of the World, who fostered the walkout. The I. W. W. claimed the strike was gaining momentum and that additional men would join approximately 4,000 who left their jobs yesterday. Operators reported more men were at work than yesterday in the southern fields.

GERMAN PLANE AT LISBON, PORTUGAL UNTIL SATURDAY

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 19—(AP)—The Heinkel D-1220, which arrived here yesterday from Vigo, on the way from Germany to the United States, will remain here until Saturday. The hopoff for the Azores, which has been tentatively fixed for today, was postponed on account of unfavorable weather.

SPECIALISTS DISAGREE ON THE EFFECT OF PROHIBITION

Dr. Haven Emerson of Columbia University Contends That Public Health Has Benefited—Basing His Findings on Mortality Statistics, Dr. Louis Dublin of New York Maintains "That Prohibition Has Not Been Effective in Decreasing the Mortality Rate of Adult men."

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 19—(AP)—The effect of prohibition upon public health was traced by two noted health specialists who used different methods and reached different "yes" and "no" conclusions before the American Public Health association today.

Basing his conclusions upon an "indirect rather than direct evidence," Dr. Haven Emerson of Columbia university, New York, said that public health had benefited.

Basing his conclusions upon mortality statistics extending over a period of years, Dr. Louis Dublin of New York, said that "prohibition has not been effective in decreasing the mortality rate of adult men."

Dr. Dublin, statistician for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, computed his findings over a comparison of alcoholism mortality from 1900 to 1917 inclusive and 1921 to 1926 inclusive excepting the years 1918, 1919 and 1920 because they were marked by severe epidemics.

Dr. Emerson computed his findings on the general economic condition, school population, juvenile and home records and divorce and jail records.

Dr. Dublin's statistics showed that "it is only too clear that what the great body of working men do drink now, even in smaller quantities, is of such a deleterious nature as to be of no advantage in health to them. The death rate from alcoholism and kindred illnesses is now three times as high as it was only six years ago."

Dr. Dublin concluded however, that prohibition has had a favorable effect upon about one half of the population. He said the death rate for adult men in such diseases as heart disease, kidney trouble and pneumonia were also on an increase but that it was impossible to tell what degree indulgence in alcohol would explain those increases.

Other officers elected were: Director of Public health, Dr. William Peters of Cincinnati; vice presidents, George W. Fuller, New York and Dr. James Roberts, Hamilton, Ont.; Dr. Louis Dublin of New York was re-elected treasurer and Homer N. Calver was re-elected secretary.

WHEELER RESIGNS FROM DRY ENFORCEMENT BUREAU

HARTFORD, Oct. 19—(AP)—James E. Wheeler, chief of field forces of the United States prohibition enforcement bureau, announced today that he had tendered his resignation to Deputy Prohibition Administrator Frank T. Putney. Mr. Wheeler gave ill health as the reason for his leaving the service at this time and denied that the recent re-organization in any way influenced the move.

Mr. Putney acknowledged receipt of Mr. Wheeler's resignation and said that the papers had been forwarded to George A. Parker, administrator of Boston, now in charge of the Connecticut district. Mr. Putney declared that Mr. Wheeler had been a valuable member of the bureau and that his absence would be a serious loss to the Conecticut bureau.

If accepted, Mr. Wheeler's resignation would become effective November 15.

In addition to his duties as supervisor of the field forces of the Connecticut bureau, Mr. Wheeler has acted as assistant to the deputy administrator. He assisted at revocation hearings and, to a large extent, aided in the direction of the routine business of the Hartford office.

DRAMATIC SCENE IN THE PETLURA MURDER TRIAL

PARIS, Oct. 19—(AP)—An unexpected demonstration of a phase of the assassination of General Simon Petlura brought gasps of surprise from spectators at the murder trial of Samue Schwartzbard today in the court of assizes.

After talking with the girl's mother, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, who came here with the dancer three years ago to seek fame and fortune on the Great White way, police officially listed the death as accidental.

Miss Johnson's father, Earl Johnson, of Kansas City, was notified of his daughter's death and police were given to understand that the girl's body would be taken to her home city for burial.

Mrs. Johnson told police that the dancer had arisen but a few minutes before the fall, which occurred in midmorning. She complained of dissiness, the mother said, and went to the open window for fresh air.

Then there was a flash of green silk pajamas through the air and the girl's last audience, persons attracted to the windows of buildings in the Times square district by the sound of her fall, looked down upon the crumpled body that would leap and sway and spin to the rythms of the dance no more.

TOM LEWIS, VETERAN STAGE COMEDIAN, DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—Tom Lewis, veteran stage comedian, whose home was in Boston, died today at Roosevelt hospital. He had been ill for some time but until a few days ago was able to appear in vaudeville in and about New York.

His last extended engagement here was as co-star with Will Rogers in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1925. Before that he had appeared as comedian in "Helen of Troy, New York", but most of his work was on the vaudeville stage. He is survived by his widow, who accompanied him on most of his theatrical tours.

Mr. Lewis was 64 years old and had been in theatrical work for 51 years. At the age of 12, he ran away from the place of his birth, St. Johns, N. B., to Boston.

There he became an apprentice acrobat with a vaudeville troupe. Later he barnstormed as a blackface comedian with the Wilkinsons' troupe. With one of this troupe, Jimie Pell, he formed a team that was known for many years as Pell and Lewis.

FINED FOR GAMING ON A PUBLIC CONVEYANCE

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 19.—(AP)—James Doty, 31, and Harry Collins, both of New York, were fined $200 each and given suspended six months jail sentences in city court here today for gaming on a public conveyance.

Both men were also fined $50 for resisting a police officer. They were arrested last Saturday on a New York-Boston Express.

Pasquale Toto, 21, of Thornton, R. I., arrested with Doty and Collins on similar charges was discharged.

It was said that a group of four New York men boarded the train in New York and soon began a card game with Toto. Officer Clark, of the railroad police, attempted to place all five men under arrest as the train neared Bridgeport.

Two of the five men escaped in the ensuing struggle. Railroad police assisted Clark in taking the three men from the train here.

SOLO DANCER KILLED BY FALL FROM HOTEL WINDOW

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—Jane Johnson, an 18-year-old solo dancer from Kansas City, was instantly killed today in a fall from the window of her 13th story room in the Hotel Claridge.

After talking with the girl's mother, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, who came here with the dancer three years ago to seek fame and fortune on the Great White way, police officially listed the death as accidental.

Miss Johnson's father, Earl Johnson, of Kansas City, was notified of his daughter's death and police were given to understand that the girl's body would be taken to her home city for burial.

Mrs. Johnson told police that the dancer had arisen but a few minutes before the fall, which occurred in midmorning. She complained of dissiness, the mother said, and went to the open window for fresh air.

Then there was a flash of green silk pajamas through the air and the girl's last audience, persons attracted to the windows of buildings in the Times square district by the sound of her fall, looked down upon the crumpled body that would leap and sway and spin to the rythms of the dance no more.

SUIT AGAINST "BANISHED" MEMBERS OF THE KLAN

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19—(AP)—Misuse of $75,000,000 alleged to have been collected by the Ku Klux Klan in Pennsylvania was charged against the organization in an amended answer filed in federal court today by defendants in a suit brought by the Klan to prevent five "banished" members from using the name of the organization in their activities.

The Klan suit also asked $100,000 damages on the grounds that the defendants had collected that sum belonging to the order aft er their dismissal. The five, in retaliation, filed suit for an injunction to restrain the Klan from operating in Pennsylvania and asked appointment of a receiver.

The amended answer, charged that the Klan was responsible for riots, flogging, murders and kidnapings in Pennsylvania. Part of the money, the answer said, went toward "building a $20,000,000 palace for the imperial wizard at Atlanta, Ga." and to the "purchasing of a diamond tiara, valued at $30,000 to $100,000 for the imperial commander or chief officer of women of the Klan."

WILLIMANTIC

FIRE DEPT. CALLED OUT FOR SUPPOSED FIRE

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 19—Engine Co. No. 1 responded with the hook and ladder and pumper about 7:30 o'clock tonight to a telephone call for a supposed fire at 936 Main street in a house owned and occupied by Mrs. James D. LaBelle. Mrs. LaBelle had been notified that her roof was afire. About the time the firemen arrived it was discovered there was nothing but smoke coming from the chimney caused by the burning of a wood fire in the stove.

Edwin J. Donnelly, state president of Exchange and member of the local club, addressed the Willimantic organization at the weekly meeting held in the Nathan Hale hotel tonight. His subject generalized on the administration of the National Exchange and the principles of service clubs. There was a good attendance at the meeting, which was in charge of President C. C. Case.

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton Meloney, widow of Attorney George W. Meloney who was at one time corporation counsel of the city and a prominent local lawyer died early this morning in St. Joseph's hospital. She was born in Ware, Mass., June 15, 1851, a daughter of Paul and Maria Tiffany Hamilton. The deceased and Attorney Meloney were united in marriage in this city in 1892. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Lizzie Sadd of this city. Mrs. Meloney had resided here since 1871 and was a member of the First Congregational church.

A continuance until Saturday was granted in police court this morning in the case of Florimond Guay, 18, of Chaplin, charged with tampering with a motor vehicle. Guay was arrested on a charge of theft of automobile parts including a motor meter and a generator from a Ford car owned by Stanley Erahens. The arrest was made by Constable Trenor A. Rice of Chaplin. Guay's attorney requested more time to investigate the case and the court released the accused on a bond of $100 furnished by Julius N. Guay, Sr., father of the accused. A continuance was also granted in the case of Frank Rousseau of this city charged with breach of the peace following trouble at his home on Union street.

Mrs. Harry Burnham of Newton, Mass., chairman of the department of home-making of the general federation was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Woman's club held in the afternoon. Mrs. Burnham chose for her subject, The Three R's of Home-Making, on the theory thatw hile the problems of home-making differ with localities, the fundamentals are the same. She also took into consideration the facilities of preparing a meal from canned foods and the products of the delicatessen. She defined the first R as Religion—the practical workable kind which means honesty, kindness and love of nature. The second R Mrs. Burnham said was Ryhthm—ability to hear the music of living underneath the noise of life, and the third R as Risibility, the power of laughter.

The funeral services for Mrs. Emma A. McCracken were held at one o'clock this afternoon at the family home, 55 Mountain street. Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock of the First Congregational church officiated. Miss L. Monica McKeon rendered two vocal selections. The bearers were Irving Franklin, Frank Chase, Frank Lewis, Edward Lewis, Herbert Franklin and George Lewis. Burial was in the family plot at the Willimantic cemetery. Arrangements were by the J. C. Lincoln company.

Through a misunderstanding of dates it was stated in an article published Wednesday morning that the schools of the town and city would be closed next Friday for the teachers' convention. This was erroneous as the teachers' convention is scheduled for Friday, October 28, one week from next Friday. The date of the convention appears in error in the school calendar contained in the annual report of the town school committee.

Willard Mack,
Noted Author, Producer and Actor,
writes:

"We people of the theatre are, as a rule, extremists. This is the reflex action from overwrought nerves. When a man smokes forty cigarettes a day, as I do, he must be sure of his brand. I smoke Lucky Strikes because I have found they are soothing to the nerves and at the same time they cause no throat irritation. My voice is always in perfect condition and I am never troubled by any coughing which might be annoying to me in my work as an actor."

Willard Mack

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation - No Cough.

POETRY

In the Night

Fog in the hollows—moon beyond the hill;
In dew-drenched meadow, bright with fireflies,
How like a spirit calls the whip-poor-will:
Ghostly his sweet voice rises, fades and dies.
Now near, now far—unearthly, crystal clear—
Through long dark hours his mellow note is heard,
But seek him—and by day he will appear
A spotted, dull, domestic sort of bird.

November woods, 'neath ragged scudding cloud;
Bare branches rattle; dead leaves sweep the ground;
And to the sleeper's ear there comes the loud
And horrid clamor of a hunting hound.
Slave hunters in the Dismal Swamps; wolves' eyes
In the Black Forest—these float through the brain;
The frightful beast, as sun begins to rise,
Trots home, a friendly, sad-eyed dog again.

How many fearful visions of the night—
How many sweet-tongued ghosts that lead astray,
Are banished with the coming of the light—
Become the well-loved things of every day!
Perhaps the pictured Streets of Gold that cloy
Our thoughts—perhaps the black and fearsome night
Called Death, shall fade and change, and to our joy
Be friendly and familiar—in the Light.

Nelson B. Wells, in Drift-Wind.

The Voiceless

We count the broken lyres that rest
Where the sweet wailing singers slumber,
But o'er their silent sister's breast
The wildflowers who will stoop to number?
A few can touch the magic string,
And noisy Fame is proud to win them—
Alas for those that never sing,
But die with all their music in them!

Nay, grieve not for the dead alone,
Whose song has told their hearts' sad story—
Weep for the voiceless, who have known
The cross without the crown of glory!
Not where Leucadian breezes sweep
Over Sappho's memory-haunted billow,
But where the glistening nightdews weep
On nameless sorrow's churchyard pillow.

O hearts that break and give no sign
Save whitening lip and fading tresses,
Till Death pours out his longed-for wine
Slow-dropped from Misery's crushing presses—
If singing breath or echoing chord
To every hidden pang were given,
What endless melodies were poured,
As sad as earth, as swet as heaven.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes

BROOKS-OLDUM WEDDING SOLEMNIZED AT DAYVILLE

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 19—This morning at St. Joseph's church in Dayville, at 8 o'clock, Miss May Katherine Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Brooks of that place, and Ernest Oldum of Boston were married by the pastor, Rev. Ignatius Kost, who also was celebrant of the nuptial high mass. Numbered among those who were present for the marriage ceremony were many of the friends of the contracting couple from Boston and Worcester.

The bride was attended by Miss May Oldum of Worcester, a cousin of the bridegroom, and A. J. Brooks, Brooklyn, N. Y., a brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride wore a gown of king blue transparent velvet with silver trimmings and hat to match. Her arm bouquet was of pink tea roses. The bridesmaid's gown was of peach chiffon velvet with gold lace trimmings and hat to match and her bouquet of pink tea roses.

Following a wedding breakfast served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oldum left for a stay at Atlantic City. They are to be at home in Newton, Mass., after November 1. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, the bride's gift to the bridesmaid a cameo ring.

John J. Mercer, whose sixth birthday is Thursday of this week, has two broken legs as the result of being run down by an automobile and is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam. The child, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hammond, was crossing Main street, near Stearns street when the accident happened. The machine that figured in the affair was being operated by Fred Smith, who carries mail between Danielson and East Killingly and also conveys school children on his daily trips. There were 14 children in the machine when the accident happened, and it is regarded as having been unavoidable.

It seemed a good bet this afternoon that Frank Weedon, escaped murderer from a penal institution in Rhode Island is not in this territory, at least no one answering his description had been reported hereabouts today. One thing that helps to identify Weedon easily is that he has but one eye—the right one is missing.

Weedon, on his periodical periods of liberty after escape, inspires considerable terror in the countryside hereabouts, although he has never been known to molest anyone. Should he appear prompt notification of the state police will bring a quick response.

It was indicated today that the recount of votes for first selectmen cast in the town election on the first Monday of this month will be asked for by counsel representing Selectman Alfott D. Sayles of East Killingly the first time a session of the superior court is held in Windham county, which is expected to be a week from Monday or possibly a week later. The petition will not be opposed by John A. Gilbert, republican, who was declared elected first selectman, it was declared today.

This morning the death of Narcisse Chatelle, Jr., 38, occurred at his home near Moosup pond. Death came after a long illness. Mr. Chatelle was born in Harrington, Mass., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Narcisse Chatelle. He leaves his wife, his parents, three brothers and three sisters.

Last evening 24 members of Killingly grange attended a neighbors' night meeting of Plainfield. The local grangers contributed several numbers to the program of the evening, these being readings by Miss Harriet Shippee and Walter G. Bruce and a vocal solo by Miss Alice Jordan. The Killingly grangers were finely entertained by the members of Plainfield grange.

Two cases having to do with violations of the motor vehicle laws were disposed of at a session of the town court this afternoon, W. Fenner Woodward presiding. Daniel L. Williams pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving, was found guilty and appealed from the fine of $25 and costs that was imposed. He was represented by Attorney Harry E. Back. Williams' court appearance grew out of an accident in which the machine he was driving was in collision with a truck on North Main street, near North street. Testimony showed that a truck was going north with a car following behind it and two coming south, one of these being the Williams car. The state charges that the accident was due to Williams swinging his car out of line, a matter he denies and so has appealed.

On a charge of not granting the usual of way in an accident that happened on September 7, Alvertus Chase of this town pleaded guilty. Judge Woodward imposing a fine of $5.00 and netual costs.

A good attendance was at church Sunday morning and the sermon by the pastor Rev. Charles A. Downs was on the topic "The Contribution of Selfhes to Religion". The text was Romans 8:19. A duet was sung by Mrs. Joseph Green and Nancy Whitaker. Sunday school was held as usual at the close of the church service. Choir meeting was held Thursday night. There was a meeting of the Woman's club with Mrs. Fairfield last Wednesday afternoon.

The first and second degrees were conferred upon a class of six at the Killingly grange meeting Monday night. The officers all being in their places and doing the work. During the business session of the grange one former member was reinstated and three members were added coming by way of demit from other granges. The matter of unpaid dues also came up from other granges. The matter of unpaid dues also came up for consideration. The excellent record of last year in having practically all dues paid on January 1st is to be emulated this year and it is hoped that no dues will be unpaid at the beginning of the new year. At the next meeting of the grange the third and fourth degrees will be given. A special committee for refreshments has been appointed and an orchestra has been engaged. This meeting will occur on Nov. 7th.

COUNCIL TABLES PETITION FOR CITY MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 19—At a meeting of the common council held Tuesday evening at the council rooms all of the members were present with the exception of Delisle.

The call for a city meeting on October 27, as requested by sixty or more citizens was read and discussed.

Mr. Rogers said as follows:

"Mr. Mayor and gentlemen, their question of the water supply of Putnam has been before the voters of Putnam and has been decided by ballot twice. At both times the voters expressed their wish that the common council proceed to construct tanks and pipes on the east side of the Little River, in accordance with a general part of the construction of the New England exchange. We do not believe that the council is to blame for the delay in construction of water works plan. Developments today would look as if it were possible for the city council to compromise and to meet the board of water commissioners at the same time. It is the wish of the council and voters to proceed with the water situation in accordance with Mr. Shanock's suggestions."

Mr. Rogers then read an article on special city meeting of voters: "A special city meeting has no authority except in a matter of appropriation." Mr. Rogers then added: "We have been pleased and willing and will compromise with the board of water commissioners to settle these differences and not bother with another city meeting. I, therefore, recommend that this special city meeting be refused." The motion was seconded by Mr. Ames. This motion was afterwards changed and it was moved this matter be placed on the table; yet the special city meeting was not to be held on October 27.

Charles L. Torrey, city attorney, said, that since the appropriation must come from the city and since the appropriation has not been made, he could not understand how the city meeting could be refused.

Mr. Rogers then said that he was positive he could get up a petition opposed to the one requesting the city meeting and get as many names, if not more, some of which would be names who have signed the one before the council. Mr. Ames suggested that a special city meeting ought to be held later on and further that construction could not be started at this time of the year, and that a great majority, in so short a time would not be sufficiently informed on so great a problem.

Mr. Labby asked that the voters be given another chance but Mr. Ames insisted that it would be better to wait until later. Mr. Richard urged that this continual wrangling be ended and that the council vote whether or not this meeting be held or laid on the table. The vote was as follows: Yes, Labby, Vadnais, Ryan, Carroll. That the matter be placed on the table: Mayor Chapdelaine, Richards, Ames, Dubois and Rogers.

A motion was then made by Mr. Torrey that the mayor employ Mr. Seville of Hartford or any other competent engineer to go over the plans and submit decisions on the problem of the water system of Putnam, Labby, Ryan and Vadnais voted against and Rogers, Ames, Dubois, Richard and Carroll voted in favor of it. The meeting then adjourned.

W. N. KING BUYS INTEREST IN WINDHAM COUNTY OBSERVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 19—The following announcement was made in today's issue of the Windham County Observer:

"Walter N. King has purchased from Lewis T. Champlin his interest in the Windham County Observer. Mr. Champlin and George L. Padgett were equal owners of the company.

Mr. King is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Allie S. King of this city and he has lived here nearly all of his life. He attended the Putnam high school and is well known to local residents. He was office manager of the Guerin Worsted company that operated the mill at Mechanicsville. When this corporation moved to Woonsocket, R. I., Mr. King went with them in the same capacity, but has retained his home in this city. He will continue in this position for the present but will ultimately devote his entire time to the Observer.

Mr. Champlin will remain with the paper in the same capacity that he has held for the past ten years.

The 134th semi-annual meeting of the Windham County Medical society will be held at the Putnam Inn in this city, Thursday. Dinner will be served at 12:15 followed by a business meeting and a scientific program. The meeting will be called to order by the president, Dr. Michael D. Riordan of Willimantic. The program will consist of the reception of guests and delegates; the regular routine business of reports by the officers, state and county delegates and the appointment of the nominating committee. Dr. Daniel Sullivan of New London, president of the State Medical society will deliver an address and Dr. Charles Y. Eidwell of Hartford will read a paper on genito-urinary surgery.

The officers of the society are: President, M. D. Riordan of Willimantic; vice president, Francis Downing of Moosup; clerk, Karl T. Phillips of Putnam; councillor, S. S. Overlock of Pomfret; consors, F. P. Todd of Danielson, J. A. Giouard of Willimantic and W. A. Tanner of Danielson.

Dewey J. Burque of Providence street of this city, who sustained a serious fracture of the thigh, when the car which he was driving was wrecked at South Woodstock on Saturday, and who is now a patient at the Day Kimball hospital has been found to be suffering from a serious injury to one of his eyes, and it is feared that he will lose the sight of the eye.

A supper was served on Tuesday evening in the dining room at the Second Congregational church under the auspices of the Ladies' Social circle and the Woman's Missionary society to the ladies of the church. Mrs. Lucius O. Lee foreign secretary of the American board was the speaker of the evening.

Funeral services of Edward Scarborough of New York city and Thompson were held this morning from the Thompson Hill church at eleven o'clock. Edward Scarborough died at the Vernon Stiles inn, Thompson Monday morning, after an illness of but a few hours at the age of 77.

Mr. Scarborough was born in Cincinnati but had lived the most of his life in Thompson, although he was a prominent business man in New York city where he spent most of his winters in New York, he always spent the summers in Thompson. The Scarborough home there is closed at the present and he had been living at a Pomfret inn. A week ago, his daughter, Mrs. Marvin Vogel of New Jersey came to Thompson to visit him. His son William Scarborough, also of New Jersey is also at Thompson. Burial was in the Thompson cemetery.

Word has been received here of the death of Dr. Lee Sanford Seward, 38, who died at his home in Ahuahnee, California, on Monday night after a long illness.

Dr. Seward was born in Putnam on October 5, 1889, the son of Frederick W. Seward and the late Katherine Leete Seward. He has been in bad health for a number of years but for the past ten years has been at the head of a tubercular sanitarium at Ahuahnee. He was graduated from the Putnam high school and shortly after his graduation went to San Francisco, Cal., where he studied medicine at the Hahneman College of Medicine and Surgery and after his graduation from thre went into prctice at San Francisco From his early manhood, Dr. Seward had suffered from tubercular trouble and has been at the point of death many times. He fought bravely against the malady, would partially regain his health and again take up his prctice of medicine.

He is survived by his wife and one son, William Sawtelle Seward, by a former marriage, both of whom are in California, his father, Frederick W. Seward, and a sister Katherine Seward Lowne of this city.

BOLTON

Miss Margaret Kimberly of Goshen, and Miss Ruth Jones spent Wednesday with the latter's sister, Mrs. Elsie M. Jones.

Several Bolton grangers attended East Central Pomona grange meeting at Coventry Wednesday.

Mrs. Ella Curtis of Andover was calling on local friends and relatives Thursday.

Miss Eva Jones of Hartford and her nephew, Douglas Hart of Cromwell spent the week end with the former's brother, R. Kneeland Jones.

Mrs. Frederick C. Taylor and daughter, Dorothy, are guests of Rev. Frederick C. Taylor's sister, Miss Taylor, in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Kneeland Jones and son, Junior, Miss Eva Jones and Douglas Hart, were calling in Cromwell and Hartford on relatives.

Judge J. White Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie S. Bolton, Mrs. Jennie L. Bolton and Mrs. Mary G. Hutchinson have returned home after taking a trip through the Catskills.

Mrs. William H. Thornton and daughter, Carrie, of South Coventry, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Fries of Boston, spent the week end with their sister, Miss Lavina C. Fries.

ASHFORD

Frank Jenny and family of Torrington, were callers at E. M. Grant's, Sunday.

Mrs. John T. Green and friends, of Providence, were at Hearthstone cottage one day recently.

S. A. Kovarcels has begun making cider.

Gray squirrels are doing much damage to crops owing to scarcity of nuts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Brown have returned to Bridgeport after spending the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrow and Mrs. Jane Cassidy of New London spent Sunday at Frank Green's.

In Norway, cods' heads are mixed with marine plants and fed to cows, to increase the yield of milk.

JEWETT CITY

MANY STUDENTS ATTENDING OUTSIDE HIGH SCHOOLS

Those attending Plainfield High school from Griswold are Joseph Anthony, Fred Aramoney, Witolda Bakanowski, Stanley Baldyga, Eugene Carroll, Stanley Derda, Charles Flugel, Armand Gilbert, Lionel Jarvis, Stanley Luty, Matthew and Stanley Malek, Arthur Pepin, Frank Polewaczik, Leo Seidman, Lewis Solenski, Byron Sweet, Selma Aramoney, Claire Berard, Ruth Burton, Ruth Cathcart, Anna Czacharowska, Teresa Dzlecinny, Lena Gartska, Bessie LaLiberte, Emma and Neva Manchini, Margaret McDermott, Verna McGovern, Jessie Millard, Helen and Katherine Nofle, Leonora Petlicka, Sabina Senys, Myrtle Stetson, Priscilla Sullivan, Helen Weaver, Bertha and Elizabeth Whipple.

From Lisbon, those who attend the Plainfield high school are Anna Bugbee, Hortense Phillips and Peter Kominski. From Sylvandale attending the Academy are Harriet McCluggage, Russel Liberty and Frances Moriarty.

The annual Red Cross roll call for Jewett City chapter is to begin Tuesday, the twenty-fifth of October. The chapter has permission from headquarters to start the roll call before Armistice day if deemed advisable. The Jewett City chapter covers a large territory including all of Griswold, Voluntown and a part of Lisbon. Jewett City will be divided into districts. B. G. Stanton will have charge of Glasgo, Elsie Lord of Pachaug, Clara Hyde, Lisbon; Bertha Lewis, Voluntown; Brick school district, Mrs. William Phillips, Brewster, Mrs. George Palmer and Susan Terry, Boardman, Mrs. J. F. Gardiner; Stone Hill, Johnson, Tyler and Woodward Mrs. George Norman, Hopeville, Mrs. Lorenzo Marion and Mary Wilkinson; White, Mrs. Ellen Young, Bethel, Mrs. Ransom Young. The chairman of the committee is Mrs. E. H. Hiscox and her committee comprises executive board also Miss May Driscoll and Mrs. P. W. Chase. The members of the board are Miss M. A. Burdick, Mrs. J. H. Tracy, Miss Rosanna DesJardines, Mrs. F. I. Ray, Miss Catherine Barnett, Miss Margaret Driscoll, Miss Margery Leyden, Miss Ida Foster, Mrs. A. H. Anthony, Migs Bertha Lewis, Dr. G. H. Jennings and D. L. Phillips.

In compiling a list of high school students attending either Norwich or Plainfield, it is plainly shown that the transportation by bus is not adequate for the Norwich children. Plainfield students have two special busses and the regular 8.15 to transport the 42 leaving Griswold and Lisbon. There are 47 leaving Griswold and Sylvandale for the Academy besides a number more from the other end of Lisbon and they have only one bus. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Connecticut Co., by Earle E. Gilbert, chairman of the School committee for Griswold.

Redmond Walsh, 19, escaped serious injury to his foot, while operating a truck in the shipping department at Aspinook bleachery. A nine hundred pound box fell from the truck and grazed his foot dislocating two small bones and badly bruising it, the foot just escaping being smashed entirely.

The corporation nurse Miss Margery Leyden took him to Dr. J. H. McLaughlin's office and after he received treatment, drove him to his home on Mechanic street where he will have to remain for some time.

The assessors, Irving O. Burdick, Henry Olsen and Edward Blanchard are busy, since commencing their work last Friday in the town hall.

The local council of Knights of Columbus will commence the social evenings for the fall and winter this (Thursday) evening. Rev. Nicholas Caron, curate at St. Mary's church, will be the speaker and several state officers are expected. There will be plenty of other entertainment, the committee making plans for a large attendance.

Mrs. Rose Cournoyer left Wednesday for a hospital in Newark, N. J., where she will undergo an operation. She only left the hospital four weeks ago, later her baby must have an operation on a deformed foot.

The Polish women residents of the town are planning a benefit dance and entertainment, the receipts to be sent to Poland for the aid of the sufferers from the recent flood.

Mrs. Augustus Read, who is ninety years old, seems to be failing in health. She has been in bed for a week at the home of her daughter Mrs. Victor Campbell in Pachaug.

ROCKVILLE

Rev. Leroy C. Perry, of Providence preached a good gospel sermon to an interested audience in the Seventh Day Baptist church here Saturday.

Miss Sylvia W. Lanphear, of Westerly was a guest of her cousin, Mrs. Carlton Irish, Friday night and Saturday.

Arthur G. Burdick, of New London, La Verne Burdick and Edwin Burdick, of Westerly were visitors here Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Paul S. Burdick and children called on Rev. and Mrs. William Simpson at Ashaway recently.

A new kind of electric cord invented by a Hungarian engineer does away with the electric push-button. This cord can be squeezed or pinched at any point along its length, and it will make contact and ring the bell or operate the signal at the end of the wire.

PLAINFIELD

When Bishop Nilan administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 53, at St. John's Catholic church here Sunday, as noted in The Bulletin of Wednesday, the bishop also addressed the children on the great privilege of receiving the sacrament and urged them to be faithful to their resolutions. He also addressed the parents on the duties of Christian priesthood, urging them to always give good example to their children.

In The Bulletin of October 18 it was stated that F. Leon Hutchins of Norwich has in his possession a deed of a slave sold in 1773. Walter Kingsley has one in which reads as follows: Know all by These Presents that I Martha Avery of Gilmoctor in the State of New Hampshire in consideration of Ten pounds Lawful Money to me paid by Luther Smith of Plainfield in the state of Connecticut have bargained and sold and do hereby give grants and assignn to him the said Luther Smith my Negro boy servant called Peter of about seven years of age which I purchased of Solon Avery of Norwich to have and to hold the said Negro boy with his apperal until he is Twenty Six years of age and I covenant and Engage to and with the said Luther Smith and his heirs and assignns that the Said Negro shall be a slave till he is Twenty six years of age and then to be free and I will warrant and Defind the said Negro against the clams of all Persons. Witness my hand and seal the Twentieth day of February, Ana Doming 1752. Martha Avery in presents of Isaac Smith, Mary Smith.

He also has a paper showing that Martha Avery was the daughter of Rev. Joseph Colt, the first minister of Plainfield and one of the first class that was graduated from Yale college.

The executive board of the Lincoln club is to meet at the Congregational parsonage Friday evening to plan for the annual ladies' night.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell are visiting relatives and friends in Albany, New Jersey, and New York.

Mrs. Sylvina Allard spent Saturday in Danielson.

Miss Viola Mercier spent a day in Taftville recently.

Arthur Jarvis of the New Village, Mr. and Mrs. Gudreau and daughters Celia, Lena and Alice and Miss Sylvina Allard spent Sunday in Danielson, Brooklyn and Goodyear.

Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Bowain and family of Danielson visited Mr. and Mrs. Gudreau recently.

Morris and Gerard Fournier and Mr. Blanchette, of Danielson were week end callers in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson were callers in Danielson at the week end.

Mrs. Blanche Normandin of the Old Village spent th eweek end in Sterling, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Breault were callers in Taftville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafiash of Taftville, were recent callers in Plainfield.

CANTERBURY PLAINS

Bro. Edwin St. John exchanged pulpits with Rev. Mr. Higgins Sunday. Bro. Higgins gave a very helpful and interesting talk.

Supervisor Edwin B. Floyd was in town Saturday helping the librarian Mrs. Kinne get library books ready to take out in the different school districts. The teachers are to give out the books and see that they are returned to her in good condition.

The teacher and children of Frost school are rehearsing an entertainment for the benefit of the school.

Esther Kimball, Mrs. Happie Tracy, Cordelia Lovell and Grace L. Dawley attended the Teachers' Institute at Norwich Friday. F. A. Hicks transported them.

Mr. and Mrs. Micholoe and son, who have been spending some time at the home of John Romanoff, returned home to New York Friday.

Mrs. Fred Kinne and family attended Stafford fair Friday.

Another milk truck has started to carry milk to Providence. There are three trucks passing through Canterbury and taking the milk along the line.

Fred Hicks and Grace Dawley were in Central Village Wednesday evening and attended the whist given for the benefit of the Rebekah lodge.

New Type Delco-Light

Does Everything but Think!

Operates from battery on small loads. Automatically switches to power for heavier service. Uses smaller battery—thus costs less. Requires less fuel. Demands practically no attention. This amazing achievement the result of 15 years' research by Delco-Light engineers. Approved by General Motors after 7 years of gruelling field tests.

Now comes a new type Delco-Light Plant that astounds even those scientists and engineers who are in daily contact with the epoch-making achievements of electrical science

When you see this amazing Delco-Light Plant, you will agree that it is a decade ahead of everything heretofore conceived by any manufacturer of farm electric plants.

Write—or 'phone—and get full information about this new achievement of Delco-Light and General Motors. Or call on me personally and see the evidence with your own eyes. And remember—if this newest model doesn't exactly suit your needs, there are many other Plants to choose from, now priced as low as $225. Don't wait. Write or 'phone or call today.

GO AND SEE THE SUB BASE

In another column Commandant Andrews of the submarine base calls attention to the fact that next week Thursday, a week from today, will be Navy day, an occasion when opportunity is provided for the citizens to get a better understanding of their navy, its activities and its needs.

This is a part of the national defense in which there is interest from one end of the country to the other. We are not only concerned about its adequate maintenance but we like to know something about how it operates. There is a curiosity much like that of the youngster who is eager to get at the wheels and springs of a clock. We are anxious to see what is going on, what the officers and members of the navy have to do, how they are quartered and what exists in the interior of the fighting vessels. We also express a desire quite frequently to inspect naval stations, forts and other government property belonging to the navy department.

As indicated by the letter of Commandant Andrews such an opportunity is to be provided on Navy day, when the submarine base will be open to visitors during the day and inspection is invited. This means that those who have long sought a chance to go through the base, look over the buildings, go aboard a submarine and get a real squint at the way in which sailors and machinery are packed into the underwater boats will be accommodated. They are in fact invited to get in close touch with the activities at the base, Connecticut's one naval station, and it will be surprising if there is not a large response.

To the people of this vicinity it affords an opportunity for getting a real insight into the work of maintaining such an establishment, the training of the men, the development of officers and the operation and handling of the subs in such a manner as to make them serve their purpose as an important branch of the navy.

As Navy day permits the satisfying of pent up desires, it is to be expected that the submarine base officers and men will be kept busy during the 27th welcoming and entertaining citizens of this vicinity with their customary courtesy and instructive attention. By all means go and see.

STALLED FLIERS SHOULD REPORT

Much concern is manifested when aviators are lost. It makes little difference whether it is on land or the high seas. As soon as they fail to appear in due time, with proper allowance for delays, there is anxiety as to their safety and searches are commenced for them which may extend over a wide territory unless a check up on their flight locates them within a certain area.

Because the Stinson party failed to appear in Boston Tuesday night on its flight to that city from Hartford, and nothing was heard from it, the belief was entertained that it was lost, and no one knew whether it had crashed or made a successful landing. Because nothing was heard from it there was a feeling that an accident had occurred and there was no telling with what results. Possibly there were those injured who needed assistance. No one knew where they were and an alarm was spread.

As it turns out all this was unnecessary. The plane had encountered bad conditions and made a successful landing, but not a word had been forwarded to those who were awaiting them in Boston. Rather did the party to proceed to a Boston hotel where the night was spent only to learn in the morning what fears had been created by their disappearance.

Had someone in that party simply gone to a phone and informed the airport at Boston, or some other authority in the city, of what had taken place, that there was no accident, that all were safe and in Boston there would have been prevented several hours of anxiety on the part of those who were interested in their coming and others who were trying to find out what had happened to them.

DEMANDING COOLIDGE

Senator Fess of Ohio has recently made the statement that President Coolidge will renominated by the republicans. He is giving expression to his feelings quite in common with many others. He doesn't pretend to think that he is the spokesman for the convention but he is apparently convinced that there is a widespread demand for the continuance of the Coolidge administration. This reflects a sentiment which has come from all directions.

There are some who seem to think that this leads to the inference that there is no other available candidate in the republican party, but such can hardly be accepted in view of the many others who are recognized as highly efficient and desirable men for such a position. It isn't a one man party or a one man country, but there is such a broad recognition of the results obtained under the Coolidge administration and such a strong demand that its policies should be continued that there is a desire for the president to continue at the helm. And that desire does not prevail among republicans alone.

Senator Fess is fully conscious of what the president has said concerning another term, and yet from the information he has gained concerning popular sentiment he felt justified in making the statement that he would be renominated. It is to be accepted only as his belief. It, of course represents his attitude. He believes that the convention in response to demands will proceed to tell the president that he is wanted as the party's standard bearer. That is he thinks it will do so unless there is some further light thrown upon the situation. He may be wrong.

Those who look upon such action as indicating party weakness, however must remember that the country has had an opportunity to become acquainted with Calvin Coolidge. It knows just where he stands, what his policies are and how greatly the country has profited under them. It is not weakness but good common sense to want to have them continued by the very one whose administration has bolstered up the strongest kind of confidence in them and him.

FIGHTING POISON GAS

Perhaps there is no organization better fitted than the Red Cross for raising its opposition to the use of poison gas in warfare and endeavoring to bring about an agreement among nations to eliminate it in any future conflicts. It is engaged in an effort which will arouse much favorable comment. Whether it succeeds is another question. Thus far such endeavors have failed, but many a movement has succeeded through persistency.

The Red Cross is inviting to its international conference at Geneva Dr. Rudolf Hanslian, Germany's authority on poison gas. It goes to the country which had a leading part in the use of poison gas in the last war, and in doing so it makes clear its purpose of endeavoring to get an international agreement to prevent the use of poison gas beyond the fighting areas. That means establishing restrictions upon the zones in which such a weapon could be used. It is perhaps no better than no agreement at all, for if such agreements are violated as they were in the World war it simply results to the advantage of one side, the one that violates the agreement, and the handicap of the other.

Anticipating the possibility of failure in getting even this restriction the Red Cross contemplated a campaign for the purpose of instructing civilians in the methods of escaping the effects of poison gas.

If poison gas is used it is to be realized that the non-combatants will be subjected to its effects quite as much, if not worse than the combatants who are equipped to escape the danger. And it is for the purpose of eliminating this real menace to those off the field of battle as well as those on it that there is such strong opposition to the use of poison gas at all.

The Red Cross knows wha tthe effects have been. It anticipates what they might easily become and in its endeavor to minimize them, if they cannot be eliminated, it is to be commended and encouraged.

A REPORT CHALLENGED

Was it a press agent report that came across the water concerning the flight of the American Girl when the statement was made that Ruth Elder climbed out on the fuselage of the plane while in flight to aid in dumping part of the gasoline?

If the statement which is attributed to William S. Brock and Edward E. Schlee, the round the world fliers who got as far as Japan and gave up their projected flight across the Pacific, is true such a thing was impossible, not because of a lack of courage but because of the construction of the American Girl. The plane was a cabin plane with the only aperture for getting out built in under the wing but with none leading to the top, so that once in the plane's there's no opportunity to do what was claimed while the plane was in flight.

It is a matter of little consequence so far as the flight was concerned whether she climbed out on the fuselage or not. It was a claim which was for the purpose of giving additional publicity to the flight and to accentuate the daring of Ruth Elder, and thereby increase the benefits which it was hoped would be derived from the attempt to cross the ocean. Demonstrating heroic efforts in such a manner casts suspicion upon reports concerning similar efforts and creates a doubt in the minds of many when actual facts are related.

The public doesn't like to be fooled in regard to the details of flying exhibitions any more than it does in regard to channel swimming, and it is a mistake to resort to such methods even for the sake of trying to add interest to an otherwise interesting story.

ONE BETTER

Adelaide Dyer was a woman who never allowed any other woman to get ahead of her. Her motto was, "One better," and she lived up to it in a way that soon began to attract a great deal of attention in Wellwood.

In the beginning her triumphs had been essentially small according to her means. For a long time after she married George Dyer she had had to manage very carefully. As soon as George began to get hold of some real money she began to launch out into new enterprises.

For instance, when Mrs. Bradley purchased a new gown Adelaide immediately appeared in one that spoiled the effect of Mrs. Bradley's. True, she had bought the materials and made it herself, but it looked better than Mrs. Bradley's. And Adelaide looked better in it. She was handsome and there was more of her than there was of Mrs. Bradley, so she made a large impression.

"One better!" Adelaide fought to uphold her motto in every place, and at all times. The Harts got a new car. Adelaide had never had one. She waited until she could get what she wanted and when she came out in a dashing sport model Wellwood gasped.

A spirit of strong rivalry was active in Wellwood in that particular set to which Adelaide Dyer belonged. Mrs Hart and May Bradley gritted their teeth and vowed secretly that they would "down her or die." They combined forces and gave a party the like of which had never been given in Wellwood. Adelaide went and appeared unimpressed. But a month later she, alone, gave a party that was so much bigger and better than the Hart-Bradley one that nobody could fail to see the improvement. Adelaide had molded ices and hand-painted favors. It was all very expensive, and she would have to economize unutterably to make up for it, but it paid. She had gone "one better" again.

With every success she grew bolder and bolder. It was after Adelaide was made president of the woman's club that Mrs. Bradley dropped out of sight. She was unmistakably defeated; and owned up to it. Adelaide had beaten her 10 to 1 at the election.

But Mrs. Hart was made of sterner stuff. Besides, she had something up her sleeve all the time that she was waiting to spring upon Adelaide to Adelaide's complete annihilation. Mrs. Hart's Uncle Steven had left her $10,000 and she meant to put it all in a house, a modern house, the finest house in Locust street, Wellwood.

If Adelaide, who had to look at the building of the new house every time she looked out of her south windows, felt chagrin she did not show it. She merely smiled and c mplimented Mrs. Hart on her taste in architecture—"though I am not crazy about modern houses," she added thoughtfully. "They lack so many of the best features of the old ones." Adelaide lived in an old house.

Then one day Wellwood received a shock through the Friday edition of the Tattler. George Dyer had bought the Prindle place and presented it to his wife. The Prindle place! Two acres of land, smooth as your hand, and an old red Victorian house that had constituted the showplace of Wellwood for 40 years! That expensive, beautiful estate! And Adelaide possessed it! No one need ever try to compete with her again after that.

As a matter of fact, the Prindle place had gone ridiculously cheap after having been on the market for years. It may be said that it was waiting for George Dyer and Adelaide. At any rate, they got it for about the same price as Mrs. Hart paid for her new house.

Adelaide moved in immediately and while the summer was yet young she gave one of her delightful parties—an outdoor affair this time. Poor Mrs. Hart, who had only enough land for her house to stand on, suffered before the extent of those two acres and stepped back into the ranks with the other defeated ones.

Adelaide was riotously happy.

"We have got the nicest place in town," she told George. "Of course there is a lot to be done to it, outside and in, and will need a lot of new furniture and a maid."

George stared at her blankly.

"Now, see here Adelaide," he said. "You have got your place; be satisfied with it. I have no money for any of the things you have mentioned. If I take out another cent my business will suffer."

Plead as she might, Adelaide could not make him alter his decision.

The following winter was one Adelaide will never forget. She had to put up stoves to keep even a small portion of her big house warm. And when it came to doing the work in it unaided she gave out and had to go to bed for a rest.

In time she learned to simplify her work, to keep warm, to arrange comfortable corners for occupancy in her new home. There was no hope of ever fixing it up and getting a buyer for it, for as George said, nobody ever wanted other people's white elephants. No, they would just have to keep on living there and make the best of it.

It continued to be a neglected, lovely old place, that home of Adelaide's, six times too big for the two people, like a couple of coppers in a huge savings till, jangled about in it. Yet it was a good thing for Adelaide after all, for she learned something by it—something that was well calculated to make her a better, less aggressive woman.—Detroit News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Dr. Lee De Forest, whom the United States circuit court of appeals has held to be the inventor of the feedback circuit, without which present-day radio would be impossible, is one of the pioneers in wireless telegraphy and telephony. His discoveries and inventions in this field have been numerous and of the utmost importance in the development of wireless. Dr. De Forest had made a name for himself as a scientist before his 25th year. He was born in Iowa in 1873 and received his technical training at Sheffield Scientific school. He was one of the first to give attention to the development of wireless in a commercial way. In addition to wireless he has also given attention to the improvement of motion pictures. In 1923 he was awarded the Elliott Cresson medal for his invention of the audion or three-electron vacuum tube.

YOUR HEALTH

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IN MEDICINE

Gilbert Fitz-Patrick, M. D., Chicago
Vice-President Gorgas Memorial

The most important thing in medicine is the emancipation of it from the rule of empiricism. This is being accomplished gradually but surely by means of the labors of scientific research workers in medicine.

Everybody knows that what is one man's meat is another man's poison, but until we know just why that is so the practice of medicine must still be clouded to a certain extent by quackery.

Several things, however, are operating to dispel the mist of empiricism in the treatment of disease: First, the intensive study of immunity; second, the recognition and correction of disturbance of metabolism; third, the search for focal infections; and fourth, the knowledge acquired of the part played by toxemias as underlying causes of what were formerly deemed disease entities. In other words the most important thing in medicine is the now almost universally accepted fact that the successful individualization of cases is the basis of successful treatment.

Hundreds of remedies have been empirically prescribed for asthma. Modern medicine now treats the person afflicted with asthma rather than prescribes for asthma as afflicting the person, and in so far as the general condition of the asthmatic person can be improved we find the progress of the disease can be stayed in many cases.

Similarly the study of cancer is resolving itself into the study of the individual with cancer, and the successful prevention of cancer will depend upon the successful study of an individual drifting into cancer.

Again the ultimate defeat of diabetes will depend upon the identification and early treatment of the person predisposed to diabetes. Even now a gratifying measure of success in prevention of that disease is being attained.

The relation of chronic kidney disease to previous ailments is today understood. The identification and removal of various infections contributing to kidney damage will ultimately diminish measurably the number of deaths from the dreaded Bright's disease.

As we learn better how to treat scarlet fever the number of cases of post-scarlatinal nephritis is diminishing as is also the mortality from acute Bright's disease following scarlatina.

Individualization of cases is the most important thing in medicine for the operating surgeon to regard, and the day is not far distant when it may be possible to grade almost every patient about to be operated on with reference to his ability to withstand the anesthetic, his liability to hemorrhage, and his chance of septic infection.

The most important thing in curative medicine is to individualize cases rather than to administer supposed cures. In this individualization should be included the early recognition and correction of disturbances, the discovery and removal of focal infections, the abolition of toxemias by eliminative medical treatment, by necessary local applications or surgical operations together with the building up of the general health after the seat or cause of trouble has been ascertained and removed.

By means of this individualization of cases and by this only can the ship of medicine escape from the fog of empiricism into the sunshine of clear scientific security.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Navy Day at Sub. Base

Mr. Editor: The Navy League of the United States has again obtained the approval of the president of the United States for celebrating Thursday, October 27, 1927, the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, as Navy day. The purpose of Navy day is to bring the citizens of the country into intimate contact with their navy and to let them know its mission, condition, value, and needs. The Navy league feels confident—and we agree with them—that as the citizens' knowledge of their navy increases so will their determination to keep their vital first line of defense at a proper standard.

In order to further this desired acquaintanceship all the naval stations and vessels of the United States will be "at home" to the people on Navy day. Like all hosts we hope for many visitors.

This base—the only naval station in Connecticut—will be open to visitors from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. on Thursday, October 27, 1927. Boats will run from the city landing, near the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad station, to the base, every half hour while the base is open to visitors.

Very truly yours,
ADOLPHUS ANDREWS,
Captain, U. S. Navy,
Commander Submarine Base, New London, Conn.

FINE FOR CHILDREN!

Give them a good start in life, with happy smiles and healthy little bodies. Children need a mild corrective occasionally to regulate stomach and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a safe vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They tone up and regulate the eliminative tract. Not a nasty cathartic or a habit-forming medicine, but a safe pleasant remedy for constipation, sour stomach, torpid liver, bad breath, and similar disorders. Dr. Edwards, a widely known family physician of Ohio, prescribed these tablets for many years in his own practice. Children from six years up are greatly helped by them and like to take them. Recognized by their olive color, Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets overcome those irritable spells that many children are subject to, keep their bodies in active healthy condition, skin clear and eyes bright with the light of perfect health. 15c, 30c and 60c sizes.

Stories That Recall Others

Willing to Trade

"Isn't she the cutest baby?" said the visitor.

Then turning to Freddie, the baby's brother, age six, she said: "I'll bet you wouldn't trade your little sister for anything in the world."

"Sure I would," said the fond brother, "I would trade her for a billy goat."

Decides to Change School

A small boy who lives in the neighborhood of the Academy started in the first grade of the grammar school in September. When his teacher addressed him by his given name, Thomas, he did not respond because his friends and family had always called him Buddy. Thereupon, although innocent, Buddy received a severe reprimand for inattention.

Feeling that his six and a half years of dignity had been sadly misjudged, Bud carried his woes to his mother in no uncertain terms. He concluded his outburst with: "Aw, heck! I'm not going back to that school. I'm going to the Academy!"

A clock that was ticking off the seconds when George Washington was president is still keeping accurate time in the home of W. F. Arms, of Malad, Wash. The clock, according to a recent check-up in its life history, has been running for more than 140 years. It was made in Switzerland, and all the wheels except one are of wood.

MOTHER

A Cross, Feverish Child is Bilious, Constipated

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruity laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Mourners were present from New Haven, Adams, Mass., Jewett City, New London and Woonsocket, R. I., and there was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

STORRS COLLEGE MAN SPEAKS TO ROTARIANS

Prof. Richard E. Dodge, of Connecticut Agricultural college, president of the Willimantic Rotary club, was the speaker of the day at the meeting of the Norwich Rotary club on Wednesday at the Wauregan hotel. Prof. Dodge in his talk gave some very interesting facts regarding the scope of work and teaching at Connecticut Agricultural college.

When the agricultural college was first instituted it was primarily for the teaching of agricultural pursuits and mechanical engineering, and the method of instruction was to bring in some successful farmer and have him tell the students how it was done. Today this has all been changed and the average state college teaches a wide range of subjects so that when a student is graduated he is qualified to accept positions in any one of 107 fields, the majority having to do with agriculture and its allied pursuits.

One of the big factors in the success of the agricultural college is its extension service. The extension service is bringing the college to the student rather than bringing the student to the college. Those who are on farms and lack means of attending the college may benefit by college instruction either by individual or through group classes held in a community and taught by a college instructor. This extension service includes instruction in all agricultural subjects, dairying and domestic economics for the women.

Another thing that has brought the college forward is its experimental stations, Connecticut having two, one at New Haven, the oldest in the country, and the other at Storrs. In these experiment stations time and money is spent on various experiments in seeking remedies for pests that injure crops and remedies for animal disease. Although there is no direct financial return to the experiment station on the experiments many of the discoveries have been the means of saving millions of dollars in crops and herds and is considered money well spent.

The Connecticut Agricultural college is more than an institution within four walls, it is a virtual asset to the state in many ways. In fact the college on the hill is growing fast and only last year twice as many applications for admittance were received than the institution could take care of. More and more young men and women are availing themselves of the two year courses, especially those whose means will not permit of a complete four year course. These two year courses are usually confined to one or two specific branches of the four year course.

At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Dodge extended a hearty invitation to the Rotarians to visit the college, either as a body or individually.

The business session of the meeting was conducted by President Clarence A. Spear with F. Russell Smith as the song leader. Johnny Egan was at the piano in the absence of Henry J. La Fontaine. Gerard E. Loisel, secretary of the Willimantic club, was present and announced the WJZ entertainment to be given by the Willimantic club when Godfrey Ludlow, Keith McLeod and the Armchair quartet will be the entertainers.

The club welcomed back Alfred G. Bilven who has been absent for several weeks with illness. Announcement was made of the membership drive of the Backus hospital auxiliary and the club voted its support.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Gilbert, Miss Elizabeth Huntington, Miss Nancy E. Lucas, Miss Edith M. Bliss and Miss Betsey Mitchell. Over one hundred heard the eloquent and principal address of the afternoon by John Wadhams, for years head of the finance department of Connecticut, who answered the query, "Can We Afford It?"

MOHICAN CO. ADDS FINE MODERN BUILDING IN BUSINESS CENTER

Completion of the new building of the Mohican Co., at 260-262 Main street adds to the city's central business district a fine, modern store building in which the prime aim has been to provide light, air and perfect sanitary conditions in the building construction and the installation of the store fixtures. The building is of brick, two stories and basement, occupying a frontage of 52 feet and a depth of 84 feet, and providing abundant space for all its departments.

The interior finish is in quartered oak with wainscotting carried up eight feet from the floor, all equipment of the latest design to provide a most attractive appearance.

Extending along the entire length of the east side of the building is the meat counter. Half inch plate glass and white Italian marble, with Monel metal, form the counters, insuring cleanliness, and the meat racks, on the wall are backed by white opalite glass. White porcelain scales, wrapping tables and meat blocks are included in the equipment, the counters being designed by the Mohican company and built under their supervision. Cork bulletin boards for the display of prices are placed on the walls.

All counters are independently lighted by electricity under the Mohican patents. Electric refrigeration provides the proper temperature at all times in the meat cases as well as in the dairy products department.

At the rear is the fish department where a fish cleaning booth with galvanized iron fittings is provided, the fish counter being in the Monell metal and the fish storage boxes behind it.

Fruit and vegetables and grocery departments are on the other side of the store, all with quartered oak shelving and stalls, presenting an inviting appearance.

In the middle of the store at the front is the dairy products department, where an innovation is a combination of counter and refrigerator, eliminating the necessity of a butter box. Provision is made for displaying the butter between frosted refrigerator pipes which keep the temperature in a perfect state. Adjoining the butter department is the bakery department, which like all other departments is splendidly equipped for the display of food.

Two cashier's booths are provided at the front of the store and an auxiliary booth at the rear in the manager's office to be used in emergencies. All are steam heated, electrically lighted and well ventilated, providing for the comfort of the employes.

One of the many new features of the store is a patented lighting system which permits the illumination of all the counters with none of the lights showing except the lamps hanging from the ceiling.

The cooler and meat cutting room are in a section at the rear of the building and separated by a partition, and doors from the main store. There is a side entrance through which the meat is brought in and from which an overhead track with hooks carry the meat into the cooler. Built of white Keene cement and cork, the floor drained with artificial refrigeration, the cooler room provides the maximum of dry, cold sanitary conditions.

The second floor of the building is mainly occupied by the bakery, which runs across the entire front of the building and is flooded with sunlight from the large windows on the front and sides. The bakery equipment is model and modern. The ovens are thermostatic and are fired from the rear, which insures that no noxious gases come into the bakery. This department has its own refrigeration, solid maple tables and all equipment of the most modern and sanitary kind.

Also on this floor are several large stock rooms and at the rear are the men's lavatory and the ladies' rest room and lavatory.

In the cellar, which is floored in concrete and is dry and airy are the enclosed stock rooms for different departments, the boiler room and the two electric refrigeration units as well as the baby brine tank which supplies refrigeration for the windows when the other units are shut down at night.

The Norwich store was opened here 26 years ago and was the second branch of the Mohican Co., to be opened in New England. For a number of years past it has been under the successful management of Frank J. Aubrey, building up a constantly increasing business which finally led to the decision to acquire the present property and erect upon it a thoroughly modern store. The Norwich store is one of 45 in the Mohican chain.

Several of the Mohican company are to be here for the formal opening. These are Hugh Dewart, general manager; F. P. Shafer, purchasing agent; E. H. Closs, treasurer; C. R. Drake, manager of the company's bakeries; Mr. Beauregard, district manager, and A. J. Denner, construction superintendent. Installation of the fixtures and other work in the building was under the supervision of Mr. Denner.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS OPENS AT Y. M. C. A.

The men's Bible class for the season at the local Y. M. C. A. opened auspiciously Wednesday evening with a good attendance.

The study was from 2nd Chronicles the 26th chapter, the story of King Uzziah. Among other points brought out in the discussion were the following: "We reap what we sow," and "the mills of God grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine". Heredity oftimes has much to do with one's life, and this being true, it behooves the young men of this day, most of whom hope some day to marry, to deport themselves properly, and that they live the right kind of lives. It is not fair to pass on to the coming generation anything short of our best. While environment and heredity play an important part in many lives, yet it is possible to rise above a bad environment and to overcome a bad heritage. King Uzziah had an unfortunate heredity; his grandfather became a bad man and was finally murdered, and his father also was anything but a good man and he, too, was murdered. He came to the throne at the age of 16 and for a time followed the leading of Jehovah, but finally was spoiled by his great successes, and he came to feel that he could do as he pleased, and he wandered far away from the righteous path, and finally became a leper, and died disgraced. No man can ignore God and live a clean and true life. No man has a right to do as he pleases unless he pleases to do right. Every man must "watch his step", for we are all liable to fall and fail. In the long run success is maintained only by living and doing right, and no man has a just claim on success unless he lives true.

PETTIS TAKES LEAD IN WEST SIDE PINOCHLE

Making close to the highest score for the evening of play Wednesday, Pettis climbed from second to first place in the second night's play of the West Side pinochle club, forcing A. Jordan out of the lead.

Underwood made the great run of the night hitting the high score of 7985 which enabled him to climb from eleventh to sixth place, while Boynton went the opposite way, dropping from sixth to twelfth place when he made the low score of 5850.

The following were the scores for the evening: Underwood 7985, Pettis 7810, Bailey 7765, Lewis 7525, A. Jordan 7515, J. Jordan 7230, Ellsworth 7335, E. Peckham 6980, Schuler 6725, C. Peckham 6610, Parker 6400 Boynton 5850.

FRAME DWELLING BURNED NEAR COLUMBIA GREEN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 19.—A large two-story frame dwelling owned and occupied by Jack Price on the Columbia-Hebron road, a quarter of a mile from Columbia green, was burned to the ground early tonight by fire of unknown origin. A large volunteer fire fighting force responded to the call and succeeded in saving an ell in the rear of the house and a considerable portion of the contents. The barn and other outhouses were also saved. It is believed there is insurance on the house.

OBITUARY

Joseph Legue

The death of Joseph Legue, 63, occured at 4:40 Wednesday morning at his home, 161 Franklin street, following a shock which he suffered about two weeks ago. Mr. Legue was a native of Canada, but had lived for many years in Taftville and on Franklin street since last June. He was employed at the J. B. Martin Co. mill.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Emelia Archambeault of Taftville, two sons, Peter of New York city and Joseph of New Bedford; two brothers, Edmund of New Bedford and Camille of Wauregan; and three sisters, Mrs. Melinda Jarry of New London, Mrs. Mary Carriel and Mrs. Emma Langlois, both of New Bedford.

He was a member of St. Patrick's church and a charter member of St. John Baptiste society of Taftville in which he was greatly interested.

RELIGION OF JESUS HAS ALMOST UNIVERSAL INFLUENCE

The influence of the religion of Jesus has become all but universal because it is so human declared Rev. A. N. Foster, in his sermon at the Sunday morning service at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, when he spoke on The religion of Jesus: What it is and why it is so universal. His text was Mark 12:34, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God, and he spoke in part as follows:

The gospel statement that if all the records of Jesus were written, the world would not be able to hold all the books that would be written, has found measurable fulfilment in the multiplied number of publications magnifying Christology during the intervening two thousand years. Present day hymnology presents—"Come to the Savior;" "Just As I Am;" "Rock of Ages;" "Tell It To Jesus;" "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," etc. he recitation of the historic creeds also exalts the name of Christ above every name—even above that of the Almighty. The student cannot study medieval Christianity and avoid the prominent—some would say the dominant—idea of the sacrificial, the dying Christ, for it permeates all the social classes of that period. And in the really apostolic days, it is the repentent and the valiant Peter who boldly declares—"We must speak of the things we have seen and heard about Jesus!"

Commonly, back of this prominence are the implications of certain dogmas which have commanded growing allegiance; Jesus of Nazareth has become the man from heaven—the second Adam and has been deified and made even "to sit at the right hand of God the Father;" belief in the bodily resurrection and the virgin birth of Jesus and the creation of the world in six days has been made a part of Christianity of the churches and even made a vital test of the resumed religion of Jesus Christ.

Now if these features are really a part of the religion of Jesus, it is passing strange if they escaped clear and explicit statement in the gospel records of His teaching—a statement not requiring the strain of interpretation.

Yet Jesus does not teach His own deity; makes no reference to the virgin birth nor to Adam nor the garden of Eden nor to the theories of creation nor does He make himself a part of a mechanical system of salvation. Those teachings have been read into the gospels from mingled Roman, Grecian and Egyptian sources and are not at all essential parts of the religion of Jesus.

If we would only search the scriptures; if we would really study the Bible—especially the New Testament gospels—we would find that Jesus stated explicitly and repeatedly the essential parts of His religion—stated such so carefully and so frequently that His reporters could not miss the things of first import; though the Master left no written word.

For example: In Matthew, Jesus teaches—"not every one that saith Lord, Lord, but he that doeth the will;" again—"the Son of Man is come to seek and to save the lost," and again following the parable of the Virgins—the teaching is made clear—"that inasmuch as ye fed the hungry and visited the prisoner and relieved the suffering, ye did it unto me!"

In the gospel of Luke—Jesus proffers humanitarian service to the rich young ruler who had asked him the way of eternal life and to Zaccheus—the hardened publican and the contrite and repentent man—he brought salvation fully as much as to any of the house of Israel.

The scribe of the context—in Mark's gospel—represents a most important class in the society of that day. Without the fidelity and painstaking accuracy of the copying scribes, the treasured messages of the past would not have been safely transmitted to us—certainly not in the forms we have known and studied them. However, such accuracy of transmission was commonly gained at the expense of intiative and enterprise and ambition and the same danger accompanies the marvelous mechanical achievements of our modern day. This particular scribe had enough of incentive and ambition to ask the newly recognized teacher in Israel, "What after all is the great commandment of all? What sums it all up?" And Jesus answered quickly, "Love God and man! There is none other command greater!"

In all these illustrations, there is no reference to dogma or to creed or to ritual or to ceremony; the reference is unmistakably to conduct and to character; conduct and character constitute the religion of Jesus; and yet how much of the other, one has to brush aside to come to that conclusion!

One eminent critic has phrased the matter in this way—The secret of Jesus' teaching and influence is found in the statement—the kingdom of heaven cometh not with observation; it is within you—an inner spiritual experience. Allied to that secret is a method which requires you to renounce self and take up the cross daily and follow him. The secret and the method give the new view point which in its implications transforms life.

The religion of Jesus in its influence has become all but universal because it is so human—so close to the experience that you and I share. "Was Christ a man like us; ah, let us try if we then too, can be such men as he!"

STATE PRESIDENT SPOKE TO W. C. T. U. DELEGATES

Delegates from the various Women's Christian Temperance unions in New London county heard an instructive address from Mrs. Lena Greenbacker, state president, when she spoke here last week at a meeting of the Norwich branch in Trinity Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Greenbacker based her remarks upon the congress of the World League against Alcoholism, which was held at Winona Lake, Ind., in August and the national convention of the W. C. T. U., in Minneapolis.

In part she spoke as follows:

"The object of the World league is to attain by means of education and legislation the total suppression throughout the world of alcoholism.

"More than 50 countries were represented by delegates who gave reports regarding the movement against alcoholism in the different countries represented. Much consideration was given to the prohibition question in the United States, especially as pertaining to the next presidential election. Mrs. Jesse W. Nicolson of Maryland, president of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement league declared that if the democrats nominate Ritchie, Reid, or Smith for the presidency, the dry democratic women will repudiate them, while Congressman William D. Upshaw of Georgia declared that if wet candidates are nominated by either party, there will be the greatest independent political movement on moral grounds ever known. He said that if the republicans nominate a dry and the democrats a wet, there will be no solid democratic south, but that millions of republicans will be born over night down there.

"The resolution of the congress, relative to the Eighteenth amendment, stated that: 'The Council of the World League Against Alcoholism records its admiration of the statesmanship and courage of the peoples and the legislative bodies of the United States in prohibiting the whole traffic in alcoholic beverages and gratification at the manifest tokens of the advantages to human welfare, particularly to the child life of the nation, which have resulted from the extinction of the legalized liquor traffic.

"Recognizing that the enforcement of this constitutional provision is challenged within and without the United States, by organizations and individuals who set at defiance the expressed will of the nation, the council declares that the issue involved in the struggle to secure effective enforcement of the prohibition amendment is none other than the sanctity of law itself, which is the foundation of social freedom and public well-being. The council, therefore, calls upon the citizens of the United States to uphold vigorously and continuously the law of their country, and upon the citizens of all other countries to respect and sustain the prohibition laws against the intrigues of those whose defiance tends to bring all law into disregard.'

"Many of the delegates from foreign countries in their pleas to the United States to hold fast to prohibition, also, urged world peace, and it was a significant fact that the resolutions adopted by the congress were moved by the chairman, Dr. Henry Carter of England, and seconded by Dr. Otto Melle of Germany.

"Pledging their support to the nomination and election of dry candidates the national W. C. T. U. convention declared it would insist upon a declaration by the national convention of the political parties in favor of law enforcement and the maintenance and enforcement of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act and would work for dry planks in the political party platforms.

"Law enforcement plans adopted by the W. C. T. U. include: Placing increased emphasis on scientific temperance instruction in schools and colleges; urging the teaching of the history of the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and stressing the patriotism of law enforcement.

"January 16 and 17, the anniversary of the adoption of prohibition, will be celebrated by every local union, with special meetings and banquets.

"With rousing cheers, the W. C. T. U. placed the following plank in its platform: "We refuse to accept the Canadian plan of government sale as a substitute for prohibition. Under this plan the old fashioned bartender would reappear as a civic employee. Every claim for the Canadian plan as a solution of the liquor problem has been disproved by the official records of the Dominion and provincial governments."

"Another plank commends "writers and entertainers who eliminate from stories, plays and scenarios, the idea that drinking is essential to a good time," saying, "the average American family has nothing in common with the sort of life portrayed in many current novels and upon the screen and stage."

"One of the features of the program was a pageant which announced for the first time the results of the membership drive, January 16-May 8, showing that 51,849 new members were gained in that period. Connecticut's gain was 410."

Mrs. Greenbacker announced that a record-breaking attendance is expected at the annual state convention to be held in Meriden, October 25 to 27. The program includes such speakers as Dr. Ella A. Boole, president of the national W. C. T. U., Richmond Hobson, the hero of the Spanish-American war, and Dr. Libby of New York, authority on the question of international relations.

Montville Women Voters' Officers

Mrs. Albert Avery was re-elected president of the Montville League of Women Voters at a recent meeting held at Mrs. C. Everett Chapman's home. Other officers re-elected were as follows: Secretary, Mrs. Charles Ramage; treasurer, Mrs. Lightowler. Delegates were chosen to attend the state convention in Waterbury, Nov. 8, 9, and 10.

HIGHWAYS READY FOR TRAFFIC TO ARMY-YALE GAME

Connecticut highways leading into New Haven from all sections of the state are in excellent condition to receive the heavy football traffic which will pour over them this Saturday headed for the annual football battle between the Army mule and the Yale bulldog in the latter's big concrete bowl, according to an announcement made by the state highway department.

Maintenance work done during the summer months has put the roads in first class shape, and despite the fact that some roads are at the present time in the course of reconstruction, at least one and in most cases more than one good route is available from all points in Connecticut and various points of importance outside the state like New York and Boston. Portions of some roads now being worked upon will be in even better condition for the Dartmouth and Princeton game traffic on October 29 and November 12 respectively.

The Boston Post road connecting New Haven, with Bridgeport, Norwalk, Stamford, Greenwich, and New York, which will bear the brunt of the big game traffic, is open throughout despite some reconstruction work being done in Fairfield, Westport, and Stamford. Practically all of the Post road between New Haven and New York is now 36 feet wide, so that two lanes of traffic will be open in each direction.

The highway connecting New Haven with New London and Boston by way of Providence is in good condition to receive the football traffic, except for a stretch of about 200 yards in East Haven which is rapidly nearing completion. This highway will undoubtedly bear most of the traffic coming from the eastern part of the state and will come into importance in carrying Connecticut traffic to Boston and Cambridge for the Harvard-Yale conflict on November 19.

Hartford and Springfield traffic can best reach New Haven by way of Meriden as this road is free of construction work. The highways connecting Hartford with New Haven by way of Middletown and Farmington are both under reconstruction at the present time. Three highways are open for football traffic coming from Waterbury and other points in the western section of the state. Coming from Waterbury cars may enter New Haven by way of Cheshire, Bethany or Derby. The Derby road from Waterbury leads directly to the Yale bowl and cars coming over that highway will not have to pass through the city of New Haven. There is about half a mile of reconstruction work taking place at the beginning of Forest street, but this will not seriously inconvenience traffic coming in the direction of the bowl.

BROADWAY THEATER IN SALE BY POLI INTERESTS

The Broadway theater in this city is included in the chain of eight New England theaters which have just been sold by the S. Z. Poli interests to a Boston theatrical syndicate, according to an announcement made Wednesday morning, for approximately $20,000,000. Twenty theaters, three hotels, 100 stores, 500 offices and two theater sites, all in New England and New Jersey, make up the property included in the sale.

The Broadway theater has held the leading place in the theatrical line in this city ever since it was built in 1890. The formal opening was in December of that year. The S. Z. Poli property in this city is in the tax list at $25,000. The theater is at present operated by the lessees, Levinson and Eldridge, theatrical producers, who made extensive improvements in the property which beautified the house and made it one of the finest in a city of this size in New England.

RESUMED TRIAL IN SUIT AGAINST NELSECO

Trial in the $50,000 damage suit brought by the Textile Finishing Machinery Co. of Providence against the New London Ship & Engine Co., was resumed Wednesday at New London in the superior court before Judge Allyn L. Brown.

The plaintiff company claims that the New London concern manufactured 16 castings of cylinders which were for use in hydraulic presses but that they were porous.

Locating in Montague, Mass.

Mrs. George L. Spafford of New London, widow of the veteran Central Vermont passenger conductor, has leased a home in Montague, Mass., and will, she says, remain in that town permanently. Mr. Spafford, 55 years on the road, had hundreds of friends in that part of the country, for he passed his early days in Brattleboro, Vt., and Millers Falls, Mass., the latter a village in the town of Montague, and as a boy he lived in Northfield, the last home of his mother, Mrs. Sophia Stearns. He was a prominent Mason in Vermont, and when, in 1890, he moved to New London, he affiliated with the Masonic bodies there.

BOBBY MAYS GETS VERDICT OVER SPEEDY DEAN IN SLOW ENCOUNTER

Bobby Mays, of New London, claimant of the New England lightweight title, took every round of an uninteresting 10 round bout from "Speedy" Dean, colored New York, substituting for Ralph Landis in the main attraction of the Thames A. C. boxing show held at the Lyceum theater in New London, last night.

The semi-final proved equally as disappointing due to the fact that Referee Joe Currie, raised the hand of Mickey Genero of Meriden, in token of victory before the end of the first round, when blood flowing from a cut inflicted over Kid Wagner's left eye less than a few seconds after the opening gong, made it impossible for the New Londoner to continue.

Probably the best bout on the card was put on by a pair of Norwich boys, Geno Pecheeni of the West Side, and Charlie Bellizzi of the Jackie Burns stable. Pecheeni at the end of the sixth round was declared the winner by a close margin. The West Side lad's aggressiveness earned him the few deciding points.

Anthony Gerl and Don Raymon, Coast Guard middleweights raised the curtain, but Raymon lowered it shortly, when he floored his opponent near the end of the second round.

The rum-chasers traded wallops on even terms until Gerl went to the canvas after taking a one, two to the head, while coming off the ropes in the second. He went down like a log, and stayed down until Referee Currie had tolled off a count of nine. He managed to get to his feet before the final stroke but was waved to his corner by Currie, out on his feet.

The less said about the big act, the better. Dean, playing the role originally drawn for Landis, stayed through the 10 rounds with a variation of fancy steps, tumbling and other grotesque movements which were anything but well received by the crowd. Mays threw plenty of punches at him, but the Negro managed to absorb many of them with his gloves and arms. Dean failed to connect with Mays body of head over a dozen times.

The most lively scrap of the evening was seen after the show was over when a pair of the big boys from the Coast Guard, settled their troubles in a back alley. A good time was being had by all until a pair of cops butted in and rustled the heavyweights off to police headquarters.

AGGIES HANDICAPPED BY LOSS OF RED GEISSLER

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 19.—Red Geissler '28 of Abington, regular Conecticut Aggie center, may be unable to play against New Hampshire at Manchester, N. H. Saturday because of a severe arm injury received in tackling practice yesterday. Geissler, though only weighing a little over 150 pounds, has played a strong game at center this year and his loss will be keenly felt. John Stangle '30 of East Hartford will probably get the call for the pivot position if Geissler is unable to play.

Definite announcement has been made that Henry Schildgen '29 of Naugatuck, regular right end, will be unable to play for a couple of weeks because of a hip injury. His place in the lineup will be filled by Seraphino D'Tombari '30 o Norwich. Bill Knaut '29 of New Haven is still bothered by an injured knee, and to make matters worse has become infected with poison ivy. He expected to be in condition to start Saturday, but the weight of both afflictions may hamper his effectiveness. Pop Williams was out in uniform today but did not indulge in any of the strenuous work. He too has a knee injury and Alexander is taking no chances of aggravating the trouble.

Defensive play continues to be stressed in the Aggie camp, and already there has been a noticeable improvement in the tackling of the entire squad. All who saw last Saturday's game at Springfield realize that the Aggies must present a much stronger defense if they would tame the "Wildcats." The Springfield game clearly showed that a strong offense is by no means enough to win every football game, for the Aggies flashed power a plenty in that partcular contest.

Connecticut followers feel certain that their team has a strong enough attack to score three or four touchdowns against the Granite Staters and on paper, which nine times out of ten means nothing at all, the Aggies have. Some Connecticut followers point to the fact that New Hampshire has an eleven comprised almost entirely of sophomores as another reason why confidence should reign in the Aggie camp. All of which may be true, yet Connecticut's 1926 eleven was to a large extent made up of sophomores, and they turned back a veteran New Hampshire team last year. Among those who have seen supposedly weak and inexperienced sophomore teams "find themselves" at mid-season hope there will be no repeating of history at Manchester this Saturday

A long dummy scrimmage took up most of the time in this afternoon's work out, and much time was also devoted to punting, dropkicking and forward pass play. It seems likely now that the Aggies will use plenty of passes against the Wildcats.

YOUNG ANTHONY WINS BY KNOCKOUT AT BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 19—(AP)—Walter Mayon, of Providence, outpointed Danny O'Donnell of Ansonia, in the feature amateur bout of the Red Men's card here tonight. Other results:

DARTMOUTH PUTS IN STIFF AFTERNOON'S DRILL

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The Dartmouth football team, pointing for its game with Harvard on Saturday, scrimmaged for an hour and a half against the scrubs today, completing its heavy preparation work. Coach Hawley followed the scrimmage with a long drill, during which the team used a ghost ball when darkness came. Hawley announced definitely after the practice that Black and Harris, backs and Sherman, a lineman, would be unable to start against Harvard because of injuries.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNNING COMING TO THE FRONT

Cross country running that gentle sport of trodding over hill and dale, rocks, pastures and streams has of late years come into much prominence among the high schools of this section until this time it is enjoying a most successful season.

With none too many friends and supporters this athletic art has struggled through until it is now regarded as one of the leading minor sports in the curriculum of schools in this part of New England.

The Academy commenced on it last year and although only two meets were held and the Red and White won neither, nevertheless enough was shown to indicate that this sport would "come" in the not so distant future. The runs last year in which the locals engaged were the Interscholastics held here between the halves of the Bulkeley grid game and a duel one with Suffield Prep at Suffield. N. F. A. finished third in a field of four in the first mentioned match. In the Suffield meet gullivan of the Academy came home first but his mates could not match his measured and killing pace with the result that enough of the Prepsters swarmed in after him in choice positions that the Academy was nosed out.

But, this year, things have shown themselves to be different even this early in the schedule. Running against Westerly last week, the Academy showed several harriers who should help the sport get established in a large way this year. A Westerly runner Wilcox, was first but following him, and not so far back, came Weisgraber, Lyons and a few more of the boys to give the Red and White their first win at the sport.

Chapman Tech, where the sport has been in vogue quite a few years, will send a squad of twelve to Troy, N. Y. a week from Saturday, Oct. 29 to compete in a run sponsored by the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The New Londoners have several speedy men and should make quite a showing.

Stonington also has a capable bunch of performers so that this year's Interscholastic run Thanksgiving day should be conducive to quite a bit of action.

While there are a lot who have not even begun to get real acquainted with this new sport as yet and many who do not even know that the squad with the lowest score wins, nevertheless the fact remains that this healthful fall sport will continue to grow and grow, at least it will if present indications are any criterion.

35 Reported

About thirty five candidates reported to Coach Matthew Sheridan at the opening of the Academy's season and nearly all of this number are now working out. This is pretty good, too, considering that only seven are picked for a meet.

Although nothing definite has been announced, it is expected that all of the Red and White's home meets will be held between the halves of football games. They run over a two mile course that extends up through the rugged countryside of Mohegan park, finishing at the north goal post after coming onto the field through the south post. A meet with Stonington High is reported to be pending for this week.

CANADIAN-AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE TO HAVE SIX CLUBS

BOSTON, Oct. 19—(AP)—The Canadian-American Hockey league will operate as a six-club circuit this winter with the addition of Philadelphia to last year's league of five clubs, President Charles C. Clapp announced tonight.

At the same time he announced a schedule of 119 games, opening on November 12 and closing March 24. The other teams in the league include Boston, Springfield, Providence, R. I., New Haven and Quebec.

Every club in the league has been strengthened with the addition of new players from some of the best amateur and Professional Hockey clubs of Canada, President Clapp said. The management of the Philadelphia club is still in the air, although Micky Roach, former Boston player and member of the New York Americans National Hockey league club last year, has been mentioned. The Philadelphia club will play in the old arena formerly used by the United States Amateur Hockey association. Pending repairs and reinstallation of ice making machinery the Philadelphia club will play on the Princeton rink.

DAVID BONE SURPRISES FOLLOWERS AT JAMAICA

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—Race goers at Jamaica got a thrill today when the Belair stud's David Bone, quoted at 15 to 1, galloped away with the winner's end of the Oceanus Handicap, feaure of the card. David Bone stepped the six furlongs on a sloppy track in the fast time of 1:12 4-5. He won by four lengths over Excalibur, which beat Blarney a like distance for the place. The race was worth $4,400.

Mrs. W. J. Giblin's Grenier, with J. Callahan up, won the Graded A Handicap, feature of the card at Laurel. Banton ran second and Joy Smoke third. There were five starters.

The Castle Farm Handicap for all ages at six furlongs, was won by T. S. Jordan at Latonia, Nor'easter was second and Enery third. The time for the six furlongs was 1:11 1-4. The winner paid $11.60. Eight horses started.

ARMY SCORES TWICE IN SCRIMMAGE WITH SCRUBS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Army's varsity scored twice in a hard scrimmage session with the scrubs today, during which new plays to be used against Yale on Saturday, were given a careful rehearsal.

Captain Harry Wilson and Cagle were the ball carriers scoring touchdowns. There was also a brief period devoted to forward passing and kicking.

Army's kicking game locked strong with Murrell doing most of the punting. Nave replaced Wilson and Hutchinson went in for Murrell as the workout progressed. On the line, Perry and Pearson at tackle and center, respectively, repulsed Saunders and Hall, varsity players in those positions. Anderson and Brentnall were substitute wing men also used today. All the varsity men were in perfect condition. The field was muddy after three days of rain. Army will continue its preparations with a final practice tomorrow.

Reiselt Leads Copulos.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Otto Reiselt, Philadelphia, three cushion billiard champion of the world, tonight won his first block of his 180 points with Gus Coupulos, Detroit challenger, 80 to 39 in 62 innings. Reiselt's high run was six, while the challenger had two high runs of five.

BRAVES TO HAVE YOUNG PLAYER AS MANAGER

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Casting about for a new manager of the Boston Braves, it was understood today that owners of the club had decided it advisable to engage a younger leader, perhaps one with a playing as well as a good managing future, in preference to hiring a veteran like Tris Speaker.

It seems fairly well established that Speaker, while under consideration for some time, has been dropped from the list of possible successors to Dave Bancroft at the Boston helm. Color was given to the story of Speaker's possible engagement by the fact that Tris always has had a big following in Boston, where he played with the Red Sox for years, but Emil E. Fuchs, president of the Braves, is understood to have reached the conclusion that Speaker's future, especially as a player, is mostly behind him.

Even though the Braves desired Speaker, there is the waive obstacle which might prevent him from leaving the American league. Clark Griffith, Washington president, has not asked for waivers on the veteran nor has he been approached, he says, on a deal for the outfielder's services, in spite of discussion that he would go to Cleveland if not to Boston.

Meanwhile "Hot Stove league" observers continue their suggestions for the consideration of Boston's owners. Their mention of possibilities not only has included Speaker and Eddie Collins so far, in spite of denials' but also added the names of Casey Stengel, ex-major leaguer who piloted Toledo to victory in the "little world's series" and Bert Niehoff, manager of the Atlanta club of the Southern association.

EASTERN FOOTBALL TEAMS ARE HANDICAPPED BY RAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Balked in efforts to get their scrimmage sessions out of the way by midweek, eastern football teams, for the most part, have been paying close attention to anticipated plays from Saturday opponents, while at the same time developing new formations of their own. A siege of rain has left the various gridirons soggy and made sure footing well nigh impossible.

Pennsylvania, holding its last workout at home today before its departure for Chicago, showed up badly in a scrimmage held in a drizzling rain Wingate was placed at center instead of Olexy, Magal replaced Monk at a guard position. The backfield fumbled often and the wet ball gave the men a severe test.

Princeton and Cornell drilled in new plays for their meeting Saturday at Ithaca. "Gloomy Gil" Dobie at Cornell gave his men an arduous drill against anticipated Princeton passes. The Tiger varsity romped through scrub opposition.

It was announced from Harvard's camp that Tim Clark, first string left tackle, would not be able to play Saturday against Dartmouth. Guarnaccia, Crosy's running mate in the backfield, is expected to see action, although he is now on the sidelines.

The army put over two touchdowns on the scrubs during their preparation for the Yale game. Cagle and Harry Wilson looked good in the scrimmage. Murrell's punting was of the first order.

TOUCHSTONE BEATS GATES IN SLOW TEN ROUNDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—Benny Touchstone, Miami, Fla., heavyweight, easily outpointed Leo Gates, Mohawk Indian, in a slow ten round bout tonight. Touchstone weighed 198 1-2; Gates 201 3-4.

Roberto Roberti, Italian heavyweight, won by a technical knockout in the first round over Ray Bennett of New York, Roberti weighed 220; Bennett 205 3-4.

Lew Barba of New York outpointed Gus Berger of Germany in six rounds. Barba weighed 186 1-2; Berger 175 1-2.

Joe Schlocker of California won the decision in six rounds from Joe Emmens of Waterbury, Conn. Schlocker weighed 150; Emmens 148 1-4.

Jack Gross, of Salem, N. J., knocked out Dan Bright, of England, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout. A right to the stomach shortly after Bright had risen from the canvas where a blow to the head had put him early in to round for a count of eight finished the Englishman. Gross weighed 198; Bright 206.

"INELIGIBLES" FURNISH STIFF OPPOSITION FOR HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A team of "ineligibles" drilled in Dartmouth plays scrimmaged with the Harvard varsity today as Head Coach Arnold Horween prepared for the Big Green's invasion of Cambridge Saturday. The ineligibles kept the ball for the entire half hour session and later the varsity polished up its offensive work with another scrimmage, this time against the freshmen.

The status of the Crimson's injured list remained unchanged, Dr. T. K. Rickards announcing that Tim Clark, first string left tackle would not see action against Dartmouth and that Guarnaccia, Joe Crossby's running mate in the backfield, probably would be able to play. Both drew injured leg muscles in the Holy Cross game last week.

PAULINO UNABLE TO BOX SCOTT IN NOVEMBER

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, will not be able to go through with his scheduled match with Paul Scott, British champion, at Madison Square Garden, November 4, because of a sprained back sustained in training, his "board of managers" announced today.

Paulino will appear before the state athletic commission's physician tomorrow for examination, to determine the extent of his injury. Jess McMahon, Garden matchmaker, requested this after a conference with the Spaniard's group of business advisers. No efort to arrange a substitute program will be made until the findings of the commission's doctor are disclosed.

Just before hearing of Paulino's injury, which was sustained while the Spaniard was doing one of his famous flip-flops, McMahon had matched Yale Okun, New York light heavyweight, and Leo Lomski, of Aberdeen, Wash., for a ten-round semi-final to the Scott-Paulino bout.

YALE POSTPONES SCRIMMAGE BECAUSE OF SOGGY FIELD

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Forced by rain and a soggy field to postpone to tomorrow its last scrimmage before the Army contest Saturday, the Yale varsity squad spent today's workout in a long signal drill and a short dummy scrimmage.

The practice, light as it was, cost the squad the services of two men for some time, in all probability. Louis Ladd, first substitute tackle, and Mike Flaherty, substitute guard, both suffered quite severe ankle injuries. Two outstanding scrub performers, Karl Billhardt, quarterback, of Brockton, Mass., and Jake Lampe, halfback, of Eveleth, Minn., were promoted to the varsity squad.

Tomorrow's schedule calls for the delayed final scrimmage, somewhat shortened because of the nearness to the Army game, with both first and second elevens participating.

TO MATCH LOUGHRAN AND SLATTERY FOR THE TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19—(AP)—Leon Rains, boxing promoter, announced tonight that he was negotiating for a championship match between Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as light-heavyweight champion, and Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo, whose claim to the title was upheld by the National Boxing association.

A telegram received by Rains from John Carr, Slattery's manager, in answer to the promoter's offer of a bout here with Loughran November 24, said the Buffalo Boxer would appear "if the terms were satisfactory." Joe Smith, Loughran's manager, has agreed to the match.

COCHRANE SETS NEW RECORDS IN BILLIARDS

BOSTON, Oct. 19—(AP)—Welker Cochrane, 18.2 balkline billiard champion, established a new record in 18.1 billiards against Eric Hagenlacher here today by making a high run of 251. The previous high run of 241 was hung up by Jake Schaefer in 1926.

Cochran won the third block of his exhibition match with Hagenlacher by the score of 300 to 63. Tonight he won his fourth straight block by the score of 300 to 234. Four blocks remain to be played.

Hoppe Leads De Oro

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—Willie Hoppe held a lead of 360 to 333 over Alfredo De Oro at the end of the sixth block of their 720-point handicap three-cushion match tonight. De Oro won today's fifth block, 73 to 60, in 66 innings, while Hoppe took the sixth block, 60-4E in 57 innings.

De Oro had a high run of eight to Hoppe's six in the fifth block, and Hoppe's high run of 10 in the sixth block was the highest of the series.

Burke Signed With Tigers

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Eddie Burke, well known local hockey player, has signed with the Boston Tigers. The Boston team is handled by Eddie Bowers, of Toronto.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Fifty-five years old today, Joe Humphries had a record of 37 years in the squared ring without even a scrambled ear to show for it. Humphries, whose waving arms and strident voice are familiar to every follower of fights in New York, has served in the non-combatant role of announcer at 2,500 battles including nearly all the big championship events except the two Tunney-Dempsey scraps.

Penn State's champion team of cross country runners headed by Bill Cox, individual title-holder, starts in quest of new laurels Saturday in a dual race with Syracuse, runner-up last year and eastern title winner the year before. With a champion freshman team last season the Orange places chief reliance on its sophomores, while Nittany hopes to stand or fall with Cox.

A football player spends so much of his playing time on the ground or on his way down that both Bill Roper of Princeton and Tad Jones of Yale have made "falling down practice" a part of their training routine.

Roper's men line up before each scrimmage and fall in unison several times after which they pair off and take turns spilling each other, Jones has his men do a series of ground dives and handsprings as they take the field for the kickoff at the start of a game.

Tiring of the system by which small college football teams become long-suffering sparring partners of the bigger elevens in early season games, an unnamed 1905 alumnus of the University of Vermont had written to his alma mater in protest. "The reason for having Columbia and Harvard on our schedule is a mercenary one," replied Graduate Manager Mayforth The income is needed "to make ends meet," he explained.

A broken neck is no handicap to Harry Herbert, veteran quarterback of the Boston university football team. Suffering the injury in 1922 in a Syracuse-Colgate game, Herbert spent months in a hospital before he recovered. Transferring from Syracuse to Boston, he went back to the gridiron and now has played almost as many years as Harry Wilson, of Penn State and the Army.

BLUE IS FINED $50 FOR FOULING ROLEAUX SAGPERO

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Earl ("Little Boy") Blue, Fargo, N. D., was fined $50 by the Illinois state athletic commission today for fouling Rouleaux Saguero, the Cuban light-heavyweight, in their ten-round bout here last night. The Cuban refused to accept victory on repeated fouls and knocked out Blue in three rounds.

Johnny Salvatore, manager of Mr. Sullivan, St. Paul, welterweight, and Sol Gold, who handled Archie Bell, New York bantamweight, also felt the commission's hand of discipline. Their licenses were revoked and they were suspended for their ringside conduct of shouting and coaching lustily.

THREE GEORGETOWN PLAYERS SUSPENDED BY COACH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Indefinite suspension of "Bucky" O'Neil, halfback, and "Mossy" Mosko, tackle, and suspension for one week of Johnny Hannegan, halfback, for failure to observe training rules after the game with Syracuse last Saturday, was announced today by Couch Lou Little of Georgetown university.

The coach said he realized the suspensions will hurt Georgetown's chances with West Virginia this Saturday, but held discipline to be more important than winning football games As the suspension in Hannegan's case began last Saturday, there is a possibility that he will be played against the Mountaineers.

CHARGED WITH STEALING SAVINGS OF AN AGED MAN

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A sequel to the robbery of $1,800 from the vest of 78-year-old Angelo Romano in Holden the night of Sept. 27 was written in superior court today when the grand ujry returned an indictment for robbery against Joseph Bardaccino and Charles Kane, both of Worcester. They are charged with stealing the life savings of the aged man, assaulting him after offering to give him a ride home in their automobile. This indictment was included in 45 true bills returned by the grand jury.

Rev. Charles E. Martin of Worcester, formerly an assistant pastor of a Springfield church, whose honeymoon automobile struck and caused the death of Frithiof C. Johnson, Worcester contractor, Oct. 3, was indicted on a charge of operating an automobile so that the lives and safety of the public might have been endangered. The accident happened while Rev. Mr. Martin was starting on a wedding trip with his bride of less than an hour, a Bridgeport, Conn., woman.

WESTERLY

BID OF BOSTON COMPANY ACCEPTED FOR SEWER BONDS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I. Oct. 19—At a business session of Westerly Town council held during the week bids were opened from some six or eight banking houses for the floating of an issue of $150,000 worth of 4 per cent Town of Westerly sewer bonds. It was the vote of the council, in the bonds signed by Westerly Town Treasurer James M. Pendleton and Westerly Town Clerk Everett E. Whipple to accept the bid of Harris Forbes company, of Boston, at 99.10, with accrued interest from Oct. 1st.

Elmer E. Babcock is recovering at his home, 27 Prospect street, Pawcatuck, from injuries sustained the past week in Arctic, R. I., as the result of an automobile accident when four ribs were broken. He was operating his automobile and in an endeavor to pass a truck turned to one side of the road into soft sand. Control of the car was lost and it crashed into a telegraph pole.

Westerly grange, No. 18, Patrons of Husbandry, Roy Dawley of Pawcatuck, master, Wednesday night at Grange hall, Avondale, observed Neighbors' night. There were in attendance nearly 250 Grangers including guests from Stonington, Mystic, North Stonington, Ashaway, Hope Valley, Quonochontaug, Narragansett and other granges. Past Rhode Island State Master C. Palmer Chapman and wife, Mrs. Isabella C. Chapman, National Pomona, were present. The special speaker following the business of the evening was Charles M. Gardiner, High Priest of Demeter, from Springfield, Mass. The evening's program included a social time and the serving of sandwiches, cake and coffee in charge of the committee on entertainment.

Eminent Commander Robert Hazard, Generalissimo David A. Lowry and Captain General Francis M. Johnson attended Wednesday the one hundred and twenty-second annual conclave of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar and Apendant Orders of Massachusetts and Rhode Island as delegates from Narragansett commandery, No. 27, K. T. of Westerly. The session opened at 10 o'clock in the Masonic temple, Boston. Following the reports of the various officers and committees, the annual address of retiring grand commander, James A. Gunn of Turners Falls, Mass., was made. Right Eminent Commander Norris G. Abbott, a past commander of St. John's commandery, No. 1, K. T. of Providence was elected to head the grand commandery for the coming year. At adjournment, dinner was served in the lining hall in the basement.

Wednesday afternoon a work train of the New Haven railroad with the big wrecker derrick "Midway" was engaged with a force of men in unloading large spool drums of wire cable of the Okonite company of Passaic, N. J. The wire spools were distributed along the right of way near the Westerly station where line forces of the Western Union Telegraph company are engaged in the installation of the telegraph poles of new cross arms and wires.

Men of the Westerly highway department were at work Wednesday afternoon clearing the clogged drain for surface water on High street which extended under Dixon street and the High street sidewalk to the catch basin in a tile pipe. The heavy rains of the past few days together with leaves caused an overflow upon the sidewalk near the parochial school of the Immaculate Conception church. A number of lengths of fire hose were attached to a Narragansett avenue hydrant and an eel nozzle was used to force the hose through the drain, to clear the pipe.

The old wooden barn on Railroad avenue across from Westerly station, property of the estate of Albert L. Chester, and recently occupied as a storage garage by Carl V. Brucker, has been razed. The heavy timber framing of the building was formerly in the old American academy building which stood on Union street on the site of the burned Westerly fire station, where the new one is to be erected. James E. Kennedy of the Westerly library building was employed as a carpenter when the frame was removed and worked on the barn building.

The Colonial club, Addison S. Archie, president, Monday of next week will begin its first bridge whist tournament of the season as arranged by Frank G. Ahern, chairman of the entertainment committee. As was the case in the successful tournaments of last year, this tournament will be for both men and women. It will continue for eight weeks and be decided upon competitive scores. Three bridge tournaments for men and women were conducted at the Colonial club last year and an average of 24 tables were in play each evening. The affairs proved extremely popular. Last year there were two tournaments between the men and women, each group being victorious one. The last tournament was for competitive score.

The Home Service section of Westerly chapter of the American Red Cross Tuesday afternoon held its meeting at the headquarters of the organization in the Washington Trust Co., building. Miss Lucy Crowley, the executive secretary, submitted her report, which showed 62 individual cases handled during the past month.

The individual cases listed in the report were 20 ex-service men assisted during the month: six in compensation claims; 2 claims for funeral expenses; 2 hospital; 2 state aid; 1 naturalization; 1 Spanish war veteran; 1 Travelers' aid; 2 guardianship; 2 social service reports; 1 widow's pension; 15 civilian cases were given assistance; 8 representatives of out-of-town organizations called at the office for assistance and information; 5 certificates were issued to juniors completing life saving course.

Executive Secretary Miss Lucy M. Crowley, of Westerly chapter of the Red Cross, will attend today (Thursday) in Providence the regional conference of the Red Cross.

Tuesday at S. Paul's church, Warwick avenue, Edgewood, R. I., Miss Catherine Mary McFarland of Edgewood was united in marriage with Arthur Schiller of Lower Pawcatuck. The wedding was attended by relatives and friends from Westerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Elliott returned to their New York home Wednesday afternoon after being guests of Harry R. Milner, also visiting their Watch Hill cottage, Windamere, near the Misquamicut Golf club, occupied the past season by Mr. and Mrs. Delos R. Fowler of Detroit.

Friends in Westerly have heard from George C. McKinley, of Pawcatuck, chauffeur at Watch Hill and New York and now with the Ajax Rubber company in Racine, Wis. He reports the weather very chilly and according to the natives it will continue colder from now on.

Postmaster and Mrs. Charles M. Lamb of Pleasant View were in Providence Wednesday.

Martin Spellman returned to Westerly Wednesday morning from Providence, where he took part in the radio singing contest.

Wil Clarke has gone to Utica, N. Y., and will endeavor to remove his mother, Mrs. Milo Clarke, who is a patient in the hospital with a fracture of the shoulder, to her Westerly home. The trip to Springfield, Mass., will be by rail and then to Westerly by auto.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Farnsworth are on a hunting trip to Indian Head, in the Adirondacks.

MYSTIC

ODELL D. TOMPKINS HAS OLD GRAVES UNCOVERED

Odell D. Tompkins a former Mystic boy, now a lawyer in Mount Vernon, N. Y., built a summer residence on Pequot avenue seven years ago. Since that time he has added several acres to his estate, enabling him to keep trees and land in a condition so that he has a wonderful view from his property. In the tract of land that extends down to High street, not far from the street is an old family cemetery and by the names it must have been mostly Burrows who are buried there. It had been neglected and grown up to brush so that it was almost impossible to get into it. Mr. Tompkins, at his own expense had two men clear the cemetery of the growth of brush, remove it to an adjoining lot and burn it, a public-spirited act. He also erected a gate on High street and with the path cleared it is now possible to reach the burial ground. From the stones one reads that Anna Burrows, wife of Capt. Ambrose H. Burrows died Dec. 9th, 1861, in her 76th year. Capt. Brutus Burrows born Sept. 6, 1806, died Jan. 19, 1886, Julia, wife of Capt. Brutus Burrows, born Sept. 24, 1814 died at Key West, Dec. 27, 1838; Susan, wife of Capt. Brutus Burrows, died Feb. 2, 1860, aged 49.

Capt. Ambrose H. Burrows who, after making two voyages to Canton and crossing the Atlantic sixty-six times, departed this life on board the packet ship George Washington on his passage from Liverpool to New York, Dec. 23, 1843, aged 31 years, 8 months, 24 days. Verse,

The pride of all our hopes lies here
more dear to us than life,
Naught now remains the heart to cheer of the afflicted wife.
Now safe moored, no tempest dread,
no waves disturb his bark,
Few tears remaining now unshed to soothe a parent's heart.
Great God the author of the storm,
protects the seaman brave,
He saved the gallant sailor from a dreary watery grave.
His sails now furled, his anchors cast ne'er to be weighed again,
He feels no wintery blast nor dreads
the raging of the main.

In addition to cleaning up the cemetery Mr. Tompkins has repaired the wall, having it rebuilt in the gaps so it will last many years.

Mystic grange degree team and those who pose in the tableaux went to Ashaway Monday night and conferred the third and fourth degrees on a class of nine candidates. NOANK

HOW FISHERMAN CAUGHT TWO FISH ON ONE HOOK

The fishermen gathered at F. I. Rathbun's store Tuesday, as the wind was blowing a gale and the water was rough. The store was filled. Many stories were told. Capt. Wilfred O'Brien who has the boat Mayor, told about his mate, Elbert Rathbun who went fishing for black fish outside of Fishers Island recently with a party of four. It was a great day for fish. Mate Rathbun had good luck during the day and soon his line got heavy and getting it to the top of the water he had an odd catch, two fish on one hook—a black fish was hooked by the mouth and a mackerel by the tail. It was the first time Capt. O'Brien ever saw that done. The crowd gave him a big hand and said "Three cheers for Mate Rathbun."

Buddington did not take any reward for his work. Dr. MacGown was well pleased and thanked the captain.

The Sardine club members paid a visit to Flanders dance, East Lyme, Tuesday night, making the trip by automobile and spending the evening in dancing. The big drum was painted with a large rainbow. The five musicians were the Rainbow Melody boys When intermission came Mr. Shaw told the dance fans that William Crowell and his partner, Miss ulia Cross would give the new Harvard hop. It was the first time it was seen in the mill town.

Then the Rainbow boys stepped on the music and the Harvard hop went along fine. When it was over the dancers were called back. Stretch Moran tried out the buck and wing dance then a Portland fancy was put on. Prof. Steele of Madison was there to prompt and make it a real set. After the dance the club stopped at a restaurant in New London and had a 1 o'clock snack. Vice President Dinty Moore was in charge.

Artificial heating of the ocean is to be tried in Westerland, Germany, to provide bathing all the year round. Huge electric heaters will raise the water's temperature and rob a winter dip of its chill.

LEONARD BRIDGE

Miss Ruth B. Williams of Lebanon spent Saturday afternoon at Mrs. C. M. Geer's.

Kenneth L. Cummings, David Walsh, Elmer Geer, Stewart Pitcher and Donald Cummings were Hartford visitors Thursday. Donald Cummings, in company with others started for Memphis, Tenn., where he is to do cattle judging at the National Dairy show. He will be gone ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Adulph Rhenland and children of Philadelphia have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Schroedter.

Mrs. Ignacy Stochansky has gone to New York for a time.

Mrs. Hattie J. Kneeland, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Kneeland and three children, of Lebanon, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren M. Kneeland, of Hartford, were callers at Mr. and Mrs. David Walsh's Sunday.

Work is progressing on the new barn being built for Mrs. David Walsh, to replace one burned by lightning in August. Elmer E. Caples of Liberty Hill is in charge of the work.

Mrs. Herman Hess and Herman Cooper, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Case of East Berlin are spending a few days at Miss Emily Watrous'.

Mrs. Elmer N. Geer returned on Thursday from a five days' visit with her sister, Mrs. Wesley Porter, at Manchester.

HANOVER

PRINCIPAL HENRY A TIRRELL GIVES INSPIRING TALK

A very pleasing entertainment was given in the Parish house Friday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' guild. The program consisted of readings by Mrs. Irving Frink of Brooklyn, Conn., vocal solos by Mrs Frank Stanton of Stonington, and violin solos by Master Earl Swan, of Norwich. Mrs. Joseph H. Hammond came with and accompanied Mrs. Stanton on the piano, and Mrs. William G. Park accompanied Master Swan.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Irving Stone, of Bethlehem, Conn., were visitors at the parsonage for a few days last week.

Frederick Eadie spent the week end at St. Johnsbury, Vernon, Mrs. Eadie and Frederick, Jr., returned with him, after spending some weeks with Mrs. Eadie's mother, Mrs. Stearns, during her recent illness and convalescence.

The talk given in the Parish house by Principal Henry A. Tirrell Sunday evening was highly enjoyable. It will most certainly add to Hanover's growing interest in the Academy and its work as indicated by the number of local boys and girls who attend the school.

The Endeavor society acted the part of wisdom in beginning its series of more public meetings under such favorable auspices.

The October meeting of the Missionary society is to be held Friday afternoon at 2:30. Miss Jennie Gallup will be the leader and Mrs. Lee, and Mrs. Stone the hostesses.

Miss Anna Palmer, of Providence is visiting her cousins at the Allen home on Main street.

Mr. Joseph Lyon, whose occupations are so varied at the school house, church, and in the distribution of the products of the farm on Lee Hill, has been greatly missed during the past few days. One of our common enemies, rheumatism holds him firmly in its grip at present, but we trust that with his usual courage and persistence, he will be able to release its hold shortly.

We are soon to have another new building on Main street in the erection of a house by Charles Kustan upon the lot between his mother's home and that of Mrs. Webster Standish. Excavations for the cellar are already under way. The store and post office building is nearing completion, and the Catholic church, considering the size of the building, is progressing as rapidly as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Standish of Baldwin, L. I., have been visiting relatives in Hanover during the past week.

The Lebourveau home, after providing entertainment for so many of its friends both here and at its summer quarters at the shore, has resumed its usual winter number in the return of the two grandmothers, Lebourveau and Moffatt.

Mrs. Anna Dexter of Danielson has returned for her usual autumn visit with her daughter, Mrs. Henry B. Hazen.

The various projects for adoption by the Hanover Congregational church in its benevolent work the coming year have been decided upon tentatively by the committee. They will be submitted to Miss Woolsey of New Haven who is the superintendent for that line of work in Connecticut for correction and suggestion, after which they will be presented to the church for its action.

The estate of Augusta Gillette, late of Norwich inventories $16,360.50, according to the returns filed with the probate court by the appraisers, Andrew B. Davies and Gilbert S. Raymond. The executrix is Florence C. Gillette, sister, to whom most of the estate is willed.

Camel

The cigarette preferred by experienced smokers

In the remarkable growing popularity of the cigarette, many brands have bid for favor, but Camel continues to lead by billions.

Quality put it there—quality keeps it there.

If all cigarettes were as good as Camel you wouldn't hear anything about special treatments to make cigarettes good for the throat. Nothing takes the place of choice tobaccos.

SELLING ATTACKS UNDERMINED PRICES OF MOST POPULAR INDUSTRIAL STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—The stock market had another sharp sinking spell today from which it made only partial recovery. After an unimpressive opening rally, a series of selling attacks were launched against popular industrials, which eventually undermined the general list. Extreme declines ran from 3 to 10 points in a number of issues, the rapidity of the decline touching off a number of "stop-loss" orders which swelled the volume of liquidation.

The reaction, like the one earlier in the week, was not directly associated with anything in the day's news, although the publication of a poor third quarterly earnings report by the Republic Steel company probably stimulated some liquidation of the steel shares. The weekly steel trade reviews expressed conflicting opinions as to the future trend in that industry, Iron Age calling attention to two factors which might make for improvement while the American metal market ventured the prediction that a definite turn for the worse had taken place.

Speculative sentiment, judged by commission house comment, was predominantly bearish. There was a feeling in many quarters that the technical position of the market had not been sufficiently corrected by the recent decline and the market generally was "toppy." It was generally conceded, however, that the redemption of the second liberty loan set up a large potential investment demand for securities.

Three developments of the day were capable of bullish interpretation: Namely, the reduction in the call money rate from 4 to 3 1-2 percent, the lowest of the month; the sharp drop in the daily average of crude oil production last week, and the appointment of a committee of Missouri Pacific directors to take up the question of the payment of nearly 50 per cent in back dividends on the preferred stock.

Missouri Pacific preferred was heavily bought on the announcement of the directors' action, climbing 4 points to 112 1-4, the highest price since the reorganization of the road in 1916. Wabash common continued to respond to reports of buying for control, closing 2 3-8 points higher at 74 1-2. Other southwestern rails also advanced a point or two. Erie common, a recent strong spot, fell back nearly 2 points, and minor recessions took place in most of the other rails.

Weakness of the chemical shares probably was influenced by fears of increased foreign competition through the formation of the new European chemical trust, and by the falling off in the third quarter earnings of Commercial Solvents, compared with the same quarter last year. Allied Chemical, Commercial Solvents and Dupont showed extreme losses of 5 to 7 points, only part of which was recovered. Advance Rumely common and preferred sankto new 1927 lows.

U. S. Steel common broke through to another new low on the current down-swing at 142 1-8 and then rallied to 143, off 1 3-4 net. Motors were again heavily liquidated. General Motors common sinking from 137 to 132 1-4, and then moving back to 133 1-8, off 2 3-8 net, and Hudson falling to 66 3-4, and then rallying to 68 1-8, off 2 7-8 net. Dodge Bros. common and preferred, sank to new lows at 13 1-4 and 56 1-2, respectively. Acute weakness also was shown by American Sugar Refining, Coty, Inc., General Railway Signal, International Harvester, Liggett & Myers, Mack Trucks, Macy, and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, all off 3 points or more.

There were a few outstanding strong spots, notably Philadelphia company which soared 11 points to a new high at 126 and American Linseed, Radio, Underwood Typewriter and Cluett Peabody, which moved into new high ground.

Time money was slightly firmer, being quoted at 4 to 4 1-4 instead of 3 3-4 to 4. Prime commercial paper was unchanged at 3 3-4 to 4.

A further reaction of half a cent a bushel in wheat prices, a drop of nearly $2 a bale in cotton and an advance of 28 to 35 points in coffee, were the high spots in the commodity markets.

Except for a moderate recession in Norwegian kroner, and a slight advance in sterling, there was little of interest in the foreign exchange market.

New England Industries

LEATHER BELTING INDUSTRY

(Note: The information, on which this article, issued by the research department of the New England council, is based, was obtained by the domestic commerce division, United States department of commerce, through an industrial survey of New England conducted in co-operation with the New England council. The department of commerce is now preparing for publication a full report of this industry which will contain additional information of practical value to all New Small in comparison to New England industry as a whole, the leather belting group turns out, according to 1923 census figures, about 30 per cent of the country's total product. Belting used for power transmission is the only product considered in this section of a survey recently conducted by the United States department of commerce in cooperatoin with the New England council. Although there was a sharp drop in sales reported by the companies included in this survey in 1925, the total in 1925 was 13 per cent over the 1924 level. A change in demand has most often been cited as the cause of sales decreases, and this might be taken to refer to the growing tendency in many industries to install individual motor drives for machines.

This is one of New England's oldest industries, the average age of plants as shown in this survey being 54 years. There has been little trend toward changes in management, and only a few concerns have established branch plants outside New England. Leather for manufacture is purchased mostly outside New England. Nearness of market, banking facilities, and a supply of skilled labor have been the principal reasons for establishing plants in New England. Census figures show that Massachusetts produced $8,000,000 worth of belting, leading every other state in the Union in annual production. Rhode Island and Connecticut share the rest of New England's productivity.

Only one concern reporting has provided piece work for its workers. Employment has on the whole been regular throughout the year, and, probably for that reason, little has been done in the development of supplementary products. A few concerns accumulate stock in slack periods.

Improvements in manufacturing practice made by the greatest number of producers reporting have been in relations with employes, standardization of products and materials, prevention of accidents, and organization and executive control. A high percentage of product is sold under a brand or trademark. The main channels of distribution were reported as direct to retailer, through wholesalers or jobbers, and direct to the consuming manufacturer.

During the coming year better methods of selling and marketing are to be emphasized by a majority of the reporting companies.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Mr. Blacksnake Returns

Jealousy on rumor feeds,
And dark suspicion always breeds.
—Old Mother Nature.

It was two or three days since Peter had seen Mr. Blacksnake up in the Old Pasture. He wondered if Mr. Blacksnake would return. He had a feeling that he would. So he wasn't at all surprised when he ran across Mr. Blacksnake up by a great pile of stones. Mr. Blacksnake was asleep. At a distance, Peter thumped the ground slightly. Instantly Mr. Blacksnake lifted his head.

"Good morning, Mr. Blacksnake," said Peter. "I hope you are feeling as fine as you look. Did you go down to the Old Briar-patch?"

Mr. Blacksnake nodded. "Yes," said he, "I went down to the Old Briar-patch and I went all through it."

Peter tried not to show how interested he was. "Did you find any mice down there?" he asked.

"Yes," said Mr. Blacksnake.

"Did you see Mrs. Peter?" inquired Peter.

"Yes," replied Mr. Blacksnake. "She seemed to me to be looking unusually well."

"Did she appear to be lonesome?" asked Peter.

"Not that I could see," replied Mr. Blacksnake. "She looked very well and contented. By the way who is that handsome young rabbit I saw?"

"What handsome young rabbit?" demanded Peter suspiciously.

"That's what I want to know," replied Mr. Blacksnake. "I thought you could tell me. He certainly is a fine-looking rabbit and he's just about your size. I didn't have a chance to speak to him. Of course, I thought you would know all about him."

"Well, I don't," snapped Peter, and the way he said it told Mr. Blacksnake a whole lot. Mr. Blacksnake guessed right away that Peter was jealous. He guessed right away that Peter thought he had seen that fine-looking young rabbit down in the dear Old Briar-patch. As a matter of fact, nothing could have been further form the truth. Mr. Blacksnake had seen a handsome young rabbit, but he was nowhere near the dear Old Briar-patch. However, he didn't let Peter know this. This was too good a chance to tease Peter. So he said, "Yes, sir, that handsome young rabbit is just about your size, Peter, and fully as good-looking. I shouldn't want to be away from home any length of time if I were in your place, with such a fine

"Good morning, Mr. Blacksnake," said Peter looking rabbit about. I should be jealous if I were you. I certainly would."

"Well, I'm not," declared Peter. "I'm not the least bit jealous. Did you say that fellow was with Mrs. Peter?"

"I didn't say," replied Mr. Blacksnake. "Certainly if I were little Mrs. Peter I wouldn't object to having such a fine-looking fellow about. Now, excuse me, Peter. I can't talk any longer. I really can't stay. I'm sorry, but I have an engagement."

Mr. Blacksnake glided in between the stones and disappeared. As for Peter, he was more jealous than ever. He was sure now, absolutely sure, that this strange rabbit was visiting the dear Old Briar-patch. Probably that was the reason why little Mrs. Peter was so contented and happy. Peter gritted his teeth as he thought of it. He was of a mind to start right off for the dear Old Briar-patch to tell little Mrs. Peter what he thought about it all. But he knew what she would say. She would simply tell him that it was none of his business. He had left the dear Old Briar-patch and what she did now was no affair of his.

AUSTRALIAN SUPER-FILM SCORES PENAL SERVICE

LONDON, Oct. (AP)—Australia's first super-film which cost £50,000 is about to be presented in London.

It is called For the Term of His Natural Life, and centers about penal settlement scandals of a century ago, a subject upon which many Australians are very sensitive.

Eva Novak, the American film artist, is the star of the production, and Norman Davis, also an American, produced it.

The terrors of the long voyages of caged convicts from England to Tasmania and convicts harnessed like bullock to heavy plows are shown in the film which shows Australian civilization emerging from Welter of savage conditions.

JONSON'S INDICTMENT RESTORED IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Oct. (AP)—The indictment of Ben Jonson, Elizabethtown poet and playwright, for slaying one Gabriel Spencer with his rapier, is among the collection of documents, many hundreds of years old, which are in process of "restoration" at the Middlesex Guildhall, Westminster, within a hundred yards of Jonson's grave in Westminster Abbey.

The indictment sets forth that Jonson "made an assault with force and arms against and upon a certain Gabriel Spencer at Shordiche (Shorditch, a section of London) with a certain sword of iron and steel called a Rapiour of the price of three shillings."

The wound was mortal, but Jonson "pleaded his clergy and read his neck-verse," which means that he pleaded the benefit of clergy and read a verse from the Bible to prove that he was a clerk.

Jonson was branded on the thumb with the letter "T," known as the "Tyburn T." Jonson's grave bears the epitaph, "O Rare Ben Jonson."

Cartridges loaded with fine sand are used by naturalists to shoot the swift-flying boyfly, which can attain a speed of 315 miles an hour.

Dahlia bulbs yield a sugar one and one-half times as sweet as beetroot sugar, and are more easily grown than beet; but the great advantage of dahlia sugar is that, unlike beet, it can be taken by people suffering from diabetes.

Hold it there all day long!

with ease to car and comfort to passengers!

Your Essex gives you 50 miles an hour all day long. Far greater speed if you want it. Brilliant activity in pick-up and hill climbing. More than 2½ times the power its motor size ordinarily rates it. Long life and enduring character to all its abilities and quality.

It is exclusive performance because Essex Super-Six design is exclusive. And because every part of motor and chassis is engineered to true balance with every other part.

This unity construction goes beyond Essex performance to Essex comfort, appearance and economy. Thus its compactness gives 15% more passenger room. Its riding ease is not excelled by any car regardless of size or price. And it is engineered to lowest operation and maintenance cost.

During the year Essex has outsold any other "Six" at or near the price, almost two to one, and we believe a single ride will fully reveal the reason.

REV. A. E. WHITTEN'S MOTHER DIES IN AUSTRALIA, AT 85

Rev. Albert E. Whitten, of West Town street, received a cablegram Monday, from Australia, that his mother, Mrs. Charlotte Whitten, aged 85, passed peacefully away Saturday, October 8th, at Tamworth, in the state of New South Wales. Since learning of the sad tidings, his parishioners at the First Methodist Episcopal church and friends, have manifested deep sympathy for the pastor and his family in their bereavement.

When the class of young women of the First M. E. Sunday school, met with Miss Ruth Lathrop of Wauwecus street, Monday evening, to formulate plans for a class supper, the hostess served sandwiches, cake, cocoa, candy and salted peanuts. Miss Lathrop is class secretary and treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gremley and little daughter, accompanied by Mr. Gremley's mother, Mrs. Charles Gremley, all of Mystic, and friends, while on a motor trip Sunday afternoon, made a brief call on Norwich Town friends.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Carl M. Weite of East Town street, had as automobile guests to Central Village, Mrs. William E. Hough, Miss Edna Lillibridge and Mrs. Holmes, all of Norwich Town, who paid a visit to Miss Lillibridge's former home.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Buckner returned to Boston Sunday, folowing a few days' stay with Norwich Town friends. While here, Mrs. Buckner (Mabel Burgess) formerly of Norwich Town, made several brief calls on friends. Her father, the late George D. Burgess, was a travelling salesman for the former Richmond Stove works.

At the meeting Monday at the Norwich Town Congregational church of the Norwich Ministers' association, representatives will attend from Hanover, Bozrah, Fitchville, Norwich and Norwich Town. The luncheon at noon will be under the general supervision of Mrs. David M. Dean, chairman of the committee in charge.

A committee from Norwich Town Sacred Heart church is to provide a program of vocal and instrumental selections at Backus hospital, Sunday afternoon, during the musical hour.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wood have returned to Providence following a few days' visit with Norwich Town relatives.

Having completed several months' engagement as violinist in a New London theater orchestra, Theodore Sterry has been playing in one of the Norwich theater orchestras the past few weeks, having been assigned leader.

Mrs. Mary White and daughter, Miss Annie White, accompanied by John Dwyer, of Webster, were guests Sunday at the home of Mrs. White's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Kennedy and daughter, Miss Alice H. Kennedy of Town street.

BOURCHIER FAVORED BY LONDON CHILDREN

LONDON, Oct. (AP)—Long John Silver, the one-legged hero of Stevenson's Treasure Island, and Arthur Bourchier were one to children throughout the British Empire.

So mourning is world-wide over the death of Bouchier in South Africa, where he was making a tour with his theatrical company.

Every year Bourchier revived the famous pirate play in London, usually at Christmas time, and later made a tour of the British Isles. It was even a greater favorite with children than the pantomimes which are given so generally at holiday time.

Bouchier was the founder of the Oxford university Dramatic society and did much to remove the prejudice which once existed in England against actors and the stage. He became a professional actor in 1889, after years of work on the amateur stage, as a member of Mrs. Langtry's company, and later played with Sir George Alexander, Sir Herbert Tree, Sir Charles Wyndham. He later became a theatrical manager, and acted in his own company, presenting many Shakespearian and modern plays. For 32 years he had been an actor-manager, who managed his own theater in London, The Strand, without a syndicate or financial partner. His wife, who made a gallant fight to save his life is Miss Kryle Bellew, the daughter of Kryle Bellew, who attracted much attention in the United States as a co-star with Mrs. James Brown Potter.

POLICE COMMITTEE REPORTS IN PATROLMAN WELLS' CASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 19—Sergeants Nelson Smith and John Cavanaugh have concluded their investigation of the charges of conduct unbecoming an officer made against Patrolman Clarence Wells as the result of that officer's name having been connected with the death of Miss Hannah S. Frederickson, former Lawrence-Memorial hospital nurse. Within the next 48 hours, it is expected that City Manager William A. Holt will have assigned a date for a hearing of the charges. Sergeant Smith filed his complete report today with Captain C. A. Finney and the latter official at once started the task of making his report for the city manager. It is expected that the report will be in the hands of City Manager Holt sometime tomorrow, but it is not believed that the hearing will be held before next Tuesday or Wednesday.

ROUGH WEATHER OUTSIDE DRIVES CRAFT TO SNUG HARBOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 19—The storm early this morning caused a greater number of boats to seek shelter in New London harbor than has been the case in several years. All masters of boats, including fishermen had ample warning of the approach of the storm and they wisely headed their boats for port, that is, such boats as were in the local waters. Four fishermen, who were off Block Island and Montauk point, one boat being from New York and another from North Carolina and a third from New Haven, put into the harbor during the night and made an anchorage at the municipal pier. Several tug boats, also entered the harbor, most of them with tows bound to eastern ports and are still here. The barges, headed eastward are coal-laden, while the barges destined westward are light. There are about 20 of them and they are anchored between the New London line pier and the lower harbor. All of the tugs are moored at the piers of the F. H. & A. H. Chappell Coal company. All of the tugs and their tows for their destination has been delayed because of the continued heavy gale and rough sea that prevail outside.

Mrs. John J. Gorman of 49 Chappell street, entertained at bridge last night, those present being Mrs. Harold Cruise, Mrs. Leonard J. Sheflott, Jr., Mrs. Otto Eames, Mrs. William Ryan Mrs. Arthur Beckwith, Misses Theresa Cook and Elizabeth T. Roath, Mrs. Sheflott was the winner of the first prize. After the playing a collation was served.

James P. Johnston and Archibald S. MacFarlane have sold a building lot between Jefferson and Connecticut avenues, to Margaret Devine.

Arthur Keefe has sold a dwelling on Bentley avenue, Ocean Beach, to Bessie G. Zimmerson of Springfield, Mass.

Silas Maxson, Jr., has sold a house and lot between Montauk and Pequot avenues to John M. Mallon, Jr.

Mrs. Leah Santos, 33, widow of John Santos, died last night at her home, 22 Willetts avenue, after an illness of about two months. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Murandi; two sons, Daniel and John Santos; a brother, Alexander Mirandi and a sister, Mrs. Robert Davidson, all of this city. Mrs. Santos' health was impaired because of a complication of diseases. Her husband died four years ago while on a voyage to Portugal, the body being buried there.

The funeral service for Mrs. Ida J. Roe, widow of William L. Roe, was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Robert R. Congdon, the services being conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ. The bearers were Robert R. Congdon, William H. Reeves, Carey Congdon, George C. Brown, Lieut. Paul Perry and Edward Prince. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

John R. Brantner of Blinman street, has concluded a two months' visit at the home of his mother in Rockford, Wis., having returned to New London today.

Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer of Noank; Master Carlos Chapman, Poquonoc Bridge; Miss Nellie Kiley, 40 Washington street; Gladys Hoyt, Groton; Master Leonard Reid, Noank; Jennie Maynard, Old Lyme, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

R. L. Coursey, United States coast guard and a member of the destroyer Davis, made complaint to the police today that he had been victimized by a thief, for his 21-jewel Illinois watch had been stolen. Coursey claims that he placed the watch in his locker in the locker establishment of Nathan Pumerantz, on Green street, Saturday night and when he went there yesterday he discovered that the watch was stolen by a sailor named Gleason, stationed at the submarine base where the latter is a first class musician. The locker room is supposed to be in charge of an employe of Pumerantz day and night.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR KEEFE HAVE BEEN MARRIED 40 YEARS

NEW LONDON, Oct. 19—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keefe celebrated the 40th anniversary of their wedding at their residence today and were host to a large number of friends. Mr. and Mrs Keefe were married at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, Oct. 19, 1887, by the late Rev. Thomas P. Joynt. Edward S. Neilan, now one of the city's most prominent business men, was best man and Miss Ann Dillon attended the bride. Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Keefe entertained a large number of relatives and friends at a reception at their handsome residence on Broad street, where they received congratulations and gifts from relatives and acquaintances. Mrs. Keefe was Miss Jennie C. Brennan. Mr. and Mrs. Keefe have six children, Attorney Arthur T. Keefe; Gretta, wife of Dr. Frank M. Dunn; Robert A. Keefe, Misses Mildred C. and Charlotte A. Keefe and Joseph C. Keefe, all located in this city except Miss Charlotte, who came from New York to be present at the anniversary celebration.

Byron Christopher, 20 Brewer street, made complaint to the police tonight that he had been robbed of $39. Christopher said that when he left his room the money was secreted away, but that when he returned from his work the money was missing. He said that he suspected an associate worker of committing the theft.

Sheriff Blake, of the House of Correction, Plymouth, Mass., informed the New London police tonight that there was a reward of $25 for the arrest of Austin Cameron, who escaped today from the House of Correction. Cameron is described as being 21, weighs about 135 pounds, is about five feet, five and one-half inches in height, has blue eyes and dark hair. When Cameron made his escape he drove away in an Essex car, 1927 model and carrying Massachusetts registration, 671,726. Sheriff Blake requested that if any trace of the automobile or Cameron was obtained that he be notified by calling 390 Riverview place, Boston.

Mrs. Thomas Durivan, chairman of the New London branch of the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women, auxiliary to the Diocesan bureau, has prepared the following program of the educational committee for the season 1927-1928:

Oct. 10—A Talk on the Life of the Priest by Rev. Nicholas Caron, of Jewett City.

Nov. 14—Irish and Hawaiian Folklore by Padriac Colum.

Nov. 21-28 Dec. 12—The Latin Doctors of the Church, Rev. Raymond J. O'Callaghan.

Jan. 9—Damien and Reform, Rev. George J. Donahue of Pomfret.

March and April—The Oxford Movement, Dr. Frederick J. Kinsman.

A study club on social service will be held weekly at the Community house.

Plans are underway for a Christmas sale. Miss Mary R. English and Mrs. Thomas F. Foran will be in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Whitman, of Waterford, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage at their residence last evening, entertaining a large number of relatives and acquaintances. During the evening a musical program was given. Mr. and Mrs. Whitman received a number of beautiful gifts.

Lloyd Potter and Miss Norine Tobin were married last evening by Justice of the Peace Perry J. Hollandersky, at his office. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Nora Potter O'Connor, 12 Methodist street.

For Halloween the Y. M. C. A. is sponsoring a parade of youths, under the supervision of A. B. Dawson. The youths will parade about the city during the early evening and afterwards at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium a party will take place under the supervision of Director Dawson. Mayor James A. May and City Manager William A. Holt have promised to be in attendance.

Returning to England for the first time since he left home 50 years ago, Bennett H. Altson, now a wealthy resident of Melbourne, brought back the still uncashed check for $100 given to him by his father when he left home.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

Thrills from start to finish with a mystifying plot that defies detecting until the final scenes are the highlights promised in "The Cat and the Canary," the Universal-Jewel mystery drama that will be shown at the Broadway theater today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Headed by Laura LaPlante, the picture embraces an all-featured cast, including Arthur Edmund Carew, Forrest Stanley, Creighton Hale, Gertrude Astor, George Siegmann, Flora Finch, Tully Marshall and Martha Mattox.

The screen story, which was adapted from the famous stage play of the same name by John Willard, has to do with the fortunes of six relatives of a wealthy old recluse who died, leaving a will that was to be read at the hour of midnight in his home a year from the day of his death. The attorney, who reads the will, is murdered and suspicion falls in turn on each of the relatives. The reason for the murder and the disclosing of murderer provides rare entertainment.

Paul Leni, who is responsible for the direction of the picture, recently came to this country under contract to Universal after making some of the most outstanding European successes of the year.

Connecticut College Concert

De Luca was recalled again and again, while waves of bravos swept through the hall. As a performer in the recital field, De Luca was successful. His stage appearance was attractive and dignified, and never, even in operatic airs, did he overstep the proper limits in manner set for the singer on the recital platform. Thus wrote the critics of the New York Sun.

The question "do you enjoy good music" has been asked. To this might be added, do you enjoy good singing? The program which Mr. De Luca will present at the New London state armory, October 28th, abounds in good music, while critics of the New York daily newspapers vie with each other in acclaiming the baritone a great singer. Sale today at Starr Brothers.

Breed Theater

The Blood Ship, Columbia Pictures' great sea special, which comes to the Breed theater today for a three day run, revives the romance of the bygone days of clipper ships, when these speedy vessels carried the flag of the United States merchant marine to the four corners of the world—and the captain was monarch of his domain.

Adapted from Norman Springer's novel of the same name, The Blood Ship scenes are laid along the water front of San Francisco in the early '80's, in a sailors' lodging house run by "The Knitting Swede" (a real character who lived in San Francisco in those days) and on board the old clipper ship The Golden Bough.

The Blood Ship was produced by Columbia Pictures at a cost of a quarter million dollars, and was directed by George B. Seitz. The cast is headed by Hobart Bosworth, who plays the role of James Newman. Jacqueline Logan is cast as the heroine, Mary; Richard Arlen (courtesy Paramount) is the juvenile lead and Mary's sweetheart. The supporting players include Walter James, Fred Kohler, James Bradbury, Sr., Arthur Rankin, Syd Crossley, Frank Hemphill, Chappell Dossett and Blue Washington.

Palace Theater

Congratulations, both verbal and in writing have been pouring into the Palace, lauding the management for their efforts towards making Norwich one of the best theater centers in New London county. The best pictures and stage presentations in the country have been featured.

And today brings forth another show such as will please all classes and put another feather in their hats. Five acts of big time vaudeville featuring Verna Haworth and company, a six people act of pep and ginger. This act has played the largest circuits in the country and has made a phenomenal success wherever shown. Case and Cavannaugh in comedy, songs and funny talks will hold the clowning spot. Holmes and Hollister in a novelty sketch called "A Country Gentleman." Billy Nash, a clever black race comedian will offer songs and stories as you like them. Redford and Wallace, a team of versatile entertainers will open the stage attractions. A well balanced show which from reports should go over big. The screen's offering in connection with the above is just the picture you have all been waiting for. Dolores Costello in "The College Widow" with William Collier, Jr., brings forth a new angle for this famous sweetheart star. This is her first venture in the field of light comedy and a venture so successful that it is doubtful whether the public will allow her to remain very far from in the future. This is one of those pictures that you will want to see all over again.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theater

It's the old and ever-new story of the moth that would tempt the flame; of the candle that would be a star. Who really knows whether the divine spark burns within until the test is made. Hollywood is the test, and an acid test. For the ones who win its plaudits no gift is too great; for those who fail, it has pity verging on contempt. Hollywood is the world in little. Toward it, as pilgrims to Mecca, tens of thousands wend their way, a favored few to gain passing success, the many to turn back with broken hearts!

Broken Hearts of Hollywood, now at the Strand theater, is a gorgeous and fascinating production that puts new feathers into the respective hats of the producers, the Warner Brothers.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The disturbance that was over Connecticut, Wednesday morning, has developed two centers, one south of Long Island and the other over northeastern New York. The system will move slowly northeastward with decreasing intensity. Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Eastport to Cape Hatteras. In the absence of vessel reports tonight, the position of the tropical disturbance is estimated in latitude 25 1-2, longitude 70. It will probably continue to move northeastward with increasing intensity.

The outlook is for mostly fair weather Thursday and Friday in states east of the Mississippi river, except for rain on Thursday in Southern New England and for rains Thursday and possibly Friday in Northern New England.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook—Strong east; overcast with rain Thursday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras—Strong west; somewhat overcast Thursday with rain over extreme north portion.

Forecast

Southern New England: Rain Thursday; Friday partly cloudy; not much change in temperature.

SUITS FOR $22,500 FOR INJURIES IN MOTOR AND TROLLEY ACCIDENTS

Two suits through injuries received in automobile accidents and one through a fall from a trolley car are included in new suits which have been brought in the superior court for this county, with a total of $22,500 sought in damages.

Claims Reckless Driving

Suit for $5,000 damages for injuries he received in an automobile accident has been brought by Horace S. Pervere of New London against Wm. Barstow of Plainfield. The plaintiff was the driver on Nov. 6, 1926 of an automobile of the Abbott Automobile Co., which was in collision with Barstow's machine on the road from Plainfield to Wauregan. Pervere sustained a broken collar bone and other injuries. He alleges that Barstow was driving carelessly because that in attempting to turn on the right hand side at an intersecting right corner, instead of passing to the right hand side of the center line he operated his car to the left side of the highway and came on the plaintiff's right, not having his car under control.

Brings Suit Against Two

Josephine Narusewicz of this city sues both the owner of the machine in which she was riding and the owner of the car with which it collided. She asks $15,000 damages. She was a passenger in an automobile owned by Alex Miorziewski of this city when it was in collision on the evening of Aug. 11, 1927 on the Norwich-Montville highway with a car driven by William Smiddy of Montville. She sues both Smiddy and Miorziewski. The latter's machine was driven at the time of the accident by Paul Salamucha and she claims that it ran into the Smiddy machine as Smiddy was turning his car to pass from the west to the east side of the highway at a point near the residence of Joseph Y. Miller between Jerome's corner and the Uncasville school. The Smiddy car was proceeding southerly on the highway and the other machine was coming in the opposite direction.

The plaintiff in the suit suffered dislocation of both bones of her right leg at the ankle, her arm and head were injured and she was a patient in the hospital for a considerable time and she will be lame and incapacitated, she claims.

Fell Off Trolley Car

Mrs. Blanche L. Barry of Taftville sues the Connecticut company, operators of the trolley line in this city, for injuries she received in a fall off an open trolley car on Franklin square on Aug. 31, 1926. She claims that her fall was occasioned by stepping upon an iron bar that had been negligently left upon the step of the car. She was thrown from the top step to the ground, sustaining a broken left arm at the elbow, which will remain permanently crooked and deformed, she claims. She also had her clothing destroyed and was obliged to hire the services of a housekeeper and expend a large sum for doctor's and medical bills.

NEAR $240,000 FOR STORRS COMMUNITY HOUSE, CHURCH

STORRS, Conn., Oct. 19—(AP)—Most of the $240,000 sought to provide a new church and community house for students of Connecticut Agricultural college has already been subscribed according to the statement here today by Rev. Morris E. Alling, secretary of the Connecticut Federation of Churches, which organization has sponsored and conducted the drive for funds in the past three years.

Approximately $235,000, or within $5,000 of the goal, has been obtained. About $85,000 has already been expended in the construction of the community house opened last fall, and the remaining $155,000 is being used in the construction of the Storrs church, formal opening of which will take place on next November 20.

Several substantial money gifts for the church fund were received this week, including one gift of $2,000, two of $1,000 each,and one for $500. Gilbert Chapin, of Hartford is making a gift of a pulpit for the church according to further word from Mr. Alling.

Just as soon as sufficient subscriptions have been received to meet the needs of the $240,000 building program that provides for the church and community house, a drive for a $100,000 endowment fund for these structures will be started.

A general committee has been appointed to take charge of the program for the formal opening of the Storrs church on November 20. Members of this committee include President Charles Lewis Beach, of Connecticut Agricultural college; Dr. L. H. Dorchester, of Hartford, president of the Connecticut Federation of Churches; Professor George C. White, of Storrs, chairman of the board of trustees of the Storrs church; Professor John N. Fitts, of Storrs, senior deacon in the Storrs church; and the Rev. Morris E. Alling

An invitation has already been extended to the Connecticut Federation of Churches to hold its annual meeting in the Storrs church on November 21 ,the day following the formal opening.

REFUSES HABEAS CORPUS FOR WILLIMANTIC MAN

In denying the writ of habeas corpus and refusing to give Eddie John of Willimantic his liberty from the Norwich State hospital, where he has been an inmate since Dec. 14, 1926, "by virtue of a mittimus of commitment issued by the police court of Willimantic," Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court says in a decision handed down Wednesday that his conclusion is confirmed by what he believes to be the established practice of many years standing of the state hospital authorities in receiving and confining criminal insane upon commitments such as the one in question.

By this habeas corpus proceeding John sought his release from confinement in the asylum. At the time of the hearing on the writ of habeas corpus John's counsel contended that his client was confined in the institution unlawfully. John was committed from the police court of Willimantic on Dec. 14 ,1926, after the court had acquitted him on several criminal charges on the grounds that the accused was insane.

FILES MOTION FOR MORE SPECIFIC STATEMENT

Director of Law Thomas E. Troland filed Wednesday with Clerk George E. Parsons of the superior court a motion for more specific statement on the part of the plaintiff, Mrs. Annie R. Morgan, in her $20,000 damage suit against the city of New London.

The plaintiff charges that the city entered into an agreement with her in 1921 whereby she was to deed a certain portion of her land in Ashcraft road to the city in consequence of which the city was to cut a roadway through, curb and grade the land. She charges that she deeded the property and the city cut through a way but left her land high above the surface of the road and claimed that the city carted away tons of gravel and filling worth large sums of money. She also claimed that she lost large sums of money on her property as a result, alleging that the land could have been split up into building sites and sold for large prices.

SOCIAL SERVICE STUDY CLUB FOR NORWICH PUBLIC

A study club of social service is one of the activities planned for the coming winter by the Catholic Diocesan Bureau of Social Service, Norwich branch. This will be conducted with a view to giving all persons interested an insight into the methods used in case work, both in the family and the child welfare departments, also a knowledge of the facilities at the disposal of social workers in their own community. This promises to be a most interesting study club as Social service offers an outlet to almost everyone wishing to be of servcie to his neighbor or community.

The plan is to organize the club Friday evening at the rooms of the Diocesan Bureau of social service, 126 Main street. The scope and aims of the club will be outlined by the bureau's salaried agent, Mrs. Frances H. Girroir a trained social worker who gained much of her experience after study in Canadian colleges and actual work in cities of the Dominion. The club is public and there are to be no fees or dues.

MEETING HERE FOR TEACHERS OF STATE

The fall meeting of the Connecticut State Teachers' association, now in its 81st year, will be held in Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport and Norwich on Friday, Oct. 28, with morning and afternoon sessions in each city.

Dean William F. Russell of Teachers' college, Columbia university, will speak on Symptoms of Good and Bad Teaching at a mass meeting in Hartford in the morning.

Other speakers who will address sectional meetings to be held in the afternoon include: Clyde M. Hill, associate professor of secondary education at Yale; Prof. Paul P. Harrington of Wesleyan; Assistant United States District Attorney George H. Cohen; John W. Titcomb, superintendent of the Connecticut state board of fisheries and game; Prof. Charles R. Hoover of Wesleyan; Wilbur F. Gordy, president of the Hartford board of education; Dr. Wallace W. Atwood, president of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., and Prof. Hamilton C. MacDougall of Wellesley.

WATERFORD COUPLE HAD 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Whitman of Waterford marked their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday evening at the home of their son, H. R. Whitman in Waterford. About 100 guests called durng the afternoon and evening to offer their congratulations.

The affair was arranged and carried through to a successful close by Mr. and Mrs. Whitman's daughter-in-law and daughter, Mrs. H. R. Whitman and Mrs. W. C. Young. The color scheme was yellow and white and the quantities of beautiful fall flowers used throughout the rooms added much to the charm of the setting.

At 8 p. m. a short program was arranged as follows:

Piano solo, Mrs. Henry Gorton; a musical medley, Mrs. R. J. Whitham; recitation, John Libby; vocal solo, Mrs. G. F. Radway; recitation, James C. Dunn; reading, Mrs. H. H. Leland.

Following the program dainty refreshments were served and the guests were presented tiny white boxes of wedding cake tied with gold ribbon. Mr. and Mrs. Whitman were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, among which was a basket of gold pieces from their children and grandchildren representing each golden year of their marriage.

Clarence Dudley Whitman was born in Hartford, Vt., on April 30 ,1852, and after attending the public schools, he graduated from the state normal school at Randolph, Vt. After teaching for a time Mr. Whitman took up farming in Brattleboro, Vt., with his father-in-law, and in 1901 he went to Fishers Island, N. Y., as superintendent of farms for E. M. & W. Ferguson, which position he held for 14 years.

In 1912 Mr. Whitman in company with his son, H. R. Whitman, bought the Horace Newbury farm in Waterford and has since retained a home in Waterford, although he spends his winters in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he has been in business for some time.

Mrs. Whitman, who was formerly Sarah Josephine Redway, was born in Newfane, Vt., in 1857 and also graduated from the state normal school at Randolph and was a teacher until the time of her marriage.

Three children came to bless this union, the oldest, Gertrude, who passed away in 1887 at the age of seven years, H. R. Whitman of Waterford and Mrs. W. C. Young of Norwich. There are also four grandchildren, Alfred, Clark and Roger Young of Norwich and Margaret Whitman of Waterford.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Whitman have been active in all the civic interests of their town, including the grange, farm bureau and church programs and still continue their unabated activities when there.

WELSH LADIES CHOIR TO SING FOR LIONS' MEETING

The entire Royal Welsh Ladies choir is to sing at the Lion's club luncheon today (Thursday) at 12:15 to which President William A. Anderson has invited the Rotary club and the Business and Professional Women's club to attend the luncheon. The Welsh Ladies choir is coming here to sing for the Lions' charity fund, coming here for a return engagement at the request of those who heard their concert last year at Slater hall.

162 TOWNS SEEKING STATE AID ON ROADS

Application for state aid for the construction of town roads, under the $2,000,000 biennial appropriation enacted by the last general assembly, has been made by 162 of the state's 169 towns, according to an announcement made Tuesday by the Connecticut highway department after a compilation of the returns made to the department headquarters before midnight October 15 in accordance with the provisions of the appropriation act.

In making application for state aid, however, these towns exceeded the amount of the appropriation by a quarter of a million dollars, the total amount applied for, exclusive of the share of construction costs which must be paid by the towns themselves, being $2,250,000. This will necessitate scaling down each of the 162 applications proportionately so that the total will come within the appropriated amount.

The seven towns which failed to take action in accordance with the appropriation act in their town meetings on or before the first Monday in October and to notify the highway department before midnight October 15 were Bridgewater, Chester, Marlborough, Chaplin, New Canaan, North Haven and Union. Due to failure to take action these towns will be unable to participate in the state aid appropriation this year.

Action was taken by the various towns after a series of meetings conducted by Commissioner John A. Macdonald and Supervisor of State Aid Roads W. E. Hulse at the following cities: Norwich, Torrington, Middletown, Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Rockville and Willimantic. The meetings were attended by delegations of selectmen from the towns in each county.

Commissioner Macdonald at these meetings explained the department's new policy toward state aid which permitted the towns a choice of two methods of construction. It was made optional with the towns to select either standard state aid construction, or stage construction. The stage construction method permits the towns to undertake part of their road construction with their share of this year's appropriation and to complete the work under future appropriation. This would permit the final completion of several miles of road after a period of years, instead of the completion of a short stretch of road each year. Thus a town under the stage construction method might choose to grade several miles of road under the present appropriation and to pave it under future state aid, instead of completing the construction of only a part of that mileage with this year's sum.

Engineering costs of the work done by the towns under the state aid appropriation, including surveying, mapping, etc., will be paid by the state. Provided they request it, the commissioner has offered the towns of services of Mr. Hulse in an advisory capacity and has also offered cooperation in the matter of road building machinery.

SUSPENDED FOR DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE

The weekly list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year for driving while under the influence of liquor was given out Wednesday at the state motor vehicle department as a part of the effort to reduce this highway menace. There are 32 names on the list. Three cases were appealed. Four were Connecticut operators convicted in other states. The department statement advised people to notify the department or the police in case they should see any of the suspended drivers operating motor vehicles.

COOLIDGE'S "CHOOSE" IS NOT TO BE TAKEN EQUIVOCALLY

The President Himself Has Dissipated Conjecture—Has Informed Senator Fess That the Latter's Predictions That Coolidge Would Be Drafted For Re-Election Had Become Distasteful—Following a Conference at the White House, Senator Fess Announced That He Had Been Requested to Desist.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—(AP)—President Coolidge took additional steps today to remove himself from discussions of candidates for the republican nomination next year. He did so indirectly, informing Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, that predictions that he would be drafted to run for re-election, despite his statement of Aug. 2 that he did not choose to be a candidate, were distasteful to him.

The Ohioan, who has been regarded generally as one of the foremost Coolidge advocates in the senate, was in conference with the president for upwards of half an hour. There was no white house version of what transpired in the privacy of the executive's office. But Mr. Fess, flushed and obviously somewhat dejected, spoke at some length to newspapermen concerning his talk with the president.

He disclosed that Mr. Coolidge had reprimanded him for repeated forecasts that he would be drafted. He said the president expressed the view that such public statements might be misinterpreted by the country, and asked him to desist from making them.

"I regret that I am forced to admit," said Mr. Fess, "that I am not now so positive that the president will consent to be drafted. If he insists on having his own way, there will be nothing doing."

Then, with emphasis, Senator Fess added:

"But he will not have his own way. I still contend that the convention will deadlock and Mr. Coolidge will be drafted. I cannot see now any man could turn down such an appeal unless it was because of poor health—and Mr. Coolidge is not in poor health."

Declaring that in spite of the scolding he received today, he would not discontinue "talking about the president's future," the Ohioan said even the president's statement that he did not desire to have the country think Senator Fess was talking for him would have no effect upon him.

Senator Fess, who must stand for re-election in Ohio next year in case he chooses to run again for the senate, declared also that Mr. Coolidge had expressed the view that his statements might be taken as accelerating his own senatorial ambitions.

"Nothing is farther from the truth," he added. "We could not elect a delegation in Ohio that would be anti-Coolidge. My statements have reflected only my honest judgment."

In reply to a question as to why he elected to unburden himself regarding his conference with the president, Senator Fess declared he did so because he wanted it clearly understood that Mr. Coolidge did not wish him to be put down "as the white house spokesman," and that it would hereafter be known he was speaking only his own judgment.

In addition to having always been a strong administration partisan, Senator Fess was one of the first to predict the president's renomination after Mr. Coolidge's statement in Rapid City that he did not choose to run in 1928.

CONTROVERSY CONTINUES IN CHURCH OF ENGLAND

LONDON, Oct. 20—(AP)—The religious controversy continues to rage around the bishop of Birmingham's letter to the archbishop of Canterbury. Bishop Barnes, in his letter, declared that the dostrine of transubstantiation is untrue, and ranged himself on the side of scientists regarding the evolution theory, as opposed to theologians who ignored scientific teachings.

In certain Anglo-Catholic circles, says the Westminster Gazette, it has been suggested that Bishop Barnes should be tried for heresy, but the bishops are not likely to adopt such a procedure, which has been in disuse for over two centuries.

The rector of Birmingham, Canon Guy Rogers, preaching today from the same pulpit from which the bishop of Birmingham recently delivered his controversial sermon, declare dthat the Christian faith would be exposed to severe shocks in the near future than ever in the past. He assumed that the bishop of Birmingham was like the captain of a ship who was clearing his decks for action and throwing overboard what he deemed cumbersome or worthless.

50 MEX. REBELS KILLED BL FEDERAL TROOPS

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 20—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports to the Nogales Herald today declared 50 Mexican rebels were killed and 28 wounded in a clash with federal yesterday near Suchil, Vera Cruz. The government troops were reported to have lost 18 dead and 16 wounded.

The reports said a column of 300 rebels was encountere dby General Jesus Maria Aguirre's federal detachment and that desultory fighting continued for more than two hours.

Advices received here also reported that 600 armed Agrarians sent into the first recently in Hidalgo had engaged rebels under Anton and Jesus Azuare and the latter retreated after a skirmish. The Azuare brothers are nephews of General Arnulfo R. Gomez, former presidential candidate and now a revolutionary refugee in Vera Cruz.

The rebel's leaders, Colonel Medina and Colonel Ramon Bernal were reported taken captives by federal forces in the state of Jalisco. Their executions are expected.

Padre Rafael Retana also was reported executed at Durango charged with revolt conspiracy.

THE AZORES WELCOME TO RUTH ELDER CONTINUES

PONTA DELGADA, Sao Miguel, Azores, Oct. 20—(AP)—The eager figure of Ruth Elder was discerned this morning on the deck of the Portuguese mailboat Lima as it steamed into the harbor from Horta and adjacent ports.

News of the American girl's feat had spread throughout the Azores and she was welcomed royally. By her side was Pilot George Haldeman, but it was the venturesome flight of the girl and her thrilling rescue that had warmed all hearts.

The American consul went immediately aboard the Lima and greeted the aviators, while the crowd ashore waited impatiently for a closer glimpse of Ruth's famous knickerbockers, red sweater and borrowed cap.

At half past nine Miss Elder and Pilot Haldeman came ashore, escorted by the American consul and a few of the Lima's passengers. On the Quay, despite the drizzly rain, a big crowd waited, and enthusiastically acclaimed the aviators, who bowed their thanks at the unexpected reception.

BODIES OF SIX MEXICAN BANDITS HUNG FROM TREES

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 20—(AP)—The newspaper El Sol says that six bodies of dead bandits who Tuesday morning attacked the Laredo to Mexico City passengers train south of San Luis Potosi and since have been captured and executed by federal troops, have been hung from trees in villages near San Luis Potosi as a warning to other actual or potential bandits.

The newspaper says the bandits secured 3,000 pesos from an express car in the Tuesday morning attack in which twelve second class passengers were seriously injured and one woman passenger killed when the bandits exploded a dynamite bomb under a second class coach.

FRENCH AVIATORS HAVE REACHED BUENOS AIRES

PARIS, Oct. 20—(AP)—The triumphant conclusion of the Costes-LeBrix Paris to Buenos Aires flight has sent the French people into ecstacies, not so much on account of the feat itself, but because it is regarded as a vindication of French aviation, which, critics have said, had fallen asleep on its past laurels.

The Petit Parisien, voicing general sentiment, says:

"For poor aviators of an unfortunate country, which appeared no longer to have an aviation, Coster and LeBrix have succeeded pretty well. The lesson to our professional or amateur pessimists is a good one."

YOUTH WAS KILLED BY A DRIVERLESS AUTOMOBILE

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 20—(AP)—A driverless automobile moving backwards today crushed and killed Gerald D. Burnham, 19 years old, after knocking the boy from his bicycle and pinning him against a building.

Anthony Zinkas, 18 years old, had just completed repairs on the car outside of a private garage at 55 Tewksbury street. He cranked the engine, but allowed the machine to remain in reverse gear and when the motor responded the car started to move backwards. Young Burnham was passing on his bicycle and was struck to the ground.

PICKED FULL-BLOWN ROSE BLOSSOMS IN HIGGANUM

HIGGANUM, Conn., Oct. 20—(AP)—Mrs. Ellis Spencer isn't certain whether the full-blown blossoms she picked today were nearly the last roses of summer or whether they were about the first of fall, since the "June rose" bush from which they came has a number of buds which give promise of producing more "June roses" between now and the first of November.

Except for the fall of 1924, when the bush gave her a rose on November sixth, its production has been almost entirely confined to the normal "month of roses."

AVIATOR STINSON HAS LANDED AT DETROIT

DETROIT, Oct. 20—(AP)—Eddie Stinson, airplane manufacturer and designer, and his air tour party, landed at the Ford airport here late today after a flight from Buffalo, N. Y. The party had a narrow escape early today when the plane crashed into a stone wall at Marion, New York, when taking off on a wet field.

Repairs were made at Rochester, N. Y., and the trip continued with a pause at Buffalo. The tour completed by Stinson in the interests of commercial aviation covered approximately 18,000 miles.

"HIT AND RUN" MOTORIST GIVEN 30 YEAR SENTENCE

ENID, Okla., Oct. 20—(AP)—A sentence of 30 years in the state penitentiary was meted out here today to a "hit and run" motorist who had mixed whiskey with his driving.

John B. Cook, 38, heard the sentence passed by District Judge Charles Swindall, after pleading guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

Cook's car struck and fatally injured Mrs. C. B. Ringgenberger, 27, and her small daughter here last Sunday night. Cook did not stop.

WOMAN CONDUCTOR IN BOSTON OPERA HOUSE

BOSTON, Oct. 20—(AP)—For the first time in the history of the Boston Opera House a woman tonight conducted the orchestra at a grand opera performance. The woman was Miss Ethel Leginska, pianist and conductor of symphony orchestras, and the opera was Puccini's Madame Butterfly presented by the San Carlo Opera company.

TO COMBINE METHODIST AND JEWISH SERVICES

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 20—(AP)—Jewish and Methodist services will be combined at Wesley church Sunday night, it was announced tonight by the Rev. Dr. William S. Mitchell, pastor. He will speak on "Jesus the Jew."

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 20—(AP)—The German Heinkel plane D-1230 will probably take off from here tomorrow morning for the Azores. From there the airmen will fly to Harbor Grace, New Foundland.

PARIS, Oct. 20—(AP)—Word has been received from Lieutenant Challes and M. Rapin, who are flying from France to Indo-China, that they reached Saigon today. They flew from Allahabad, India, on this lap.

BERLIN, Oct. 20—(AP)—The trans-Atlantic flights of the German planes D-1220 and D-1230 have as their background a bid for any trans-oceanic plane service that may develop, it is understood in Berlin aviation circles.

LISBON, Oct. 20—(AP)—Interest in the arrival here of the American aviatrix Ruth Elder, is increasing. She is voyaging from the Azores on the Portuguese mailboat Lima, but rumors as to her final destination vary. It is feared by some that Miss Elder and her pilot George Haldeman may transfer to a hydroairplane, going direct to Paris, without visiting Lisbon.

POSED AS A PHYSICIAN WHILE GATHERING LOOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—The story of another man who thought he had mastered feminine psychology and came to grief was told by the police today when a harmless appearing little women's tailor and bogus physician, went to jail facing life imprisonment.

Working on the theory, evolved while working in a women's tailor shop 12 years ago, that women engaged with their clothing women forget their jewelry, Edward Koch managed to collect loot worth more than $50,000 during the past eight months, police said.

He began his operations by visiting married women in the role of a tailor coming for a fitting, sent as a surprise by their husbands, the police quote him as relating, but later found it simpler to pose as a physician, sent by husbands to make "health examinations." While his victims retired to their dressing rooms, he said, he could prowl about unmolested, gather up his loot, and escape while they were not robed to follow him into the street.

Koch, who is 35 years old, has a criminal record and faces life imprisonment as a fourth offender or habitual criminal under the Baumes law, authorities said. Police said he freely confessed to more than 50 robberies, many of them unreported. As he was on parole from Sing Sing prison when arrested, he was sent to jail without bail when arraigned on an indictment specifically charging the theft of a $750 ring.

EXECUTION OF WOMAN IS STAYED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 20—(AP)—The Cook county death cell yawned for its first female inhabitant today, but, true to Illinois precedent, the execution was stayed 24 hours before the time set for it. No woman ever has paid the supreme penalty in this state.

Still jovial, but none the less positive in her reiteration that she preferred death by the noose to a term of life imprisonment, or one of even 20 years, Mrs. Catehrine Cassier heard Judge William V. Brothers grant her a week's respite.

Nearer to forfeiture of her life for murder than any other woman ever approached in the state, Mrs. Cassier displayed no emotion when her life was saved and she joked about her weight possibly breaking a morgue slab if she had been hanged tomorrow morning. Her court room sensation, she laughed, was one of hunger.

Her sex did not influence him, Judge Brothers explained. He acted merely because he believed every condemned person was entitled to review of his case by the state supreme court and because Judge Philip L. Sullivan, who sentenced her, was absent.

"I am quite ready and willing to die," she said. "No man ever walked to the gallows more courageously than I will."

Mrs. Cassier was convicted upon the testimony of two confessed co-conspirators, Loren Patrick and Mrs. Lillien Frazier, who now are serving sentences of life imprisonment.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER FOUND SLAIN IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Hansen, 44, and her adopted daughter, Milma Mackl, 19, were found dead in a Brooklyn apartment house tonight, their skulls crushed by blows from some blunt instrument, by police who were led to the home by John Hansen, 50, husband of the elder woman.

Hansen entered a nearby police station early this evening with the declaration, "I'm in trouble again." He then told officers that he had just discovered the bodies of the women but that he did not know who had killed them although he claimed to have spent the entire day at the house. The "trouble" he mentioned referred to his arrest a year ago for assault on the Mackl girl whose arm he broke with a baseball bat, police said.

Detectives interrogated Hansen for three hours tonight and obtained two or three different versions of his actions, but no admission that he knew anything of the murders. When an inspector reproved him for telling different stories, Hansen replied, according to the officers, that he might "tell four or five stories before long."

ILLINOIS GANGSTER IS TO BE EXECUTED TODAY

MARION, Ills., Oct. 20—(AP)—Rado Millich, the first member of the notorious Birger gang of southern Illinois to be sentenced to death, is scheduled to hang here at ten o'clock tomorrow morning, for the murder of Ward Jones, a bartender at Shady Rest, the destroyed headquarters of the gang.

Millich admitted shooting Jones in the roadhouse but claimed he acted in self defense. Efforts by his attorneys and the Jugoslavian minister at Washington to obtain a reprieve were futile.

Charles Birger, ex-cavalry man and leader of the gang which terrorized the coal fields, here, is in the Franklin county jail, waiting for to Illinois supreme court to review the trial in which he was sentenced to hang for murdering Mayor Joe Adams of West City.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF A CANADIAN AVIATOR

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 20—(AP)—Belief that Count de Lesseps had met with a mishap in a flight on which he started Tuesday morning from Gaspe Val Brilliant, in the eastern section of the Province, was expressed here tonight, with the finding of two wings of an airplane at Sandy Bay, on the St. Lawrence river.

Capt. John H. Diehl Found Not Guilty

BOSTON, Oct. 20—(AP)—Captain John H. Diehl, who commanded the steamer City of Rome when it rammed and sank the submarine S-51 off Block Island in Sept. [illegible], was acquitted by a federal court today of charges growing out in connection with the disaster, in which 33 lives were lost. The jury, after deliberating more than 3 hours, returned a verdict of not guilty on the two counts, failure to stand by a reasonable length of time, and misconduct and negligence in operating his vessel.

When the verdict was reported Judge Morton, who presided at the trial, made the following statement from the bench:

"As admiralty questions are involved in this case, I think it proper to say that I entirely concur in the verdict of the jury and that the evidence proved pretty conclusively that the cause of the accident was defective lights on the submarine."

During the trial, which opened last week, Captain Diehl took the stand in his own defense and told his version of the accident. He claimed that the submarine was running with improper lights at the time of the collision, and was in charge of three inexperienced officers, or "rookies." He said that it was impossible to tell from the bridge of the City of Rome the distance of the S-51 from the steamer.

Answering the charge of failure to stand by after the sinking, Captain Diehl said that after three survivors of the submarine's crew had been picked up by one of his lifeboats, he had circled his ship about the scene for an hour and three-quarters and was released the position before proceeding for Boston. He said that he had asked Dewey C. Kyle, seaman, one of the three survivors, if he thought there was a chance of saving any others, and the seaman replied, "Not a chance."

Before the case went to the jury today Kyle was recalled as a rebuttal witness for the government and denied the statements attributed to him.

As a result of an inquiry held by the U. S. Steamboat Inspection service after the collision Captain Diehl's license was suspended for two years.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN POLI AND KEITH HAS TERMINATED

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—When Sylvester Z. Poli, New England theatre owner, sold his interests to a Boston syndicate an agreement of 20 years standing between Poli and the late Benjamin F. Keith, vaudeville theatre pioneer, came to an end, and as a result, it was announced today, the Keith-Albee interests will invade the territory heretofore occupied solely by Poli.

The announcement was made by E. F. Albee, president of the Keith-Albee interests, who told of the friendship between Poli and the late Mr. Keith and the agreement made between them. The agreement was to the effect that Keith would not build theatres in cities where Poli operated.

Poli operated theatres in Bridgeport, New Haven, Waterbury, and Meriden, Conn., and in Worcester and Springfield, Mass With the Keith-Albee interests free of any further obligations under the agreement, Albee said, his agents are already at work acquiring sites for theatres in these cities.

SMOKE NUISANCE GREAT MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 20—(AP)—Branding smoke as one of the greatest enemies of health the American Public Health association today adopted resolutions urging all state legislatures and municipal authorities to pass measures to suppress smoke nuisances.

The resolution declared that smoke produces serious effects upon health by keeping out the sunlight and intercepting the vitalizing rays of the sun, and through its constant inhalation.

Other resolutions declared for the proper sanitation of swimming pools and bathing places, urged greater effort for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis in its incipient stages, favored the co-ordination of public health activities of the federal government as planned by the Parker bill and approved the principles of the Ransdell bill.

The association also urged a standard international classification of the death statistics in all countries.

OLD ORCHARD LUNCHEON FOR MRS. F. W. GRAYSON

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Oct. 20—(AP)—A group of veterans of the sea today bade welcome a new type of voyager and wished her God-speed in her attempt to cross the Atlantic. Mrs. Frances W. Grayson, whose Sikorsky plane, the Dawn, is waiting on the sands here for a favorable moment to fly to Copenhagen, today accepted the invitation of the 13 club to attend their luncheon.

The weather tonight still cast the greatest uncertainty over the future program. Rather ironically a light, south wind which is ideal for a take-off here, was blowing, while rain and mists were scurrying across the beach. In her ten days of waiting here, Mrs. Grayson has yet to find the perfect combination of wind and visibility. Since the needed low tide now occurs in the afternoon, decision as to take-off or further postponement will be left to the late morning of each day.

Government Rejects Vatican's Proposal

Concerning the Creation of An Independent Church State — Decision Causes Surprise.

ROME, Oct. 20—(AP)—The complete rejection in behalf of the Italian government of the fundamental conditions laid down by the vatican for solution of the half-century old Roman question, has caused considerable surprise and disappointment in quarters which considered the problem existing between church and state in Italy practically solved.

The question was brought to the fore last week when Osservatore Romano, the official vatican organ, proposed the creation of an independent church state. The proposal today was described as "outside of discussion", by Foglio D.Ordini, the official Fascist organ.

Among those who were disappointed with the answer, however, are many who believe it is still possible to reach an understanding and that through reciprocal yielding an accord may finally be reached.

In vatican circles it is pointed out that America is among the countries most interested in solution of the Roman Catholic power on a basis of Catholic population and first on a basis of funds supplied for the maintenance of the Holy See. In fact, according to reports of financial conditions at the vatican, it appears that contributions from America surpass those of all European countries together, with Australia second, although far behind the United States.

It is also pointed out that if any kind of temporal power were established Washington would be expected to appoint a diplomatic representative to the papal state while now it and the Scandinavian countries are practically the only nations not represented at the Holy See.

All the late editions of today's newspapers carried the Foglio's statement but refrained from commenting.

STATE POLICE MAY PATROL COL. COAL STRIKE AREA

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 20—(AP)—Patrol of the Colorado coal strike area by state police was a possibility tonight as I. W. W. strikers continued to defy warnings against picketing of the mines, which today resulted in suspension of additional properties and the arrest of six alleged pickets.

Picketing occurred at many mines uninterrupted by county police and this caused officials of the leading operators in the territory to seek protection for miners willing to continue work. Officials of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company announced they would ask for state protection for their men, if it could not be furnished by the counties.

Declaring that 80 per cent of the men were against the strike and had been intimidated by the I. W. W., Hair, general superintendent of the company, expressed the belief that the situation was too big for the counties to handle. Many men wanted to work, he said, but were afraid because of "the tactics employed by the I. W. W."

Several women joined the I. W. W. picketing forces in Huerfano county, disregarding orders of guards at the mines and persuaded workers at the Lester and Rouse mines of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company not to work.

NOT ILLEGAL TO SHOW FILMS OF THE BIG FIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—The controversy over the legality of exhibiting the Dempsey-Tunney fight films, which has set legal authorities by the ears in many states, was settled for New York state, at least, today when Federal Judge Goddard opined that the law does not forbid exhibition in this or any other state.

The judge said an exhibitor or distributor may receive films from a person whom he knows to have violated the law in transporting them into the state, but as long as the receiver takes no part in the transportation, he is not accountable. He explained, however, that a person may not with impunity receive fight films from another state through the medium of the mails, an express company, or other common carrier.

TO ENDEAVOR MAKE FOOTBALL GAME "DRY"

HARTFORD, Oct. 20—(AP)—In anticipation of promiscuous drinking and wide open night clubs in connection with the annual Yale-Army football game at New Haven Saturday, a large corps of federal prohibition enforcement agents left for New Haven tonight to remain until after the contest Saturday.

"We are going to cooperate with city and state officials at New Haven in an attempt to maintain order and curb the activities of some of the more ambitious night club and restaurn owners," Frank T. Putney, deputy administrator of Hartford said tonight, verifying the report that he had dispatched a group of federal agents to New Haven.

SENATOR AND MRS. BORAH WHITE HOUSE GUESTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—(AP)—Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, and Mrs. Borah were dinner guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge tonight at the white house. William J. Donovan, assistant to the attorney general, also was a guest.

TO CONTEST INJUNCTION SECURED BY PROMOTERS OF FIGHT PICTURES

HARTFORD, Oct. 20—(AP)—United Stated District Attorney John Buckley announced today that he would institute proceedings tomorrow to combat the injunction secured by promotors of Dempsey-Tunney fight pictures.

Served with the restraining order prohibiting him from interfering with the showing of these pictures in Connecticut, Major Buckley said that a motion to dissolve the injunction would be filed with the clerk of the district court in New Haven tomorrow. The motion will also carry a request for a speedy hearing, Mr. Buckley said.

The injunction, secured from Judge Edwin S. Thomas in New Haven, Wednesday, on application of Julius Gross, proprietor of the Grand theater here, came as a complete surprise to the district attorney's office. Major Buckley said his office had not been informed that such action was contemplated and that no one from his office was present at the hearing before Judge Thomas.

The films were shown at one theater here today within a few hours of the service of the injunction order. Another theater will show "official" pictures starting Friday morning.

FALL IMPASSIONED IN PLEA FOR DEFENSE TESTIMONY

As the Government Repulsed Efforts of the Defense to Present Its Case on Cross Instead of Direct Examination of Witnesses, the Accused Pleaded That Judge E. C. Finney Be Permitted to Give His Interpretation of the Oil Land Leasing Laws Passed by Congress.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—(AP)—An unexpected and dramatic appeal to the court by Albert B. Fall to admit testimony vital to his defense and the development of bitterness between counsel unequalled in all the long history of the naval oil lease cases marked the fourth day of the criminal conspiracy trial today against the former secretary of the interior and Harry F. Sinclair.

Step by step, the defense had been repulsed by the government in its efforts to present its case on cross instead of direct examination of witnesses. Again and again it had failed to get from E. C. Finney, first assistant interior secretary, an interpretation of the oil leasing policy under Fall.

Suddenly the defendant arose in his place among his counsel and there was a rustle of expectancy as jurors, spectators and lawyers leaned forward; then an almost death-like stillness settled over the court. Fall began, and as he proceeded there stood in the District of Columbia supreme court not the bent and ill defendant in a criminal case, but the Fall of long ago senate days, gesticulating and impassioned.

As the company about him hung upon his every word, scarcely knowing what to expect during a procedure so unusual in court, Mrs. Fall, who sat a few feet away among the spectators, was plainly nervous, wringing her hands throughout the few minutes her husband spoke.

"May it please the court," Fall began. "I ask the right to have the indulgence of the court for a minute, and I think under the statute I may have that right."

"I wish to bring to the attention of your honor," Fall said, with the courts permission, "that there are lawyers and then again there are trial lawyers, and the gentleman who is on the stand has qualified himself as an expert here in every possible way in the discharge of his duties. He knows what all this controversy is about, and is fully conversant with the entire situation.

"Therefore, if given an opportunity he would clear this matter up in two minutes.

"Counsel for the government state that Judge Finney cannot interpret this matter, or say that he cannot testify as to his interpretation of his letter or his instructions from the secretary of the navy, and that he cannot testify as to his interpretations of the rules and regulations of the interior department.

"Why, sir, the law puts this gentleman who is now on the stand in the position for that very purpose, as first assistant secretary of the interior, and in the absence of the secretary of the interior, he is acting secretary of the interior, and the law makes it his duty to interpret the laws which he must administer. Who else, in fact, is to do it?

"If he interprets the law incorrectly, or without his jurisdiction, the supreme court of the United States may reverse him, but so long as it remains within his jurisdiction, his interpretation stands as the law of the land.

"Now, if your honor please, that is the situation. That applies of course to the secretary of the interior. Judge Finney knows that, and he knows his business. So that, I submit, if your honor please, if the ruling that I have understood the court to make as to Judge Finney's interpretation of what he understood the law to be, or about this document or that document, I will say that Judge Finney is particularly and peculiarly in a position to understand these matters, and I am sure if given an opportunity would clear them up.

"If the objection by the government is on the ground that this is not proper to be asked on cross examination, that is one thing; but if the objection is based upon the ground that the witness can not testify as to what his interpretation was, that, sir, I may say is absolutely vital to the defense in this case, and I think if the court understands just what Judge Finney's position in the department is you will see the situation in a different light."

This was the first statement Fall had made at any of the oil hearings or trials since he appeared before the senate investigating committee early in 1924 and declined to submit himself to further questioning on the ground that his testimony might tend to incriminate him.

DOESN'T WANT TO WORK; BOY WANTS TO BE A BUM

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20—(AP)—A 16 year old lad, Howard Wall, of this city, must postpone, indefinitely, his cherished desire of living his life in his own way, as a "bum."

"I don't want to work. I want to be a bum," Howard told Judge Sheridan T. Whittaker, in city court today, startling spectators and court attaches from the lethargy which had seized them during the routine of minor liquor law violation and motor vehicle law infractions which had been before the court. Young Wall was before the court on charges of idleness in a complaint sworn out by his mther, Mrs. Mary Wall.

A blow to Wall's hopes to achieve his goal was delivered when the judge sentenced him to an indefinite term in the Cheshire reformaotry. In passing sentence, the court recalled the presence of Wall in the past at several juvenile sessions and added that, although his age made him a graduate of the juvenile court, a stay in the Cheshire "university" would do him good.

The sympathy of the court and the spectators went out to Mrs. Wall, who said that she had been unable to get the boy to work and help her in the support of two other minor children.

L. E. SHIPPEE APPOINTED DEP. BANK COMMISSIONER

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 20—(AP)—Lester E. Shippee, deputy bank commissioner since 1922, was this morning appointed bank commissioner, succeeding John B. Byrne, of Putnam, whose resignation becomes effective Dec. 1, and who was recently elected a vice president of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust company. Gov. Trumbull's appointment of Mr. Shippee is until the third Wednesday of the next session of the legislature, when the governor will submit to the general assembly the nomination of Mr. Shippee to fill the remainder of the term of Mr. Byrne, which expires in July 1931.

Mr. Shippee's appointment puts at the head of the state banking department, the youngest man to hold a similar position in the country, and the youngest in the history of the department. Mr. Shippee was born July 1, 1894 in Killingly.

WON NAT'L ROTARY CLUB SONG LEADING CONTEST

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—Arthur White, of Yonkers, N. Y., representing the Middle Atlantic states, won first prize today in the finale of the international and national Rotary club song leading contest, held before members of the New York City Rotary club, who acted as judges.

William Hammel, banker, of Bridgeport, Conn., champion of the New England states, and Edwin Rushmore, executive secretary of the New York City Rotary club, were awarded second and third places, respectively.

The three men who participated in today's final contest were the survivors of more than 500 song leaders, representing 102 branches of the Rotary club, who entered the contest six months ago.

AN INCENDIARY FIRE DESTROYED MOTOR YACHT

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 20—(AP)—The Eyota, a 40 foot motor yacht, owned by Charles H. Payson of Falmouth Foreside was destroyed tonight by fire declared to be of incendiary origin. The craft was in a yacht storehouse on the South Portland shore. The fireproof storehouse was unharmed. The loss was estimated at $15,000.

TAYLOR FOUND GUILTY OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 20—(AP)—The murder trial of George Elmer Harrison Taylor, itinerant barber, who has asserted that his real name is Elmer Thompson, brought him today face to face with the electric chair. A jury in the superior court here after deliberating for a little more than four hours found him guilty of murder in the first degree for the slaying of Stella Pomikala, a Lawrence girl whose body was found on the sand of Salisbury beach, on the morning of June 6, last.

Taylor, who throughout the trial had appeared calm and unconcerned, smiled as he heard the verdict. He was remanded to Salem jail to await sentence.

The Pomikala girl had been employed by a photographer at Salisbury beach and had lived at his studio home. On the evening of June 5, she went out for a stroll on the beach and failed to return. The next morning her body was found. A wrist watch which had been given to her by her father, as well as a ring with a red stone, was missing. Near the body was a pair of colored sun glasses.

SON OF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN GRANTED DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20—(AP)—William Jennings Bryan, Jr., son of the great commoner, was granted a divorce here today from Helen Virginia Bryan. He charged desertion.

Bryan testified that his wife has refused to live with him since December 1, 1926. He testified that at the time of his father's death, he asked her to accompany him to Florida for his funeral, but she declined.

A former governess of the three Bryan daughters was called as a witness and testified that Mrs. Bryan "felt her musical education and career made it impossible for her to devote her time to household duties."

The custody of the three daughters was awarded to Mr. Bryan with the provision that the eldest of the daughters may live with her mother if she so desires, and that the youngest shall live with the month for three years after the close of the present school year.

EARL CARROLL RELEASED FROM FED. PENITENTIARY

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 20—(AP)—Earl Carroll was released from the federal penitentiary here tonight on parole.

The New York theatrical producer was met at the prison by his wife and other relatives who had come here to greet him and return with him to Broadway. They left at once in automobiles for a downtown hotel, where Carroll had announced he would issue a prepared statement to newspapermen.

Carroll walked through the penitentiary gates a free man shortly after 6.30 o'clock, after having served a little more than four months of his sentence of a year and a day for perjury in connection with his celebrated "bath tub" party in New York in 1926.

CENTENNIAL BAPTIST CHURCH OPENS WITH BANQUET

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 20—The big centennial celebration of the First Baptist church opened in the church vestry tonight with a large attendance of present and past members of the church. The program was the initial one of a five-day commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the church and the attendances will include a number of descendants of the 17 past pastors of the church. Over two hundred covers were laid for the supper which was prepared and served by the members of the Ladies' Aid society. Rev. David W. Lovett, present pastor, was in charge and acted as toastmaster during the repast which started at 7 o'clock. Roll call was the next business in order. This was followed by interesting reminiscences by Rev. R. Maplesden of Suffield who supplied the pulpit of the church at various intervals during the past quarter century. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. J. Bunyan Lemon of Springfield, Mass., who held the local pastorate for nine years 1891 to 1900. The Men's Bible class furnished the music.

The elaborate centennial program is in charge of the following committee: the pastor, Rev. David W. Lovett, chairman; David Moxon, George A. Bowen, Albert H. Fryer, William N. Potter, George Paton, Harold Nichols, Byron Hawkins, Mrs. Charles Tryon, Mrs. Mabel Ladd, Mrs. F. S. Pendleton and Miss Ines Brown. There are a number of sub-committees. The church has been tastefully decorated for the celebration. Friday evening's program will be designated as Community and Denominational Night when the public will be invited. Rev. Edwin E. Sundt of South Willington, Rev. Frederick C. Williams of this city, Rev. Horace B. Sloat and Rev. John Newton Lackey, D. D., of Hartford will deliver addresses. Special invitations have been sent to descendants of the first pastor, Rev. Chester Tilden, pastor from 1827 to 1830. Among these descendants are a granddaughter, Mrs. W. H. P. Sweet, and Mrs. Theresa Congdon of this city; a great grandson, Fred Tilden of South Manchester and the latter's children who are great-great grandchildren.

The First Baptist church edifice to be erected here was a small structure built in 1828. The building was removed in 1868 and replaced by a new one on the same site in 1869. The church was enlarged in 1889 and again some years later until it reached its present proportions. Two years ago under the pastorship of Rev. F. E. Foshay the edifice was entirely renovated, a new roof constructed, new floors laid and improvements made to the auditorium. The vestry was partitioned to allow for society rooms and other improvements. The work was done at a cost of $11,000. The old church building was sold at auction many years ago to Niles Potter, father of William N. Potter for $300. In 1858 it was purchased by Rev. Michael McCabe, then pastor of St. Joseph's R. C. parish. The structure was removed to near the present site of St. Joseph's church and was the place of worship for members of that parish until 1873 when it was moved to Valley street on the site of the present St. Mary's parochial school. The building was destroyed by fire several years ago after it had become the property of St. Mary's church society when the parish was divided in 1902.

William N. Potter who was clerk of the Baptist church society for 51 years, from 1871 to 1922 gives an interesting sketch of the church history as taken from the records. The first council for the founding of the Baptist church here met on October 29, 1827 at the home of Elder Chester Tilden. Elder Ezekial Skinner was moderator and Elder I. Goodwin clerk. The church organized with the following members: Brethren, Samuel Barrows, Charles Thompson, Elisha Whiting, Ellpalet Martin, Rescon Coggshall, Chester Tilden, George Byrnes; sisters, Mehitabel Thompson, Lucy Barrows, Betsy Barrows, Dora Whiting, Armina Coggshall, Lydia Smith, Hanna White, Laura Balcom, Clarinda Parker, Mary Lawrence and Esther White.

Rev. Chester Tilden was chosen first pastor on December 11, 1827 with George Byrnes as first clerk. On Sunday, December 23, 1827 the first communion service was celebrated at the White schoolhouse. With the completion of the first church building in 1829, Brothers Samuel Barrows and Ellphalet Martin were chosen first two deacons of the church. Rev. Alfred Gates became second pastor on November 7, 1830 when Rev. Mr. Tilden resigned to take the church at Andover. Rev. Alva Gregory was called as the third pastor on April 22, 1831. The present house of worship was dedicated on February 3, 1858 and during that year Rev. Jabez Swan became pastor. The church was well represented in the fighting ranks during the civil war. The records show that Charles Chase "deserted his country's service and for which the church excludes him." The church was rebuilt and enlarged in 1870 under the pastorate of Rev. P. S. Evans. The structure was again enlarged in 1889 under the pastorate of Rev. M. George Coker. The church today stands in excellent condition and the parish has a large membership. Rev. David Winslow Lovett, the present pastor holds the love and esteem of his church followers and of the entire community throughout which his influence for welfare is felt. He is a native of Pomfret, Vt. He eld several important pastorates prior to coming here on January 2, 1926.

The attention of the police court was taken up by seven cases of variety this morning. The first case taken up was that of Wilfred Gagnon of this city, charged with non-support. It appears that the man's domestic difficulties have been adjusted and Judge Foss nolled the case on payment of the costs of $5.75. One case of intoxication was continued until Saturday. Patrick Crowley was charged with violation of the game laws by hunting without a license. He was fined ten dollars and costs, mounting to $16.27. Crowley was arrested near South Windham by Deputy Game Warden W. S. Watson. In another case of intoxication the accused was fined ten dollars and placed on probation for six months. Two South Manchester young men, Knute Anderson, 24 of 14 Newman street and Joseph Lee, 23 of 189 Maple street, that city, were next brought to plea on respective charges of breach of the peace and resisting an officer. The young men engaged in an argument with Officer Daniel Connell and fist blows were exchanged. Both were fined for breach of the peace and Anderson drew an additional fine of three dollars for resistance. Another continuance until Saturday was given in the case of Frank Rousseau who is charged with having caused trouble at his home.

Friends of Walter R. King are congratulating him on his recent election as grand chancellor of the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias which convened in Bridgeport this week. Grand Chancellor King is a member of Natchaug lodge No. 23 of this city and had served as grand vice-chancellor for the past year. He succeeds Charles Andrews of Bridgeport. According to custom it is expected that the grand lodge convention will be held in this city, the home of the new chancellor, next year. William N. Potter, also of this city was re-elected grand master of exchequer. Mrs. Nelson Adams of this city was elected representative to the supreme council in Detroit, Mich., at the annual grand lodge meeting of the Pythian Sisters, the ladies' auxiliary.

Jack Price, whose home on the old James Little place in Columbia was destroyed by fire Wedpesday night estimated his loss today at about $4,500 on which there was a small amount of insurance. Mr. Price, who originally came from New York, said that he believed the fire may have been caused from a defective chimney flue. The building was of frame construction and contained seven rooms and an attic. An ell was saved by volunteer fire fighters, as was also considerable of the furniture.

The funeral services for Constance Herringer were held from the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Martin Herringer in Warrenville at one o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Albert E. Gates of Hartford officiated. Burial was in the Cedar Hill cemetery, Hartford.

Mrs. Fannie Pollock of Gurleyville was arraigned before the Columbia town court Wednesday evening charged with issuing a fraudulent check to Archie Berkowitz of Columbia. It was alleged that the check was issued last April without sufficient funds being in the bank to meet the payment for which several fruitless demands were made. Mrs. Pollock has made the check good since legal action was instituted recently. In court she admitted her infraction of the law and after explaining extenuating circumstances placed herself on the mercy of the court. Justice of the Peace Hubert P. Collins imposed a fine of one dollar and costs, amounting to $15. Grand Juror Joseph N. Clarke prosecuted.

Dr. Michael D. Riordan of this city, president of the Windham County Medical society was in charge of the one hundred and thirty-fourth semi-annual meeting of the society held at Putnam with a dinner today.

Mrs. Mary Kirby, employed at the Hotel Hooker upheld a reputation for honesty this morning when she found a billfold pocketbook containing $346 in one of the hotel rooms while engaged in her daily routine work. The billfold had been left by an overnight guest, a traveling salesman who registered as R. Gilpatrick. Mr. Gilpatrick got as far as Central Village before he noticed his loss and he expressed his gratitude upon telephoning the hotel and being informed that the money had been found and was awaiting him. There were other valuables with the money. Mrs. Kirby found a pocketbook containing $325 on a previous occasion. This money was also restored to its owner.

Mildred Kurdze of the eighth grade of the Windham street school has won first prize for her interpretation of a cartoon representing the tariff dispute between France and the United States according to a recent issue of Current Events.

Mrs. Louis Belanger, Mrs. Joseph B. Riordan and Miss Mary Courtney were respective first, second and third prize winners at a whist given by the Willimantic Council of Catholic Women Wednesday evening.

Services for Samuel Frank Watrous, Jr., were held at the grave in the new Willimantic cemetery at ten o'clock this morning with Rev. D. V. Wain of Columbia officiating. Avery and VanZandt had charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. George Mitchell is confined to her home on Walnut street by illness.

Mrs. Margery B. Church entertained members of the Hill Bridge club in the afternoon with four tables in play. Mrs. William A. Burleson won first prize, Mrs. Homer M. Harrington second and Mrs. William P. Little the guest prize. Guests included Mrs. Louis L. Hills of Westbrook, Me., and Mrs. George N. Keeney of New York.

Mrs. Walter W. Case has returned from a week's visit with relatives and friends in South Manchester and Hartford.

Mrs. James J. Lee is resting comfortably at St. Joseph's hospital following a major operation.

Mrs. Fred Thompson returned to Danbury today after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Thompson.

George Laroque underwent an operation at St. Joseph's hospital today.

Mrs. James Purdie is visiting her son, David Purdie and family in Verona, N. J.

The annual inspection of A. C. Tyler camp, No. 8, U. S. W. V., was conducted in G. A. R. hall at the town building tonight District Inspector Charles B. Warren of Manchester. The meeting was largely attended despite inclement weather and was in charge of Camp Commander Louis H. Ashton. Talks were given by Senior Vice Department Commander of the G. A. R. James Haggerty, Senior Vice U. S. W. V. James D. Gallivan, Senior Vice Commander David Loree, Past Department Commander Frank P. Fenton and Past Camp Commanders Fred N. Flagg, William H. Peck, Robert O. Snow, Frank Teevan, Michael P. Cronin, William E. Jackson, Michael J. English and Joseph E. Guilford. The reports of various officers including that of Quartermaster Jeremiah E. McCarthy were made. Luncheon was served by the following committee of the Ladies' auxiliary No. 14, Mrs. A. Emma Snow, chairman, Mrs. Minnie Flynn, Mrs. Louis H. Here's a tip for pretzeleers on wheels

Suppose you go fast, and the naughty policeman stops you and gives you a lot of jaw. Can you jaw back? You can, but don't. While the speed cop uses his jaws to talk, you use yours to pretzelize. Bite out these five letters for him:

SORRY.

Chances are he will let you eat your word and depart in peace.

Of course you'll want O-So-Gud Pretzels baked by Uneeda Bakers. This is the kind that all good pretzeleers use for eating and for pretzeleering.

Eat them with soup, with salad, with cheese, with sweet desserts. Serve them with cool iced drinks. Eat them between meals. Eat them without any excuse at all—except that you want to.

Ask for pretzels made by Uneeda Bakers. You will like them better.

O-SO-GUD PRETZELS

Who do you suppose invented the twisty, pretzel knot that is the O-So Gud? And Why?

DANIELSON

FORMER KILLINGLY MAN MAY BE BANK COMMISSIONER

DANIELSON, Oct. 20.—The forecast today that Deputy Bank Commissioner Lester E. Shippee is to be named as bank commissioner of Connecticut to succeed John B. Byrne of Putnam, resigned, is a matter of delight and pride to the people of the town of Killingly, which claims Mr. Shippee as a native son.

His first banking experience was gained here in the Windham County National bank, where he was a clerk and later teller, following his attendance at Killingly High school.

The World war took Mr. Shippee away from his banking duties here, and following that startling crash of international affairs he gained further banking experience in New York. Subsequently he became a member of the staff of bank examiners in Connecticut and more recently has been deputy bank commissioner. In the service of the state he has made a highly capable and efficient record. While he was resident in this town Mr. Shippee's home was at East Killingly.

Shareholders in the Danielson Building and Loan association will begin to realize in a major way on their investment in the original shares of course, they have regularly had series issued about twelve years ago become due next April. Meanwhile, o course, they have regularly had their interest and have witnessed the steady growth of the assets from a very modest beginning to in excess of $208,000. Incidentally, these shareholders have the satisfaction that through making a good and safe investment they have contributed to the upbuilding of Danielson, where numbers of homes stand today that likely would not have been built by their owners without the aid of the loan association. Another sidelight is that with the expiration of the life of the first series original borrowers will have cleaned up their loans and, it may be assumed, will own their places free of debt.

This month the association has issued its 25th series of shares. Lively interest is being shown in thi last series by holder of first shares, as there also will be in the next series issued, orf it is indicated that much of the approximately $50,000 that will be due holders of these first series shares at their expiration will be re-invested with the association.

This morning the funeral of Patrick Weaver was held from his home in Dayville with funeral services at St. Joseph's church in that place at 9 o'clock. Rev. Ignatius Kost, the pastor, was celebrant of the solemn high mass o rfequiem, with Rev. Antheleme Mollard, M. S., and Rev. Joseph A. Demers, M. S., of St. James' parish as deacon and sub-deacon. Many relatives and friends attended the service. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Rev. Fr. Kost conducting the committal service. The bearers were Patrick Weaver, Michael Weaver, Henry Weaver, Thomas Weaver, Daniel Weaver and John Kennan. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Following a meeting of the Danielson chapter of the American Red Cross at the Public library last evening, it was announced this morning by Treasurer Francis E. Storer that its appeal is to be made locally for contributions of used clothing, but no shoes, for use in relief work for the Mississippi river flood sufferers. A depot for the assembling of this clothing is to be established at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Crosby on Academy street.

Arthur Lambert and Anthony Stedman of Goodyear came to court this morning to face charges of having violated the liquor laws. They were arrested last night by State Officers Nolan and Bell. In court Lambert was charged with transportation of liquor, which in this case happened to be alcohol, and was fined $100 and costs a total of $129.37. Stedman was charged with keeping with intent to sell, and actual sale and transportation and was fined $100 on each of the three counts and costs, a total of $320.37. The fines were paid.

Receipts—Balance on hand April 8th, 1925, $927.29; membership dues, $581.00; miscellaneous contributions, $2.00; interest on deposits, $78.07; donations, Lorain, Ohio disaster, $10.00; Florida disaster, $35.00; Mississippi Valley disaster, $1,153.69; total $2,-897.15.

Expenditures—American Red Cross, Tornado relief, $25.00; Florida relief, $155.00; Mississippi Valley flood, $1,-183.69; membership dues remitted, $280.00; sundry expenses, $72.56; The Civic Federation, $400.00; balance on hand, $720.90; total $2,897.15.

The funeral of Samuel Greich, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Marko Grich, was held from the family home in Moosup this afternoon with a service at All Hallows church at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. E. McCarthy officiating. Burial was in All Hallows cemetery on the Green Hollow road. The bearers were Walter Woyasz, Edward Wlezbleki, Sidney Miller and Elsear Prince. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the arrangements.

A regular meeting of the Camp Fire girls was held last evening at the Congregational church. Among other things the misses decided upon doing was to have a Halloween party, and also a hike The girls also selected their Camp Fire names.

A number of dogs owned in Danielson will be exhibited at the Windham County Kennel club show to be held in Putnam next month.

Physicians fro mthis town were at Putnam today to attend the 134th semi-annual meeting of the Windham County Medical society.

One hears that recently an offer to take over the mill of the American Woolen company at Elmville by a concern desiring to operate it was declined by the owners. The mill has been idle for a long time.

In accordance with an annual custom, Charles Russell of the state tax commissioner's office at Hartford came here today and audited the reports of Town Tax Collector James R. Walsh, Personal Tax Collector Arthur A. Dean and Borough Tax Collector Sidney H. Perry, finding all of these accounts in approved order.

Though only ten days remain for giving attention to the matter, several hundred of Killingly's taxpayers have not as yet filed lists of their taxable property with the assessors of the town.

The season, as November nears, is bringing some of the old time rounders to Danielson, the type that go about begging for food at homes and looking for a night's lodging wherever there apepars a chance of getting one.

A suggestion was heard today that the carhouse of the Connecticut company at Dayville, the structure no longer in use except for storage purposes, might interest someone seeking a location for a small industry, and it is believed that the company might be induced to sell it. The possibility will be noted by the Danielson chamber of commerce.

Concrete standards have been set up on which to mount the new road signs that have been placed along the Providence-Hartford route through Danielson, these signs indicating, curves, hills, cross-roads, etc. The standards have bolt holes to facilitate the attaching of the signs, which are of wood.

Many who are burning leaves at this time are taking due care not to start such fires near parked automobiles, for tfhe danger of setting a machine afire is great

PUTNAM

PROPERTY TO BE TAXED ON NEW RE-ASSESSMENT LIST

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 20—The town of Putnam is facing an entirely new situation this year in the matter of property assessments. During the past year there has been a re-assessment of property values by a company of experts and their findings on all properties are listed for the government of the assessors and will doubtless be followed by the assessors.

However, there is no change in the law and dissatisfied property owners may go to the board of relief and if he fails to get the reduction he believes himself entitled to, there is left for him an appeal to the superior court. While it is possible that there may be some dissatisfaction, it is anticipated that the most of it will come from those who, in the past, have failed to share an equal burden of taxation by putting in their list what should have been done and succeeding in getting it through in that way. The property owner who has placed his property in the list at a fair valuation year after year will find little if any increase, and in some cases, a decrease may be found.

Mr. Lamb, who had charge of the work of revaluation, stated that there would doubtless be some mistakes found. That it was impossible to do such an enormously detailed work one hundred per cent perfect. He has promised to come to Putnam during the sitting of the board of assessors to give his advice and assistance.

William H. Blodgett, state tax collector has begun a campaign to have Connecticut municipalities put their treasurers and tax collectors placed under sufficient bonds.

Putnam has three tax collectors: A. Macdonald, Jr., city tax collector who is properly bonded; Irving H. Miron, town tax collector, who is properly bonded; Arthur Brodeur, personal tax collector, who, according to Mr. Blodgett is one of many tax collectors in the state who are not properly bonded. Both the town treasurer and the city treasurer are bonded to meet the requirements. One of the selectmen of the town, William P. Warren, said that the personal tax collector had never been bonded but that the board would comply with Mr. Blodgett's suggestion and have a bond taken out for Mr. Brodeur for such an amount as they deemed necessary.

One who is not a dog owner or otherwise interested in canines, will be surprised at the number of people in Putnam and vicinity who own dogs of fine pedigree and attend every kennel exhibitions within reasonable reaching distance. Among local fanciers are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kelley, Mrs. George U. Miller Jacob Baker and Denis Donovan. All possess scores of blue ribbons and medals for first prizes that have been awarded their dogs in bench shows that have been held in Boston, Providence, Newport and other cities. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Miller were exhibitors at the dog show held in connection with the recent Brooklyn fair and were awarded several ribbons.

The Boston terriers owned by George E. Dresser have taken prizes in shows in many cities throughout the country during the past twenty years and some of his dogs have been adjudged national champions in their class and whose value run into four figures.

Funeral services for Mrs. Auguste Auge, 66, were held this morning at St. Mary's church at nine o'clock, the requiem mass being sung by her son, Rev. Auguste B. Auge. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

She died early Tuesday morning at her home on Church street, after an illness of an hour. Mrs. Auge was born in Canada but came to Putnam and was married to Auguste Auge here in 1878. She is survived by her husband and five children, Rev. Fr. Auguste B. Auge of Indian Orchard, Mass., Oliver Auge of Pittsfield, Mass., Antonia Auge of North Adams, Mass., Mrs. R. A. LaMar of Dearborn, Mich., and Mrs. B. A. Lanzon of this city and with whom she was making her home. There are also seven grandchildren and three brothers, Eugene Ducharme of Chesire, Mass., and Auguste and Felix Ducharme both of whom live at St. Jean de Matha, Canada.

Willis Cincellet, who has been in Brooklyn jail for several months, charged with the misappropriation of a large sum of money is now out on bail.

Mrs. C. W. Chase and her sister, Mrs. Earl Austin have returned from Providence where they attended a complimentary dinner given in honor of Mrs. Chase's daughter, Miss Ruth L. Case and her classmates of the last graduating class by the officials of the Rhode Island General hospital. Miss Chase graduated wit hher class in June but did not receive her diploma until now as she had to make up time off because of illness. Miss Ruth Sweet and Miss Chase, both of this city are members of this class and are both graduates of Putnam high school. Miss Chase will soon enter Columbia university for a special course in the line of her profession.

On Friday evening, the Epworth League winter institute will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church in this city. All members of the league are requested to be present and any one interested will be made welcome. The ladies will serve refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Andem, who have been spending the summer at their cottage at Hampton Beach, N. H., have returned to their home in this city for the winter.

Mrs. Frank Herrick and two children have been the guests of friends in Boston.

Mrs. Louis Ingraham of East Putnam is visiting her son who is now located at Charlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chesley and daughter, Miss Verna Chesley are soon to go on a camping trip to Florida to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Aldrich and daughter, Miss Virginia of San Diego, Cal., have been the guests of relatives here. Mr. Aldrich was a former resident of Pomfret. They have been spending the summer at Alexander's Bay and expect to spend the winter in Rochester, N. Y.

OINTMENT WORTH $100 A JAR

TO MAN WHO SUFFERED CONSTANTLY FOR FIVE YEARS

Healed leg entirely

Spokane, Wash., March 21:—"While working in a stone quarry, I slipped and cut my leg and blood poisoning set in. The doctor stopped this, but my leg refused to heal. It became a running sore and hurt me so I could hardly do my work. I wore bandages constantly for five years, using several remedies without success. One day a friend recommended Resinol Ointment and after I had used ten jars of it my leg was entirely healed. This ointment is worth $100 a jar to me, and I will never be without it in my house again."—(Signed) W. P. Bower, Box 593.

Resinol Ointment should be in every home. It's invaluable for cuts, burns, blisters, chafing, etc., as well as more serious skin disorders. All druggists sell the Resinol products.

JEWETT CITY

LAW DELAYED WEDDING CELEBRATED IN ADVANCE

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 20—Emil Eizenek and Anna Yorsk were married at St. Mary's church Thursday morning. The witnesses were Peter Murphy and Agatha Eizenek. The wedding was supposed to occur on Monday, but owing to the fact that the couple were unaware of the new law that a marriage license must be procured five days previous to the marriage, they were obliged to wait until Thursday. They did not go to the town clerk's office until Saturday for the license, and although other authorities were consulted it was found that the law had to be observed. In view of the fact that the guests had been invited for Monday, the wedding feast was already to serve, and the bridal garments and bouquets in readiness, they were advised to go on with the festivities as arranged and the church ceremony would take place according to law on Thursday.

This they did, even going to Norwich to have their pictures taken in their wedding finery. Their experience will be a warning to other couples.

NEW SCHOOL-HOUSE CONTRACTS FOR BUILDING IN LISBON

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 20—The contracts were let and the papers signed today for the erection of the new school house in Lisbon, to be built on a site east of the Pilgrim dahlia gardens, near what was once the Caleb Griswold house, on land given the town by the Newent Congregational church.

William Fogarty of Jewett City has the contract for the cellar, stone work and grading, and William Bitgood will erect the building, which will be 54x70, 2 stories. On the first floor there will be four school-rooms to accommodate two grades each, and four teachers. There will be total accommodations for 150 pupils. The matter of electric lighting includes three possibilities. A new transformer recently installed from the Scotland dam line, would furnish a handy supply. The plant at Jewett City seems to be favored as a feasible purchase point, while it has been considered by the committee that a local unit could be installed.

The building is to cost $30,000 and with lavatories in the basement, electric lights running water and steam heat, no item in modern building is to be left out.

—On the second floor an assembly hall will be 54x60 with a stage at one end.

The Brick school house, that has been in constant commission for more than three-quarters of a century, will be discontinued, and thus will pass a landmark among the temples of learning of New London county.

The Bend school house in Lisbon, may send a number of its larger pupils to the new school in Newent.

Two school sare now maintained in Newent, one in the town house and one in the district school house.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Jewett City Creamery Co. held Thursday, it was voted to lease to Stanley Winroth, the present superintendent, the creamery buildings with all rights and interests, for a period of five years.

The Jewett City Creamery Co. has been in existence close to forty years. The late Arthur C. Ladd was its first superintendent, G. A. Ross and Simon Brewster were interested, and with hearty co-operation and patronage from a long list of outlying district farmers, in this, one of Connecticut's outstanding milk producing belts it became a success. The butter-makers who worked the product up to its present standard of excellence have been men who knew high class butter making and made it a profession. M. G. Young, B. W. Smith, B. C Bliss and Ernest Bachand have all been included in the list. Mr. Bliss has the record of being one of the ranking butter-makers of New England, with long terms of service in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut. Seen today, Mr. Winroth says his plans which will include economy and excellence, will permit of the operation of the plant along its present lines. Prominent among those who figured in the earlier history of this concern, was the late Joseph E. Leonard, who as superintendent devoted his best interests, to its successful operation.

On October 13th, Mrs. George Lyndall's 80th birthday, a great surprise was planned by her children and grandchildren, all of whom came to her home. There were present her daughter, Mrs. William Phillips of Lisbon and her two grandsons and families from Norwich, Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips and son George Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips and son Earl Jr. Her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Blake and children, Phyllis, Hilda, Fredella, Homer and baby Ruth of Coventry, R. I., Herbert Lyndell and son Harold of Glasgo. The celebration proved a very enjoyable affair for those who were there, other children from Maine and Massachusetts helping out in the good time with cards, letters and various handsome presents. The hostess of four score years enjoyed most the hearty wishes for other happy birthdays coming from her long line of descendants.

Interest in the organization of the new fall bowling teams has begun early, with schedules for weekly games all winter.

The All Stars and the Speed Girls took the start-off Wednesday evening.

No town in this end of the state has ever been able to compete successfully with Jewett City's girl bowlers, and they can make any male team go some.

On Oct. 13 the All All Stars defeated the Speed Girls 2 out of 3.

The town of Griswold has invested in a new heavy service truck, which will be operated by Charles Campbell, he having run it in from Boston Wednesday. It was purchased, after a town meeting voted in its favor. First Selectman D. F. Finn, declares that it will save hundreds of dollars for the town each year, in houses and men employed. It is fitted with a demountable snow-plow, also a power dumping mechanism operated from the engine. The truck cost $3,900. In the rear of the town house a garage was staked out Thursday, 20x18, designed to house the truck and town tractor.

Children from Voluntown attending Plainfield high school are Mildred Kinnie, Elsie and Marian Edmond, Richard Palmer, Paul Koistiner and Elno Watson. The Selma Aremony printed in Thursday's news is not the girl who was graduated from Norwich Free Academy last year. Annie Kaminski and Newell Rist of Lisbon attend N. F. A.

Mrs. Margaret Gately of Greeneville, a former resident here with the Misses Driecoll, has been called to New York by the death of her father, Daniel Hart.

Mrs. Dona Ballou has had as guests thi sweek the grand matron of the state O. E. S., Mrs. Nellie Stewart, of New Canaan, the grand chaplain, Mrs. Caroline Lawrence of Stamford and the associate grand matron Mrs. Frances Geer, of Norwich. Mrs. Ballou is Grand Martha and with the other state officers has visited the chapters in East Woodstock, Putnam and Montville this week.

Mrs. Dona Ballou, Mrs. O. F. Durfey, Mrs. S. H. Holmes, Mrs. J. T. Stewart, Mrs. William Hill, Mrs. Charles Cornell, Mrs. H. E Paul, Mr and Mrs. W. J. Robertson were in Montville Wednesday night for the visitation of O. E. S. grand officers.

Mocking mirrors

MOCKING shapes of silvered glass that tell the truth. . . . What a tragedy that some women fade so soon! Just a few short years ago, beauty and health were theirs to spare. Now — their mirrors mock them! Wan, thin cheeks, haggard smiles, betray the price of neglect!

It is terrible—the toll that constipation takes in health and happiness. It thieves beauty. It wrecks vitality. It is the cause of much suffering and disease. And all the while it could be so easily relieved! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—safely, permanently.

Why ALL-BRAN is superior to "part-bran"

A large part of ALL-BRAN is "bulk." This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines, gently distending them—purifying, eliminating poisonous wastes. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is often too small to do this work. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN—because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

No more need for pills

How different from habit-forming pills and drugs! Which become useless unless the dose is constantly increased. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak for a few moments to bring out all its delicious flavor. Try it in soups. With other cereals.

But be sure to get genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by the Kellogg Company in Battle Creek, Mich. Write for free "Treatise on Constipation."

SUGGESTED TAX CUTS

There's no reason to expect that any one particular plan for federal tax cutting is going to be accepted by congress without careful inquiry. There will be various methods proposed, and some of them have already been set forth in a general way, but through the study of these methods and the effects that can be expected will it be possible to arrive at a sane decision provided due consideration is allowed for what is being undertaken and what is available.

According to the latest estimate by Senator Smoot tax reduction to the extent of $360,000,000 can be indulged in by congress. In making such a change he favors cutting the corporation tax from 13 1-2 to 12 per cent., which would make a reduction of $150,000,000. He would then eliminate taxes on admissions and on automobiles, parts and accessories which would reduce by readjusting the middle surtax brackets of the income tax.

There is no question but what such a reduction in taxes would be highly pleasing. It would reflect its benefits upon a large number of people. It is a reduction which is not much in excess of what Chairman Madden of the house appropriations committee believes can be made, although it doesn't include the elimination of the estate tax. He points to the fact that the administration has been able to perform the greatest job of stabilization on record because of its resistance to the demand for extravagance in appropriations.

The value of that policy in the past must be considered in dealing with the future. There are certain facts which must be taken into consideration in the reduction of taxation, one of which is that care must be taken to avoid a deficit, and there must be a recognition of the fact that even though there is a surplus piled up the use of it in the reduction of the national debt is of lasting benefit to the taxpayer's pocketbook. It makes little difference whose bill is passed so long as it meets the situation and meets it right.

HEADLIGHTS

Having what is regarded as an inadequate and faulty law concerning automobile headlights, officials of the safety council in Providence and the Automobile club of Rhode Island made a test the other night and found 315 out of 327 headlights on Rhode Island machines were defective. That represents nearly a 100 per cent. wrong situation.

According to the Rhode Island law the automobiles are required to have two white headlights which can be seen at a distance of 200 feet. They have no requirement as to focusing and it can be imagined what the situation is under such circumstances with present day headlights. When only a dozen cars were found that met approval it represents a serious situation, one which cannot be corrected any too soon, even though efforts in that direction have failed in the past.

Have you ever been seated on a dark evening when the rays of auto headlights could be plainly seen at a distance? And have you noted where the strong light is projected?

Connecticut calls for the proper focusing of the headlights, so there is no reason to anticipate a condition similar to that found in Providence, but even in this state the lights are far from what they should be for the safety of the highway. There are lights which may have been focused once but have gotten out of adjustment. Some throw the light down onto the highway where it is needed and where it will not bother the driver coming toward it, but others are throwing strong light in all directions. Some of the rays are going straight out, some up into the trees and frequently it is the case where one light is focused up and the other down.

We are much better off as to legislation, enforcement and focusing in Connecticut than they are in Rhode Island, but as much better as we are we have much to expect in the way of better focused headlights.

MAINE RETAINS PRIMARY

By the vote of those who were sufficiently interested and aroused to go to the polls, Maine has decided to stick to the direct primary. It adopted it in preference to the convention system at the time when other states were acting favorably, but it has seen it in action and it is by no means strange that there was a desire to abandon it.

With less than a third of the voters expressing themselves, indifference apparently played an important role but there were evidently other influences which had their effect in upholding the primary.

There was a rather warm campaign waged over the merits of the primary, and knowing the sentiment that Maine has maintained for a long time concerning water power there's no question but what the claim that a return to the convention system would jeopardize the legislation which now restricts development to such hydro-electric plants as are required to serve Maine had its effect.

Other features of the campaign were such as to cause an expression of opinion at the ballot boxes which hinged on other things than the real merits of the primary. So far as the decision this week is concerned it was overwhelming, but there is evidence of a strong feeling against it, a recognition of the fact that candidates are handicapped in running for office, that there is little chance for the poor man, that it weakens party responsibility and that it tends to keep less satisfactory men in office.

Possibly Maine hasn't as yet awakened to the real situation. The campaigning that has been done may come in for closer thought and study in the days that are to follow than it did before the voters of that state went to the ballot box. Because Maine has made a fight against the primary and lost doesn't necessarily mean that the matter is at rest for good. The undesirable results of the primary system are to be seen elsewhere than in the state of Maine and not all of the states that rushed into such legislature are repenting at leisure.

A NEW LONDON TERMINAL

Until something definite is decided one way or another, there will be interest in the possibility of a new transatlantic steamship line, with the steamers making the crossing in four days, establishing its western terminal at New London. It can be fully appreciated that such a steamship line would be of decided advantage to New London and Connecticut, quite as much so as the facilities at New London would be to the line that is endeavoring to cut down the time of crossing.

Much however seems to be in the air. The terminal would be of no benefit if there are no steamers. Thus far they are only on paper and there is no small job involved in financing such an undertaking. It is to be supposed that those backing such a proposition have fully studied the cost and taken into account the fact that on such a line the cost of transportation would necessarily be much greater. That such steamers would be fully patronized and pay, quite the same as the extra-fare trains is conceivable, but if it is a case of reducing time in crossing it can be expected that other ports to the east, say Boston or Providence, will be making strong bids for preference.

This is not the first time that the advantages of New London, or even Montauk Point, which is also under consideration, have been weighed by those who have contemplated new steamship lines. If such a new line is to be actually established New London is a logical terminal and well deserves such consideration as it is getting.

SENATOR FESS EXPLAINS

From the time that President Coolidge made his famous ten word statement concerning the presidency in 1928 there was been much discussion about it. There are those who have wanted it amplified, those who have accepted it and tose who regard it as indicating the personal preference of the president.

When Senator Fess followed up his visit to the president by declaring his belief that the chief executive would be drafted by the republican convention and renominated, he didn't intend it so but he laid the foundation for the inference that he was speaking for the president.

As the result of his later conference with the president he has made it a point to straighten out that matter and let it be known that the president was not pleased with the way in which he had been urging the draft. The possibility of any misunderstanding concerning the position in which Senator Fess stands is cleared up when he declares that he has spoken only his own mind, that he desires to have it understood that he is in no way an agent of the president and that he has urged the drafting of President Coolidge for another term because of the strong sentiment in that direction, and that he intends to continue such advocacy.

The new Fess statement certainly does not give support to the Fess plan but while he confesses that he is less confident that the president would accept a nomination under draft action he does not view the situation as discouraging. The public demand and his own convictions are urging him to continued effort. The immediate result is of course going to be a revival of the discussion as to what the president's attitude really is.

THE BROWN FOWL

Martha Ware wiped the big brown mixing bowl and set it in its accustomed place upon the shelf.

"If I had all the flour and sugar and eggs and lard I've mixed in that bowl for the last 25 years I'd never need to buy another speck of baking stuff again as long as I lived," she said aloud to herself. "Or if I had the price of it I could fix the house up the way I want it. I'd have some new ruffled curtains with pink overdrapes and a new rug and I don't know what all." She sighed as she dried the rusty kitchen sink.

The door opened and Martha's next-door neighbor, young Mrs. Pryor, entered breezily.

"I thought you had company; I heard you talking," Eve Pryor said, smiling into the grim face of the older woman.

"Just talking to myself, dearie," Martha squeezed the dishrag dry and tucked it out of sight. "Was just complaining a bit, that's all." Eve's blue glance swept the ugly room, the still uglier rooms beyond.

"You need a change," she suggested. "Why don't you take a vacation, go visiting somewhere?"

"I would like to see my sister; haven't seen her since her oldest girl's wedding 10 years ago. Julia's been coaxing me to come this long while, but Joel says it would cost so much."

Eve's blue eyes narrowed as she gazed through the cracked window panes at the new garage Joel and the carpenter were building.

"Mr. Ware is going to have a new car, I see," she said. Martha smiled.

"Yes. He needs it in his business. I dare say he'll make it pay, too."

"I dare say he will," replied Eve dryly. "Well, what I came in to tell you is this: Fred and I are going to motor over to Windwood this afternoon—that's where your sister lives, isn't it? Well, we'll take you right to her door. Fred and I shall stay at his mother's over Sunday and we'll bring you back with us. Now while you are getting ready I'll run out to tell Mr. Ware that you are going."

"No—no! Here—wait!" protested Martha. But Eve's slim silk-clad legs were already twinkling down the back walk.

Joel gave grudging consent to his wife's going with the young Pryors. He said he guessed he could get along for a few days alone—that is, if she had a good lot of bread, cake and pie baked up. With a glance at the brown bowl Martha said she had.

At the home of her sister, Martha, no longer under the tension of endless work, quietly collapsed. Julia got the doctor. He ordered rest for a month. In vain Martha protested—a new set of boarders were coming next week—Joel—she must go home. But Martha did not go home.

So the young Pryors returned without Martha, promising to tell Joel what had happened. And Martha gave herself up to a period of delicious coddling.

Three weeks later she returned home. Joel came to get her in the new car. Joel was so nice to her that it made her feel as if they were back in their old courting days. No, there wasn't much to tell. Still, Martha felt that Joel was keeping something back.

It was dark when Martha opened her own door. Joel reached past her and mysteriously the place was flooded with light. Martha's astonished eyes widened upon a happy vision—new linoleum, a white sink, modern plumbing, a shining new range. The kitchen was transformed. And the other rooms were just as fresh, just as beautiful to Martha's eyes. In fact, the only thing that looked familiar was the old brown mixing bowl standing on a gleaming kitchen cabinet.

"Well, I had a dream myself—a bad one," Joel said awkwardly, putting his arm about her shoulder. "I—I—why, Martha, I—I got so goldarned homesick for you that I talked to your old blue sunbonnet hanging there on that nail. And I hugged the old brown bowl—it made me think of you, standing there by the table stirring batter—" Joel choked a little. "It's bred in my bone to save. But the thing I ought to have saved I wasn't paying any attention to—" an embarrassed pause.

Quietly Martha reached up and took the old brown bowl off the kitchen cabinet.

"Don't belong with the rest of the things. Let's throw it out," suggested Joel.

"I should say not," Martha was emphatic. "That's going to be handed down to my grandchildren, it's an heirloom with a history!"—Exchange.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

"Make up your mind what you want to do and do it." That is the recipe for success offered by Sir Harold Moore, who on November 9 will be installed in the time-honored office of Lord Mayor of London. Sir Harold, who has just turned 50, is one of the youngest men to become chief magistrate of the city in many years. Like that famous Lord Mayor of olden times, Dick Whittington, he was originally intended for the sea, but he fancied business more and became a chartered accountant. During the war he served in the Royal Air force and reached the rank of major. He is a lover of outdoor sports and was one of the first of London's business men to become really keen about motoring. For his year as Lord Mayor he will receive a salary of $50,000—and will spend probably twice that amount out of his own pocket to uphold the dignity of his office.

Chest Colds Need Direct Treatment

It is an obstinate cold indeed that can resist the direct double action of Vicks. Rubbed on the chest, it acts 2 ways at once:

(1) Direct to air passages with its healing vapors released by body heat;

(2) Direct, like a poultice, it "draws out" the soreness.

YOUR HEALTH

NEGLECTED HERNIA OR RUPTURE MAY RESULT SERIOUSLY

By Homer D. Junkin, M. D., Idaho Falls, Idaho
Member Gorgas Memorial

In a general sense hernia or rupture means the protrusion of part of the wall of a hollow cavity, usually carrying its contents into the sac so formed. The brain and its coverings may come through an opening in the skull from an accident or following operation. A sac formation in the urinary bladder may form a kind of hernia. Again an offshoot of an intestine or a blood vessel may form a hernia of these parts. However, the abdominal cavity is the larger of the hollow cavities of the body and is the site of most hernias.

The commoner ruptures of the abdominal cavity are found in the groin, as inguinal hernia above the fold of the groin and femoral hernia below. Ventral ruptures apear between the abdominal muscles in the center of the body. Ruptures through the navel are common, as are those coming through old surgical scars in the abdomen.

Ruptures in the groin result from a weakness in a small area in the abdominal wall. This tendency to weakness is caused by the inguinal canal which carries the cord in the male and ligaments in the female from inside the abdomen to the parts outside the abdomen. Increased abdominal pressure, straining efforts, heavy lifting, or weakness at birth in these parts will often produce bulging and finally structures within the abdominal cavity may be forced into these weak spots in the abdomen.

If a rupture is permitted to go untreated it increases in size as its opening becomes dilated. It is a very easy matter then for a segment of bowel to slip into the sac. The presence of the bowel in the sac may cause no distress, but it may become pinched so that its blood circulation is greatly interfered with. The bowel then swells rapidly and a condition known as strangulation or the so-called locked bowel results. The patient is seized with sharp cramp-like pains in the region of the protruding lump. He finds himself unable to reduce it. Often the lump increases in size. Vomiting occurs and the patient finally passes into shock and may die unless prompt surgical relief is given.

Many devices and methods of treatment of rupture have been offered, and here, as in other medical fields, much harm has been done. Injections of paraffin over the point of the opening have been practiced, and I mention this method only to condemn it. The wax holds the hernia for a time, but too frequently the rupture will slide under the paraffin ball or pad and result in strangulating the contents of the producing mass. Then again, paraffin injected into the tissues results sometimes in producing a type of cancer which is, of course, a serious complication.

The question of the truss should be considered. The truss is usually of leather construction with a spring arrangement to hold various shaped pads over the point from which the hernia protrudes. It has a place in the treatment of hernia in the very young, the very old, and in those who could not stand a surgical operation. In the very young, there is a chance of curing the hernia up to the fourth year. Especially is this true of navel hernia.

An individual with hernia should consult a reputable surgeon and there obtain guidance. The operative procedures for rupture have been so completely worked out that success in practically all cases is assured. This procedure may be carried out under local anesthesia, thus avoiding the unpleasantness of ether or other general anesthetics.

THIS NURSE NOW HAS GOOD HEALTH

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and I would not be without it in the house. As I am a children's nurse, I have to be on my feet a great deal and your medicine has helped me wonderfully. I was hardly able to do my housework when I began taking it, and now I am a strong and well woman, able to do all that and go out nursing besides. I have also used the Sanative Wash and found it beneficial."—Mrs. Gertrude L. Stewart, 103 Davis St., Greenfield, Mass.

Valuable for Weakness

"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a valuable medicine for weakness."—Mrs. J. A. Pietsch, Box 367, Lancaster, Pa.

Hundreds of letters like these are received by the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., from grateful women who say that their health has improved since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Stories That Recall Others

Children Disapprove

A new minister had come to a small rural town, and being young and a trifle dashing, had been barbered with sideburns. A group of little girls of the village surveyed him critically and had not much to say for the new pastor. This hostile attitude on the part of their children was most trying to the women of the church, so one mother asked her small daughter what the trouble seemed to be. The little girl explained it thus: "Oh, he thinks he is cute, wearing those sunburns on his face."

A Wrong Impression

A little boy came to the desk at the library and requested that the librarian give him a book called "Silence Mournful" for his brother.

"Are you sure you have the name right?" the librarian asked dubiously.

"Well, it's something like that," the boy replied. It's by the same person who wrote 'The Mill on the Floss'."

"Well, I had the right sound anyway, didn't I?" the boy asked defiantly as by-standers laughed.

Lives Depend on Your Eyes

Every time you drive your car your own life and the lives of those you hold dear are entrusted to those two faithful lookouts—your eyes.

Are you sure of them every waking minute? Do they always afford sharp, clear vision, near or far, without strain or discomfort? If you wear glasses, have you had an examination lately?

These are pertinent questions for all of us to consider if we would drive and live and see in comfort.

PILES

Go Quickly Without Cutting or Using Messy Salves

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in hundreds of cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Lee & Osgood Co. today. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and must do the same for you or money back.

Noyes, of New York and Old Lyme, with John Howard Lawler, of New York, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 8th, at 3 o'clock, at Indian Rock farm, the Noyes summer home in Old Lyme.

The Norwich Delphian chapter resumed its study Thursday afternoon, with Miss Suck, at her home on Lincoln Terrace. Miss Suck gave a very delightful talk on Norse myths and Teutonic folk tales. She was assisted by Miss Edith M. Bliss, Mrs. Charles W. Prentice, Mrs. William H. Dawley, Mrs. Channing M. Huntington and Mrs. Alfred N. H. Vaughn, who read different illustrative myths connected with the Niebelungenlied.

In compliment to their guest, Miss Nellie Boles Day, of Boston, formerly of Norwich, Miss Mary G. Osgood and Miss Martha L. Osgood gave a tea Tuesday, at their home on Rockwell street. Mrs. C. Royce Boss, Mrs. Charles R. Butts, Mrs. W. Tyler Olcott and Mrs. Henry A. Tirrell poured. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Gardiner Greene, Mrs. Leonard O. Smith, Mrs. William H. Palmer, Miss Jane McG. Alken, Mrs. Charles Henry Osgood, Miss Marie V. Caruthers and Mrs. Frank Hempstead.

FOUR ARRESTS FOLLOW AUTOMOBILE CRASHES ON ROAD IN WATERFORD

(Special to The Bulletin)

WATERFORD, Oct. 20—Four arrests were made by State Police Officers John H. Smith and Peter Busch in Waterford this morning, all the offenders being charged with reckless driving. Wladslau Pioscaj, of Salem was driving a horse-drawn truck loaded with cabbage to New London about 5:30 o'clock. On the truck with Pioscaj was his little daughter, Mary. When the truck had reached Flat Rock on the Hartford turnpike, Waterford, an automobile truck driven by Edward Chappell, also bound to New London, crashed against the truck, demolishing the cabbage laden vehicle and injuring one of the horses. Pioscaj and his daughter were thrown from the truck but escaped injury beyond bruises. Residents who heard the crash communicated with the state police and Officers Smith and Busch responded. Before the officers could clear the highway an automobile driven by John Muraski, Lyme, came along and passed a signal given Muraski by Busch to stop. Before Muraski could do so, for he was driving at a fast rate of speed, the machine collided with the Chappell truck. Another truck driven by George Osimek, Colchester, and with eight passengers, also bound to New London, came along 10 minutes later and crashed into the wreckage. Louis Wkitkind, Oakdale, driving to New London, was the fourth driver to operate his automobile into the wreckage. All of the drivers except Pioscaj were arrested charged with reckless driving and an additional charge of driving an automobile that was equipped with defective brakes, was made against Osimek. All of the drivers will be presented in the Waterford town court tomorrow afternoon.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PLAN BY-LAW CHANGES

Six members of the present board of directors of the Norwich chamber of commerce go out of office next month, as their terms will expire at that time. They are President James L. Case, E. LaRue Bliven, Dr. H. B. Campbell, Roy D. Judd, J. M. Morton and William G. Park. Announcement was made at the chamber office Thursday afternoon that the Baldwin dinner which was scheduled for next week has been postponed until the evening of November 21st, the chamber's annual meeting night.

A special meeting of the chamber members has been called for Tuesday morning, Oct. 25th, at 10 o'clock to ballot on several proposed changes in the by-laws. The changes proposed by the directors, after careful consideration, follow:

Nomination — Present method, by mail ballot. Proposed method, by nominating committee.

Election of directors—Present method, by mail ballot. Proposed method, by annual meeting.

Can members nominate additional candidates? Present method—No. Proposed method, Yes, in two ways.

Election of officers—Present method, by directors. Proposed method, by directors.

It is believed by the officers that the nominating committe plan permits more careful study of the best directorship material available, and, with the arrangement providing for additional nominations by members, meets all of the advantages of the former system, with the added benefit of what might be called a steering committee.

The proposed by-laws are the following:

Article III—Election of Directors. At the regular September meeting of the board of directors, the president shall appoint a committee composed of three members of the chamber, none of whom shall be members of the board, whose duty it shall be to present the names of six candidates to be voted on at the next annual election of the chamber. The names of the candidates so selected shall be published and mailed to each member of the chamber at least ten days previous to the annual election. Additional nominations may be posted upon the bulletin board of the chamber over the signatures of 15 members of the chamber at least five days previous to the annual election.

At the annual meeting just prior to the election of directors, the president shall open the meeting for additional nominations from the floor. A two-thirds vote of those present shall carry any nomination so made.

The annual election shall take place on the second Monday in October.

Article V—Officers—Section 1. Elective officers of the corporation shall consist of a president, two vice presidents and a treasurer, all of whom shall be elected by the board from the membership of the board of directors, within ten days after the annual election.

Section 2. Term—The president, vice presidents and treasurer shall hold their offices for a term of one year, or until their successor shall have been elected and qualified.

Section 3. Secretary—The secretary shall be appointed by the executive committee subject to the approval of the board of directors, to receive such compensation as the executive committee may agree upon and shall serve during the pleasure of the committee.

Section 4. The official terms of all elective officers shall begin on the date of the annual election and continue until the next election.

FOURTH LARGEST SKYSCRAPER IS SOLD IN NEW YORK

The New York Times of Thursday said:

The 25-story General Motors building, occupying the block on Broadway to Eighth avenue, from Fifty-seventh to Fifty-eighth streets, was sold yesterday to Samuel Keller Jacobs, an investor, for about $12,000,000. The building is the fourth largest skyscraper in the world and is now the largest owned by any one individual.

It was erected and sold yesterday by a syndicat consisting of Harris & Maurice Mandelbaum, Inc.; Max N. Natanson and Irving I. Levine. Charles F. Noyes Company, Inc., real estate brokers, negotiated the sale.

The sale does not affect the tenancy of the General Motors corporations, which has a 21-year lease on 13 floors, for which it is said the corporation will pay $15,000,000 in rent. Other tenants include the Hudson Motor Car company, Warren Nash Motor company, Rolls-Royce, Chemical National bank, Kelly-Springfield Tire company and Stock Exchange and banking firms.

The building has a street frontage of 749 feet, unusually large for its plot of 32,37 square feet. It fronts on three 100-foot streets and is the only structure of its type on Broadway north of Forty-second street occupying an entire square block. On a clear day the 24th floor of the building affords a view of Ossining, N. Y., about 340 miles away.

MYSTIC CHILD CHOKED TO DEATH IN CRIB

Carl Zimmerman, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Zimmerman, of 22 Cliff street, Mystic, former manager of the Mystic Sea Sled plant, died of strangulation Wednesday afternoon when his neck became caught in the straps of his crib in which he had been sleeping. The little boy, during his sleep had previously shown symptoms of convulsiveness, following illness, and his parents had sought to protect him in his sleep by strapping his blankets over him to keep him in bed. Wednesday afternoon, after awakening, he tried to get out of his crib without assistance but his neck was caught in the leather strap across his shoulders. His body had turned so that the strap tightened about his neck.

When his mothea went to the child's room to see him, he was breathing his last. A physician was summoned but efforts to revive him failed.

Besides his parents, the child leaves three brothers and sisters.

STAMFORD MAN FOUND WITH STOLEN RAINCOAT

Thomas McCarthy, 52, of Stamford, will be presented in the city court this (Friday) morning on a charge of theft of a raincoat Wednesday night or early Thursday morning from a Ford coupe parked in Durkee lane. The disappearance of a raincoat from a machine in Greeneville Wednesday led to McCarthy's arrest early Thursday morning. The police were on the watch for the missing raincoat and early Thursday morning Officer Elmer Allen saw McCarthy on North Main street wearing a coat that answered the description. He notified police headquarters and McCarthy was taken in charge and held by the police.

Thursday evening it developed that the raincoat is owned by an employe of The Norwich Bulletin who had left it in his machine Wednesday night while the machine was parked in Durkee lane. The owner of the raincoat identified it at police headquarters Thursday night and a theft charge was preferred against McCarthy.

McCarthy claimed that he bought the coat from a man on the street Wednesday night and said he paid $2 for it.

RETAIL MERCHANTS' BUREAU DISCUSS BUSINESS PLANS

At a luncheon meeting of the Norwich Retail Merchants' Bureau held Thursday evening at 6.15 o'clock at the Wauregan hotel, a committee was appointed to consider the matter of consolidation of the merchants' activities during the year 1928. A committee was also appointed to see what the sentiment of the merchants is regarding the holding of a retail merchants' institute for a week with Frank Stockdale of Chicago as the speaker. Mr. Stockdale recently addressed a meeting of the Norwich chamber of commerce. The meeting also considered a Christmas programme for the coming holiday season. President Abner Schwartz presided at the meeting which adjourned about 8.15 o'clock.

GAVE TRAVEL TALK TO TRINITY MEN'S CLUB

Thomas G. Brown, son of Rev. J. Eldred Brown, gave an interesting address at the regular meeting of the Men's club of Trinity Episcopal church in the Sunday school room Thursday evening. Mr. Brown recently returned from a trip around the world as one of the instructors of the Students' cruise and his talk, which was of sixty minutes duration, dealt with the six principal countries of the world. Along with his discourse Mr. Brown showed a number of photographs and a collection of beautiful Japanese prints collected in the orient.

A vote of thanks was extended Mr. Brown for his delightful talk, after which refreshments were served by members of the club.

LIONS VOTE SUPPORT TO HOSPITAL AUXILIARY DRIVE

The Norwich Lions club held its weekly luncheon meeting Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel with President William A. Anderson presiding. Louis T. Crandall was the song leader and Lionel R. Ethier presided at the piano. There were the usual solos and group song numbers. During the business session the club voted to support the membership drive of the Woman's auxiliary of the W. W. Backus hospital. The meeting adjourned in the usual manner.

SPLENDID CONCERT GIVEN BY WELSH LADIES' CHOIR

Gertrude Gronow's Royal Welsh ladies' choir gave one of its splendid concerts in Slater hall Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Norwich Lions club, before an audience that made up in enthusiasm and well deserved applause for the singers what it lacked in numbers. Every number called for an encore, the appreciative audience being delighted with the melodious and finely balanced choir numbers and the excellent solo work in which the feature selections were by Miss Lily Hambly, the possessor of a remarkable alto voice, and Miss May John, whose sweet soprano was used most effectively.

The programme was given as follows:

Part song, Yr Haf (Summer) Gwent, The Choir; song, "Poor Wandering One", Sullivan, Phoebe Northall, soprano; song, "My Prayer", Squire, Grace Battman alto; part songs (a) "Clychau Aberdovey" Emlyn Evans; (b) "Absent", Metcalfe, The Choir; song, "I Did Not Know," Trotere, Nellie Williams, contralto; song, "Goodbye" Tosti, Lily Hambly, alto; part song, "Snow", Elgar, The Choir; operatic item "Miserere", Verdi, May John and Lily Hambly; song, "Ernani" Verdi Cassie Williams-Gowe, soprano; Negro spirituals (a) "Go Down Moses" (b) 'Swing Low Sweet Chariot," The Choir; song "Softly Awakes My Heart" Saint Saens, Sallie Lewis, alto; part song, "From the Green Heart" Coleridge Taylor; song, "Moorish Maid" Parker, May John; part song, "Soldiers' Chorus" Gounod, The Choir. Finale—Welsh National Anthem, Star Spangled Banner.

The committee of arrangements consisted of William A. Anderson, chairman, Earl W. Taggart, J. B. Cacon, Richard Quinn, Max Hanover and Jean Kieffer, who brought the choir here for a return engagement.

DID WHOLESALE TRADE IN CHICKEN STEALING

Carl Brown, negro, who gave Westerly as his home address, and Tony Mazzelli of Center Groton were bound over to the January term of the criminal superior court, each in bonds of $1,000, after Brown had pleaded guilty to theft, and Mazzelli to receiving stolen property, while knowing that it was stolen, when the two men were presented in Groton town court Thursday morning. Failing to secure bonds then they were remanded to the New London county jail.

Brown was arrested Tuesday night. The specific charge against him was chicken stealing. Mazzelli was arrested Wednesday night, after Lieutenant Streaman and Officer Webber had searched his property at Center Groton. On the Mazzelli place were found a number of stolen chickens, and a heavy harness which was stolen last Sunday night from a tent used as a stable by Maine & Son, South Windham, New England forest products dealers, who are cutting wood on a tract opposite Dabolt's store at Center Groton.

Two harnesses were stolen. One was in Brown's possession. He stole the harnesses and sold one to Mazzelli for a pint of booze, according to his own statements. The harness which Mazzelli had was found beneath a pile of rocks, where he had hidden it, for Mazzelli was afraid to keep the harness about his farm building. According to Brown he knew that it was stolen.

How Brown escaped detection is a mystery for on one night he made three trips to a hennery in Center Groton and carried away 35 chickens.

IMPORTANT WEST CONFERENCE GAMES WILL BE PLAYED ON SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 20—(AP)—A monster new stadium to dedicate and a winning streak of nearly two years to protect, drove the Michigan football squad through practice with furious energy tonight. Instead of a lecture on the importance of the contest Coach Tad Wieman gave the squad a few minutes exercise today on the turf of the new gridiron which they will defend against Ohio State Saturday. A new cover for the field arrived just in time to be spread out in anticipation of the rain promised in the weatherman's gloomy forecast. The greatest dedication crowd in Big Ten history is predicted, more than 85,000.

Only Ohio has broken this mark, in Red Grange's farewell to the western conference. As far as conference standing is involved the Illinois-Northwestern battle here Saturday overshadows all the other clashes for these are the only two unbeaten teams which meet. In all the other games at least one of the elevens has gone down to defeat, or else a non-conference foe is being entertained.

Ticket prices for Northwestern stadium seats have risen from $3 to $15 for the few that are in willing hands. A capacity crowd of 55,000 is assured. For fifteen years Northwestern has been unable to conquer Illinois, and has scored but one touchdown in all that time.

The biennial trek of the Buckeyes to Michigan began tonight, with 34 players in the official party. Gov. Vic Donahey of Ohio and five of his sons, will head the unofficial delegation.

A bit overshadowed by games of conference importance, the Chicago-Pennsylvania and Indiana-Notre Dame games would alone be among the season's best. It is the first appearance of Pennsylvania at Stagg field here, since the recent series in which the easterners won regularly. Chicago has surprised the Big Ten this year with two straight victories and there may be further surprises in store for Pennsylvania. Indiana has already held one great team to a draw, the Minnesota Warriors.

"Pest" Welch, who fumbled his Purdue team to defeat a week ago and could not quite make good his error, is still in the good graces of the Boilermakers, and will have a chance to redeem himself against Wisconsin Saturday. Iowa is in for a tough day, as Minnesota is determined to fulfill the early season predictions which pointed strongly to a conference championship for Captain Herb Joesting and his allies.

ON HIGH SCHOOL GRIDIRONS OVER THE WEEK END

Friday

Westerly at Chapman Tech.

Saturday

Warren Harding (Bridgeport) at N. F. A. (2:30 p. m.)
Hartford Public at Windham.
Stonington at Plainfield.
LaSalle academy (Providence) at Bulkeley.

The high school football season in this section reaches the halfway mark this week end with a fine card of games. This list is easily the most important to date this season and it is one that can also stand beside any of the entire season.

Practically every game has especial significance but the Harding-Academy and Hartford-Windham clashes of Saturday can be classed as headliners with local sentiment placing one above the other.

The Warren Harding-N. F. A. argument should be as good as any in the state and the same can be said of the game up in Willimantic.

But one defeat mars the work of the four teams named. That belongs to Harding and was administered two weeks ago by the strong Naugatuck outfit. Hartford, Windham and the Academy have yet to lose although Windham's slate is slightly colored by a scoreless tie. The Academy and Windham are the only unbeaten teams in eastern Conn.

Harding-N. F. A.

Harding will come here determined to get revenge on the locals for taking the baseball championship right from under their noses here last Memorial day. The Academy won four to three that day in the tilt that was recognized as for the state title. That was Harding's only defeat of the season and they sure felt it some. Although some of the star performers are missing from the 1926 Bridgeport grid machine nevertheless enough are left to rank it way up in state circles. They beat the Academy 15 to 0 last year on a couple of fumbles.

Hartford-Windham

At Windham this is the big home game of the year. Callaghan has been drilling his men hard for the expected strong Hartford outfit. Johnny Newell seems to have his best eleven in the last four or five years at Hartford and right now they are going fast. Windham lost last year in Hartford. It was their first loss in four year's regular play. Many of the Willimantic school's supporters claimed that poor officiating turned the trick so that this year it is reported that Springfield college men will be on hand.

The only game today, that of Westerly at New London should be plenty hard fought. These teams appear mighty evenly matched, at least their work against the Academy has shown that.

A strong Stonington team faces an improved and confident Plainfield team in the latter's stamping ground and anything's liable to happen.

Bulkeley of New London tackles LaSalle academy of Providence. Bulkeley has not scored to date in four games and it would not surprise any one to see them at least do that trick this week end.

If the dope does not get spilled the winners in these games should be Westerly, N. F. A., Windham, Stonington and LaSalle academy.

DARTMOUTH WORKS OUT IN SEA OF MUD

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 20—(AP)—The Dartmouth football squad qualified as "mudders" today. Wearing the long mud cleats the men worked out on a field that had been soaked by almost 48 hours of steady rain.

Coach Jesse Hawley drove the squad through a brief signal drill at top speed despite the perilous going underfoot. Later the coach expressed the opinion that the Indians looked as fast on a foggy gridiron as on a dry field.

Dartmouth will have a final drill tomorrow morning before entraining for Boston for their game with Harvard on Saturday. Under a new faculty rule which forbids the team to leave Hanover until the day before a game there will be no opportunity this year for a workout in the Harvard stadium before the game.

MIKE HALL SETS NEW RECORD AT LATONIA TRACK

LATONIA, Ky., Oct. 20—(AP)—Mike Hall, a Hall Price Hadley bay gelding sprinted to a new American track record for a mile and seventy yards in the fifth race here today.

Mike Hall finished a length ahead of Rolled Stocking in 1:40 3-5 a full second faster than the record of 1:41 3-5 held jointly in the official records by Pif Jr., and the Porter.

POLYDOR WINS AUTUMN DAY STAKES AT EMPIRE

NEW YORK, Oct 20—(AP)—The opening day's feature at the Empire City race track, the Autumn Day stakes for 2-year-old maidens carrying $3,500 in added money, went to Polydor, the odds on Favorite, today. Hildreth trailed four lengths behind to take the place with Daunt third. The five and one half furlongs were run in 1:08.

Max Hirsch, acting for the Sage stable, today sold Rip Rap to Mrs. L. Viau for the reported price of $15,000.

Inquisitor, a long shot, owned by Edward F. Whitney, captured the $1,500 Kent, two year old attraction at the Laurel plant. The victor won by a head from Eugene S. with Black Beetle third. Inquisitor paid $20.70 for a $2 play. The time for the mile dash was 1:42 1-5.

At the Arlington track ni Chicago, Up and Down took the fourth race, a $1,400 claiming event for three year olds and upwards at a mile and one-eighth. Indianapolis was second in front of John T. D. The time was 1:53 3-5.

HARVARD WORKS OUT IN CAGE WITH DUMMY DRILL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20—(AP)—A "probable" starting lineup for the Dartmouth game was seen in the make up of the Harvard varsity which ran through half an hour's signal drill in the rain today before coming indoors for dummy scrimmage in the cage against Dartmouth plays. Team A lined up with Strong and Lord, ends; Barrett and Captain Pratt, tackles; Parkinson and Simonds, guards; Bell, center; Burns, quarterback, Doneghy and Crosby, halfbacks, and Harper, fullback.

Barrett's presence at left tackle indicated that Clark, first string regular injured last week, was definitely out of the game. Doneghy in the backfield instead of Guarnaccia was taken to indicated that the Crimson's chief passing threat, also supposed to be injured, would be held in reserve, while Howie Burns' appearance as field general instead of the recently converted halfback French recalled last year's Crimson strategy when French was injected late in the game to be shaken loose five minutes, after his arrival for the winning touchdown.

PLAINFIELD TEAM IS GIVEN STIFF WORKOUT

The entire Plainfield squad was given a hard workout Thursday afternoon in final preparation for the Stonington game on Saturday. Although the team has improved fast since last Saturday's game with Putnam, there still remained a few rough spots both in the offense and defense to be ironed out, and Coach Mullen spent the entire afternoon in picking these out and correcting them, expressing himself after the practice as highly satisfied with the work of his men. A short scrimmage against team B, and a lot of work on forward pass defense was the order.

The team will enter the game minus the services of Royle, veteran right end, whose knee injury is still bothering him.

Although Stonington is considered the slight favorite, the Plainfield team is infected with a determination to win which will force their old rivals to the limit. Feeling runs high among the Plainfield supporters, and a record crowd is expected to throng the new field at the Community house.

RAIN CURTAILS YALE PRACTICE IN THE BOWL

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 20—(AP)—Another day of rain fallen on the already sodden turf in Yale bowl, coupled with "Tad" Jones' dread lest any further injuries cripple the Yale varsity for its battle against Army Saturday, caused the cancellation today of the already postponed final scrimmage session.

Coach Jones' natural fear of injuries was perhaps accentuated by word from the doctors that Duncan Cox's strained side, received in the Brown game, was worse than had been thought and that there was no assurance the regular fullback would be able to play Saturday.

Cox was in uniform, however, for a long signal drill and short dummy scrimmage which made up the day's work.

Tomorrow Army and Yale will work out in the bowl as a final preliminary to what many Yale men regard as their hardest test of the season.

ARMY-NAVY GAME IN 1928 AT FRANKLIN FIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Army-Navy football game, which takes place at the Polo grounds here this year, will be played in 1928 at Franklin field, Philadelphia, John Arthur Brown of the University of Pennsylvania Athletic association said today. Mr. Brown, who was here for a meeting of the American Rowing association declared alterations will be made increasing the capacity of Franklin field to 120,000 for the classic battle.

Philadelphia has been a popular city for the annual clash. From 1899 to 1912 it was held there without a break and the city was its scene again in 1914 and 1922. New York and Chicago alternated in playing host to the service teams the last three years.

INTERCLASS CROSS-COUNTRY RUN ON SATURDAY

An inter-class country run, something new, will be held Saturday afternoon at the Academy between the halves of the Harding football game. This sport, new to the athletic curriculum at the local school, it being now but in its second year, has made rapid strides and interest is at a high pitch.

Rivalry is very keen between the four classes at N. F. A., and some lively contests are expected along the route Saturday. The two middle classes seem to have most of the material in this line and it may that the school's championship will be fought out between these two. The uppermiddlers seem to have the edge to date although their experienced performers may go down in the face of the spirited challenge bound to be tossed up from the rest of the school.

Cornell-Syracuse Regatta

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—Cornell and Syracuse university will meet in a dual rowing regatta on Cayuga lake at Ithaca, next spring for the first time in 25 years. The event will be a feature of the Cornell spring day, May 26.

Toronto Beats Penn State

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 20—(AP)—Toronto defeated Penn State by 3 goals to 1 in an intercollegiate soccer match here today. The game was played under American rules.

RUBY BRADLEY IS GRANTED A DIVORCE

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 20—(AP)—Ruby Bradley of Holyoke, who under the name of "Dark Cloud" will contest Saturday night for the National Boxing association's recognition as world's flyweight champion, was granted a divorce in superior court here today from Beatrice Pool Bradley of New York. Bradley is to meet Pincus Silverberg of Ansonia, Conn., at Bridgeport in a 15-round bout.

Bradley proved a real entertainer n court today. When asked by Judge Henry T. Lummus if he fought for fun, he answered:—"No sir, not at all for fun—for money."

He then told the court how, upon returning from a fight, he found another man in his New York hotel room. "Did you fight him?" asked the judge.

"No sir, he was a heavyweight," replied Ruby with a grin.

DOLE SEES AGGIES WORK OUT FOR FIRST TIME

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 20.—Sumner A. Dole, head coach at Connecticut Agricultural college, paid a visit to the campus today to watch practice for the first time since football work got under way last month. Dole only a few days ago returned home from St. Joseph's hospital in Willimantic, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis in August.

Dole announced that he would probably resume his coaching duties in another week, when preparations could begin for the Rhode Island State and Boston college games, the last two encounters on the State college schedule. Dole had laid plans to make the trip to Manchester, N. H. this week to see the Aggie-New Hampshire game, but he has finally decided to take things easy for the next few days.

The Aggie squad will leave here tomorrow noon by bus and make the trip to Manchester, N. H. over the road, arriving at their destination tomorrow evening. Coach Alexander has not yet announced how many men will make the trip, but it seems likely that he will take at least two full elevens.

Connecticut's tentative lineup for the New Hampshire game, judging from the way the first eleven has lined up in practice this week, will probably see Howard Kennedy '28 and Seraphino Tombari '30 on the ends, Andy Sayers '29 and Ken Wilson '29 at the tackles, Marty Gilman '29 and Ed Colacurcio '29 at the guards, John Stangle '30 at center, Bill Knau, '29 or Gene Lamoreaux '30 at quarterback, Captain Willard Eddy '28 and Pop Williams '28 or Bob Groat '30 at the halves, and Ray Ryan '30 at fullback.

No Rest For Holy Cross

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The driving rain today failed to bring any rest for the members of the Holy Cross football squad. Instead of taking the team outdoors for light work, Coach Cleo O'Donnell chased the men up and down a mud smeared gridiron for more than two hours as he continued his efforts to get the team in high gear for the Catholic university game here Saturday. Much time was spent in drilling the new backfield on a forward passing defense. Announcement was made Dick Phelan would open as center against Catholic university in place of Captain Bob O'Connell.

Groh May Manage Charlotte Club.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Negotiations which may terminate in the signing of Heinie Groh, veteran third baseman who closed the 1927 season with the Pittsburgh Pirates, as manager of the Charlotte club of the South Atlantic league, were disclosed today by Felix Hayman, president of the club.

Groh is expected here Monday to confer with Hayman. The latter declined to divulge the price offered Groh but said he was prepared to pay the highest figure ever paid a Sally league manager.

M'TIGUE MAKES HIS PEACE WITH THE NATIONAL BOXING ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Mike McTigue, recently shorn of light heavyweight title recognition here by Tommy Loughran, today made his peace with the National Boxing association and paved the way for another "shot" at 175-pound honors.

McTigue's suspension by the N. B. A., for failure to fulfill a contract to box Larry Gaines at Toronto, was lifted by Thomas E. Donohue, president of the N. B. A., after the veteran boxer, through his manager, Jimmy Johnston, agreed to meet Gaines in the Canadian city, between November 10 and 20.

At the same time McTigue's challenge for a match with Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, recognized light heavyweight champion by the N. B. A., was accepted by President Donohue.

Paulino Before Commission Friday

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Whether the back injury, sustained by Paulino Uzcudun when he turned one flip-flop too many in training, is sufficient to prevent him from fighting Phil Scott, British heavyweight, at Madison Square Garden Nov. 4, will be determined tomorrow by the state athletic commission after receiving the special report of its examining physician.

Paulino was requested to apepar before the commission today for examination but when his board of managers reported he was confined to his bed and unable to make the trip from Summit, N. J., Dr. Joseph Bier, licensed boxing physician, was appointed to visit the Spaniard.

Illinois Approves McTigue-Walker Bout

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Assurance that the Mickey Walker-Mike McTigue bout would be held on November 1, was given today, when the Illinois state athletic commission approved the fight.

There has been some fear that the Illinois commission might interfere with Walker-McTigue contest because the National Boxing association had given Walker sixty days in which to defend his middleweight title against Tiger Flowers.

The commission, in explaining its action, stated that contracts for the Walker-McTigue bout were signed before the National association took action against the champion.

Paulino-Scott Bout Postponed

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The boxing show scheduled for Madison Square Garden November 4, and featuring Paulino Uzcudun, of Spain and Phil Scott, of England, rival heavyweights was definitely postponed today after a surgeon acting for the New York state athletic commission found Paulino suffering from "traumatic lumbago."

Paulino's board of managers, Scott's representative and Jess McMahon, matchmaker at the Garden, are to confer tomorrow to select another date.

As a substitute for the Paulino-Scott affair, Hilario Martinez of Spain was matched with Andy Divodi, Brooklyn welterweight, for the ten round feature event on Nov. 4.

The ten round bout between Leo Lomski, the Pacific coast battler and Yale Okun, which was to have served as the semi-final to the Paulino-Scott fracas, will be switched to whatever new date is assigned the heavies.

Negotiations are under way for Bruce Flowers of New Rochelle, to hook up with Joe Glick of New York, in a ten-rounder on the Nov. 4 card. Johnny Indresano, Boston welter, will clash with Clyde Hull of Texas in another ten on the same date.

Football Final

At Columbus: Clemson 20; South Carolina 0.

FOUR AMERICAN UNIV. PLAYERS ARE SUSPENDED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Running wild on the gridiron is all right, but off of it—that's another question, in the opinion of football mentors around the national capital.

Close on the heels of the suspension yesterday of three regulars of the Georgetown university team for infraction of training rules after the Syracuse game last Saturday, announcement was made today that Captain Tom Sawyer and three first string men on the American university eleven had been suspension for disobeying Coach Springston's lesson in behavior.

The four suspensions, which Springston indicated would be permanent, have so depleted the ranks of the American squad that it has been necessary to call off the game next Saturday with William and Mary. The team, playing only its second year in the school's history, is now down to 15 men, and use of many reserves will have to be resorted to in the four remaining games on its schedule.

WALLACE WILL FIGHT MANDELL FOR NOTHING

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, is so eager to get a shot at the world's lightweight championship that he wired Promoter Jim Mullen today, offering to fight Sammy Mandell, the title holder, for nothing.

Mullen, with a reputation for overpaying fighters, immediately accepted Wallace's offer. He may decide to use the Cleveland contender if he fails to close with Jimmy McLarnin, his first choice.

Mandell is under contract to defend his crown here Nov. 14. He will meet "Wildcat" Owens in a warmup bout at Tulsa, Okla., next Monday night.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED AT SATURDAY'S GAME

The Academy is now about ready for their important game with Warren Harding Saturday at the campus and preparations for a banner crowd are being made. The locals have been hit hard by Old Man Tough. Breaks so far this year with the result that the attendance has not been much over 2,000 which for a winning team is not so good.

However, with the attraction slated for Saturday it would not be surprising if the above figures were doubled. This is the second last home scholastic tilt that the locals have at present, the other game here being with Windham, Nov. 5th.

Dempsey To Pay Costs.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey was ordered by Federal Judge Runyon today to pay the costs of his unsuccessful attempt to have the case of Jack Kearns, his former manager, who is suing hit for $333,333.33, tried as an action-at-law before a jury.

Judge Runyon last week denied Dempsey's application and announced that the suit, which is based on an alleged contract would head the equity calendar next month. The court costs were estimated at $50.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Welker Cochran, 18.2 balkline billiard champion, tonight dropped the first block he has lost to Erich Hagenlacher in their 2,400 point eight block 18.1 exhibition match, 300 to 280, but maintained his aggregate lead by a score of 1780 to 1042. He won the afternoon block 300 to 34, clicking off 112 for the day's high run. The match closes tomorrow with an afternoon and evening block.

Reiselt Increases Lead.

N. F. A. Basketball Slate Complete.

The Academy's basketball schedule for the year is now showing signs of reaching completion. Manager Mace Goldblatt announced the additon of two more quintetes that will appear here, namely Deep River and Rockville highs. Although these schools are small in population nevertheless they always boast strong basketball teams.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

(By the Associated Press)

Princeton's football stalwarts outweigh Cornell nearly 15 pounds to the man for the battle at Ithaca Saturday. While the Tigers regulars average 185 pounds, the Cornell eleven, one of the lightest "Big Red" teams in history, has a mark of but 170 1-2. With four players still in their teens, Cornell also is slightly the younger. Both teams average less than 21 years of age.

"Swede" Oberlander, all-American fullback on the great Dartmouth football team of 1925, is arrayed on the side of the west for the intersectional duel between Ohio State and Princeton November 5, at Princeton. Studying medicine at Ohio State, Oberlander is helping Coach Wilce prime the Buckeyes for the Tiger fight. Princeton will have something to worry about if any of Oberlander's pupils toss the pigskin about the accuracy he displayed while at Dartmouth.

"Century" Milstead, whose football career carried him from little Wabash college in Indiana to Syracuse and finally to Yale where he blossomed forth as an All-American tackle in 1922, has joined the New York Giants of the National Professional Football league. Milstead goes into action Sunday against the Frankford Yellow Jackets led by Charlie Rogers, Pennsylvania scoring ace last year.

One touchdown in eight years—and that in a practice game—is the record of Captain Bob Reitsch of the Illinois football team. Always a center, he could be credited only with assists through four years of high schools and three of college until, in a recent scrimmage with the freshmen, he intercepted a pass and galloped ten yards for a touchdown.

Seeking new and warmer waters to conquer, Byron Summers, the San Francisco "flying fish" is migrating from New York where he recently swam around Manhattan Island to California. There he hopes to swim from Sacramento to San Francisco, a mere 122 miles down the Sacramento river.

Franklin F. Korell, republican, was elected congressman from the third Oregon district by a majority of 3,201 over Elton Watkins, democrat.

Mayor James J. Walker of New York, took sharp exception to testimony that brought his name into the census inquiry proceeding at Albany.

KAPLAN TO MAKE ANOTHER ATTEMPT

MERIDEN, Oct. 20—(AP)—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, retired featherweight champion, and Denny McMahon, his trainer, arrived home today to start one more climb back to the lightweight heights, from which Kaplan was so surprisingly and sensationally toppled by Jimmy McLarnin in Chicago, Tuesday night.

The first step in the come-back campaign will be taken at the New Haven Arena, Monday night, October 31, when Kaplan faces Mike Dundee, of Rock Island, Ill., in a 12-round bout at 135 pounds. McMahon stated definitely today that Kaplan would go through with the match, thereby effectually spiking reports that Kaplan, discouraged by his defeat when so close to a lightweight championship bout, had planned to retire from the ring.

McMahon declared that Kaplan was decisively beaten by McLarnin, but that he was far from satisfied with the local battler's condition Tuesday night. Kaplan weighed 136 pounds on the afternoon of the McLarnin bout, while his best fighting weight is acknowledged to be between 132 and 133 pounds. McMahon explained Kaplan was forced to forego intensive training for the McLarnin match because of an injured right hand, bruised in Kaplan's winning battle with Tommy Cello at New York two weeks ago.

New Type Delco-Light
Does Everything but Think!

Operates from battery on small loads. Automatically switches to power for heavier service. Uses smaller battery—thus costs less. Requires less fuel. Demands practically no attention. This amazing achievement the result of 15 years' research by Delco-Light engineers. Approved by General Motors after 7 years of gruelling field tests.

Now comes a new type Delco-Light Plant that astounds even those scientists and engineers who are in daily contact with the epoch-making achievements of electrical science.

When you see this amazing Delco-Light Plant, you will agree that it is a decade ahead of everything heretofore conceived by any manufacturer of farm electric plants.

Write—or 'phone—and get full information about this new achievement of Delco-Light and General Motors. Or call on me personally and see the evidence with your own eyes. And remember—if this newest model doesn't exactly suit your needs, there are many other Plants to choose from, now priced as low as $225. Don't wait. Write or 'phone or call today.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Peter Decides to Go Back

Suspicion plants within the mind
Distrust and doubts of every kind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit was badly upset. He couldn't think of anything but the handsome young rabbit he had heard about and the fact that little Mrs. Peter down in the dear Old Briar-patch appeared to be getting along very nicely without himself. In short, Peter was jealous. He wouldn't have admitted it. Goodness, no! But jealous people never will admit they are jealous.

Peter looked disreputable. You see, he hadn't taken care of himself up there in the Old Pasture. He had spent so much of his time running about recklessly and trying to forget little Mrs. Peter that he had neglected his personal appearance. But, then, Peter never was one to spend a great deal of time on his personal appearance. Presently now Peter began to fix himself up. There were burrs in his coat. He bit those out. The fact is, without really admitting it to himself, Peter was thinking about going back to the dear Old Briar-patch.

It was true that little Mrs. Peter had told him when he left that he needn't come back, and Peter hadn't intended to go back. No, sir, Peter hadn't intended to go back. He had said to himself that if Mrs. Peter wouldn't come with him he never intended to go back there. But now things were different. At that time he hadn't known that there was any handsome young rabbit about.

"The dear Old Briar-patch is rather big," said Peter, as he sat talking to himself. "I know Mrs. Peter's habits so well that I could stay in the dear Old Briar-patch and she not know anything about it. Yes, sir, I could keep out of her way. I believe I'll go down there and find out what is going on. I ought to be able to catch that fellow who's hanging around down there. If I do catch him he will be sorry he ever was born. Yes, sir, he'll be sorry he ever was born. I don't remember Fuzzy at all."

Fuzzy, you know, is the name that Peter calls little Mrs. Peter, who was Miss Fuzzytail. He went on with his toilet and when he found one burr that wouldn't come out easily he bit at it just as if it were that other rabbit. My, you wouldn't have known Peter Rabbit. All his good nature was gone.

"I'll go back there at dusk tonight," decided Peter. "I'll take care to keep out of Fuzzy's sight and I'll just watch. It is going to be moonlight tonight and that fellow will be sure to visit the dear Old Briar-patch."

Peter suddenly sat up very straight. A new and dreadful thought had hopped into his head. Perhaps that other rabbit was living in the dear Old Briar-patch, not just visiting it. "He may be living right there all the time," thought he. "He may be using my private little paths that I took so much pains to make and sitting in my favorite form. He may think the Old Briar-patch belongs to him. I guess the sooner I get over there and teach him a few things the better. I would start this very instant if it were broad daylight. Even at that, I am of more than half a mind to try it."

But, discovering Reddy Fox between him and the dear Old-Briar-patch, he decided he would wait

So worked up was Peter that he actually went down to the edge of the Old Pasture, but, discovering Reddy Fox between him and the dear Old Briar-patch, he decided he would wait. After all, if that stranger was over in the dear Old-Briar-patch he would be there later. There really was no hurry.

WESTERLY

FILLING STATION BURNED EARLY THURSDAY MORNING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 20—Mulberry Glen gas filling station and restaurant on the Boston Post road, near the road to Quonochontaug beach was destroyed by fire this morning about 1:30. The large fram building was unoccupied and the fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin. The loss amounted to about $6,000, partly covered by insurance.

The structure was erected about six years ago and was owned by Charles F. Brightman and Henry M. Brightman and during the past season was leased by John H. Gordon, of Newton, Mass., having been closed last Sunday. It was planned to move the structure to a new site between the two roads leading to Quonochontaug beach where a new foundation was to be constructed.

Mrs. H. M. Jacobs of the Brightman family discovered the fire and the Westerly fire department was called by telephone. Chief George E. Egger, and men, took the Seagraves pumper to the place when the contents of the 40-gallon tank was insufficient to put out the flames at the rear of the building. For want of a place to use a suction pipe the fire consumed the building. A player-piano of the Brunswick shop, Carl V. Brucker of Westerly, was among the property destroyed.

The following transfer has been recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk:

Oct. 17. Ernest E. Rogers of New London to Louis J. Rossie and Angelo Mataresc, two tracts of land, the first bounded northerly by a right of way or pass, easterly and southeasterly by land of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and by Friendship street, southerly by the following second tract of land and westerly by a proposed street, containing approximately 29,000 square feet. Second tract of land adjoining the first, extending 100 feet along Friendship street and 102 feet northwesterly to a proposed street, containing approximately 11,200 square feet. The land was subject to a lease of Theodore D. Picard.

The Westerly police were warned Wednesday night to be on the lookout for four boys who had run away from their homes in Quincy, Mass., and were reported on their way to New York. Two of the four boys were found by the police of Wakefield, R. I., but the two other boys were successful in eluding the police there. As described by the Quincy, Mass., police, the missing boys were Albert Mignault, 14, weight 110 pounds, height 5 feet 6 inches, had a cap, sweater and suede jacket. Albert Ocin, 14, would be thought 17, height 5 feet 8 inches, had a dark gray hat and sweater.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary S. Casey, widow of Maurice Casey, were held at 8.30 o'clock Thursday morning from her home, 112 Liberty street. At 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. J. F. X. Quinn at St. Michael's church, a large number of relatives and friends attending. The committal service at St. Michael's (new) cemetery in Pawcatuck, was also conducted by Fr. Quinn. The bearers were grandsons, Timothy J. Connors, Maurice L. Connors, Francis J. Connors, Charles W. Connors, and Edwin R. Connors, and a cousin from Norwich, Brendon Sullivan.

At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at her home, 3 1-2 Granite street, funeral services were held for Mrs. Adelle Graves Watrous, widow of Samuel D. Watrous. Rev. Arnt L. Schoning, pastor of the Broad Street Christian church of Westerly and Rev. John G. Dutton of Agawam, Mass., a fomer pastor, officiated. There were beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were: Hiram W. Barber, Everett E. Whipple, Clifford W. Campbell, Everett Barns, Samuel Girvin and Edward L. Gavitt. Burial was in River Bend cemetery."

The funeral of Mrs. Rose Farrell Taylor, 49, wife of Herbert E. Taylor, who died Monday in Fall River, Mass., was held Wednesday morning from her home, 781 North Main street, Fall River. Rve. Father Lyons, rector of St. Joseph's church, celebrated the mass in that church. Burial was at River Bend cemetery upon the arrival of the automobile cortege from Fall River. Rev. Fr. Vincent of the Church of the Immaculate Conception read the prayers at the grave. There were beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were Hugh McGraw, Joseph Griffin, William Gilbin, Jerry Coden, Thomas Kerrigan and Alphonse Hargraves.

Miss Winifred Fitzgerald, daughter of Mrs. David Fitzgerald, of Norwich, and Thomas Blanchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blanchard of the North Stonington road, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the parsonage of the Congregational church in Mystic. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a party of relatives and friends by Rev. Frederick G. Chutter. Following the ceremony, the wedding party returned to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs., E. Blanchard, on the North Stonington road, where dinner was served at 5 o'clock. The couple left at 8:30 that night on a short wedding trip. They will visit for a few days with relatives in West Barrington. Upon their return, they will make their home at the corner of Hobart and John streets.

NOANK

The final checker match between the two fire companies, Montville and Noank has been held. The smoke-eaters squad was Rollin Rathbun and A. Brocky, while the two tall laddermen, Doc Brenner and Earl Basshaw were the pride of the Montville hose company. Wednesday evening in a sedan the men, trying to win the championship for the village fire company were bound for the paper mill village of Montville They were followed by 25 firemen to act as cheering squad and arrived at 8 o'clock. The room was all decorated with red lanterns. Long Range Rathbun of the village was picked to play his old rival Keen Eye Brenner. The large room was crowded to see them in action. Brenner won the first game by a close score. The second match was a tie leaving Brenner one game to the good. The Montville cheering section went wild enough to make the shingles leave the roof. The Smoke Eaters' last chance to win was when Brocky and his mate Never-Give-Up Basshaw met. The cheering section for the firemen had a chance to cheer when Brocky won the first match. Their cry was "Give him the heavy oil!" The second match Basshaw got his glasses on right and his rival never got a king. Then the boys were off again making it a tie, going into the last match with fire in their eyes. It was some match to watch, both playing tight. Basshaw got only one move. Then Brocky played and won the checker championship of the two towns. The losers gave them a hand shake and applause. Steward G. Bloomer served a squab-stew with cake, cookies and coffee. Dancing followed to music by Montville Firemen's orchestra. It was a real night for the paper mill village firemen.

The season is about over for the lobstermen and was not a success for many while others struck it lucky and might have had a rabbit's foot in their pocket. Some of the lobster men who have been at it for 30 years think that the lobsters have left the Race at Fishers' Island and have gone to other places down around Newport. The weather was bad all summer which might have had something to do with it.

Lots of pots and gears were lost where big steamers and tug boats ran into them and cut them off and down to the bottom the pots went. Every day now the lobster fleet is bringing in their pots until next spring. By the end of the week the season will be closed and their boats hauled out for the winter. The corner store crewd will hear about the lobsters each evening and how rich or poor they got.

DIVERSIFY OR SPECIALIZE

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

Diversify?
Or Specialize?

Sooner or later that question comes before every worker in every department of human activity.

Shall he spread out his efforts in several directions or shall he confine them all to one straight and rigid line?

Shall he send his ships to different ports to collect differing cargoes, or shall he keep them all plying between the same two harbors, carrying always the same goods?

Shall he put out anchors to windward so that, if the one at the bow drags, there will still be a chance of the others holding?

In familiar words, Shall he put his eggs all in one basket? Or divide them between several so that, if one is smashed, the others may get through whole?

This debate is quite as elemental in farming as it is in any other vocation. There is nothing new about it. For generations there have been advocates of diversified farming, and for quite as long there have been proponents of farm specialization. They have both had much to say, for the entirely adequate reason that there is plenty to be said o' both sides.

T. B. Terry, in the course of 25 years or less, transformed a 50-acre Ohio farm so worn out and worthless that no one would take it as a gift into what the state agricultural society repeatedly medalized as "the best managed and most productive farm" in the state. He did it by specializing on potatoes. He also raised wheat and clover. But both were subsidiary and tributary to potatoes. He found that potatoes did best with him, on a clover sward turned under. So he sowed clover. He found, too, that clover needed a "nurse" crop to protect it when young. So he sowed wheat. Incidentally, he sold some wheat and fed out some clover. But that wasn't his main object. He wanted potatoes. The wheat and clover were simply aids to potato production. He certainly made good by specializing. He carried the idea so far that he didn't even keep a cow or a pig or a hen. He regarded that, by giving his entire attention to the production of big yields of fancy potatoes, he got money enough to buy all the butter and eggs and pork he needed for less than they might have cost him to produce if he had been compelled to fritter away time on a dairy and a poultry-yard and a piggery.

Such a demonstration as Terry gave of the economic value of specialization is not to be pooh-poohed away. It affords fairly conclusive proof that, for him, on his farm, with his markets, specialization was "good business."

But there are other farms, under differing conditions and with unlike markets. We are scarcely justified in saying that what was wisdom for him might not be folly for some one else. While it may be granted that "what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," it doesn't follow that goose-gravy would be a desirable dressing on ice-cream. Circumstances alter cases.

I used to have three neighbors, all engaged in potato-growing for the city market. For a time they made big money at it. Gradually, however, as the bugs grew more and more troublesome and the blights more and more destructive, and the cost of labor and fungicides and fertilizers went up, their profits dwindled. They had raised potatoes and practically nothing else for a generation. When potato-growing brought loss instead of profit, they had no dairying or orcharding or hay and grain raising experience to fall back on. Their sole prop fell out from under them and they tumbled. All three have sold their farms for anything they could get and are now working in city shops and factories.

Such an experience as that is no more to be pooh-poohed away than Terry's quite different one.

It reminds me of the old darkey song about the different roads:

"Oh, some goes east 'nd some goes wes',
You takes de one you likes de bes.'
'Nd you'll wish you'd made your choice uv any uv de res'!"

The tendency of the times in law and medicine and surgery and the constructive arts is towards specialization. One would have to be blind not to see this.

One lawyer devotes himself to corporation counselling, another to criminal practice, another to torts, and each comes to be an accepted authority in his line.

One surgeon confines himself to dental work, another makes a specialty of eye and ear troubles, another gives particular attention to major abdominal operations, and again each becomes an accepted authority in his line.

One doctor treats nervous diseases, another gives particular attention to digestive disorders, another specializes on ills of the respiratory system, and again each becomes an accepted authority.

So in the world of constructive art: The watchmaker sticks to watches and does not try to be, also, a blacksmith; the carpenter erects houses but does not compete with the cabinet-maker in contriving furniture; the gifted violinist doesn't, usually, also toot the saxophone or pound the bass drum.

If we farmers fell into the prevailing fashion and followed it, we'd all give up general farming and become variously orchardists or dairymen or potato-growers or hen-fanciers, or truck gardeners or wheat raisers or alfalfa cranks,—specialists in some one form of agricultural production.

Which might be all very nice till some year happened along when the orchards didn't bear, or the cows all were condemned as tuberculous, or the potatoes unanimously rotted in their hills, or the price of eggs went below zero while the cost of hen-feed rose above fever-heat,—or something else occurred to knock our specialty galley-west and flatten our pocketbooks as if a road-roller had run over them.

There's one big difference between farming and most other callings:—Farming has to be done out-doors, in dependence on the weather, and subject to unforeseeable and uncontrollable contingencies. The doctor and the lawyer and the surgeon and the watchmaker and the blacksmith and the cabinet-maker and most other workers labor under roofs where temperature and humidity can be controlled and from which weather changes are shut out. They rely for their success chiefly upon their own knowledge and skill, not upon outside conditions. They do not, like the orchardist, have to depend on insects to pollenize their buds; nor, like the wheat-grower, on the absence of the Hessian fly or the army worm to ensure their crop; nor, like the potato-grower, upon his ability to kill off the beetles and his luck in escaping the blights; nor, like the dairyman, on the dogmatic dictum of some sprig from a veterinary school to tell him whether his cud-chewers are healthy or tuberculous.

In other words, where the followers of other vocations are, as a rule, capable of controlling the conditions under which they work and, thereby, the quality of their output, the farmer is compelled to face, every season, scores of utterly unforeseeable emergencies, most of which, even if he could foresee them, he could no more control than a summer hail storm.

The average non-farming worker is like a man in a shop beside a dammed and controlled river. When he wants power he turns on the water; when he is through with his job he shuts it off. The average farmer, on the other hand, is more like King Canute on the ocean shore at low tide; it makes small difference how much he may say about it or do about it, the tide will come in, whether or no. And he can no more stop it or hinder it or regulate it than Canute could the Atlantic ocean. If his dinner is all spread out on a cloth at the sea margin, an extra big roller is liable to sweep it out to the fishes any minute. His only chance of getting something to eat, that day will consist in his having a reserve store back somewhere on higher and drier ground. And that he can't have if he puts everything in one heap at low water mark.

It is probable that, when everything goes right and nothing unforeseen happens, the farmer specialist makes more money,—if he has wisely chosen his specialty. It is quite as probable that, when things go wrong and uncontrollable outside forces play havoc with his best laid plans, he comes nearer bankruptcy and the county house.

The gambler who puts all his money on one horse may win a big stake if that horse comes in ahead. He may, also, lose everything he has wagered if that horse is distanced. If he divides his bets among several horses, he doubtless can't win so much, in any case. It is quite as sure that he will lose less. Some one of them will win, even if the favorite doesn't.

Diversified farming is simply another form of insurance. You insure your barn and pay a goodly sum every year to keep the insurance valid. We'll suppose that your barn never burns. In that case you've spent your premiums for nothing. But, suppose the unexpected happens and it does burn. Then you get back all you've paid in premiums and enough more to help mightily in building a new barn.

You put all your available land into one crop. Everything comes your way. The stars in their courses seem to fight for you. The yield is big, the quality first-class, the market-price is well up. You gather in the shekels and tell the Institute or the grange what a money-making proposition specialty farming is.

But suppose things had gone differently that season. Your crop had slumped into failure. There had been rain when it wanted dry weather. It had been cold and cloudy and sour when the crop wanted sunshine. There had been late spring and early fall frosts. And bugs and slugs and blights had camped out on your fields. That would have been different, eh? That would have been a horse of another color?

Wouldn't you have wished in those circumstances that, instead of having put in just one sort of crop, you had "hedged" on two or three others which might have done well under the very conditions which were ruinous to your favorite?

It is unquestionably true that the man with two many irons in the fire is likely to burn some of them. It is just as true that the man with only one string to his bow is likely to go home gameless when the string breaks.

It's safer and surer to have one or two spare strings in your pocket.

POTATO GROWING SHARPS PLEASE EXPLAIN THIS

There is a great difference in the crop of potatoes being harvested by local growers. In most instances the crop was far below normal. Summer blight caused the vines to die early, even where there were several sprayings. Rot has been very prevalent in some fields, only five to ten bushels being harvested per bushel planted. There is an exception in the harvesting of Earl B. Geer's potatoes. Mr. Geer planted a good share of his acreage with his own seed potatoes raised by him the year before. He planted them on heavy ground, water standing on this piece a good deal of the time during the past rainy season. They were only sprayed with arsenate of lead for killing the bugs, no spraying for blight. He has commenced to harvest them and is going to get a bumper crop—large, a good many in the hill and very little rot. Can the experts on potato growing figure this out—Why Mr. Geer under such unfavorable conditions is harvesting such a crop of spuds.

STOCK PRICES CONTINUE TO DROP IN RESPONSE TO FLOOD OF SELLING ORDERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—Further weakness of the stock market today in the face of a 3 1-2 per cent call money rate on the exchange and 4 1-4 per cent "outside", was widely accepted as proof of an impaired technical position. Selling orders, which were distributed over an unusually broad list and brought about many 1 to 6 point declines, were believed to be inspired by the poor third quarter earnings reports now being published.

Speculative sentiment was disturbed by the persistent liquidation of a number of so-called investment shares, such as American Telephone, United States Steel common, Woolworth, General Electric, Atchison, Canadian Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio, all of which sold off 2 to 4 points. A further falling off in freight car loading, compared with the corresponding period last year, also was a bearish factor. One of the few bright spots was the excellent Hudson Motors report, but this apparently had been discounted as the stock closed practically unchanged on the day.

A rather thin market was apparent for some of the high-priced issues, particularly the bank stocks, a number of which sold off 5 to 15 points in odd-lot trading. Commercial Solvents broke 10 points to a new low at 161, but recovered nearly half of its loss. American Express, American Machine & Foundry, Case Threshing, Dupont, and Frank G. Shattuck dropped 4 points or more, bringing them 10 to 40 points below their recent highs.

Despite the sharp reaction which has taken place in the last few days, the Federal Reserve report on brokers' loans for the week ended Oct. 19 showed an increase of $39,817,000, bringing the total to a new high record of $3,424,107,000, or $778,989,000 above that of the corresponding week last year. There was no change in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate of 3 1-2 per cent. Time money rates held steady but prime commercial paper rates were slightly firmer, being quoted at 4 1-4 per cent instead of 4 3-4 to 4.

Further liquidation of the motors today was associated with fears of Ford competition. Continental and Hupp Motors sank to new low levels for the year and the Dodge Bros. issues duplicated the lows. General Motors opened at 132 3-4, advanced to 133 5-8, dropped to 130 1-4 and rallied to 130 7-8 off 3 1-4 net. U. S. Steel common got down to 140 1-4 or 20 points below the year's high established a few weeks ago.

New lows for the year, or longer, were established by American Beet Sugar common and preferred, American Sugar Refining, Punta Alegre, Pillsbury Flour and American Ice.

There were a few outstanding strong spots in the industrial group. American Tobacco issues soared nearly 10 points to new high records and Christie Brown, Philadelphia company and International Silver also sold at the year's best prices.

Kansas City Southern reported better September earnings than a year ago, but Erie, and "Nickel Plate" did not do as well. Heavy buying of Southern Pacific, which advanced 3 points to 124 3-4, or within a point of the year's high, was one of the few features in the rail group, most shares in which lost a point or two.

With the exception of coffee, which advanced 20 to 33 points, most of the leading commodity markets lost ground. Wheat lost nearly 2 cents a bushel on reports of favorable weather and the continued lack of export demand, all options touching new low levels for the season. Cotton dropped about $2.50 a bale on disappointing Liverpool cables and southern selling.

The return of the sterling rate to the year's high of $4.87 7-32 for cables and a jump of nearly 10 points in Japanese yen to just below 46 1-2 cents, divided speculative interest in the foreign exchange market.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

First Man—Ever been married?
Second Man—Yes. I've been through it from courtship to courthouse.—Boston Transcript.

What is the matter? You answer every question put to you with another question.
Do I really? — Nebelspalter, Zurich.

Mingelgrun—I have lost my biggest creditor today.
Kohn—Has he died?
Mingelgrun—No; I was forced to pay him.—Vancouver Province.

Congratulate me, George, I am engaged to a beautiful woman and an intelligent one.
George—Sounds like premeditated bigamy to me.—Tit-Bits, London.

He—It's much the same. Only down there the men wear little clothes.—Detroit News.

Young Thing—I have brought this book back; mother says it isn't fit for me to read.
Librarian—I think your mother must be mistaken.
Young Thing—Oh, no, she isn't. I've read it all through.—Life.

Burke—You say your car stalled right on the tracks in front of a fast train? How did you escape being hit?
Johnson—Luckily I think quickly. I simply threw a lighted match in the gas tank and blew myself across.—Pathfinder.

"What is a statesman?" asked the school inspector of 5-year old Freda.
"A man who goes about making speeches," answered the little girl.
"Fair, but not quite correct," said the inspector. "I myself sometimes make speeches, but I am not a statesman."
"I know," returned Freda, smiling brightly; "a statesman is a man who makes good speeches!"—Answers, London.

KALEIDOSCOPE

One-fourth of the women in the United States are gainfully employed.

A giant war airplane which can carry 2,000 pounds of explosives for bombing has been completed for the U. S. army.

The babies added to the population of the United States each year represent more than $19,000,000,000 in potential value to the nation.

Soils are generally grouped as sand, clay and loam, sand being chiefly coarse material, clay chiefly fine material, and loam a mixture.

An instrument lately devised makes it possible to measure color with high accuracy, and to write exact specifications for duplication of colors.

A house-to-house canvasser went the rounds at Memphis, Tenn., drumming up business to put himself out of business. Going from door to door, he offered enameled signs for sale. On each was inscribed: "Peddlers keep out."

The record for continuous sleep is believed to be held by a land snail owned by Walter F. Webb, of Rochester, N. Y. This little mollusk, says Science Service, has remained dormant for 30 years, with the exception of one summer when Mr. Webb gave it the right conditions for becoming active.

Earthworms can't see red light, asserted W. R. Walton of the bureau of entomology, United States department of agriculture. Mr. Walton has been trying the effects of various colors of light on these unorthodox, but effective trout baits. They are very sensitive to blue light and other parts of the upper end of the spectrum, but when red light is turned on them they continue their work of dragging food into their burrows, quite as though they were still concealed by their congenial darkness.

Brewing beer was a respectable household task among families along the Tigris and Euphrates rivers 9,000 years ago. Evidence of this high antiquity of the craft of brewing and its place in ancient social systems of Babylonia and Egypt has been traced by German scientists of the Society of History and Bibliography of Brewing. There were laws about drinking in those days, the report shows. Certain rations of beer were allowed to each class of workers. Beer was also used in mixing medicines, and as an offering to the gods. Brewing was an organized business as early as 5,000 B. C., it is stated.

A new type of violin bow, or rather a rediscovery of a very old type, which permits the playing of four-part music on a single instrument, has recently been demonstrated in Berlin by a widely-known virtuoso, Herman Berkowski. The bow is deeply curved instead of straight, as in the usual form, and the strings are left very loose. It resembles the bows shown in medieval pictures of performers on the ancient Celtic chrotta or crowth, the ancestor of the violin. It is said that the new bow makes possible the rendition of early violin scores, which have hitherto been riddles to present-day performers because they called for the simultaneous reaching of strings impossible to the straight bow.

NEW LONDON CITY MANAGER GETS FACTS IN CASE OF PATROLMAN WELLS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 20—City Manager William A. Holt today received the formal charge of conduct unbecoming an officer, made by Captain Charles A. Pinney against Patrolman Clarence Wells, and all data connected with the charge, including abstracts from the investigation conducted by Sergeant Nelson Smith and John Cavanaugh, who were instructed to make a check-up of the conduct of the officer the past few months. The investigation was ordered following it becoming known that Officer Wells had been on friendly terms with Hannah S. Frederickson, former Lawrence-Memorial hospital nurse, who died of septic poisoning following a criminal operation at Rhode Island State hospital, Providence two weeks ago. With the charge and data in the hands of the city manager, that official today has been closeted practically the entire day with Sergeants Smith, Cavanaugh and William Babcock, Captain Pinney and Director of Law Thomas E. Troland. Each of the officers and the city's counselor was in conference with City Manager Holt over an hour, some of them nearly two hours. City Manager Holt has not made it known when the hearing will be held to give Wells an opportunity to explain his relations with the former nurse and if possible, to refute the charge, but it is believed that the date will be assigned within the next 48 hours. It is possible that the hearing will take place either next Tuesday or Wednesday. It is the general belief that Wells cannot be implicated in the performance of the abortion, but whether the alleged intimacy of the officer with Miss Frederickson will be sufficient to bring about Officer Wells' further suspension remains to be determined.

WOMAN, CHICKEN-HEARTED, GETS PEEPING TOM FREED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 20—Mrs. Minnie Vallette, 47 Linden street, made complaint to the police early this morning that a "Peeping Tom" had been detected peering into one of the windows of her home. Mrs. Vallette said that the fellow was found at the window at 12.15 o'clock and that he had gone to the street and disappeared into Montauk avenue. Patrolmen Braxton Hill and Cornelius Moriarty went to Montauk avenue, but did not find the peeper. The officers had hardly returned to headquarters before Mrs. Vallette again sent a telephone message stating that the peeper had returned and was then in the yard. The officers went to Linden street and when they reached there two of Mrs. Vallette's neighbors, who had been summoned when the peeper made the second visit to the window, had the peeper in their clutches and were holding him for the officers. The peeper was taken to the Vallette home but it then developed that Mrs. Vallette refused to press a charge against the man for she said that she would not appear against him as a witness. If he was presented in the police court.

The Pequot Realty company has sold two building lots on Worthington road to Henry Holt and Lucille Cole Smith.

Ann T. Cobb has sold a house and lot on Thames street to Lorraine W. Cohrs.

William Barnes and John Travis, members of the crew of the United States Coast Guard destroyer Wilkes, went to the Lyceum theatre last night and witnessed a series of boxing bouts. They should have been on the card for the entertainment of the sporting fraternity, for after the show the two sailors engaged in a fight. They were arrested and today in the police court each was fined $10 but execution of the sentence was suspended. Barns and Travis engaged in a heated quarrel when the bouts had been concluded and to settle their dispute they went to the approach of the stage entrance and went at each other in a vigorous two-handed attack. Their battle was being witnessed by a large crowd when Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman John Clifford arrested the pair.

Helen Andros, 18, of 9 Dean street, who claims to be a saleslady, was presented on a charge of lascivious carriage. She was not penalized, for judgment was suspended and she was turned over to Policewoman Jane Cassidy, who will see to it that the young woman leaves the city. The woman was arrested last night by Patrolman William Manice, who found her in the company of various men.

Dorothy Lewis Bowser, colored, of 211 North Bank street, wife of James Bowser, was charged with breach of the peace. She has a long police court record and was sentenced to six months in jail. Mrs. Bowser was arrested last night upon complaint of her husband. The pair engaged in a fight at their home and when it became serious, Bowser sought the arrest of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Darrow of Ocean avenue and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Guest, Cleveland street, are spending several weeks at Del Monte, Cal.

The funeral service for Mrs. Leah Santos, widow of John Saunders of 22 Willetta avenue, was held at 10 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's church, a high mass of requiem being sung by Rev. William J. Fox, pastor of Sacred Heart church, Groton. As a waiting hymn, Edward F. Murray sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." The bearers were Philip Goodwin, Ernest Saunders, Alfred Brewster, Ernest Geer, William Glynn and Ira Rathbun. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Albina Atwood, wife of Edwin C. Atwood, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's church, the mass of requiem being sung by Rev. William C. Fitzsimmons. The bearers were Edward, Rudolph and Helmedos Lambert, Frederick Atwood, Walter Matthews and Alphonse Martin, Jr. The body was taken to Dayville for burial this afternoon in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret A. Damas, widow of former Patrolman Joseph F. Damas, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large assemblage of mourners. In the solemn mass of requiem Rev. Raymond J. O'Clalahan was celebrant with Rev. Michael Reagan deacon and Rev. George Clark sub-deacon. The bearers were James Turner, James Cleary, Donald Corcoran, John Turner, John Fahey and Bernard Cullen. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Milton Miller of 13 Tilley street, was arrested last night when Mrs. Miller requested the assistance of the police in calming the man, who, Mrs. Miller said was demented. Patrolmen Braxton Hill and Cornelius Moriarty went to Miller's residence and found Miller suffering from mental trouble. He was taken to police headquarters and City Physician George P. Cheney, who examined Miller ordered him taken to Norwich state hospital for observation.

Joseph Grannis, United States coast guard, member of the crew of the destroyer Trippe, state pier, went to police headquarters last night and left a lady's handbag, which he had found on the approach to the Thames river highway bridge.

Mrs. William Bosworth of 126 Mohegan avenue, informed the police last night that a huge cable reel was on the sidewalk at the corner of Mohegan avenue and Williams street and that boys had been rolling the reel along the walk. Mrs. Bosworth suggested that the company employing the men in charge of the reel remove it from the walk for she said that if the youths started the reel in motion down the grade of Williams street pedestrians or autoists might be injured.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles R. B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the driver's license of John D. Teevens, an employe of the Maytag Washing Machine company. Teevens was fined $100 and costs recently in the police court for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Joel L. Gleason of the submarine base, who was accused yesterday by R. L. Coursey, United States coast guard, state pier, of stealing the latter's watch from the locker room conducted by Nathan Pumerants, Green street, Saturday night, went to police headquarters today and denied all knowledge of the theft. Gleason said that he was in the locker room when Coursey entered and that the latter was intoxicated, so much so that he assisted Coursey to a bench. Gleason also said that he did not see the watch.

Kenneth Austin, 14, a runaway boy from New Haven, was arrested last night by Patrolman William Manice, when he discovered the youth wandering about the streets. Upon questioning the lad it was revealed that he had run away from home and was without funds. He was given into the custody of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield and was provided with transportation to New Haven.

ELECTION EXPENSES FILED— NONE OF THEM VERY HEAVY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 20—Three candidates for election to member of council at the recent city election have filed their list of expenses, as provided by law, at the office of the city clerk. Cornelius D. Twomey, one of the successful candidates expended the largest amount, $49.40. Mr. Twomey spent the most money of the three candidates, but Mayor James A. May was a close second, with an expenditure of $42.50. Thomas J. Ealahan, the third candidate and one of those defeated, spent $32. Lucius E. Whiton, another and successful candidate, has not filed his list of expenses, although the time limit in which to do so, expired the 12th inst. Michael Rollo, another unsuccessful candidate expended $35. Mrs. Rosemary O. Anderson, Philip Z. Hankey and Mrs. Ellen C. Kelley, elected to the office of board of school visitors, by their lists, show that they did not make any expenditure.

Corporal L. M. Leeman, U. S. A., arrived in New London from New York tonight with a deserter. The prisoner was taken to police headquarters and locked up for the night and tomorrow will be taken to Fort Wright where he will be given a court martial.

Pasquale Caponi, of Groton, was arrested this afternoon by Patrolman William Riordan charged with violation of the city's parking laws and was ordered to appear in the police court tomorrow. Caponi parked his automobile in front of the Crown theater, State street, which location is restricted.

Mrs. William Bauer, 119 Thames street, made complaint to the police today that last night the hennery at the rear of her residence was entered and that several chickens were stolen. Mrs. Bauer did not report the theft until about 12 hours after it occurred so there is not much chance that the thief will be arrested. However, Motorcycle Officer Clarence Martin was assigned to the case.

An automobile owned by N. G. Bastista, United States Coast Guard academy, was damaged last night because of the carlessness of an employe of the Southern New England Telephone company. A huge cable reel that had contained wire, but which had been relieved of its load, was left on the sidewalk, corner of Mohegan avenue and Williams streets and youths started the reel in motion. It rolled down the grade of Williams street and crashed against the automobile of Bastista, which was parked beside the curb. The automobile was damaged.

G. C. Denny, of 21 Squire street, made complaint to the police tonight that the driver of an automobile carrying Connecticut registration, 44719 had collided with and damaged his car and that when the driver was requested by Denny to display his driver's license, the demand was refused. Denny asked for the arrest of the motorist for reckless driving. An hour after making the complaint, Denny went to police headquarters and withdrew the charge.

Last night Mrs. William Guerin gave a report of the state convention of the Catholic Ladies of Columbus, which she attended recently in New Haven, before a good sized gathering of the members of Joynt assembly in the club rooms. After Mrs. Guerin's report a social hour was enjoyed.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the return of the driver's license of William J. Lawn, 65 Jay street; also ordered the license of Charles F. Hall, 15 Orchard street suspended. Hall is employed by the city of New London as driver of a five-ton garbage collecting truck. The truck ran over and fatally injured Hector Charron, of Shaw street, a week ago Wednesday, Charron succumbing to extensive injuries at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital.

An automobile driven by Alexander Skandarian, 145 Ashcraft road, crashed through one of the large plate glass windows of the bakery of Emil Seifert, 225 Bank street, this afternoon. The machine was damaged, but Skandarian escaped injury. Skandarian was driving at a moderate rate of speed and when in front of the bakery, the automobile skidded on the slippery pavement. Skandarian attempted to bring the auto to a stop by applying the brakes forcibly and in doing so, the auto got beyond control of the driver and climbing upon the sidewalk, plunged against the window.

Arthur S. Fox, former Brown university athlete and now baseball coach at Williams college, had a narrow escape from death yesterday while on his way to New London to visit his wife, who is a patient at Home Memorial hospital, having given birth to a child a day or two ago. Mr. Fox's automobile overturned in Williamstown, Mass., and was badly damaged, but the driver escaped injury other than a few minor bruises. Mr. Fox arrived here late yesterday afternoon.

Stick-to-it-iveness

All hail to the persistent man,
Who's always slow to quit.
Who hates to leave a task begun
Till he has finished it!
Whose idea is that obstacles
Just mean a harder fight,
And never thinks a thing is done
Till he has done it right!

Who always does as best he can
What he sets out to do,
And uses all his strength to push
The undertaking through;
Who's always eager to work on
Until the job's complete,
And never thinks of giving up,
Acknowledging defeat.

Who doesn't know discouragement
Or look for Fate to send,
While he lets up, some powerful aid
To help him gain his end;
And who is satisfied to think,
When he lies down to rest,
That if at last he hasn't won,
At least he's done his best!

OCTOBER RAINS GIVING CITY GOOD WATER SUPPLY IN ITS RESERVOIRS

October rains so far are doing a generous part towards insuring the city a good water supply in its two reservoirs as the winter season approaches, for the total rainfall to date this month is already more than two inches above the average October rainfall, according to the records kept for 56 years by the city water department.

In the month of October last year the rainfall was 2.30 inches. The average for the 56 year period is 3.67 inches for the month of October, but at the present time there has been a total of 5.73 inches recorded for October this year, and the prospects seem to be that this month will make a new high mark for the water department records.

Several very heavy storms have contributed towards this result and these have been further augmented by a number of lighter rains. Wednesday morning there was a sudden but short heavy downpour which gave .45 of an inch measurement and Thursday it rained again with the result that .93 of an inch was recorded up to the middle of the afternoon. Something more will be added by more rain that came on late in the afternoon and continued through part of the night.

As a result of this plentiful precipitation, Fairview reservoir is 72 inches below full pond measurement, and Stony Brook reservoir, which has been partially shut off, is 9 inches above the old full pond mark.

TEXAS COMPANY DEALERS HELD SALES MEETING

The Texas company dealers of Norwich and vicinity held a get-together sales meeting Wednesday evening at Fritz Rimck's inn on the river road in the town of Lisbon. A. F. Ward, district sales manager, spoke on the purpose of the meeting which was to acquaint the dealers with the gigantic advertising campaign to be launched by the company in the very near future in all the larger national magazines and local newspapers featuring the new and better Texaco gasoline and new gold golden Texaco motor oil. J. F. McLaughlin, local sales manager, also discussed the exceptionally high quality of this new gasoline and motor oil being marketed by the Texas company and spoke of the extreme care that is necessary in producing an oil of such exceptional purity and gasoline of such high quality.

Mrs. Robinson of the farm bureau was the speaker of the afternoon and gave some very clever and timely suggestions for Christmas gifts, which were greatly appreciated. At the meetings, which will be held on the third Wednesday in each month, the members will have the privilege of receiving instruction on different subjects of interest from extension workers sent out by the farm bureau. At the close of the meeting tea was served by the hostess.

LONG TRIAL FORECAST $60,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Trial in the $60,000 damage suit brought against the New London Ship and Engine Co. by the Textile Finishing Machine Co., of Providence was continued Thursday in New London before Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court.

Judge Brown opened court at 9.30 o'clock because of the expected length of the case and it has been intimated that night sessions may be held. The Providence concern alleges that 16 castings or cylinders made by the Groton concern for hydraulic presses were faulty. The Ship and Engine company denies the allegations.

CORONER HOLDING INQUEST IN AUTOMOBILE FATALITY

An inquest into the death of Clarence Arthur Walden, 22, was held Thursday by Coroner J. J. Desmond. Walden died at the result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by Peter Lappie of Fitchville on Norwich avenue, Taftville, near the Lisbon bridge. Mr. Lappie is at liberty on bonds of $2,500 on a technical charge of manslaughter, pending the result of the coroner's finding.

Duwells to Start Pinochle Tourney

The pinochle season will be inaugurated at the Duwell club next Monday evening when the regular tournament for Duwell members will get under way. The committee in charge is planning to run the tournament every Monday night for ten weeks which will bring it to a close just before Christmas.

NORWICH MAN ALLEGES FRAUD IN WORCESTER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 20.—Aaron Gordon of Norwich, Conn., describing himself as cotton waste dealer and investor of about $600,000 in Worcester county property, took the stand in central district court to testify against Eli Leavitt and Isadore Katz, prominent real estate dealers.

Gordon had sworn out six complaints which named the two men as defendants in three cases apiece. He alleged larceny of $4,800, conspiracy to steal, and conveying encumbered land. Both defendants pleaded not guilty to all charges and the case was continued to tomorrow after an all day hearing.

Several weeks ago the Norwich investor brought a bill in equity against Katz, Leavitt and Louisa Feingold, filing an attachment for $125,000 on their property and claiming that the three respondents entered into a scheme to defraud him in another real estate deal.

The criminal charges did not become known until the defendants' names were placed on the court docket today and caused a sensation in the city. Katz and Leavitt have been among the foremost real estate operators in Central Massachusetts and have handled millions of dollars worth of transactions in the past few years.

In the trial today Mr. Gordon testified that he loaned Katz and Leavitt $6,000 and was given as collateral a mortgage of $8,400 which he claimed was represented by the defendants to have been a second mortgage. He testified that he has since learned that it was a third mortgage and that the property was encumbered by a second mortgage the existence of which he had not known. Mr. Gordon was on the stand for nearly an hour for examination which was chiefly over the details of the business and its technical points.

He admitted under cross examination that his investments and loans in this district were probably somewhere in the neighborhood of $600,000. His son-in-law, James I. Yoffa of Boston, handled much of his business he said. Counter charges were made against the complaint by Attorney Jay Clark of Worcester, counsel for the defendants. Mr. Clark declared that the defense will show before the trial is over that Mr. Gordon had threatened criminal charges against Katz and Leavitt before and the charges of larceny and conspiracy were being used as a means of making the criminal court a collection agency.

Attorney Clark asserted in his argument that he will able to show by summoning District Attorney Charles B. Rugg of Worcester county that the defendants offered to settle the $4,800 due Mr. Gordon and that Mr. Gordon and counsel refused to permit a settlement.

Attorney Abraham Lurie of Boston, chief counsel for the Norwich man, declared in answer to Mr. Clark that the reason why he had not permitted a settlement was because the criminal charges had already been made out and that it was for the court to order a settlement.

SENDS $25 CHECK TO NORWICH FIRE DEPARTMENT

In recognition of the valuable services rendered by the Norwich fire department at the recent fire in her building at Franklin street, Mrs. Emma Welte has sent to the department a check for $25 for the pension fund. Chief Stanton has turned the check over to the city treasurer to be credited to the fund.

CREOMULSION
FOR THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Your Cold May Develop Speedily into Pneumonia

If you've a cold, it's your danger signal. Pneumonia can follow speedily. Don't tolerate a cold. It too frequently leads into a fatal disease. Stop it; get over it. Creomulsion will help you do it. It is pleasant, easy to take. It is decidedly helpful. It can help you to avoid the dangerous diseases that usually follow coughs or colds that hang on.

If you've a "runny", persistent cold; if you've a deep, hollow cough that tears and hurts your throat; or, a cold that just won't get well, go and get a bottle of Creomulsion.

Take it like we tell you to take it, and we guarantee relief. We know what it can do. Millions of users know how it helps. Your money will be refunded if your cough or cold is not relieved, when you follow directions.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR CREOMULSION

BRINGS SUIT SEEKING TO REGAIN PROPERTY

Suit to obtain cancellation of a certain agreement and the possession of premises in Montville has been brought in the superior court by Elsie D. Wehr against Burrell W. Peterson, both of Montville. It is alleged that Peterson has failed to carry out the terms of an agreement made on Sept. 21, 1926, by which he was to pay $1,000 on or before the first day of November, 1927, at the rate of $20 monthly, $500 on or before May 1, 1927 and $500 on or before Nov. 1, 1927, executing a mortgage deed payable Sept. 21, 1929 for the difference between the total of these payments and $3,000, assuming the mortgage on the property to the Norwich Savings society and agreeing to pay insurance and taxes.

It is alleged that Peterson, who has possession of the property, has defaulted on the monthly payments, has failed to pay the $75 mortgage interest and the taxes amounting to $29.26.

Damages of $2,000 are also claimed in the suit.

GIVES APPROVAL TO COMPENSATION AGREEMENTS

Five workmen's compensation agreements as follows have been given approval by Commissioner Albert J. Bailey:

PROMOTED TO BE WESTERLY EXPRESS AGENT

Alton J. Van Dyke, who has been cashier for the past seven years at the Norwich office of the American Railway Express company, has been promoted to be agent for the company at its Westerly office and will take up his new duties next Monday. Mr. Van Dyke has been connected with the company since 1920 and his present advancement comes in recognition of his efficiency and faithfulness in its service.

He is to be succeeded here as cashier by Theodore Kennedy who has been clerk in the office.

FOUND IT COLD AUTOING TO QUEBEC

Cards have been received from Joseph Sandberg, rural carrier on route 2, and William O'Brien of Taftville, locating them in Quebec. They left for Canada last Sunday by auto, planning to camp where night overtook them, but they were obliged to abandon that idea because of the cold. Their route took them up through Vermont and New Hampshire. They expect to return on Sunday.

The Parent-Teachers association of Poquetanuck met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beckwith Wednesday evening with a good attendance. At the conclusion of the business meeting, a musical program was given by Miss Natalie Nagle, Miss Clara Bogue and Miss Lois Beckwith. Doughnuts, cheese and coffee were served by the committee, Mrs. Harry Beckwith, Mrs. Raymond Beckwith and Mrs. Charles Betting.

GOES TO JAIL FOR THEFT OF LIVER

Charged with stealing a quantity of pigs' liver which belonged to William Urban of Taftville, Wednesday night, William Vervelle, 45, of Taftville, was fined $15 and costs in the city court Thursday morning. As he couldn't pay the fine, Vivelle went to jail to work it out.

Mr. Urban, after butchering three hogs, hung the livers in his backyard and while eating his supper heard the family dog growl. Investigating he saw Vervelle making off with the liver. Mr. Urban gave chase to Vervelle's home where he grabbed one of the livers. Then he notified Constable Louis Paquette and the officer arrested Vervelle.

Halloween Party at Versailles

Tuesday evening at their home at Versailles a Halloween party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Alex Disco, Jr., for 30 of their friends. During the early part of the evening whist was played. Miss A. Graveline won first purse for the ladies. Arthur Des Sursult won first prize for the gentlemen. The other two prizes were awarded to Mrs. Peter De Vito and Wilfred Disco.

A buffet lunch was served, followed by games and music. Songs were rendered by P. De Vito and Alex Disco. The guest of honor for the evening was Ephraim Malone of Prince Edward Island. The others attending were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. James Lucier, Mr. and Mrs. Fred St. Germain, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lucier, Mr. and Mrs. P. De Vito, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Des Sursult, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson, Miss A. Graveline, Miss Rose Champane, Miss Florence Disco, Miss Aldora Savageau, Philip Jennes, Phil Champane, Fred Champane, Wilfred Disco.

Beginning North Thames St. Work

Street Commissioner John C. Donovan has this week begun work on the North Thames street job that will make an improvement in this street from Thames square to the Central Vermont depot.

EAGLES OPEN BAZAAR FOR BUILDING FUND

A three nights' bazaar was opened Thursday evening by Norwich Aerie, No. 367, F. O. E., at the Eagles home on Cliff street. The bazaar is being held under the auspices of the aerie's building committee and the proceeds will be added to the building fund. The various booths are attractively arranged and decorated and strings of colored lights adorn the front of the building. The booths were well patronized Thursday evening and a large crowd is anticipated this (Friday) evening and Saturday evening.

D'Atri's Wauregan Hotel orchestra furnished a splendid programme for the dancing which is free each night. The committee in charge comprises William R. Hastedt, chairman, Edward J. Mullins, secretary, Timothy Fields, August Hastedt, George Nadoiny, James Carey, John T. F. Burns, R. A. Krohn, James Carey, and Victor Payment.

The attendance for the opening night was about 00.

FIRST IN CITY TO SHIP BY AEROPLANE

Thursday morning the Reid and Hughes company received a shipment of millinery from New York city by aeroplane. The shipment was received by aeroplane at Hartford and immediately dispatched to Norwich.

Frederick G. Ross, local manager of the American Railway Express company, states that the Reid and Hughes company have been the first to receive merchandise by air.

Diphtheria—Stonington, 1; Scarlet fever—New London, 1; Norwich, 1; Danielson, 1; Windham, 2. Whooping cough—New London, 2.

NORWICH TOWN

MRS. CHAS. F. GEER INJURED BY FALL ON CELLAR STAIRS

Friends of Mrs. Charles F. Geer of 76 West Town street, Norwich Town, were surprised to learn Thursday of her accident at her home early Wednesday morning. In going down the cellar stairs, when within one or two steps from the bottom, Mrs. Geer without any warning, fell, injuring the ligaments in one knee. After a few minutes she was able to drag herself up the stairway and get to the telephone to call Dr. Harry E. Higgins. Upon examination, it was decided best for her to be removed to Backus hospital. Meantime, Mrs. Geer who also called by telephone the woman who resides upstairs, stated that she remembered that she had hold of the stair railing. To this, it is thought is due the fact that her injuries were not more serious, although it was necessary to perform an operation on the injured member Thursday morning. Late in the afternoon, she was reported as resting as comfortably as could be expected. Mrs. Geer although 80 last March, is very active and most alert in performing her daily household duties, in fact her physical strength and keen mind are exceptional.

She has occupied her apartment alone since the death of her husband.

Following her accident, her daughter, Mrs. Charles Hazelhurst, of Waterbury, was notified by letter and it is expected that she will come to Norwich upon receiving the news.

WASHINGTON SQUARE

NORWICH BARGAIN HOUSE

Showing Parking Facilities Adjacent to Norwich Business Center

NORWICH CAN PARK FULLY 1500 CARS ADJACENT TO FRANKLIN SQUARE.

Special arrangements have been made with local garages for parking cars on Suburban Day, Saturday, October 15th. The Commercial Garage, located on Shetucket street, within a stone's throw of the junction of Broadway, Main and Shetucket streets, has agreed to charge a nominal price of twenty-five cents for the day for the storage of cars. The Commercial Garage can accommodate approximately 200 cars.

The East Main Street Garage and Bailey's Garage, Bath Street, each with a capacity of approximately fifty cars, are also available at twenty-five cents. The New Haven Railroad can accommodate 100 cars at twenty-five cents on its premises at the railroad station.

MANY SECTIONS OF CITY ALLOW FIVE-HOUR PARKING

There is also five-hour parking on Laurel Hill, Talman street, East Main street, North Main street, Park street, Oak street, Chestnut street above Willow street, and Franklin street above Willow street, Broadway on the right hand side going from Union square up, and also around little Chelsea parade, Union square unlimited, Church street, five hours; and Washington street, five hours. There is also five-hour parking at the Central Vermont station. These various parking spaces and garages will accommodate approximately 1500 cars, so the people from Eastern Connecticut coming to Norwich on Suburban Day can be readily accommodated. All these spaces mentioned are within a radius of one-half mile of Franklin square.

The number of available streets and garages for parking of cars adjacent to the business center of Norwich clearly indicates that the parking facilities are exceptionally good in Norwich. In fact, they are better than most cities of our size, which is a tremendous advantage to the shoppers coming to Norwich and making Norwich the trading center of Eastern Connecticut. The co-operation of the local garages in giving special rates on that day will be appreciated by those coming from out of town. All of these garages are modern in every respect and of fireproof construction. The charge in all of these garages is twenty-five cents for the day.

The arrangements made by the Norwich Retail Merchants' Bureau offer special inducements to the out-of-town people coming here on Suburban Day to visit Norwich stores and to see the high class merchandise offered by the local merchants at prices that will compare most favorably with the merchants of the larger metropolitan cities in this section. The above map indicates the location of these various streets and was arranged for the benefit of the out-of-town people who desire to come to Norwich to trade. A glance at the map will reveal the fact that the parking facilities of Norwich adjacent to the business center is exceptionally good and will accommodate those who come here to our stores.

Many Wonderful Values to be Offered the People of Eastern Connecticut on Suburban Day. Special Trolley and Motor Bus Accommodations Will Take Care of the Thousands Who Will Flock to Norwich on Suburban Day — While Special Parking Privileges Have Been Provided for Those Who Will Come by Automobile. All Stores Participating are Prepared to Take Care of an Early Morning Rush.

With the opening of the Norwich stores, Saturday, October 15th, Suburban Day will be observed by nearly 100 leading merchants and stores of the city The heads of the mercantile establishments of Norwich predict a record business, for they are of the opinion that the Suburban Day values which they are offering are so inviting that the people of Eastern Connecticut cannot afford to overlook the opportunity.

For several generations Norwich merchants have been supplying the needs of the people of Eastern Connecticut —and each year has seen a growth in the volume of business transacted with the people living hereabout, who make Norwich their trading center.

There must be sound reasons for this consistent growth—and the reason, undoubtedly, lies in the principles and methods governing the conduct of business by Norwich merchants

The merchants of Norwich thoroughly believe that the better they serve their customers, the better they serve themselves.

Thy try to excel in value giving.

They endeavor to give customers the best possible values obtainable—merchandise right in quality and right in style. And with it all, they honestly try to give pleasant, cheerful and courteous service.

It is to show their appreciation, to the people of Eastern Connecticut, of the pleasant business relations that have existed over a long period of years, that more than sixty-five of the most progressive merchants of Norwich are co-operating in presenting Suburban Day.

Norwich stores enjoy the enviable reputation of being the best and largest stocked stores in the whole of Eastern Connecticut, and in the state, for that matter. The stores are right up to the minute in style and quality, and purchasers would find it difficult to make better selections, even in the great metropolitan stores.

Arrangements have been made for extra trolley and motor bus accommodations, in and out of the city, throughout the day, and special provisions have been made for parking, either free or at a nominal charge, for all those who will come by automobile. In fact, everything possible is being done by the merchants for the care and comfort of the thousands who are coming to Norwich on Suburban Day

Blazing a New Trail in Food Merchandizing

— a new and better market in our new and better Building — The Mohican Building on Main Street — light, airy, commodious, beautiful; scientifically designed to safeguard your food beyond the requirements of today's standards.

HERE WE ARE! At home Saturday in the new, scientifically planned and modernly equipped market at our new and up-to-date building at 260 Main Street. Happy indeed are we to be here on busy, bustling Main Street—and we feel that the great and ever increasing Mohican customer family will be equally delighted to be able to do their marketing in this most convenient and accessible location in Norwich.

This new Mohican Market marks the beginning of a new era in food merchandising in Norwich. For years The Mohican has blazed the trail to new, better and safer methods of food merchandising. Designed for convenience to both employees and shoppers, this new market is equipped with all the latest and most modern devices for the careful handling and storage of food products under the most rigid sanitary conditions—far beyond the requirements of any sanitary code—it anticipates the future by a whole generation.

Iceless refrigeration of the most modern type for preserving the wholesomeness and flavor of perishable products; glass cases and jars to protect every article from contact with foreign substances; weighing, measuring and calculating devices that are always absolutely accurate. Counters and shelves are of the modern type for attractive, convenient and prompt service—nothing has been left undone to make this, as it should be, the great central market for the Norwich Public.

Mere words are inadequate to describe what this new market really is—you must come and see for yourself. Look through this wonderful plant—with ingenious devices for safeguarding your food supplies and for making marketing a real delight.

Saturday is our "AT HOME" day when you are especially welcome—but come any time, for our courteous salespeople will be only too glad to serve you any time you feel inclined to come. The MOHICAN is YOUR market—built for you —a market without a peer in all Connecticut—and the finest in our chain of 55 Stores.

Mohican Code of Practices

TO SELECT for our trade only those products that we would use in our own homes—the wholesome, the nutritious, the good

TO BUY in tremendous quantities and secure lowest prices, safeguarding every article with scrupulous care in transit and in storage —and passing them on to our customers at the lowest-in-the-city-price. Always more for a dollar than a dollar will buy elsewhere is our watchword.

TO PROVIDE baked goods of superior quality in our own bakery. Using only selected materials. Baking in sanitary constructed ovens, scupulously clean surroundings by the most skillful bakers.

TO KEEP our customer-family informed promptly of advantageous buying opportunities by use of the printed word in the newspapers—thus affording low unit distribution cost by increased volume business.

CHOCOLATES OUST ROSES IN ENGLISH GIRLS' FAVOR

London, Oct. (AP)—Cupid is talking too much with chocolate to suit the English Rosegrowers association. of the association denounced sweets as ofthe association denounced sweets as love offerings and discussed the best means of restoring the rose to its old position in lovemaking.

Mary, the middle-aged least slyph-like of the cockney rose-sellers who sit daily in Picadilly Circus, shares the opinion of the rose-growers and is furious about the preference of the modern flapper for sweets.

"They'll lose their figures and it'll be good enough for them," she declared. "They can smell roses without undoing their make-up, but the silly things prefer to get their rouged lips stained with chocolate. They look a mess after they've munched candy at a matinee. What poetry is there sticky sweets? When I was a girl we all wanted to be wooed with roses. I'd a jilted my boy if he'd sent me a tin of toffee. I think the cinema is responsible. These modern girls can't be happy unless they are wearing a bunch of artificial flowers that looks like cabbage and working their jaws while they watch Gloria Swanson queenin' around."

BUCKINGHAM PALACE ON "RUBBER-NECK" LIST

LONDON, Oct. (AP)—The London public is now seeing more of Buckingham palace and its grounds than ever before. While Piccadilly is being repaved buses are routed past King George's town residence, and from the top of a bus one can see over the hedges and high fences which shut off the view for persons passing in ordinary vehicles. Consequently ordinary buses are converted into rubber-neck wagons by Americans and other tourists who want t oget a glimpse of the lovely gardens where Queen Mary spends much of her time.

Buckingham Palace is far less historic than most of the other royal residences. It hasn't celebrated ghosts, like St. James Palace. But there is one little spook, a rather recent one, which troubled aged ladies-in-waiting a few years ago and is still suspected of haunting certain rooms. That was a ragamuffin called Boy Jones., who had a way of turning up unexpectedly in various rooms of the palace to the consternation of dignified footmen. It was never possible to discover how the boy entered the palace, but he entered repeatedly and was discovered in all sorts of out-of-the-way places. Dignified ladies-in-waiting were always afraid he was under their beds and the tales of escapades still persist in the palace.

MANY WOMEN ATTENDING LONDON NIGHT SCHOOLS

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—London women, nearly 100,000 of them, studied everything from butchering to beauty culture in the continuation schools of the London County Council last year.

Women showed a much greater interest in adult education than men did, and London women showed greater interest in further study than women in the rest of the British Isles.

The authorities of education in London undertake to teach anything in night schools which a sufficient number of persons desire to study. One woman of 78 took a course in craft work last year and another of 62 studied commercial French.

British government scientists are investigating the sizes of shoes worn by people in different localities.

INTENTIONAL SECOND EXPOSURE

WASHINGTON, Oct. —(AP)—Criminal conspiracy charges against Harry F. Sinclair, multimillionaire oil magnate and sportsman, and Albert B. Fall secretary of interior under President Harding, came to trial before the District of Columbia supreme court Monday, an outgrowth of the leasing to Sinclair of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve in Wyoming.

The lease has been nullified by a federal district court and the United States supreme court has upheld the voiding of the agreement.

Sinclair already has been convicted of contempt of the senate for refusing to answer questions about the lease put to him by a senate investigating committee, and he faces a sentence of four months in District of Columbia jail.

Fall has been tried and acquitted with E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate, on charges of conspiracy in connection with the leasing to Doheny of naval oil reserves at Elk Hills, Calif.

Government counsel in the case are former Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio and Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, special prosecutors in charge of all criminal and civil actions growing out of the naval oil leases.

Leasing of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills naval reserves was brought to public attention when a senate committee headed by Thomas J. Walsh of Montana inquired into the leases. Subsequent civil actions have recovered both reserves for the navy department, but save for the incidental contempt sentence which hangs over Sinclair there have been no penalties imposed upon the men whom the government charges with fraud in the negotiation of the agreements.

Sinclair has as his chief counsel in the conspiracy trial George P. Hoover of Washington. With him is associated Martin W. Littleton, former member of congress from New York, upon whose advice Sinclair declined to answer before the senate committee, questions about negotiation of the leases.

After the second conspiracy trial is over, Fall, along with Edward L. Doheny and his son, Edward L., Jr., will have to face indictments charging bribery in connection with the $100,000 "little black satchel" transaction which took place while Doheny was negotiating with Fall for the Elk Hills lease.

THE AZORES

When Miss Ruth Elder tried to fly across the Atlantic and dropped into the sea near the Azores she failed in her purpose but emphasized the increasing importance of the Azores as a mid-Atlantic communication center, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"And within the Azores group Fayal is the most important so far as contact with the outside world is concerned. Sao Miguel is larger, and Augra, the capital on Terceira, is a better port than Horta, on Fayal.

"But Fayal is the communication hub of the Atlantic, with spokes reaching out to Europe, the two Americas and Africa. On Fayal island there are four cables companies, two American one Flemish and one German. There are more than 150 young 'news pushers,' as the dispatching operators are called, and each group has its own mess.

"Arriving at Fayal in the daytime one sees a ribbon of road around the island, and the whitewashed villages with a church for a pendent among the ivory bits that are strung along this 35-mile circular tour. Out near some detached rocks near the west end there is a lighthouse which appears at first to be a minaret. From there to Horta, the town, is a steep declivity several hundred feet high so that the road has to sweep up to avoid washing itself to death in the glistening surf.

"Amid smiling seas the Azores, from November to March, usually wear a cloud blanket so that the fine cone of Pico, which sounds like Orange Pekoe but simply means 'peak,' is hidden as an approaching ship swings to the north. Pico has a separate island to itself and since Pico is an active volcano this is as it should be.

"Twilight had fallen when the writer's vessel finally came alongside the fairy town of Horta, now made up of white blotches against a dark hillside with electric lights hiding the details like the nun's candles during the change of scene in 'The Miracle.' Horta is not really a port, since it lacks a green light to complement the red one on the end of the single breakwater. So passengers land in a launch which tosses up and down in the swell and gives the folks a thrill for their money.

"A Portuguese, with wide-brimmed fuzzy hat, V-neck white sweater and side burns, ran the launch. He took a liking to us and showed us around the town which, like a certain flower, had folded itself up with the setting of the sun.

"Horta's chief claim to fame seems to be that Mark Twain and the cable companies have honored it with their attention. Mark said something about a tiny fort here which would have to be taken back up the volcanic slopes in case of war. That was in the days before the Azores were the alighting spot for transoceanic flights. The fort has not grown any.

"Horta greets one with a mosaic sidewalk in the Portuguese style and many of its buildings are faced with glistening tile so that as one walks down the street at night he seems to be treading his way along some peculiar bathroom in an old Mogul palace or a Chicago boarding house. The solid-wheeled oxcarts were parked at odd points here and there and, in the night time, the only vehicles to be had are automobiles.

"The street as we walked down it, and passed so many churches that Horta seemed to be the Bokhara of the Catholic world, was being used for sentimental purposes, for Horta has its nightly rehearsals of the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet. The balconies are narrow and long, looking like sample bits of steel fence hung up on display.

"Our side-burned mentor took us to a movie theater fronted with salmon tiles. We secured a box in the lower of three horseshoes around which the town was arranged. If the social strata maintained their same relative positions at home that they do in the theater, then the Horta palaces would be down near the sea and the lowlier and more grimy members of society up near the lava line above the main part of the town.

"From June to September the whole island of Fayal is marked out with blue and white hydrangea hedges and is one of the loveliest spots on earth, with sometimes smoking Pico 'Fujiyamaing' in the background.

"The Azores are certainly the result of tremendous volcanic eruptions that have continued to change their physical aspect ever since their discovery in the 15th century. On every hand are evidences of former upheavals, from the gray lava stones that are used in the construction of houses and the building of roads to the underlying streaks of ashes that are visible in places where the surface soil has washed away, and the many cup-shaped craters and beautiful lakes on the tops of the mountains.

"Violent earthquakes have disturbed the Azores during the centuries since their discovery. The annals of the island vie with those of Italy in graphic accounts of the ever-interesting and terrible volcanic phenomena. Cities were buried, mountains disappeared and sent their ashes to unbelievable distances; islands hundreds of feet high suddenly appeared and as suddenly disappeared, and flames of fire illuminated islands and their intervening waters."

RESERVE BANK GOVERNOR WAS AN OFFICE BOY

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct —(AP)—William B. Gerry, new governor of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank, obtained his first glimpse of the workings of a financial institution as office boy and messenger for the only bank in a small Wisconsin town.

That was 42 years ago at Ripon, Wis. Five years later he was teller in the old St. Paul National bank, and he left there seven years ago to become deputy governor of the Minneapolis Reserve bank.

SILK MANUFACTURED FROM CORN STALKS

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Yellow-tasseled corn stalks of Illinois fields will emerge from the machinery of a newly established plant here as the bases for a quality paper and for manufactured silk.

A subsidiary of the Euromerican Cellulose Products corporation has been located near Danville, the plant covering 45 acres.

The corporation was formed to exploit the invention of Bela Dorner, a European chemist, whose research, officials of the concern say, makes it possible to manufacture from corn stalks the basic raw materials for rayon, a quality paper, a dangerous nitrocellulose explosive, lacquers, artificial leather and celluloid film.

The Danville plant will turn out cellulose pulp for paper and the rayon basic material.

JINRICKSHA VANISHING FROM JAPANESE STREETS

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's most picturesque vehicle, known to foreigners as the rickshaw, or more properly the jinricksha, is rapidly disappearing. These high, rubber-tired, two-wheel carts, drawn by bare-legged natives always at a trot, are being superseded by automobiles, according to traffic officials, and it will not be many years, traffic officials believe, before they will have given up the struggle. In 1910 there were 26,792 rickshas in Tokyo and only 96 automobiles. Today there are about 8,000 rickshas and in the neighborhood of 13,000 motor cars.

August 4th marks the opening of the oyster season in England, not September 1st as in America.

Newly Invented Automatic Corn Drier As Aid To Farmer

The corn drier shown in the diagrams, invented at the University of Wisconsin, is being widely used this fall in preparing corn for seed. Co-operative use of the drier is being urged in the corn belt.

MADISON, Wis., Oct.—(AP)—From the workshops of the agricultural college of the University of Wisconsin has come a newly-invented power corn drier, doing in 72 hours the work that once required weeks or months.

The drier makes its bow to commercial use at a time when farmers of the corn belt are facing a very serious problem in the search for good seed corn. The late, wet season, expected to end with killing frosts before vast quantities of corn mature, makes it necessary for many farmers to dry their seed artificially.

Four of the new automatic driers, all built this year, now are in use in Wisconsin. They are owned by seedmen. While the drier is constructed at present on a small scale, there is a probability that farmers will organize co-operative groups to install the machinery for neighborhood use. It is said the equipemnt can be operated economically by steam, gas, or electric power.

The automatic drier has the appearance of an ordinary covered and tight-blower. Each bin has a slatted bottom, like structure is sectioned into four inner bins of equal size, two bins on either side of a narrow, central duct through which air, heated from 90 to 119 degrees Fahrenheit, is forced by a ly-sealed grain bin. The entire box rising 12 inches from the floor to allow free circulation of the warm air, up through the corn and out vents at the top.

To insure uniform drying, the process may be reversed and a current forced from the warm air duct through vents at the inner top of the bin, down through the corn, and released, moisture-laden, from outter vents at the bottom.

It is said the drier is capable, within 72 hours time, of reducing to a safe 12 or 13 per cent the 45 per cent moisture content frequently found in corn this year, if the husked ears are piled to a depth not greatly exceeding five feet and the air current alternated every 24 to 36 hours.

DON'T TELL ANYBODY TARDIEU PLAYS GOLF

PARIS, Oct. (AP)—Andre Tardieu, the French minister of public works, has taken up golf, but he would rather not have it known.

"Shhhh! Don't mention it," he told a Parisian journalist who found him swinging his woods and irons on the course at Vittel. "It seldom brings any happiness to a French statesman to have it known that he plays golf.

"I don't know why, but in France there is a prejudice against this innocent game, so fitting for solitary meditation."

Probably hoping the public wouldn't mind if the news were presented in a proper light, Monsieur Tardieu told the journalist that when he played golf his solitary meditations concerned vast projects for repairing the roads, building up the navy and improving the nation's fisheries. In consequence, of which, he explained, his golf game gets worse all the time.

The only other French cabinet officer ever observed playing golf is Aristide Briand, and the fall of one of his cabinets was popularly ascribed to the publication of photographs showing him on a Riviera course with Lloyd-George, when French politicians thought he should have been "in conference" with the British statesman. Since then, M. Briand has confined his sport to fishing.

PEDESTRIAN MONARCH IN COLOGNE STREETS

BERLIN, Oct. (AP)—American travelers coming to Berlin from Paris in their touring cars declare that the most difficult city in Germany for a chauffeur is Cologne.

The pedestrian, they say, is absolute monarch of the streets. It is impossible for an automobile to drive through the streets of the inner city at moderate speed, because pedestrians will listen to no siren or horn, but calmly proceed in the middle of the street until it suits their convenience to turn aside. "If is enough to drive any chauffeur crazy," tourists declare.

In this respect Cologne is the very opposite of Berlin, where accidents are the order of the day because autos drive recklessly through the streets, not even stopping when a street car halts.

Primo de Rivera, military dictator of Spain. He is known as the Mussolini of his country.

HOTELS IN SWEDEN ABOLISH TIPPING

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct.—(AP)—Tipping has been abolished in Swedish hotels through an agreement between hotel owners and their employes whereby a flat service charge will be added to guests' bills and the money distributed among the hotel servants.

Under the new system it will be more expensive to take a cheap room and stay a short time, for then up to 18 per cent of the bill will be added as a fee for service. After a week's stay the service charge will come down to 10 per cent of the amount of the bill.

The system was introduced as an experiment on October 1 but there is little doubt of its permanency. It represents the long desire of the servants. The non-tipping system, however, includes only the rooms and not the restaurants.

A business arrangement between a hen and a pony has been formed on the dairy farm of George Sheppard near Gosport, England. In return for her lodgings in his manger she lays her eggs there, and he eats them with great gusto.

FLYING GOLFERS FORM QUEER BRITISH CLUB

LONDON, Oct. (AP)—One of the queerest of queer British societies is that of the "Flying Golfers." Five members who divide their attention between golfing and flying, comprise its personnel. The first meeting of the club is held at Brancaster, Norfolk. The five members will fly in light air planes 100 miles to the course, play a round, and fly back.

Capt. W. Gordon Aston has outlined an ambitious programme for the club for the immediate future. The members will hold a 36 match, nine holes to be played in England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland.

GLOOMY DEAN RAPS "IDLE POOR" CLASS

LONDON, Oct. (AP)—Dean Inge of St. Paul's thinks the new idle poor supported on the dole threaten to be a greater menace to Great Britain than the idle rich of the past.

"A new parasitic class is being created," writes Dean Inge in The Evening Standard. "The dole is the most mischievous and ruinous device for buying off revolution which was ever invented. It was resorted to after the Napoleonic wars in the form of outdoor relief out of the rates. And the burden's on the land became so intolerable that farmers began to throw up their farms. At that time the receivers of the dole had no vote and the government had the courage to bring the pernicious system to a sudden end. Now, no government would dare to do anything of the kind."

In discussing the dole-takers, Dean Inge says: "They will not emigrate, for no country in the world makes things so comfortable for the 'Won't-Works' as England does. It is not easy to see how any remedy for this terrible evil is to be found. Whole classes are going down under the burden, and making no audible complaint. It is like the state of things under the Roman Empire, when the middle class met their fate in dumb resignation."

GREYHOUND RACING SEEN FOR FIRST TIME IN PARIS

PARIS, Oct. (AP)—Greyhound racing—old as the sport is—will be seen for the first time in Paris soon. A few whippet races have been held on the Riviera, but the greyhound has not yet been seen in public contest.

One of the indoor bicycle tracks is being arranged with kennels and the rail on which the mechanical rabbit will be sent ahead of the dogs. The French Canine federation has approved the plans and will supervise the contests.

TRAVELING DAIRIES ON PARIS AVENUES

PARIS, Oct. (AP)—The recent notice by the bureau of health in Paris warning against the use of milk from the goats of the city without its being boiled has reminded one that there are traveling dairies on many tree-lined boulevards and smaller streets.

These herds of goats, numbering usually a dozen in each, are not found in the Place de l'Opera or the Rue de la Paix, but in the populous Vilette quarter on one side and in the quarter near the Porte d'Orleans there are several such herds driven each morning and evening to the homes of customers and milked on the front doorstep.

Traffic does not scare these animals, which are city and not country bred; they skip in front of trolley cars and taxis with no show of excitement. Their owners pasture them on the vacant land outside the fortifications and they sleep in the open so that the revenue from the milk is almost all profit.

Montreal is to spend $12,000,000 to improve its harbor.

LORIENT, IN BRITTANY, IS NEW "FISH CAPITAL"

Paris, Oct. (AP)—Fish will have to push up their birth rate if they are to hold their own off the coast of Brittany.

Lorient, on the south coast of Morbihan, has won the title of "Fish Capital of France" and lays claim to being the biggest fishing port in the world because of new and modern equipment. It's only a matter of minutes for the fish to go from sea to pan, when things are working right.

A whole new port with docks, sheds, conveyors, cranes, ice plants, coal chutes and trains all ready to go, await the 20,000 fisherfolk who sail into port, tide or no tide to unload their catches.

The government started spending 200,000,000 francs some years ago on French ports to promote the fishing industry. Most of this was spent on Lorient because conditions were right on land and the fish had chosen to establish headquarters off there.

The boats sail up to the docks now, unload their catch, move along to where an overhead chute drops cracked ice into the fish-bins in the hold, go a little further to take on coal or fuel oil in the same way and in an hour or two a fishing smack is back for another catch. In the old days boats had to wait on tides, wasted much time in loading and unloading and had greater expense for labor ashore.

The colorful blue and orange sails of the small boats still are plentiful but steam and the oil or gasoline engine are increasing rapidly. The sail-boat seems about to vanish.

PERSHING'S PHOTOGRAPH MARSHAL FOCH FAVORITE

PARIS, Oct. (AP)—In the summer home of Marshal Foch, at the tongue-twisting town called Traonfeunteuniou, a photograph of General Pershing holds the place of honor above the fireplace in the great French soldier's study.

Above the autograph of Pershing are these words: "To M. le Marchal Foch, ... tion of his comrade in arms."

The only other war photograph in the room is a highly colored poster—made in England. In the center is a large likeness of Lloyd-George, flanked on either side by small photographs, one of Haig, the other, Foch. And over the three is this legend: "The men who led us to victory."

GERMAN RAILWAYS ADOPT UNIQUE TIME COMPUTATION

BERLIN, Oct. (AP)—A unique time computation of 0,00 has resulted from the adoption by the German railways of the 24 hour time table. Theoretically, of course, the new system of reckoning time calls for a computation of from 0 to 24, whereby the arrival of trains at midnight is to be designated with 24. But though no one ever thought of 0,00 as a time specification for any train on wheels, this vacuous numeral has notwithstanding become an accepted, official item of the German time-table in which the slow passenger train for Leipsiz is scheduled as leaving the Anhalter Bahnhof in Berlin at 0,00 o'clock.

FAMOUS PILGRIMS CHAPEL AGAIN BROUGHT TO LIGHT

LONDON, Oct.—(AP)—The casual removal of some ivy has disclosed the ruined and forgotten tower of a once famous Canterbury Pilgrims chapel in Brentwood, Essex.

All that now remains of the chapel, which was built by the monks of St. Osyth's Monastery in 1221, is a ruined tower which in the course of years had become so hemmed in with other buildings that its existence was forgotten.

It stands in a side road. While some ivy was being removed from the neighboring buildings the ancient stonework of the tower was revealed.

The town council decided to ask for the ruins to be scheduled as an historic building and preserved.

Brentwood was on the route taken to the shrine of St. Thomas A. Beckett at Canterbury. The chapel was built both so that they could pause on their journey and pray, and also so that through offerings the monks of St. Osyth's might benefit from their visit.

Bathers at the beach of Toulon, France, were thrown into a panic when through the waves came plunging what looked like a sea monster on a rampage. Two bathers were injured in the scramble to get out of the way of the "beast," which, when it struck shore, turned out to be a big torpedo that had been launched in the submarine target practice in the outer harbor.

MAY FORCE SINCLAIR AND FALL TO WITNESS STAND

Government Counsel is Blocking Efforts of Defense Counsel to Weaken the Government's Case by Exhaustive Cross Examination of Prosecution Witnesses—Plan of Prosecution Clearly Outlined in the Oil Conspiracy Trial.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—(AP)—Slowly but persistently special government oil counsel are weaving the web which they hope will force Albert B. Fall or Harry F. Sinclair, or both, to take the witness stand in the oil conspiracy trial in the District of Columbia supreme court.

Their plan of campaign began to develop clearly today, as they again blocked defense counsel in their repeated efforts to explain away or weaken the government's case by carrying prosecution witnesses on cross examination far beyond the field opened up by direct questioning.

The lawyers for the foreign interior secretary and the wealthy oil operator became most persistent in cross examining E. C. Heald, former government geologist, about a report he made to Fall in November, 1921, that there was no immediate danger of extensive drainage of Teapot Dome.

In offering Heald's written report to Fall, government counsel stipulated that it was not offered as an accurate presentation of facts but merely to show that such a report was made to Fall, who has contended that the danger of drainage was the impelling cause of the lease of Teapot Dome to Sinclair.

Martin W Littleton of New York city, on behalf of Sinclair, moved to the attack today for the defense in place of George P. Hoover, who carried the brunt of the bitter fighting on yesterday, but he had only little more success than his colleague. Opposing him stood Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, who is conducting the government's case with former Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio.

Littleton sought to show that Heald made an erroneous report and that this was the reason Fall did not rely upon it. Roberts objected and was sustained by Justice Siddons time after time in a proceeding which frequently brought laughter from jury, counsel and spectators.

Roberts finally told the court that it was important for the government to show only that such a report was made and that it was for Fall to explain why he did not act upon it. With that view, Justice Siddons agreed.

Having won this skirmish, one they regard as highly important, government counsel next turned to an effort to get before the jury evidence which Sinclair gave before the senate oil committee nearly four years ago. Defense counsel interposed vigorous objection; the question was argued for two hours, and Justice Siddons took it under advisement before adjourning court until Monday.

Special oil counsel want to present to the jury Sinclair's statement to the senate committee that he visited Fall at his Three Rivers, New Mexico ranch, during the Christmas holidays in 1921, to discuss the lease of Teapot Dome. Defense counsel already have told the jury that they would show that the visit was to discuss the drilling of oil wells in Osage Indian lands in Oklohoma and that the Teapot Dome subject came up only incidentally.

STRANDS OF GRAY HAIR THE ONLY CLUE TO MURDER

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—With a few strands of sandy gray hair detectives were fashioning a noose of evidence today to draw about the neck of John Hansen, 50-year old mechanic, accused of beating to death his wife and 19-year-old foster daughter.

In death the hands of the woman and girl held out to investigators the key to the solution of the identity of their slayer, detectives believed. They said they found in the fingers pieces of hair when the bodies were found on the floor of the Hansen home in Brooklyn, yesterday.

The strands were sent to the city toxicologist, together with material taken from under the nails of Hansen. He steadfastly protests his innocence, placing the crime on a sailor, who, he said, came to see his foster daughter. Hansen, however, has been placed under arrest on charges of homicide.

Hansen was escorted to a police station last night by friends he met at a speakeasy. He had arrived at the speakeasy an hour or two before, the police learned today and ordered three drinks in rapid succession. Then he casually announced, "We had quite a party at our house last night."

After a few minutes he turned to the bartender and said, "Say what do you think? Somebody killed my wife and daughter, yes, someone beat them to death with a baseball bat or something, but it wasn't me that did it."

Hansen placed the time of the murder as sometime Wednesday evening. He claimed he had spent Wednesday night in the cellar of his home, where he had been drinking wine. That evening, he told the police, he had an argument with his foster daughter, Milina Macki, who wanted to leave the Hansen home to go to live with relatives.

COMMITTED PERJURY IN EFFORT TO SHIELD DOCTOR

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 21—(AP)—Dr. M. Carl Beck, 330 East Main street, admitted in criminal superior court today that he had committed deliberate perjury in an attempt to shield Dr. Morris T. Horwitz, 38, of 984 Fairfield avenue, now on trial before Judge L. P. Woldo Marvin and jury upon a charge of attempting to perform an illegal operation. He appeared today as the "star" witness for the state in the trial of Dr. Horwitz, whom it is claimed by the state caused the death on March 18, of Miss Dorothy May Reynolds, 18, of this city.

The witness emphatically denied however that he had attempted to extort the sum of $5,000 for his silence on the events leading to the death of the girl. He was himself convicted in the same court in the May term for his connection with the crime and is now serving a one to two year term.

HELD FOR MISCONDUCT IN OPERATING VEHICLE

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21—(AP)—Pleading not guilty to a charge of misconduct as a motor vehicle operator, and choosing a trial by jury, Robert Hayden, of Wallingford was today bound over to superior court under $1,000 bonds.

Hayden was held criminally responsible by Coroner Eli Mix for the death last Saturday night of Norman H. Wood, also of Wallingford.

Hayden, Wood, and two companions were on their way to a dance, the coroner found, with Hayden operating the automobile. Their machine passed another, going in the same direction, on the right, grazing it, and then crashed into a parked machine.

BRITISH PLANE SQUADRON NEAR NAPLES, ITALY

NAPLES, Italy, Oct. 21—(AP)—The British hydroplane squadron consisting of four Southampton flying boats on a flight from Plymouth to Australia, landed at the hydroplane station at the Island of Naids near here today. The squadron expects to depart tomorrow morning.

EVA TANGUAY GRANTED ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21—(AP)—Eva Tanguay, vaudeville actress, today was granted an annullment of her marriage to Alexander Booke, her former pianist. The suit was based on the charge that Booke did not use his true name when marrying the actress and deceived her in other ways.

PRECEDENT 245 YEARS OLD TO BE CITED IN MURDER TRIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—A murder trial precedent handed down in a decision by the old Bailey court in London 245 years ago, will be cited in the appeal of Mrs. Ruth B. Snyder, jointly convicted with Judd Gray of the murder of the woman's husband last March, counsel for Mrs. Snyder said tonight.

Appeals from the jury's verdict of first degree murder, returned in the supreme court of Queens county, will be filed with the court of appeals in Albany Monday.

Claiming that it was a reversible error on the part of the trial court to admit the confession of Judd Gray into the evidence against Mrs. Snyder, defense counsel will cite the trial of Charles John, count of Coningsmark, Norway, and three other men for the murder of Thomas Thynn of London in 1682.

The count was implicated in the crime on the confessions of the three others who said they had been hired to kill Thynn, after alleged intimate relations between Mrs. Thynn and the count.

The count would not admit his part, and the court ruled that the confessions could only be used against the men making them, and not against the count. As other evidence was lacking, the count was acquitted.

TROUBLE OVER AUTOS AT UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 21—(AP)—A tempest stirred up by University of Oklahoma students for liberalization of the rules governing dating and the use of automobiles tonight apparently had simmered back into its teapot.

The student body started a good humored revolution after publication of university rules by the student newspaper and held a 45-minute meeting during school hours today to ask more freedom. They demanded that dates be allowed any evening in the week, all day Sunday, and that dancing be permitted until midnight Friday and Saturday.

After several mass meetings and conferences, however, the student committee appointed to confer with the administrative council and demand more rights, had revised their requests until they bore small resemblance to the ultimatums laid down by another committee that metPresident W. B. Bizzell.

The latest demands of the committee include a modification of the date rules, to permit seniors and juniors only to have dates on all week nights, until 10:30 p. m., sophomores until 10:30 on Wednesday nights and all students until 12:30 a. m., on week-end nights. The present rule allows only four dates a week to all students.

ALLEGED AXE MURDERER IDENTIFIED BY WOMAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—Ludwig Lee, alleged axe murderer, was identified today by a woman witness at his trial as the man she had seen throw a cord-bound bundle over a fence near her Brooklyn home. The state contended that the bundle held parts of the bodies of the two women Lee is charged with having beaten to death.

Lee's stolid demeanor was not shaken as the witness levelled a finger at him and told how he had hurried away when she came near to see what he was doing with the package.

Lee is on trial only for the murder of Mrs. Thelma Bennett, with an indictment in reserve charging him with killing Miss Sarah Brownell, formerly of Gloversville, N. Y.

The two women were killed last July and parts of their mutilated bodies scattered in packages over Brooklyn and Manhattan.

WRECKAGE OF PLANE OF MISSING AVIATOR FOUND

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 21—(AP)—A piece of aeroplane wing, 18 feet long, found today on the shore at Shandy bay, Mantane county, has been positively identified as belonging to the plane occupied by Count de Lesseps and his Russian mechanic, Chinchinoff, who have been missing since Tuesday.

This information was contained in a message late today from Aviator Montville, of the Compagnie Aerienne Franco-Canadienne at Val Brilliant. Mr. Montville's message added that the rudder of the missing plane was found at Sandy bay.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Prince Karl Auersperg, known as the father of the measure against trading in grain futures, died yesterday. He was 68.

MOSCOW, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Alexander Rakovsky, recalled as ambassador to France by request of the French government, arrived in Moscow yesterday afternoon.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Official announcement was made that there will be no change in the regulations governing the export of rubber from Ceylon and Malaya on November 1.

BAY STATE TO PROSECUTE FIGHT FILM VIOLATORS

BOSTON, Oct. 21—(AP)—In accordance with instructions from Washington to "prosecute vigorously" all violators of the law prohibiting the interstate transportation of prize fight films, United States Attorney Frederick H. Tarr tonight called a special session of the federal grand jury for next Tuesday to investigate the showing of Tunney-Dempsey fight pictures in several Massachusetts cities and towns.

In view of a recent decision of a federal judge in New York that the presenting of prize fight films was not in itself illegal, it had been generally assumed here that no action would be taken by the federal authorities. While no official announcement was made as to the places where the films have been shown, it is known that among these were included Lowell, Springfield, Lawrence, Leominster and Braintree. The U. S. attorney said his investigation would be directed toward finding who was responsible for bringing the films into the state.

"If the grand jury finds substantial evidence of the violation of the law, the cases will be brought to trial promptly and prosecuted as vigorously as possible," Mr. Tarr said.

CITIES PRODUCING LARGE NUMBER OF IDLE WIVES

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 21—(AP)—American cities are producing a large number of idle wives, a non-productive parasitic class no less socially wasteful and demoralizing than the hobo class, David Snedden, professor of education at Columbia university, told the Massachusett's parent teacher association at its eighteenth annual convention here tonight.

"Many of these idle wives are college graduates and most of them have had at least secondary school education," Professor Snedden said. "So long as spinster teachers, hide-bound moralists in churches, hare-brained writers in novels, sensationalist platform speakers and ardent contenders for feminine equalities, speak a babel of tongues to youth, the latter will fail to respect the social inheritance and will pursue novelties, impulses and the easiest ways. Control of parenthood is probably opening the way for certain types of our people to revive ancient laxities to very dangerous degrees."

DEFICIENCY IN ENGLISH CONTRIBUTORY TO DEATH

HARTFORD, Oct. 21—(AP)—Insufficient knowledge of the English language to comprehend warning given him against the dangers of his work is the basis of a compensation award made a mother whose 17-year-old son died from an accident that occurred during his employment.

This is the case of Mrs. Eugenie Pelletier of Bristol, whose son Ernest Pelletier, a French Canadian youth who understood English imperfectly was injured presumably while trying to grease a machine belt which had slipped off while he was working for the American Silver company, Bristol, and died the next day.

Commissioner Albert J. Bailey, of Norwich, who heard the case for the commissioner of the first district found from the evidence that the youth while warned in English never comprehended this warning.

Pelletier operated four machines that rotated the handles of knives. One day he was found lying on the floor behind the machine which he operated and a belt off the pulley attached to one of his machines. There was no eye witnesses to the accident but near the youth was found a large piece of tallow or grease which is used to keep the belts from slipping, and the commissioner found it a fair inference from the evidence that the boy in attempting to grease one of the belts became entangled in the machinery which threw him to the floor and caused the injuries from which he died the following day.

The boy turned over to his mother his entire weekly pay of $19.87 and received back $2 or $3 for spending money. The mother and five other minor children relied on her son's contributions for support. She kept boarders but there is no evidence to show she made profit on these.

Mrs. Pelletier as dependent mother is therefore awarded $9.93 beginning May 5 for 312 weeks and the silver company and the American Mutual Liability Insurance company are also ordered to pay all medical, surgical and hospital bills and also the $100 burial fee provided by law.

FAILED IN VINDICATION SWIM OF ENGLISH CHANNEL

LONDON, Oct. 21—(AP)—The vindication swim of Miss Mercedes Gleitz was thwarted today by the cold waters of the English channel when the London typist was eight miles from her goal—the cliffs of Dover.

Starting from France, at Cape Gris Nez, to swim to England early this morning, she battled the chill of the channel waters until afternoon when she was forced to give up the unequal struggle.

The young woman swimmer was reduced to a state of semi-consciousness by the intense cold and seemed half asleep when she was taken to Folkestone harbor.

Miss Gleitz was attempting to repeat her channel swim of October 7, as a gesture of "vindication" declaring that after the hoax perpetrated by Dr. Dorothy Cochrane Logan, "something must be done to restore the prestige which Dr. Logan's criticisms have impaired."

SEIZURE OF THE FIGHT FILMS NOT JUSTIFIABLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21—(AP)—The showing of the Dempsey-Tunney fight films was held legal in the state of Pennsylvania if made in this jurisdiction according to a decision handed down today by Federal Judge J. Whitaker Thompson.

Judge Thompson held that the seizure of films in three theaters here was not justified inasmuch as they were made in the state of Pennsylvania and were therefore beyond the jurisdiction of the federal government because no interstate violation had been committed.

May Settle French Tariff Controversy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—(AP)—With the American reply to the last French tariff note completed announcement was made here today which is regarded as meeting the French contention that the American system of tariff commission investigators in foreign countries.

At the white house it was announced that Attorney General Sargent had ruled that under the law it was not mandatory to send tariff commission investigators into competing countries to determine costs of production of goods exported to this country. Argentine recently protested against such a move and France in its note of Sept. 30 objected to investigations into production costs in that country.

The other announcement made by the state department dealt with a working arrangement with the department of agriculture in regard to application of agricultural quarantines which also were mentioned in the French note.

In effect, the new arrangement creates machinery for joint control by the two departments of future quarantines on imported agricultural products. The French note of Sept. 30 complained that these "sanitary or phlo-phatological" restrictions were often "completely fatal to agricultural exports from France."

The new American tariff note will go forward either tomorrow or early next week. Its contents have not been disclosed. It is believed, however, to be highly conciliatory in tone. The agreement with the department of agriculture is construed in some quarters as evidence of this attitude and that Washington officials are hopeful of an early beginning of commercial treaty negotiations with France to put an end to tariff discriminations against the United States.

The last French note was viewed at the state department as unsatisfactory when it was first examined because of conditional stipulations, presumably in connection with a formula under which treaty negotiations could proceed. There are now indications, however, that Washington officials are reasonably sure that its conditional provisions were not intended to preclude treaty negotiations except upon the basis of advance assurances of American action in the way of lowered duties.

In any event the new American communication is expected to make it plain that no pledge of future reduction of statutory duties can be exchanged for the congression by France to accord American goods duting treaty negotiations substantially the customs status they enjoyed before Aug. 30 when the discriminatory rates went into effect.

EARL CARROLL DUE IN NEW YORK THIS MORNING

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct 21—(AP)—Turning his back on the federal penitentiary where he served one third of a year and a day sentence for perjury, Earl Carroll left here today on the Crescent Limited of the Southern Railway, for the white lights of New York. His train is due in New York at 11.53 a. m., tomorrow.

The theatrical producer, who was released last night from the penitentiary on parole, said the first thing he would do when he reached New York would be to attend a theatre.

"I have a longing to get back to the theatre," he said just before stepping on the train with his wife, his brother Jim, and sister, Mrs. Alice Schneider. They, with A. V. Rogney, casting director, came from New York to be with Carroll when he was freed.

TWO BABY LEOPARDS BORN AT VIENNA ZOO

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 21—(AP)—For the first time in many years two baby leopards were born at the Vienna zoo yesterday, Fritzi, the big sulky leopardess, the mother, failed, however, to nurse the hungry cubs.

The government advertised for the owners of female dogs, to bring their pets to the menagerie to act as foster mothers to the baby leopards, more than 300 Austrians appeared at the zoo today with canines, ready to adopt the tiny leopards as their own.

"Alas!" exclaimed the superintendent of the zoo, with a sign, "you are all too late. Fritzi devoured her children during the night."

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison, working as hard at the age of 80 as in his youth, would be glad to live his life over again with all its disappointments and successes, he declared tonight in a radio interview which was broadcast through 43 stations from coast to coast.

Fist Fights at Murder Trial in Paris Court

Jews and Anti-Semites Fared About Equally, With Police Acting As Referees.

PARIS, Oct. 21—(AP)—A free for all fight with Henri Torres, attorney for the defense, and Cesare Campinchi, representing the Petlura family, leading opposing factions, today nearly broke up the trial of Samuel Schwartzbard for the murder of General Simon Petlura.

Torres accused Campinchi of suppressing parts of a document which he read to the jury in an attempt to prove that the prosecution's star witness, Alexandre Soulguin was friendly to the French. Campinchi, reaching into his hip pocket, pulled forth the document and began re-reading it to the jury, Torres following him to face the jury box

"Don't force me to place in evidence your personal pedigree," Torres roared.

Judge Flory suspended the sitting amid the most intense turmoil. A few fist-fights developed in the lobbies with the police acting as referees and the Jews and anti-Semites faring about equally. There were a few black eyes and split lips but no serious injuries.

The outbreak came after the emotional tension dominating participants and spectators had soared close to the level of hysteria when the self-styled avenger of the Jewish race faced Shulguin and heard his declaration that he shared any responsibility Petlura might have had in Jewish pogroms in the Ukraine. Shulguin, who is now professor of history at the University of Prague, denied there was any such responsibility. He asserted that massacres of the Jews were committed by bolshevik and Ukrainian irregulars over whom the government had no control.

On the other hand Shulguin accused Schwartzbard of acting as the agent of Moscow.

A few minutes later when the witness insisted that Petlura himself was not anti-Semitic, Schwartzbard leaped to his feet.

For the first time during the trial he was virtually incoherent and unable to find words. His body quivered in spasmodic jerks. Recovering speech he cried: "Do you remember the terrible days of 1910 and 1911 at Kiev? Do you remember the accusations that Jews were using Christian blood for Easter ceremonies? You hate me because I am a Jew."

Shulguin, who had turned his back to the speaker, whipped around and screamed in a high falsetto: "No. Because you are a bolshevik."

Both seemed anxious to get at each other's throats. They had livid faces and could only speak in broken phrases.

The most bitterly fought point of the session, was whether Shulguin was a friend or enemy of France. Torres forced Shulguin to admit that as minister to Bulgaria he participated in steps for a separate peace.

Torres roared "This servant of a government under the wing of Germany dares to come here and make accusations against a man who fought and bled for France."

Campinchi explained that Ukrainia in holding off the bolsheviks had to accept friends wherever it found them. He declared that Shulguin later had been well received in France whereupon Torres caused a sensation in the ranks of the Frenchmen present by reading a proclamation by Petlura in which he eulogized Germany.

HOPEFUL OF TAKE-OFF TODAY FOR COPENHAGEN

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Oct. 21—(AP)—A brisk west wind, which increased despite the prayers of the crew of the Sikorsky plane, the Dawn, held the amphibian on the sands again today and forced postponement of the trans-Atlantic flight, with daybreak tomorrow as the earliest possibility.

The day was doubly irksome to Mrs. Frances Grayson and her two companion fliers, for had they been able to take the ship off under such conditions they would have had 20 miles an hour added to their speed during those first eight hours when the heavily burdened plane is necessarily slow.

Despite disappointment after disappointment, which have left them ready to go for more than ten days here, they were optimistic tonight that the long waited break in the weather would be had tomorrow morning.

EFFORT TO PROMOTE INTER-COLLEGIATE FLYING CONTEST

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—As a stimulus toward the development of aviation in American colleges, Grover Loening, president of the Loening Aeronautical Engineering corporation, today offered a prize fund of $5,000 for an annual award to the winners of an inter-collegiate flying contest.

He asked Porter H. Adams, president, and members of the contest committee of the National Aeronautic association to work out with him the plans for the contest.

WARRANTS FOR ARREST OF 50 UNION SYMPATHIZERS

Result of Attack by a Large Band on Non-Union Workers at Coal Mine in Ohio—Indictments Charge Assault and Battery and Malicious Destruction of Property—Tipple of the Mine Was Burned With a Loss of $50,000—100 Pickets Arrested in the Coal Fields of Colorado.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio, Oct. 21.—(AP)—An attack by a large band of union mine worker sympathizers on non-union workers at the Maple Leaf coal mine near here Aug. 1, resulted in the Tuscarawas county grand jury today returning 50 indictments charging assault and battery and malicious destruction of property against union sympathizers.

Warrants for the 50 men were issued late today and deputy sheriffs will start making service tomorrow.

The indictments charge that the men attacked John Horger, Jonn U. Horger, George Lawton, Frank Jennings and W. C. Roberts, while they were on their way to work in the mine. The five men were pulled from their automobiles and badly beaten, and their automobiles demolished. During the disturbance John Horger fired a gun into the attackers wounding John Vesco, union miner. Horger was indicted for shooting with intent to wound and Vesco for assault and battery.

The same night the tipple of the mine was burned with a loss of $50,000. No arrests were made at the time the indictments resulting from an exhaustive investigation of the affair.

The New Pocock Coal company of Massillon, Ohio, recently was granted an injunction in federal court at Columbus restraining union workers from interfering with operations of the mine with non-union labor. The mine has been closed since the disturbance.

SITUATION QUIET AT THE LICK RUN COAL MINE

NELSONVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The situation was quiet at the Lick Run coal mine here tonight and remained so throughout the day following a shooting disturbance last night by unknown persons, during which at least 150 shots were fired from ambush upon the mine property. Joseph Dresher, 22, a mine guard, was slightly wounded by fragments of bullets which glanced off mine boilers and hit him.

Another shooting, involving a miner occurred last night, however, which proved fatal. Elford Prater, 22, miner, was shot and killed by Milo Six, 19, who surrended to authorities today after being hunted for several hours.

Six confessed to Sheriff William Williams saying:

"I don't know why I shot him. He was the best friend I had, I must have been crazy."

No charges have been filed against Six who is under a physician's care.

100 COAL MINE PICKETS ARRESTED IN COLORADO

WALSENBURG, Colo., Oct. 21—(AP)—Huerfano jail bulged tonight with members of the Industrial Workers of the World arrested today while they picketed mines in the southern Colorado coal strike area in defiance of official warnings of peace officers. More than 100 pickets were arrested in Huerfano and Las Animas counties.

To the lusty strains of "Solidarity," and I. W. W. song, a large group of pickets, taken into custody as they sought to persuade men working the mines to join the strike, marched into the county court room here and were remanded to jail. Among 56 arrested near here were 15 women who were released.

Paul Siedler, organizer in charge of I. W. W. forces, was arrested along with the pickets, and his co-leaders at freedom tonight organized picketing on an enlarged scale to start early tomorrow morning while the mining camps sleep. The I. W. W. organization is sponsoring the strike.

Women sympathizers of the strikers grouped themselves into committees "to be up at 4:30 in the morning and go on picket." They also planned to call on the wives of strikers who have not answered the picket call, which state officials contend violates a state law.

Sheriff Harry Capps of Huerfano county, whose men rounded up pickets in that area today, announced he would hold the strikers until tomorrow morning "so that they won't be on picket duty."

No charges were filed against them.

Forty-eight pickets were held in jail at Trinidad, county seat of Las Animas county.

I. W. W. forces were reinforced today with the arrival of Roger Franceson, chairman of the national executive board of the organization, who addressed a large crowd of strikers and told them "we shall continue our picketing despite the raids."

TO PRESERVE BRAINS OF ILLUSTRIOUS RUSSIANS

LENINGRAD, Oct. 21—(AP)—Death will not bring privacy and peace to the brains of the illustrious citizens of Russia, if their kinsmen submit to a plan approved by the Soviet government.

The plan, already partially in operation, calls for the establishment of a "brain pantheon", where the cerebral tissue of deceased celebrities will be kept, like gold-fish, in glass bowls, attached to which will be gold plates telling whose brain is inside and what its peculiarities are. But before the brains are so displayed, they will be dissected, microscopically examined and their characteristics tabulated in the hope that they may thus continue to serve humanity after death. It was indicated that such tabulation might disclose the mysterious source of talent and genius.

The "brain pantheon" is the idea of Prof. Vladimir Bechterev, psychiatrist and hypnotist, who told the Associated Press that the brains of three Russian celebrities already are in his care and that Feodor Challapin has willed his brain to the new institution.

Kinsmen of Count Tolstoy refused to allow the brain of that noted writer to be placed in the pantheon, but Professor Bechtrev said he hoped to overcome such objections, through kindly persuasion.

FARM RELIEF PROBLEMS PUZZLING REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—(AP)—Discussions today both at the white house and in the ranks of western republican senators failed to throw much light on a solution to the vexing farm relief problem, an outstanding issue in republican party circles.

President Coolidge went over the farm relief question last night with Senator Borah, of Idaho, one of the leaders of the newly organized group of republican senators, from the west Today at the white house it was said that Mr. Coolidge hoped for some sound legislation at this session but that he was not prepared to discuss any new program.

Senator Borah feels the president is giving considerable consideration to this problem but he is not certain that the executive will seek to embody his views in a new bill. Rather, he believes Mr. Coolidge may leave the problem up to congress. This view was supported at the white house.

The controversal equalization fee provision of the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill seems to be the stumbling block of an agreement among western republicans. All feel certain that the president has not modified his opposition to it.

TO ROW FROM NEW YORK TO MIAMI IN THREE MONTHS

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—A new record as the first man to row from New York to Florida is being sought by Charles Sellitic, 67 years old sailor, who announced today that he will leave the Battery Sunday in a 14-foot row boat in which he plans to complete the trip to Miami in three months.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF THE CONN. VALLEY TOBACCO ASS'N

HARTFORD, Oct. 21—(AP)—The delayed annual report of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco association, which was recently absorved of the general charge of mismanagement by Judge Newell Jennings of the superior court, was given out by President Joseph W. Alsop today.

The report shows that considerable progress had been in the liquidation of the association by the present officers in accordance with the policy announced last February to dispose of what tobacco was on hand and eventually dissolve the association.

The reduction of outstanding loans by 1,140,000 since last February, leaving only a balance of $525,000; the sale of $4,395,493.12 of tobacco; the payment of members of $2,496,654.28; sufficient bills receivable to pay all outstanding loans when the bills are paid for tobacco sold; and a balance of 12,500 cases of tobacco on hand, are some of the major achievements between last February and August listed in the report.

TWO CRIPPLES PARTIALLY CURED BY "MIRACLE MAN"

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 21—(AP)—Brother Andre, Montreal's "miracle man", was discovered in this city today, where he has been visiting relatives since Monday, and hundreds of people throughout the day followed him to churches and hospitals in an effort to win from him a medal of St. Joseph and perhaps a cure of their ills. Two men who were crippled, one by a fall, and the other by paralytic stroke, reported partial recovery after he had prayed with them.

Brother Andre was found at the home of his cousin, Homer J. Bassette of this city, after news had spread of the cure of F. X. Gelineau of Willimansett, who visited the religious services at the Bassette home last night.

Brother Andre was given a complete physical examination at the hospital and found to be unusually strong for a man of his age. He is 82. His heart was found ailing slightly however, and a complete rest of six weeks was ordered.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN AUTO STRUCK TRAIN

NEW MILFORD, Oct. 21—(AP)—Miss Clara Jennings, 29, of Deer Mountain, Kent, was instantly killed this afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding alone collided with the Pittsfield-New York Express on the New Haven railroad at Bandzura's crossing, half a mile north of Gaylordsville.

BAPTIST CHURCH HOLDS A COMMUNITY NIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 21—Community and Denominational night was observed in the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Baptist church here tonight. Rev. David Winslow Lovett, the pastor, delivered a welcome to a capacity audience including many visitors. Mayor John C. Tracy expressed the community's interest in the welfare of the church. Rev. Frederick C. Williams, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church represented the Protestant churches of the city in his address. Rev. Edwin E. Sundt, representing the nineteen churches of the Ashford Baptist association of which the local church is a unit was heard in congratulatory remarks.

Rev. John Newton Lackey, D. D., of Hartford delivered the address of the evening. The men's Bible class with Mrs. Charles Tucker at the organ rendered the music. Visitors came from several towns and cities of Connecticut. Former pastors who have come here to attend the anniversary celebration have made note of the long service of Mrs. Charles Tucker of North Windham as organist. Rev. John Bunyan Lemon of Springfield, Mass., who was pastor here from 1891 to 1900 was pleased to find that Mrs. Tucker, who was the first and only person to preside at the present organ since it was installed in 1896, was still "on the job." Rev. Mr. Lemon took pride in making the statement that he had recommended Mrs. Tucker for the position during his pastorate. He also noted the active presence of William N. Potter to whom he referred as the "marathon church clerk" with a fine record of 51 years of service in that position.

There were 152 accounts opened in the Windham high school student bank this week, it was announced today by Laurence A. King, head of the commercial department at the school. Deposits amounting to nearly $60 were collected, the first deposit being made by Charlotte Webster of the senior class. The accounts are interest bearing starting November 1.

WESTERLY

LOCAL YOUNG MAN WINS ASHAWAY GIRL AS BRIDE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 21—The wedding of Miss Venus Marra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Marra of Ashaway and Vincent L. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent W. Bailey of Baltimore, Md., was solemnized at 8 o'clock today at the Church of the Immaculate Conception by Rev. J. F. Vincent, S. M. Fr. Vincent also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed the ceremony. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. Frank G. Ahern and during the mass Miss Elsie Main of Ashaway sang "Mother of Christ" and "Agnus Dei".

Miss Elvira Marra, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Peter Pinardi of Westerly was best man.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta and tulle. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses and baby breath. The bridesmaid was gowned in peach colored georgette, with hat to match, and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony at the church, a breakfast for the wedding party was served at the home of the bride's parents in Ashaway. This afternoon at 1 o'clock a reception was held for relatives and friends, and at 2.30 o'clock, a reception was held for the girl friends of the bride, with whom she had worked at the Stillwater Worsted mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left late this afternoon on a wedding trip to Baltimore. Upon their return they will make their home on Hillside avenue, Ashaway.

The Westerly fire department responded Friday at 4.15 p. m., to an alarm, No. 71, Canal and Pleasant streets, for a fire in the barn of Santo Ialconetta, 73 Pierce street. Chief Egger and Engineers Bonner, McKenzie and Passetti with the Seagrave pumper and men were soon at the barn. Two streams of hydrant hose extinguished the fire but not before the structure was a wreck. A neighboring shed caught fire but that was put out. Ladders were erected to the roof of the house at 75 Pierce street occupied by Angelo Adinari and fire starting from sparks on the roof was extinguished.

At the Ialconetta house no one was reported at home and it was unknown how the fire started. The barn was filled with wood and vegetables. The loss will amount to several hundred dollars.

On the site of the old Union street fire station the past week, Chief Egger, Engineer George McKenzie and force of workmen have been busily engaged in removing the wreckage of the wooden garage building partially burned, formerly occupied by the R. Every Baby Needs Vitamins

Science has rightly given emulsified cod-liver oil, as in Scott's Emulsion, a place of premier importance as a help to perfect baby's nutrition and to furnish its growing organism with a needed abundance of rickets-preventing and growth-promoting vitamins.

Young children who are not absorbing a full abundance of essential vitamins, should receive, as an added food-ration, regular doses of easily-assimilated, pleasantly-flavored, emulsified cod-liver oil in the form of

DANIELSON

LEGION POST TO MAKE PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

DANIELSON, Oct. 21.—When members of the American legion meet here Monday evening they will give further consideration to plans for Armistice day. This year there is to be a fitting observance of the day in Danielson, in contrast to last year, when there were few formal ceremonies.

This year there is to be a parade in which, it is anticipated, the Service battery, Headquarters detachment and fraternal and civic organizations of the town will also have a part. Legionnaires are to be requested to wear their O. D. uniforms. The line of march will be announced later, possibly after Monday evening's meeting. In addition to the parade there is to be a program of exercises, including speaking and music. In the evening a dance is to be held.

Members of the legion are anxious to have Armistice day observed generally in Killingly, with a suspension of business, if is possible to arrange it during at late the afternoon.

Commander Herbert E. Hopkins is general chairman of the Armistice day committee, with Past Commanders Ira A. Warren, Arthur F. Hain ville, Thomas A. Beckett, Joseph Burton and Arthur DeForest associated with him in the committee membership. Ira A. Warren is to be marshal of the parade.

The suggestion has been made that there be a general display of the national colors in connection with the observance of Armistice day.

PROVIDENCE WATER SYSTEM GETS LAND NEAR DANIELSON

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 21.—The Providence water supply board has reached out to within ten miles of Danielson for additional holdings for its reservoir system which has been in the course of development for years in Scituate. Announcement has been made of the purchase by the board of the Simmons mill property, including about 24 acres of land in the town of Foster at Hopkins Mill, for a price of $13,500. The Simmons mill owners are given the right to remain there for five years, during which time, however, they must pay taxes on the land used.

The Simmons mill property lies north of the Ponegansett reservoir on the Danielson pike and consists of a small mill, mill pond and approximately 24 acres of land. The city of Providence has purchased it primarily to prevent pollution of the water flowing into the Scituate reservoir from that vicinity.

The overflow from the Ponegansett reservoir formerly used to suplpy the mill pond of the Simmons mill, but with the reservoir discarded by the city it was found that legally the city might be liable for damages to the Simmons mill, which had certain water rights. Rather than risk the sale of the property to someone who might use it in such a manner as to pollute the water, the city decided to purchase it.

The regent, Mrs. Lena C. Tripp, presided at a meeting of Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., with Mrs. A. G. Bill Thursday afternoon. During the business session a donation was voted to the Blue Ridge school at Dyke Ridge school at Dyke, Green county, Va. A card of transfer was voted to Mrs. J. Dyer Potter to Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter of Putnam. An interesting report on the recent meeting of regents of chapters of the state at Windsor was given by Mrs. Tripp.

After the business session the program committee announced that the program of the afternoon would be a memorial to Caroline Scott Harrison, wife of the late President Benjamin Harrison. Sketches of her life were read by different members and two of her favorite songs were sung by Mrs. Herbert C. Keech, with Miss Mildred A. Olsson as accompanist. It was announced at the meeting that a memorial to Mrs. Harrison is to be erected at Oxford college, Oxford, O., birthplace of Mrs. Harrison.

At the conclusion of the program the hostesses served ice cream and cake.

Yesterday afternoon funeral services for Oscar J. Stillwell, a resident for years in the Sparks district of the town, were conducted at the undertaking rooms of A. F. Wood by Rev. Albert Abbott, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was in the South Killingly cemetery. The bearers were Edward Aldrich, Arthur Aldrich, Robert Smith and Bertram Benway.

Chief A. P. Woodward remarked today with satisfaction on the manner in which property owners responded to the recent appeal to have chimneys cleaned and thereby reduce the danger of fires originating from them during the fall and winter season. A check-up of the fire records of Danielson over a long series of years shows that the great majority of fires are caused by unclean or defective chimneys. Reports that have come to Chief Woodward from chimney cleaners show that this year more people have given attention to this matter than for a long time, and it is also sensed that some property owners clean their own chimneys or arrange to have it done by some agent of their own.

Incidentally, Chief Woodward has just added a new device to the equipment of the fire department, an arrangement with which firemen can work efficiently and with a minimum of discomfort in handling fires in chimneys. This new device promises to be very effective.

PUTNAM

COUNCIL RESCINDS VOTE ON REFUSAL OF CITY MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Oct. 21—A step was taken at the special meeting of the city council last evening that helped to create a better feeling about the water situation. The citizens committee felt that they had been wronged in having their application for a city meeting laid on the table.

At the council meeting this action was rescinded by a unanimous vote of the eight members present.

A committee representing the citizens who had signed the petition welcomed the move to have Caleb M. Seville, consulting engineer of the Hartford water department come here and give his idea of the best means of providing water storage.

Mayor Chapdelaine, who presided said that the meeting had been called at the request of a committee representing the signers of the petition. Attorney Irving H. Miron read the following:

"We are here as a committee representing more than sixty citizens and electors who asked the council to call a city meeting. They refused.

"Never before in the history of Putnam, nor do we believe in any other American municipality, has the right of citizens to call a meeting to consider a public question been denied.

"It is part of the bill of rights upon which this government is founded.

"We know that this council his no right to refuse to grant this application, which conforms to the city charter.

"We ask that the vote taken at your meeting Tuesday night, October 18, be rescinded and that said action be by record vote.

"Because we are interested, deeply interested, in the city and want to do everything we can to reach the best solution of the unfortunate situation that exists as to the water department, and having learned that an eminent hydraulic engineer will be here Saturday to give his opinion of what is best, we are willing to wait until after he comes before pressing our petition, provided that you here and now rescind the vote taken Tuesday night upon this petition."

Mayor Chapdelaine called on the members to express views.

Mr. Rogers said that the council committee had at all times been in a receptive mood toward any proposition that would bring harmonious action that he was willing to abide by the judement of Caleb M. Seville of Hartford, who agreed to come here Saturday, as to whether there should be one tank or two tanks and where they should be built and whether they should be of steel or concrete.

Attorney Charles L. Torrey was then asked for his opinon. He said that while it was well for the members of the council to express their friendliness toward what might be a get together movement, the real question at issue was whether the council would rescind the vote to lay the petition on the table, a vote, he said that they had no right to pass.

Alderman Rogers offered the motion to rescind the vote taken at the previous meeting and all members present voted for it.

Elizabeth Saretski, the three year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Saretski of Grand View, fell while playing in the yard at their home and injured her shoulder. As the little one continued to suffer from the injury, an X-ray was taken and it was found that she had fractured her collar bone.

Kenneth C. Sharpe is the new organist at the Bradley theatre. Mr. Sharpe is a well known musician in Putnam and has been organist the Second Congregational church for several years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Sharpe and has lived in Putnam all of his life.

Henry Bugbee, of the U. S. Marine corps and now stationed at the marine barracks, Cape Haitean, Haiti, recently sent home two medals which he got as an expert marksman, making a score of 296. He wrote of the excessive heat and the bright sunshine in Haiti. He expects to have a furlough within a few weeks when he will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bugbee in this city.

Mrs. John Nelson of Pomfret announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Gertrude Cecilia Nelson to Matthew Herbert Johnson on Saturday, October 15, at St. Stephen's church, Plymouth, Mass. JEWETT CITY

OLD-TIME LISBON BRICKS LOANED FOR SEVERAL GRAVES

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 21—Much interest was indicated today, when it became known that the Brick school house is to be abandoned and closed. This landmark where Lisbons children of many generations have been taught the rudiments of education was built 127 years ago. Near the site is the woods over-grown excavations from which the clay was dug to make the brick to build this little red schoolhouse, which has served so faithfully and so long.

In direct line, descending from its builders of another century, Miss Kate Ross daughter of George A. Ross, is alive today, and it was her great, great, grandfather the sire of the locally well remembered Bucklyn Mathewson. Stories of Griswold and Lisbon, also Preston, tell how here and there throughout the towns, often if a proposed building site happened to be near a convenient swamp, the clay if of the right quality and consistency, was by crude processes made into bricks (without straw), which were used as the material of construction. This ancient member of the Mathewson family, from whom Bucklyn was a descendent, at the time of the building of Brick school house caused 250 bricks to be made with extra care, to be kept stored near his home, and to be used solely for the purpose of bricking up the sides of his grave, for the old man had a horror of its caving in upon him, as he lay in his coffin. Before the old man died he had loaned the bricks, for "last resting place purposes" three times. His son Bucklyn Mathewson inherited the custom and he kept the 250 bricks necessary. He too, as his son-in-law said Friday, loaned the bricks no less than a dozen times, before they were in personal demand because of his death.

George A. Ross, of Lisbon and Wellesley, Mass., the present owner of the Bucklyn Mathewson estate, still has the carefully selected pile of 250 bricks, which will be utilized in conformance with the custom of the Mathewsons, father and son. Mr. Ross, when asked today if he too would loan the bricks, if needed by the writer of this story, replied—"Sure, willingly!"

A hunter who had been out through the pheasant covers in the Stone Hill section of the town Friday said—"If early winters depend upon the brooks and swamps being full, you can let her go anytime now!" Adding that, "Not in several years, ten at least, has the last days of October seen local fishing waters and swamp ponds so high."

Last Roses of Summer! This column within the last few weeks has noted ten fall bloomers, ranging from the common ramblers and Dorothy Perkins to the finest hardy hybrids, like LaFrance Josephine and Queen Elizabeth

Very Rev. Michael McCabe council K. of C. held its annual election Thursday evening, the following officers being elected. They were installed by District Deputy John F. Hennon':

Grand knight, Chester Dudkowski; deputy grand knight, William McGovern; chancellor, Lionel Boucher; recorder, Richard Dudkowski; financial secretary, Theodore Boule; treasurer, Thomas Barnett; warden, George Lafave; advocate, Timothy Shea; inside guard, Dennis Griffin; outside guard, John Tracy; trustees, John Leclaire and William Duggan.

During the smoker which followed the business, Rev. Fr. McCabe acting as host for the evening presented Rev. Nicholas Caron, curate at St. Mary's church as the speaker of the evening. He gave an eloquent and instructive talk on the principles and work of the order. Brief addresses were made by Father McCabe and the district deputy. The council is arranging for a series of whists, a special prize to be awarded the person who has the highest score at the end.

The board of assessors, Irving O. Burdick, Edward Blanchard and Henry E. Olsen and John Welsh the town clerk and treasurer, are sharing the town hall, while repairs are being made to the town clerk's quarters.

THE FIGHT FILM LAW

It is an old story that there are many ways of getting around the law, and it is known that just as soon as a new law is enacted, and probably before, there are those who are at work finding loopholes whereby prosecution can be avoided even if the purpose of the law is not respected.

There have been several instances which show the disposition to disregard the existing federal law concerning the transportation of fight pictures. It may well be said that inasmuch as there is no restriction upon the number who can see the actual fights, except it be the cost and the limited capacity of the place where the exhibition is held, there seems to be no good reason why there should be laws preventing others from seeing the pictures even if they cannot see the actual combat. As it is they can hear and read about all the details, but the law says that films cannot be carried by common carriers or in the mails.

There's a nicety about the law's provisions which has come in for a grand jury inquiry in New York state. There Federal Judge Goddard has been asked for an opinion and he had decided that fight pictures can be exhibited without a violation of the federal law against transportation, and those who receive them for display will not be guilty under the law, if the films were transported through states by other means than common carriers or the mails.

His decision is based upon the provision of the law which prohibits certain transportation, without apparently including the private car or maybe a privately owned airplane. If that construction is sustained by the higher courts it reveals a situation where the law amounts to nothing and it might as well be repealed. If it is to be continued it stands in the need of amendment.

It would ordinarily be believed by a layman that the purpose of the law is clear, and that it is intended to cover such a case as that in question, but one judge says not and it remains to be seen whether the decision would be sustained on an appeal. Efforts to get fight pictures are certainly getting increased attention and putting the law to a severe test.

NO RECOMMENDATIONS YET

Even though it is a long time since the first interstate bus lines were established, there appears to be no solution in the minds of the interstate commerce commission for the regulation of this interstate traffic. Hearings have been held and there will be a report of progress on the part of the commission for the benefit of the coming congress but the indications are that the matter is far from closed.

Less is heard about the difficulties concerned in the operation of busses across state lines, for either there is compliance with such requirements as the respective states demand, or else the opposition is sitting quietly by, supported by injunctions against the operation of state laws and waiting for such a move as the federal commission may take.

That it presents a complicated situation was recognized at the start. The handling of such regulation as is needed would involve a tremendous task if undertaken by the commission. There is the possibility of delegating the authority, if so empowered by congress, to the respective states to handle the regulation by agreement between themselves, but the commission is not ready to say what it believes should be done. It has heard various interests. It finds plenty of conflict. It doesn't appear to have been sufficiently helped by the hearings which have been held to come to a decision. There's the possibility that the presentation of the result of the hearings may offer an opportunity for others to bring to light new conditions or advance solutions which have not been considered.

The situation is one which does not give promise of an early settlement of the problem. The fact is there's no telling how much longer will be required, or how many hearings will be held, before a decision is reached as to how the matter should be handled. Thus far the commission isn't even ready to make a start even though it recognizes that a perfect arrangement hasn't been found. It is a matter which ought not to be allowed to drag along indefinitely.

McCALL'S RESIGNATION

When 102 indictments were recently returned by the grand jury in Alabama for floggings in one county of that state it was set forth that while practically all of the indicted persons belonged to the Klan it was not the intention of the jury to indict the organization. It was a case where it found certain members of an organization acting in a manner which called for prosecution if society was to be protected, and the inference was that the organization should look well to its own interests in view of the action of such members and the influence which such might have upon it.

This has been followed by the resignation of Attorney General McCall of Alabama from the Klan and he has not been backward in making it known that he has done so and in setting forth that it is impossible for him to be connected with an organization which tolerates such conditions as have attended the floggings. This attitude is disclosed despite the reference to the organization in the verdict of the jury, but it apparently results from the feeling that it is impossible for him to uphold the law of the state and fight lawlessness when he is handicaped by influences which are working in another direction, or at least not doing what it should to prevent the distressing conditions.

It would seem that the attorney general had become a member under the belief that different principles were being followed. Evidently he has been disillusioned. He has encountered conditions which are unsatisfactory to him and while the grand jury was disposed to be lenient wit' the organization to which most of the indicted men belong the attorney general displays no such willingness.

The attorney general will now be free to prosecute the cases against the floggers and his public resignation should have the effect of bringing about such a housecleaning as the situation demands. What the organization's reaction to the resignation will be will command interest.

BANK COMMISSIONER SHIPPEE

Connecticut has a new bank commissioner in the person of Lester E. Shippee. He comes to the office as the logical appointee. He has not only had the advantage of much banking experience and a thorough understanding of the state's laws, but he has been acting in the responsible capacity of deputy bank commissioner. Having qualified most capably in that office and experienced the benefit of the tutelage of John B. Byrne, the retiring commissioner, it was the proper action on the part of the governor in putting him at the head of that department which supervises the banking institutions of the state.

This part of the state is particularly interested in the appointment because it involves an eastern Connecticut man. Confidence was expressed at the time of the Byrne appointment that no mistake had been made and the state has had every reason to feel that way as the result of his commissionership. That his successor should come from the same county and neighboring town may be a bit unusual but it is a case of fitness that governs and as in the case of his predecessor it is believed that he will do honor to the office and prove in every way an efficient official in that responsible place.

Much reliance is placed upon the bank commissioner's department. The state depends upon it for keeping its banking institutions up to a high mark of safety and that service calls for constant and faithful attention to the many requirements. With a responsible commissioner added assurance is always felt on the part of the public.

MR. MORROW'S JOB

It is with much interest that Dwight W. Morrow goes to Mexico as ambassador from this country. This will be because of the man, because of his choice for the post and because of the situation which he faces.

Much is expected of him, quite the same as there was from Ambassador Sheffield when he was sent to Mexico City.

President Coolidge has picked a man of outstanding prominence, a man in whom he has the utmost confidence, for this difficult post. He has been chosen because it is believed he thoroughly understands the president's position in regard to Mexico and because it is hoped that he will be able to so present it to the Mexican authorities that a better relationship between the two countries will result.

At the present time the relationship is not what it should be. There is not that understanding that there should be and until the differences are composed and a full understanding reached in regard to Mexico's laws and the enforcement that can be expected, little improvement in the situation can be expected.

Mexico has no reason to desire other than amicable relations with this country. Difficulties in overcoming feelings that have been carried along for many years bob up at such a time but in view of the assistance which we can give to Mexico and which Mexico wants there should be a way out. It is that way which Mr. Morrow is expected to find and it is possible that the method of approach to a solution may have much to do with the actual accomplishment. If Mexico could sanction no agreement in the past the situation is not necessarily hopeless. The opportunity under changed conditions of getting away from the inclination to be offish and unyielding, and thereby contribute to the economic benefit of Mexico is before the neighbor to the south. To bring that about is Mr. Morrow's job

THE MAN WHO TALKS

The other day I ran across the following that is attributed to Abraham Lincoln: "I like to see a man proud of the community in which he lives. I like to see a man live in it so that his place will be proud of him." It may be a question whether Lincoln ever said it or not. If he did we should think none the less of him, because it entirely agrees with his well-known practical philosophy. But whether the martyred president said it or not it contains food for reflection. It is only the first part of the above saying that is open to some qualification. How is it in regard to those places that are discredited because of their flagrant violation of law? The very mention of the names of some communities is enough to make one hang his head in shame because of their disreputable character. It is quite possible for communities to be bad as well as individuals. Can a decent citizen be proud of such a place?

The name of the author is not appended to this quotation: "The mosquito is like a child: the moment he stops making a noise he is getting into something." Probably you will not find this saying among the works of Plato or Aristotle, and as far as I know it has never been attributed to Shakespeare. Even if the statement does not occur in the pages of the Bible it is far from rank heterodoxy. I think it must be admitted that there is just a bit of gray matter back of the authorship. Must we not admit that it is the great forces of nature that are silent. The shallow, babling brook does not remind us of power, but the silent volume of the mighty Amazon or Mississippi does. The noisy truck tells us that it is here, but the journey of the planets through space has nothing to say. It is true that real things are being done when the mosquito stops singing.

It has been said—very learnedly and sometimes quite otherwise—that "every effect has a cause." Probably one can say nothing that will raise less objection than this. Now there is some reasons why gray squirrels have left their usual habitat of the forest solitude, and have moved into town for the winter. Now, of course, there is a cause for this—but what is it? Is it because the wilderness and solitary place are no longer making them glad through a scanty prospect of food supply? Or has the social question entered the woodland as it has everywhere else in New England? It may be that the silent work of evolution is gradually pushing them a little more up hill so that they begin to yearn for human civilization. To live in shade and fruit trees adjacent to human civilization is evidence of the upward evolutionary trend. It is the part of wisdom for us to treat them kindly for in time they may serve us as domestic animals.

How differently do we look at the Bible than they did in the not long distant past! The modern literary approach, through the scientific method, has made it a vastly more illuminating volume. We no longer regard the Bible as a fetish: Something to be looked at from a distance with awe: Something to be read and wholly to be accepted with superstitious fear. We are now beginning to see it in the true light of a great human production essentially inspired to give us the will of God in our relations to Him and to one another. We no longer look upon it as a verbal dictation of God to certain writers just as a college professor dictates a lecture to his pupils. We simply wonder at its age that it should have undergone so many translations from original sources that have long since ceased to exist and still contain all the essentials of the divine revelation.

There was a most interesting discussion at the recent joint meeting of the New London and Windham Associations of Congregational Ministers. The meeting was held in the Jewett City Congregational church. A spirited discussion arose over the use of the Greek New Testament in the pastor's study. Can the average minister add much to the general knowledge of textual criticism in view of the fact that expert linguists in professor's chairs are devoting their endeavors to this one branch of learning? Even if he cannot make an original contribution to this branch of learning does the effort he makes to enlarge his own knowledge of this ancient language from which our New Testament is derived enlarge his own mental capacity? Isn't the preacher made stronger by original investigation? The writer of the paper was challenged to repeat a Greek sentence whereupon he gave the Lord's Prayer in Greek.

One is glad to see that sleeping justice is waking up in Alabama. For any man or set of men, even under very strong provocation, to punish wrong doing by voluntary flogging is subversive of all human law. We can easily see what rank injustice is likely to follow when men are swayed by brutal primitive passions. It is a relapse from sane democracy which is the highest human administration of law to the tactics of the original caveman. There are doubtless good reasons for all of us at times being indignant with the miscarriage of justice; with the slowness oftentimes of court procedure; and the petty loopholes through which a keen lawyer will drag his guilty client to liberty especially if he has abundant means. Such things are very provoking, but matters would be made much worse by angry passion taking things into its own hands.

The other day I saw a little boy run into the house crying because another boy had hit him in the eye with a peashooter. Possibly the little fellow was more frightened than hurt, but at the same time it was vastly more than a careless act on the part of the bigger boy. It was both thoughtless and cruel. In this way the eye can easily be injured for life. Many a time a slight injury to the eye in youth is the remote cause in later life of impaired sight if not total blindness. The big boy in question seemed to be insensible of this fact and seemed to derive pleasure from the fact that he had given pain. This is a trend of personality which, if not sternly corrected, points logically to the reform school a few years later, and ultimately to the prison. Of course in many instances it is mere thoughtlessness, but boys should remember that it is a very dangerous thing to do.

I wonder if any of my readers have been reminded that there is such a day as Christmas approaching! Isn't it a caution what a variety of things (shall I say truck) is suggested as suitable presents? To say the least it is a bonanza to the post office department, but it is making pack horses of our poor mail carriers! If we thow most of it into the waste basket after giving it only a hasty glance it is not evidence of total depravity. The buying public may be more or less behind the times but it is not quite clear to the rank and file what relation of ideas there is between some new brand of chocolates and the old Christmas story. It reminds one of the well-meaning, but somewhat unpoetical husband who a few years ago gave his good wife a big fat ham as a reminder of the beautiful event of ancient Bethlehem. To some hams have a sweeter incense than myrrh.

OLD IRONSIDES LAUNCHED 130 YEARS AGO

THE GREATEST FIGHTING-SHIP IN THE WORLD

The United States frigate "Constitution"—"Old Ironsides"— construction authorized 27 March, 1794; launched 21 October, 1797; still afloat, and soon to be restored to her original condition. This ship has fought more battles, captured more prizes, sailed more miles, trained more navy officers, received less injury, sustained fewer losses, than any other ship in the world. When restored, it is proposed to exhibit her to a proud and grateful nation in the principal ports of the coasts and rivers.

In these days in intensive life, with a high rate of activity in all movements of the American people, past events are quickly forgotten and their relative importance easily overlooked. It is fortunate, therefore, that the sesquicentennial of the events of the Revolutionary war is receiving some attention, even though meager in volume and lacking much of valuable detail, writes John Stuart Barrows. While the events of that war are being reviewed and people's memories freshened regarding that great epoch in our national history, incidents of still another great epoch are being presented in connection with the enterprise of rehabilitating the United States frigate Constitution, or "Old Ironsides," as she was affectionately renamed by her enthusiastic crew.

Congress sanctioned the restoration of the old ship, at a probable cost of about $500,000, but did not appropriate the sum. It has been left to the patriotism of the American people, through the medium of the schools, to raise the needed funds. For several months the campaign has been progressing in a quiet way, and the hearty cooperation and assistance of the B. P. O. Elks has been applied to assure its success, for that great fraternal body has a pride in never being defeated in its great undertakings.

The old ship is in need of extensive and immediate repairs. To outward appearance the noted frigate seems almost fit for duty, if given a suit of sails, so well-done was the rerigging and restoration in 1917; but that restoration was largely superficial, the hull and under-water part is badly in need of a thorough reconstruction, nothing of importance having been done to that part since 1875, when the frigate was completely rebuilt and made actually seaworthy. The ship is leaking steadily, and is so tender in the frame that it will not be possible to dock or draw out the hull until some preliminary repairs and strengthening can be done.

No vessel of war since the establishment of the navy of the United States has earned a higher reputation for efficient service or has been accorded so much honor and sentiment as the "Constitution." During the years of the various wars of the nation other vessels have attracted attention—the Bon Homme Richard will never be forgotten; the unfortunate Chesapeake will be remembered as a splendid ship sacrificed by an inefficient government and a lack of discipline; the Hartford, which still abides, one of the last of the notable Civil war steam frigates, will be more than a name in connection with the memory of David G Farragut; and the Olympia, with Dewey on board was the great hero ship of the Spanish war, an honor somewhat shared with the Oregon, that exponent of high speed by a well-built ship. Other vessels have claim to recognition in history, but all take second place in the hearts of true Americans to "Old Ironsides," the lucky ship of the War of 1812, which experienced more battles than usually fall to the service of a single vessel, and with corresponding victories. No nation today possesses such an heirloom of national success, not even the Victory beloved by Britons because of Admiral Nelson. That ship, which today is given high honors by a grateful people, is in no way superior to the Constitution, for the American frigate under different commanders won unquestioned victories, and won them single-handed; and during the later years of peaceful voyaging has performed an additional number of valuable services to her country.

No Navy After the Revolution

That the Constitution still exists is because a thoughtful people have kept the government informed of her needs when officers of the navy and bureaucrats were inclined to ignore or advise destruction. The people of this country will not allow the Constitution to be destroyed or fall to pieces so long as every available means of preserving her is tried. Indeed the affection for the old ship has become a matter of national pride regardless of locality or section, and, so far as honor and maintenance is possible, the debt of the nation will be honored.

It has been the case generally in the history of this country that no definite policy of progress of resistance has been formed until the patience of the people has been worn out. That such a ship as the Constitution was produced was due to the exasperation of the government of the United States over the piratical raids of the corsairs of the Dey of Algiers on American shipping in the early years after the establishment of this nation. The Dey of Algiers saw in this nation an easy prey and a source of tribute and ransoms, lacking, as it did, a navy or speedy cruisers.

In July, 1785, two American vessels, the Maria of Boston and Dauphin of Philadelphia, were captured near the Strait of Gibraltar by Algerine corsairs and their crews sent into slavery. Other similar outrages follow; in one cruise Algerines took 11 vessels with 112 persons in their crews.

The young United States after the war of the Revolution had no navy. What few war vessels were in commission at the end of the war were disposed of, and the flag was removed from the sea, except where borne on merchant vessels. Naval ability and daring was not lacking, for the privateers alone during the war had captured and taken into port 650 British vessels, besides others ransomed or destroyed. But between 1775 and 1783 the United States had "6 vessels of war, none of which were of importance. After the Revolution the circumstances of a war between Portugal and Algiers made it possible for American merchant vessels to have an advantage, for the Portuguese kept the pirates from the seas till 1793, when a treaty was made between the two countries, and then the Algerines turned their full attention to American commerce, and that autumn four American vessels were captured.

Fights the Tripolitans

The following spring congress decided on the construction of six frigates and on March 27, 1794, the Constitution was authorized as one of the three of 44-guns to be built, with three of 36-guns. The contract for plans and specifications was given to Joshua Humphreys, a Pennsylvania Quaker, who for 30 years had been building war and merchant ships.

These six ships were to be named and built as follows: Constitution, 44-guns, Boston; President, 44-guns, New York; United States, 44-guns, Philadelphia; Chesapeake, 38-guns, Portsmouth, Va.; Constellation, 38-guns, Baltimore, Md.; Congress, 38-guns, Portsmouth N. H. Work was immediately begun and on July 10, 1797, the United States took the water, followed Sept. 1, by the Constellation, and on October 21 the Constitution at the third trial was launched at Edmund Hartt's shipyard in Boston, where she had been built by Claghorne and Hartley under the direction of Captain Samuel Nicholson, one of the six navy captains commissioned by the government.

In 1795 the work on these vessels was stopped by the cheese-paring government, because a treaty had been made with Algiers, which stipulated that the United States was to pay annually to Algiers the sum of 12,000 sequins ($22,000.) Washington, in a speech to congress, in December, 1796, invaded the "fools' paradise" then enjoyed by this country, urging the creation of a new navy, the ships to be acquired gradually on an annual basis of construction; but his far-seeing advice had no weight, for it was not till April 30, 1798, that the navy department was created separate from the war department, and Benjamin Stodart was made secretary.

The following May an appropriation was made for building galley and other small vessels, and July 16 a navy was authorized to consist of 12 frigates, 12 ships of not over 24-gun power, and 6 sloops, a total of 30 vessels beside the galleys and revenue-cutters.

In March, 1801, the administration of Thomas Jefferson began, with "economy in public affairs" as the policy. The navy was cut to a peace footing of 13 frigates, 6 to be on duty, and 7 in ordinary, all other vessels to be sold, and the superfluous officers to be discharged. Fortunately the Constitution, which always has been a lucky ship, was one of the frigates retained, and it was well, for in May, 1803, she was sent to the Mediterranean station, under command of Captain Preble, to help put fear into the hearts of the Tripolitans, who were capturing our merchant ships without compunction.

During the next three years the Constitution was busy fighting severe engagements with the defences of Tripoli until the pirates were completely conquered and glad to let any American vessel alone. Then, in 1807, the Constitution came back to the United States and was idle for five years.

Has Sailed Round the World

On June 18, 1812, war was declared against Great Britain, and then began the glorious career of the frigate. August 19, she defeated and destroyed the British frigate Guerriere and made the people of the United States very happy, because on land the British had been defeating the army. December 29, in the same year, the Constitution defeated and destroyed the Java, and by that time she had established such a terrible reputation that the British ships blockaded her in Boston, until under command of Captain Stewart she ran the blockade and cruised a while, only to be chased back into Marblehead harbor by British ships, and later, after escaping to Boston, to be again blockaded. On December 17, 1814, she ran the blockade again, and the British government sent the alarming information through its fleets, "The Constitution is cruising again." This time she got away far enough to escape the blockading squadron and on February 20, 1815, encountered the British ships Cyane and Levant and later after a short engagement defeated and captured them both.

This was the last battle of the ever-victorious frigate, and she was very popular for the next 20 years.

In 1829, after a long period of good service the Constitution was surveyed and condemned to be destroyed, but as a result of the interest aroused by the stirring poem by Oliver Wendell Holmes, she was retained, and later rebuilt.

During the next 30 years the frigate had a varied experience. She sailed around the world, was on duty in the southern Pacific, was in the Mediterranean and on the African station chasing slavers, until 1858 when she was sent to the United States Naval academy at Annapolis to be a training ship for the midshipmen of the Academy. For the next 10 years she hovered a brood of young officers, many of whom wrote their names deeply into the history of this country. When the Civil war broke out she was removed to Newport, R. I., where the academy was temporarily established.

In 1876 she was on exhibition near the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia. In 1878 she carried the United States exhibit to France, and was almost wrecked in returning. In 1883 she was sent to Kittery, Me., to the navy yard as a training and receiving ship, and there she existed, deprived of her masts and spars, until 1897 when her centennial year was observed by removing her to Boston, where she has since remained.

In 1917 she was partially restored, being rigged and equipped with an armament. Since then she has been steadily deteriorating, until now when the interest and contributions of the children and other generous citizens have practically assured her restoration. She is to be restored to a condition which will permit her being taken from port to port, and up the Mississippi until as many of the people as can, may see her in her former beauty.

Sunday Morning Talk

COURAGE

One of the stories of the sea, the wreck of the Valencia, off the northwest coast, thrills by more than its dreadful tragedy. It exalts and uplifts by its showing of a splendid courage that never failed even when the icy messenger of death made a final summons to men and women. Clinging to the rigging of a vessel already doomed, expecting each moment would be the last, those people sought comfort from the only source in the time of greatest need. The captain prayed and faced the situation without a tremor.

One woman raised her voice and sang, Nearer My God to Thee. Soon mingling with the roar of the tempest, the crash of the waves, the straining of the ship, there arose in chorus the hymn that has helped so many in the hour of trial. It was the last sound that came upon the last of those who were escaping by boats. Those left behind to perish were singing, cold, hungry, helpless, buffeted by the raging deep, and expecting any instant that it would overwhelm them. There was in their fortitude something sublime.

To be in the presence of impending death and look toward it with a song on their lips, is a spectacle revealing an elevated heroism in which all mankind has a right, the courage that comes from having that Friend for ours who has said, "Lo, I am with you always."

In many parts of Holland, tiny cactus plants may be seen in miniature plant pots. Some of these plants are little larger than a thimble.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Scriptural Meditation

Mr. Editor: Some one has well said that every great event in the world's history has occurred in a place with an insignificant name.

The converse of this is the fact that the great events are what gives significane to the places.

Jesus was not great because he was born in Nazareth, but the place became celebrated because of his birth and justly so.

In studying the birth, life and the teachings of Jesus we must recall that he did not promulgate in writing any code of ethics. It is related as noteworthy of him that the only writing he ever did was on the ground in the sand and with his finger and no copy was retained to explain its meaning. Conjectures would be vain—just as many conjectures in regard to what is taught orally go often very wide of the mark.

It is proper to bear in mind that the "Scriptures" which he referred his hearers to for information about himself was not the New Testament but the Old. Those writings testified of him beforehand, and being the national source of religious instruction were the infallible rule.

In these we of today find testimony of his birth—virgin birth, if you please—his rejection and passion and the triumph of his doctrines—He should see of the travail of his soul and be satisfied.

Abraham rejoiced to see his day and "he saw it afar off and was glad."

It would be a source of gladness to us if looking backward today we saw it, even as Abraham and the prophets did, with their dimmer light and our larger scope.

It is evident from this that the doctrines concerning Christ and Christianity need not be cumulative nor a concretion of later centuries but those statements preceding him and to which his life and acts gave full endorsement.

When he made reply to a learned scribe in regard to the Commandments he quoted the Old Testament word for word and made his point, and in replying to the concession of the inquirer he gave him a courteous compliment—

"Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God"—let us not forget that to be not far from the Kingdom of God is yet to be outside of that Kingdom. There were many scribes and masters in Israel who were not posted on the ethical teachings of the scripture which required a spiritual discernment and which come only to a man through a process which Jesus likened to a new birth and without which he said a man cannot even see the Kingdom of God. There's the rub, and this is as true today as when he spoke it.

It is vain to attempt an illustration of some things without this spiritual enlightenment for they are spiritually discerned. This may sound like preaching. Although we began with a meditation we cannot help it.

Air Delivery Ten Months Ago

Mr. Editor: I note an item in The Bulletin of today that a recent shipment to the Reid & Hughes Co., was the first air delivery of merchandise in Norwich. I would pass this in silence were it not for the fact that our town would not be very progressive were this the case.

The facts are that a certain Norwich firm, who do not care for publicity and so said nothing, had a shipment of special electrical equipment sent from the middle west to Hartford by air, thence to Norwich in the regular way, just about ten months ago.

Very truly yours,

JAMES L. HUBBARD

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Thomas Ross Preston, who is slated to succeed to the presidency of the American Bankers' association when that organization meets in Houston next week for its annual convention, is a banker of Chattanooga and one of the leading financiers of the south. While banking has been his chief business he has also been actively identified with numerous large industrial corporations of Chattanooga and vicinity and has been instrumental in bringing the south to the fore as a textile manufacturing center. Mr. Preston was born in Woodbury, Tenn., and was educated in the academy of his native place. At the age of 21 he began his career as a clerk in a Chattanooga savings bank. Scarcely fifteen years later he became one of the organizers and president of the national bank with which he is still connected.

TUBERCULOSIS IS CURABLE

By E. W. Hayes, M. D., F. A. C. P., Monrovia, Cal.
Member Gorgas Memorial

Tuberculosis is now known to be a preventable disease. It is a comparatively easy matter to control the sources of infection if we can get the cooperation of the public.

In order that one shall not be a source of infection, the diagnosis of his disease in its early stage is important. Consequently, we hope that the time is not far distant when every individual who has a cold that lasts more than a month, a dry hacking cough, expectoration of bloody sputum, unexplained loss of appetite, loss of strength, or nervousness will feel it his duty to present himself to those who he knows are specially trained to examine him for the presence of tuberculosis.

When a diagnosis is made the patient should be rigidly instructed to avoid boisterous talking and laughing and to cover his mouth with some cheap paper or gauze each time he coughs or sneezes. This paper or cloth should then be deposited in a receptacle which when full, should be burned with its contents. He should also be instructed to deposit all sputum in containers that can be destroyed. If these instructions are intelligently followed, the patient will be no great source of danger to anyone about him.

To eliminate the danger of infection from cow's milk, the milkers should be clean and healthy and the cows should be housed in clean, well-ventilated buildings. They should also be periodically tested for the presence of tuberculosis. If there is any doubt, the milk should be pasteurized.

Tuberculosis in its early stages is curable. However, if patients, through neglect or carelessness, allow their disease to drift into the advanced stages, tuberculosis is one of the most incurable diseases.

For some unknown reason many people who have tuberculosis do queer things. They avoid those who they know are in a position to give them the right advice. They chase rainbows by expecting some mystery man or quack who promises them everything or anything to cure them of their disease. Or they wander about expecting some fountain of youth or special climate to relieve them of responsibility and restore them to health.

There is no one man cure. Climate alone is a very disappointing factor in overcoming the disease. There is no mystery about the treatment of tuberculosis. It has been worked out so that today it is a clear cut procedure. The fundamental factors in the treatment are physical, mental, and emotional rest, followed by carefully regulated exercise, pure fresh air, intelligent feeding, and favorable climatic conditions. In other words, the treatment is essentially a mapping out of a course of living with special attention paid to details as they may apply to each individual.

Scientific medicine has shown tuberculosis to be a preventable disease and the sources of infection to be relatively easy to control. It has shown tuberculosis to be a curable disease and that the treatment is definite. It remains for the public to familiarize itself with these facts.

RECAPTURE NEW HAVEN WOMAN JAIL BREAKER

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Penfield, who walked out of the New Haven county jail yard Wednesday night after discarding her dress, was back in jail tonight. Also in jail charged with aiding her in the escape, was her "second husband," Charles Hopkins of New Haven. It was after being wed to Hopkins, without having a divorce from her Hartford spouse, that Mrs. Penfield was convicted of bigamy and sent to jail for a year.

The woman was found asleep in an unoccupied farm house on the Old Colony road in Wallingford, in an isolated section. Noticing a window in the house broken, as he passed, Frank Manfreda, father of the town prosecutor, investigated and found her. She said she had taken refuge there from last night's storm.

Mrs. Penfield explained that she had arranged her escape with "Edward Hughes" of New York, who met her with an automobile, took her to North Haven and left her there.

New Haven police today arrested Hopkins, however, in the belief that he was the one responsible for the escape.

COL. JOE MILLER OF 101 RANCH FOUND DEAD

PONCA CITY, Okla., Oct. 21—(AP)—Colonel Joe Miller, part owner of the noted 101 ranch near here, and the eldest of three brothers of wild west show fame, was found dead in his garage here today. He was 56 years old.

Colonel Miller and his brothers were reared in the saddle on the ranch established by their father in 1879. The property extended into the famous Cherokee strip of Oklahoma and included 110,000 acres.

It was at the ranch that the rodeo, now popular in many parts of the country, was perfected.

OBITUARY

Col. William Bromwell Melish

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 21—(AP)—Colonel William Bromwell Melish, 75, for more than 50 years a figure of national and international prominence in Masonry, died at his home here today. Colonel Melish, of thirty-third degrees, was one of the most widely known Masons in America and was the representative in the United States of Great Priory of England and Wales of the Order of the Temple.

He was the only Mason in the United States entitled to wear the grand cross of the Great Priory of England under the title of Grand Cross Templar, a title which was bestowed upon him in 1911 in London by his royal highness, the duke of Connaught, sovereign grand master of the Great Priory of England.

He also was the representative of the sovereign Great Priory of Canada.

Colonel Melish was an honorary member of the supreme council of northern Masonic jurisdiction, a member of the provincial grand lodge, Royal Order of Scotland and dean of the past grand commanders of the Great Commandery of Knights Templar of Ohio.

POMONA HAD TWENTY CANDIDATES FOR DEGREE

When New London county Pomona Grange held its by-monthly meeting with Ledyard Grange Thursday, there were nearly 200 present. Sidney Hall of Preston Plains is master and Arthur Avery of Norwich is overseer of this Pomona. The resignation of Leslie Holdridge as assistant steward as he has entered the University of Maine was accepted and Amos Gallup of Mystic Grange was elected assistant steward. Miss Alice Bishop, the efficient secretary, was busy attending to his many duties. There were twenty candidates waiting to take the fifth degree, coming from the following granges: Ledyard 4; Mystic 10; Norwich 3; Stonington 1; North Stonington 2. After the conferring of the degrees all retired to the vestry of the church where the sisters of Ledyard grange served a bounteous meat pie dinner, with many good things, including squash pie for dessert.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Marion Beckwith of Franklin, lecturer of Pomona Grange had charge of the exercises.

Harry Hanks of Ledyard Grange extended the welcome of the various granges to Ledyard Grange and Rev. G. F. Goodenough of Pachaug Grange responded.

The program opened with a musical selection with Harry Hanks violinist and Mrs. W. I. Allyn pianist, both of Ledyard Grange. This was followed by the principal address of the day delivered by Leslie Smith, a member of the executive committee of the National Grange. Mr. Smith told of the doings of the National Grange in its various phases and what it was doing for different communities. There are 800,000 Grangers in 33 states of the Union and they wield great influence for good wherever they are located. The next national convention will be held in November at Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Smith, who has made several successful tours for Grangers, is planning the itinerary for Grangers who wish to go to Cleveland. He was given hearty applause at the close of his interesting address. This was followed by two beautiful solos sung by Miss Rosella Shaffer, of Ledyard Grange, playing her own banjo accompaniment. Past State Master Allen B. Cook of Hartford talked about the preservation of trees along highways. Mrs. Myers of Mystic Grange sang two solos in costume; Alonzo Shaffer of Ledyard Grange recited two humorous selections. Mr. Whaples, county leader of the 4-H clubs gave an interesting talk about club work and showed many pictures on the screen pertaining to this activity. Mrs. Rowland Avery, of Mystic Grange gave two essays. This was followed by two solos sung by Leslie Haley of Mystic Grange. The exercises closed with the singing of America.

Mrs. Beckwith was congratulated at the close on the splendid program which had been carried out. A vote of thanks was given Ledyard Grange for its splendid hospitality.

CHAPMAN ANNULMENT SUIT TO BE CONTINUED LATER

Due to the fact that Judge Allyn L. Brown was engaged Friday in the superior court at New London in hearing the suit of Textile Finishing Machinery Co. of Providence against New London Ship & Engine Co. he was not able to hear a continuance of the trial of the marriage annulment suit of Mrs. Jennie Kane Chapman against Leonard H. Chapman, both of this city, which was begun before him earlier in the week.

Counsel for plaintiff and defendant informed the court Friday that they had been unable to come to an agreement over a settlement in the case since the adjournment last Tuesday afternoon. Judge Brown indicated to counsel that he would set a date for hearing the trial further as soon as possible and that he might have the hearing held in Norwich for the convenience of all concerned.

FORMER KAISER OBJECTS TO STAGE IMPERSONATION

BERLIN, Oct. 21—(AP)—Wilhelm, former German emperor and now a private resident of Doorn, Holland, feels that he has had enough publicity, and is making an effort to prevent a representation of himself on the stage. But Erwin Piscator, founder of the Communist theatre, has decided that as the ex-kaiser is a historical figure he will be obliged to submit to an impersonation of himself in Alexis Tolstoi's "Rasputin", treating of the Russo-German war, which Piscator intends to produce.

Laws have been cited to support the former emperor's contention that the permission of the person represented is necessary before such impersonation can be made.

The active career of Hughey Jennings as a baseball player was cut short when he was struck on the head by a wild pitch. At the time Jennings was with the Baltimore club and one of the greatest shortstops in the game.

SUITS FOR $100,000 BROUGHT IN WORCESTER AGAINST NORWICH MAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 21—Five minutes after he had lost the criminal cases brought against two Worcester real estate operators in central district court late today, after a two day trial, Aaron Gordon, wealthy Norwich, Conn., investor and cotton waste dealer, was served with writs for suits totaling $100,000.

Eli Leavitt and Isadore Katz, Worcester realtors, who have dealt extensively with the Norwich man, are each seeking to recover $50,000 for alleged malicious prosecution.

The action came rapidly in the closing minutes of the session. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence against Katz and Leavitt on the charges of conspiracy, larceny and conveying encumbered property brought by Gordon, Judge Francis Brady declared that he did not consider that there was sufficient evidence to warrant holding the two real estate men for the grand jury and he found both not guilty.

Mr. Gordon was just on the point of leaving the district court building when a deputy sheriff served the writs.

Not only was the Norwich financial Napoleon hard hit today by the discharging of the men against whom he had brought charges and the failing of the sensational suits, but he was also made the object of a spirited closing address by Jay Clark, defense counsel.

Mr. Clark declared in thunderous tones that Mr. Gordon, for many years engaged in big deals in Worcester county involving hundreds of thousands of dollars, had deliberately lied under oath by testifying that he did not know what a title certificate was until the latter part of 1926 or early the next year. Gordon's claim was that he loaned Katz and Leavitt $5,000 and took as security what was represented to him to be a second mortgage, but which he later found was a third mortgage. The defense contended that Gordon knew from the first that the mortgage was a third mortgage and that Gordon got 12 per cent interest on it, the usual amount for a third mortgage.

James I. Yoffa, Boston attorney and son-in-law of Gordon, also was involved in today's testimony. Leavitt declared that Yoffa had threatened to go from coast to coast to "get" Louis Feingold, an attorney associated with the defendants, and that Yoffa had threatened to ruin Katz and Leavitt by suits and publicity and later criminal prosecution.

Aaron Gordon, plaintiff in the original suits, who has become the defendant in the new suits, resides at 75 Sachem street, this city, and is secretary of the Max Gordon & Son corporation.

METHODIST MEN'S CLASS IN ATTENDANCE CONTEST

The Red Army of the Everyman's Bible class of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church has issued an attendance challenge to the Blue army, the contest to run 10 Sundays. The challenge, which has been accepted, was issued at the annual rally banquet of the class held Friday evening at the church. The banquet menu was served by the women of the Wesleyan guild. Guy H. Dolbeare, the class president, presided at the meeting during which E. O. Rodier was announced as the colonel of the Red army and Edwin B. Floyd as the colonel of the Blue army for the coming year.

Vocal selections were sung by Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, accompanied by Mrs. Olive Roberts, Wallace I. Woodin, secretary of the Connecticut Council of Education, entertained with interpretations of poems by James Witcomb Riley.

The dining tables were very prettily decorated in fall flowers by Mrs. E. J. Jones, Mrs. John C. Heinrichs and Miss Hannah Haglund. The supper committee comprised Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. W. W. Ives, Mrs. Emma Bliss, Mrs. Robert McNeely and Mrs. Palmer.

FUNERAL OF FATHER AND DAUGHTER TOGETHER

The double funeral of William E., and Margaret Ryan of Gary, Ind., formerly of this city, who were killed in an automobile accident at Gary, was held from the home of Mr. Ryan's sister, Mrs. John Wade, Colchester, Friday morning at 8.15 o'clock. Relatives and friends were present from Jersey City, New York city, Brooklyn, Hartford, Gary, Ind., Norwich and Colchester. At 9 o'clock a requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Andrew's church, by Rev. Philip J. Mooney.

Francis Shea had charge of the music and at the offertory the choir sang O Salutaris. During the mass Wallace Eames of Jersey City sang Teach Me to Pray and as a waiting hymn Mrs. Michael Sullivan of Willimantic sang When Evening Comes. At the recessional Mr. Eames sang Valle. The burial took place in St. Andrew's cemetery where Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May of Norwich conducted the committal service. The bearers for Mr. Ryan were William J. Allen, Joseph McKegan, James Mahoney, James Duffy, Octave Caron and Teodil Ethier and the bearers for the child were four cousins, John, Edward and Charles Ryan and Harold Wade. There were numerous and beautiful floral tributes. Hourigan Bros., had charge of the funeral arrangements.

CLAIMING $1,000 DAMAGES FOR WATER FLOODING

Mary Suplicki, owner of property at 167 Cliff street, is making a claim of $1,000 damages against the city for flooding of her property by water from the street. It is claimed that at four different times during the summer of 1927 the cellar and first floor of this property have been covered with water and that the conditions causing this have continued for over two years. Household furniture, walls, floors, partitions and foundations of the house have been damaged, rentals have been lost and it has been necessary to spend much money for repairs.

The claim is to be presented to the November meeting of the common council.

ENTERTAINED CLUB GIRLS AT BIRTHDAY SUPPER

Members of the Iwilolali club of the Central Baptist church were delightfully entertained at supper Friday evening at 6.30 by Mrs. Charles L. Stewart at her home, at 123 Broad street, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Mary. The tables were in candlelight, with covers laid for 19, pretty favors and attractive place cards, and the decorations in a Halloween scheme.

The menu consisted of creamed chicken in pattie shells, green peas, pickles, jellies, olives, sandwiches, rolls, cocoa, ice cream and fancy cakes.

A programme was given after supper, showing working conditions of girls in India, China and Japan and this was followed by a jolly round of entertaining Halloween stunts and games.

TERM IN JAIL FOR THEFT OF RAINCOAT

Thirty days in jail for theft of a raincoat from an automobile parked in Durkee lane, was the sentence meted out to Thomas McCarthy, 52, of Stamford, when he was presented in the city court Friday morning before Judge H. H. Pettis. McCarthy had been in court Wednesday morning on an intoxication charge and at that time was allowed his freedom on his promise to leave town. However, he neglected to keep his promise.

The raincoat he was charged with stealing from the machine in Durkee lane was identified in court by the owner. McCarthy claimed he bought it Wednesday night from a man for $2.

PEACE PRIZE WINNER DROPS DEAD SPEAKING

Dr. Charles Herbert Levermore, 71, winner of the $100,000 Bok Peace prize, dropped dead Thursday at Berkeley, Cal., while addressing a women's organization on plans to promote world peace. Physicians said death was caused by heart disease.

Dr. Levermore was born in Mansfield, this state, in 1856, was graduated from Yale university in 1879, and in 1886 received a PH. D. from Johns Hopkins university. In later years he was a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at the University of California. He was president of Adelphi college, Brooklyn, N. Y., from 1896 to 1912.

ELECTRIC POWER FAILED EARLY FRIDAY MORNING

For about an hour Friday morning, between 4 and 5 o'clock, the city electric light and power service was without any electric current, due to the Uncas power line from Scotland dam "going out."

The service was returned when the steam plant at the city station on North Main street had been put into operation.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Gurdon Williams

The death of Eliza Cook, widow of Gurdon Williams, occurred Oct. 7, at Redlands, Cal., at the age of 86 years and 12 days.

Mrs. Williams was born in Mystic, in 1841, the daughter of Nehemiah B. and Anna Maria Cook. She was educated at New Haven and was married to Gurdon Williams in 1865. Their early married life was spent in Chicago, but later they moved to the oil fields of Pennsylvania, where they remained until 1906, when they moved to California to spend their later days in that milder climate. Mr. Williams died in 1922 at the age of 87.

Mrs. Williams is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lucy Settelle, with whom she made her home, and a brother, Edward Cook, of 310 Laurel Hill avenue, this city.

Bankers Leave for Texas

Two special trains left the Grand Central and Pennsylvania stations in New York Thursday with 500 bankers, comprising the delegation to the thirty-third annual convention of the American Bankers association at Houston, Texas. The bankers will arrive at their destination at 9:30 and 10 a. m. Sunday, and the convention will open Monday.

The first stop-over was to be at St. Louis, where the delegates were to attend a tea given by the Clearing House association. Another stop will be made at Dallas, where an opportunity for golf has been provided.

Motored to Old Wickford House

During Friday, Mrs. W. H. Whiteman, of Norwich Town, Mrs. John Irish, Mrs. Susie Kampf, Miss Lola Belle Roath and Miss Maria Briggs left in Mrs. Whiteman's car for Narragansett Pier and Wickford, R. I. At Wickford they had dinner at Mother Prentice's, the old Wickford house built in 1712. They returned over Tower Hill, reaching Norwich at 5 p. m. Similar trips have been made this season to Savin Rock, Noroton, Springfield, Hartford and to points along the Rhode Island shore.

LEGION POST ELECTS CHARLES COIT COMMANDER

The annual meeting of Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, was held at the post rooms Friday evening with Commander Joseph Bellefleur presiding. At the convention held at New Haven in 1926 an amendment to the constitution was passed which advanced the date of the beginning of the fiscal year from January 1 to November 1 and in conformity with this amendment the annual meeting of the post was called for this date. Reports of officers and committees were read and accepted. The post closes this short year with a larger membership than the previous year and will start off its new year with every prospect of success for the incoming officers.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Commander, Charles Coit; vice commander, Carl Johnson; vice commander, Burton Young; adjutant, Everett Moodee; treasurer, John Bowman, Jr.; executive committee to serve three years, Joseph Bellefleur, Lindsey

CHARLES COIT
Elected Commander

Smith, James M. Young, Jr.

The annual banquet will be held at Cinderalla Inn on the evening of November 10, the eve of Armistice day. Plans are also under way for holding an Armistice night dance at the state armory. The food sale preparations have been completed and this promises to be one of the largest ever held in the city.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the county meeting to be held at Taftville during November at which County Commander Maurice Peck of Old Lyme will install the officers of all posts in the county. The attention of the members was called to the fact that January 1, 1928, is the final date for the filing of applications for adjusted compensation and were urged to spread the word among the ex-service men of the town and city, that those entitled to this privilege may not let their opportunity pass without taking advantage of it. The American Legion will assist any ex-service man or woman in making this application. Another announcement of interest to the ex-service man was made in regards to exemption in taxes.

The state of Connecticut grants veterans a $1,000 exemption on taxes. To get this the man's discharge must be recorded with the city clerk. A very small fee is charged for this recording. Ex-service men are entitled to the exemption, but to receive it, the discharge must be recorded. This is a rule coming from the last legislature. Standing committees and appointive offices will be announced by the commander elect at a later meeting.

ANOTHER HEN PASSES THE 300 EGG MARK

Another bird has gone "over the top" to lay more than 300 eggs as the Storrs laying contest flock goes into the home stretch to complete what is already a record breaking sixteenth competition at Storrs. She is the No. 8 bird in White Leghorn pen 83 owned by George W. Ferris of Grand Rapids, Mich., and her score to last Sunday night, the end of the fiftieth week, is 302 eggs. This is the second 300-egger in the contest, as another pullet of the same breed has the opportunity of by Farm at Woodinville, Wash., has already laid 307 eggs in fifty weeks. These two birds are the first representatives of their breed to lay 300 or more eggs in sixteen years of Storrs trials.

The contest management hopes to report another 300-egger with the publication of the final report a week from today. White Leghorn No. 2 in the pen owned by W. S. Hannah and Son from Grand Rapids, Mich., had scored 295 eggs to last Sunday night, and it will only be necessary for her to lay five eggs in the seven remaining days of the contest. Still another bird of the same breed has the opportunity of making a 299 egg record in fifty-one weeks. She is the No. 9 bird in Elmer Wenc's pen from Vineland, N. J. Her assignment is a little more difficult, however, as her score of 292 eggs to last Sunday night means she must turn in a perfect score for the final week of the competition.

All indications point to an individual average of approximately 133 eggs per bird for this year's contest, which will be the best record ever made at Storrs, and by a wide margin. The contest flock has already laid 253,410 eggs, which is an average of 131 eggs per bird when based on the original 1,400 pullets entered in the contest last November. Or in other words, each of the 140 competing pens has an average of 1,810 eggs for the first fifty weeks.

Total production last week was 3,814 eggs or a lay of 33.8 per cent. This is 457 eggs less than the preceding week but 304 eggs more than the production for the corresponding week a year ago.

White Leghorns monopolized the honor roll for the week, taking all four places. R. W. Colman's entry from Medina, N. Y., placed first with a score of 43 eggs. F. M. Johnson's entry from Waldoboro, Me., placed second with 42 eggs, and the Pestocoee Poultry Plant entry from Telford, Pa., followed close behind to take third position with a lay of 41 eggs. The Hilltop Farm entry from Suffield, Conn., finished fourth for the week with a score of 40 eggs.

CONVICTION OF ELECTION OFFICIALS IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21—(AP)—Following closeupon the filing of fraud charges against 100 or more election officials as a result of the recent primary here, a criminal court jury today convicted two men and a woman of various ballot irregularities in the spring primary of 1926.

Those found guilty were Charles Golden, a Pittsburgh fire captain and former republican ward chairman; J. William Bolster, minority inspector of the election board and Mrs. Anna Conklin, an election clerk. The two men were convicted of conspiracy to defraud, making a false count and a false return and with failure to deliver the ballots and other election records to the proper authorities. Mrs Conklin was found guilty only of making a false return and was recommended to the mercy of the court.

Maximum penalties of $500 fines and three years imprisonment on each count may be imposed on the defendants. The court fixed bail at $3,000 each for Golden and Bolster, and $1,000 for Mrs. Conklin, when defense attorneys indicated they might seek a new trial.

LEGAL ACTION OF FIGHT FILM PICTURES TODAY

HARTFORD, Oct. 21—(AP)—Assistant U. S. District Attorney George H. Cohen will file two motions in the United States district court in New Haven tomorrow morning in an effort to dissolve the temporary restraining order issued Wednesday by Judge Edwin S. Thomas restraining federal agents from interfering with the showing of pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in this state. One of the motions will ask the removal of the temporary injunction issued by Judge Thomas and the other will ask for the dismissal of the petition for a permanent injunction that has been made by the Leonard Film company, of New Haven, who say that they have the exclusive rights of the pictures in this state.

Meanwhile the pictures are being shown in Hartford in two theatres. Thomas J. Spellacy, who is acting as legal representative of the Midwestern Film Exchange, Inc., which has leased one of the local theatres and is showing the pictures of the fight, is prepared to fight the efforts of the U. S. district attorney's office to have the injunction dissolved.

GALES FERRY

Word was received Saturday by Mrs. Lucy A. Hurlbutt of the death of her seven months old grandson, Stanislaus Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Reynolds, at Sperries, Ireland, Sept. 30. Mrs. Reynolds was Georgiannia Hurlbutt of Gales Ferry.

Mrs. Charles H. Winchester, was the guest Sunday of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Solon F. Chapman at their home in the Lester district.

Eczema On Neck Arms And Limbs Cuticura Healed

"My eczema started with an itching and burning, and then a red rash broke out on my neck, arms and limbs. It later formed sore eruptions that scaled over. My clothing aggravated it, and I could not sleep at night because it was worse when I got warm. The irritation caused me to scratch, and when I scratched the eruptions used to bleed. The trouble lasted four months.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I got relief after using it so purchased more, and in five weeks I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Oliver Hobbs, Hampton, N. H., Feb. 9, 1927.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap, with touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal. Cuticura Talcum is fragrant and refreshing, an ideal toilet powder.

ACADEMY CLASHES WITH HARDING HIGH ELEVEN THIS AFTERNOON

The Academy goes into a real football test this afternoon. They will emerge either sad or glad. Sad, if they are beaten by Warren Harding high of Bridgeport and their chances for the Conn. grid title seriously ruined; and glad if they win and hop into the lead in the race for this much coveted honor.

The N. F. A.-Harding game today stands out not only as one of the best in the state but the very choicest of scholastic grid morsels that will be served up all year.

When the well known pigskin rises in the air (or skims along the ground) on the opening kickoff at 2 o'clock (and that is the correct starting time announced Friday evening by Coach Whitney) a renewal of the shortest yet bitterest bit of high school rivalry that this part of the state has ever known will be on. These schools have met but twice but in these contests more important issues have been settled than any other two schools have had to deal with in quite a time.

Just about a year ago Harding came up here and ruined the Academy's chances for the state title winning 15 to 0. About five months ago, Memorial day, to be exact, the Academy repulsed a strong Harding diamond nine and therefore stowed away the Connecticut baseball championship for the 1927 season. Memories of that game will ever linger with the thousands that packed the campus and it is these memories that will bring many back to the local battlefield this afternoon expectant of another such struggle.

For the first time in this series that has given such stirring tussles, the Academy is the favorite. The locals should win today, but only by the closest of a margin. They have a little the better of the records to date. Harding with two wins, one over Ansonia in their season's opener 36 to 0, lost to Naugatuck by a rather decisive margin, the score being reported as about 26 to 0 although this is not official, and won from an unknown quantity, the name of which sounded like Tridelphia.

The Red and White opened the season with an 18 to 0 win over Chapman Tech, nosed out Torrington high 7 to 6 and in more convincing fashion than the score shows, defeated Westerly 19 to 6.

Which sums up to 2 wins and a loss for Harding and three wins and no defeats for the Academy. But many will contend that the setback handed Ansonia by the Park city crew can balance the Academy's win over Torrington.

Maybe it can; and that is just what many will wend their way to the campus today to find out.

Little is known of the Harding lineup other than a majority of last year's successful eleven will compete.

Coach Court Whitney wound up the Academy's work for this game Friday afternoon with a long signal drill. Several new formations have been introduced but the boys seem to have them down pat. The bad weather of the week left the field with much of the appearance of a swamp but still the Red and Whitesters went through their paces in right smart fashion. This game is regarded as the stiffest test of the season by many of the Academy's supporters and the players kept at top speed in their preparations for it.

Whit expects to have all regulars ready for the word today. Kahn, veteran tackle and Johnny Greene, end, another of last year's regulars, seem fit for action and intend to mark their return to form with the best games of their respective careers.

The field should be in good shape for the game. Manager Jim Mullen and his assistants got to work immediately after practice Friday manicuring the gridiron and they will continue their efforts this morning so that everything should be ready by 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Interest in the game has reached to all nooks and corners of the state where fans are interested in high school athletics and that is just about everywhere. That Harding is taking things seriously can be gleaned from the fact that over 200 of her rooters are expected to accompany the team, several busses having been hired to accompany the "Miss Harding" to the Rose of New England.

The eastern bleachers are originally for the visitors with the western or first base seats for the Red and White backers.

The inter-class cross country run between the halves of the game should prove quite interesting. It looks like a stiff game for honors with all four classes having some capable performers slated to start. However, every one of the factions has kept any information to itself refusing to concede the opposition even the proverbial inch. The start will be made at the left field gate, the course is of two miles through the rocky paths of Mohegan park and the finish will be at the north goal posts after the runners enter through the same left field gate and pass under the south posts.

WINDHAM-HARTFORD GAME AT THREAD CITY TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 21.—A banner attendance is expected at Recreation park Saturday afternoon when Windham meets the Hartford public high school eleven to decide the honors of a third consecutive encounter. The prospects of Windham victory or defeat in a game against the formidable Hartfordites have worked up wide interest among the fans. With Newell at the coaching wheel, Hartford came here two years ago bent on smothering the lighter Crimson and Blue outfit from the track that leads to the state championship. The visitors were considered fortunate by those who witnessed the game to escape with a scoreless tie. Last season Windham went to Hartford and dropped a close verdict to Hartford after apparently controlling the encounter. The mythical Connecticut interscholastic title looks lucrative again this year to both teams and a win by Windham means breaking the ice into the run for honors. Coach Thomas A. Callaghan has perfected the training and organization of his team for this—the biggest test of the season. The Newell-men are coming with a re-enforcement of about 400 undergraduates. In manner of cheering rivalry Windham's eleven will be escorted to the park by the St. Joseph's Boy Scout band and practically the entire student body and faculty. The parade will lead from the school "on the hill" and down Main street to the scene of the contest.

PLAINFIELD FACES SEVERE TEST IN TODAY'S GAME

A tight little football game looms up in Plainfield on Plainfield High's new athletic field rear of the Community House this afternoon when Bill O'Brien's Stonington outfit, fresh from a 21 to 6 win over Chapman Tech last Saturday invade the village to do combat with a much improved Plainfield team.

Gus Mullen's boys from up the line have all the confidence in the world for this game, the most important of their season to date. They have worked long and hard, have the backing of almost the entire student body and a goodly number of the town and as a consequence now seem to be going at a pace that will carry them quite a ways even against such a powerful aggregation as Stonington boasts. Playing on their new field for the second time (they dedicated it last week with a ringing 19 to 0 win over their old rivals, Putnam) the Plainfield boys will have all the edge before the whistle blows. Everything now is shining for the school save for the fact of the loss of Royle, star left end, who received a knee injury in an early season game and said injury has not responded very rapidly to treatment.

Friday's work was devoted to a strengthening of the forward pass defence. The business was not very strenuous but still was to the point.

A snappy signal drill closed the session and left the boys on edge for the tilt.

The game will start promptly at 2:30 and preparations have been made for a banner crowd.

Stonington also has been taking the game seriously for a defeat will ruin her chances of having any claim for the eastern Conn. title.

The Stonington boys will strive to the limit today for a win is of their heart's desire. In Cragan and Cowan the down staters have a fine pair of backs. Goulin, another star, will probably not play because of an injury.

The probable lineups:

CADETS WILL GIVE DRILL BEFORE GAME

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Joneses, "Tad" of Yale and "Biff" of Army, today put their respective elevens through signal practices in Yale bowl in preparation for tomorrow's clash, the Blue taking somewhat more time than did the soldiers, besides doing some rudimentary work on the practice field while Army was using the bowl.

Eight of the eleven starters who last year greased the skids for a 33-0 Yale defeat are to start tomorrow, while for the Blue only Duncan Cox is expected to be missing from the starting lineup of last Saturday.

Tomorrow's game is the 27th of the Yale-Army series, of which Yale has won 16 and Army 4, with six ties.

The two backfields should provide some spectacular football for the 76,000 fans who hold tickets for the event. The Army's ball carriers, including Cagle, Captain Wilson and Murrel who started against Yale last year, are believed wild this fall, however, and has developed into the best triple threat Yale has had in years While he will probably carry the burden of the attack tomorrow, Hoben is expected to back him strongly as will Cox, if his condition permits his getting into the game.

Some 1,200 Cadets, in uniform, are scheduled to arrive by train in the morning and march in formation to the Central Green, there to put on the annual drill which is not the least of the Army game's attractions. After lunch they will march to the field, leaving almost immediately after the contest to entrain for West Point.

A ticket sell-out was announced some time ago.

DARTMOUTH FAVORITE TO BEAT HARVARD TODAY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—(AP)—As the Dartmouth Indians descended upon Boston tonight for the annual Dartmouth-Harvard contest in the stadium tomorrow, the injured list posted at the Crimson football camp caused Harvard supporters considerable uneasiness. In addition to Tim Clark, giant left tackle, Dave Guarnaccia, the chief passing threat of the Crimson, and Guy Bolbrook, brilliant sophomore back, will be out of tomorrow's game.

Practically the entire student body of Dartmouth emigrated from Hanover, N. H., today to watch the gridiron performance of the Big Green against its traditional foe. Tonight the various classes held their annual dinners in Boston and the Dartmouth war cry "Wah Hoo Wah" resounded in the streets. Head Coach Jesse Hawley said his squad was in the pink of condition and prepared to give their best.

After a week of workouts preparatory for Dartmouth's deadly passing attack, Crimson mentors admitted that the casualties in the squad had lessened Harvard's chances against the Green. "Red" Barrett, former Worcester academy captain, will take the place of Clark at left tackle. Everett Donaghy will start in Guarnaccl's place in the back field.

Head Coach Horween announced tonight a starting lineup that showed Howie Burns at quarterback, but it was believed that Arthur French who started against Holy Cross last week, would see early action. In the kicking department the Crimson is admittedly weak but Sam Burns may be sent in for the punt assignment. Dartmouth ruled a slight favorite in night-before wagering.

COACH DOLE TALKS TO AGGIES ON EVE OF GAME

(Special to the Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 21.—After suffering two defeats in the last two weeks, the Connecticut Aggies will tomorrow attempt a "comeback" at the expense of the University of New Hampshire "Wildcats" at Manchester, N. H. in a game that will be staged by the Cigar Makers' Union of that city for charity.

Twenty-six varsity players, Coaches L. A. Aexander and P. E. Bitgood, and Manager Donald Cumming '28 left here this noon in a buss on their New Hampshire invasion. They were given a rousing send off by the student body, which gathered in front of Hawley Armory to cheer the players.

Head Coach Sumner A. Dole also gave the team a rousing send off, though not to the accompaniment of cheers from the student body. Dole, it will be remembered, has been unable to take an active part in the coaching this fall because of serious illness following an appendicitis operation. He put in an appearance at Hawley Armory a few minutes before the team was due to leave, herded the entire squad in the trophy room, and talked plainly and without mincing words, called on the team to come through with a victory tomorrow. Dole told his men that although he hasn't seen them play this year, he knew poor tackling enabled the Springfield backs to get away for long runs and win the game last Saturday. That was apparent from the length of the runs, he declared, and the team would have to brace tomorrow or New Hampshire would duplicate the performance of Springfield.

Connecticut's starting lineup tomorrow will see Kennedy and Tombari on the ends; Wilson and Sayers at tackles; Gilman and Colacurcio at guards; Stangle at center; Knaut or Lamoreaux at quarterback; Captain Eddy and Williams or Great at the halves; and Ryan at fullback. Other men who are making the trip include Flydal, Haversatt, Powers, and Aschenback, backs; Schildgren, Callahan, Geobel and Peck, ends; Hawkins and Dorrance, tackles; Ruffkess and Nicholds, guards; and Geissler, center. The latter will be unable to play under any circumstances, but he is being taken on the trip anyway. The same holds true for Schildgren at end.

Given good footing tomorrow, it may be safely said that the Aggies will cross the New Hampshire goal line more than once, but Connecticut followers know full well that on their defense primarily rests their hope of victory tomorrow. If the team can only present a stiffer forward wall and more deadly tackling in the open, New Hampshire should not constitute too much of a threat, though Aggie followers have only to look back to last Saturday to realize the unexpected can always happen.

MCLEOD AND SPENCER TIED IN ATLANTIC OPEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Freddie McLeod, professional at Columbia Country club here, and Glenn Spencer, of Green Spring Valley Hunt club, of Baltimore, were tied with scores of 146 at conclusion of the first 36-holes of the middle Atlantic open golf tournament on the Indian Springs course today.

McLeod's scores were 74-72, while Spencer turned in 75-71.

Tied immediately back of the leaders were Tommy Armour, of Congressional club here, National and Canadian open champion, with 72-78—150; R. C. McKimmie, unattached, of Washington, with 75-75—150 and Craig Wood, Baltusrol, N. J., 78-72—150.

Leo Diegel of the Fenimore club, New York, the defending champion, will enter the final 36 holes tomorrow eight strokes behind McLeod and Spencer, his score today was 79-75—154.

COLUMBIA BEATS YALE IN CROSS COUNTRY

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Columbia's cross country team defeated Yale here today, 25 to 30, although Jacobs wore the Blue home in first place with his team-mate, M. D. Smith, second.

The two Yale runners were followed, however, by nine Columbians in a string, the other three year runners coming in actually in twelfth, 13th and 14th positions. Elimination of Columbia runners in excess of the allowable five, however, left the Yale trailers in 8th, 9th and 10th positions.

Jacobs trailed Hagen of Columbia for the first three miles, and then passed him to win in 23:38. Smith of Yale, forged into second position in a last quarter mile spurt, in 23:48, with Hagen third in 24:12.

HARVARD SCRIBES WIN FROM DARTMOUTH WRITERS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Undergraduate scribes of Harvard and Dartmouth laid aside the pen for the pigskin today and engaged in an informal football game. The Crimson won, five touchdowns to none.

The players, members of the editorial staffs of the Harvard Crimson and the Dartmouth, the undergraduate daily newspapers of the two colleges, adopted modified rules calculated to conserve arms and legs for further editorial duty. Instead of tackling the ball carrier, an opponent was required, merely to touch him.

YALE-ARMY GAME WILL BE GR'D CLASSIC OF THE EAST TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—On the eve of an embattled Saturday in which the great of football meet the great, outstanding favorites tonight were few and at least eight eastern games were clean cut "naturals."

Drawn by the scent of battle, a host of fans estimated at 250,000 was expected to witness a half-dozen major games along the Atlantic seaboard alone.

The sell-out sign was hanging on the huge Yale bowl at New Haven where 70,000 persons will watch the Army meet the Bulldog, while Harvard and Dartmouth at Cambridge were slated to play before 55,000 fans. The throng that will see Princeton and Cornell clash at Ithaca was estimated at 35,000 with 30,000 promised for the city championship struggle between Pitt and Carnegie at Pittsburgh, 25,000 for the West Virginia-Georgetown fray at Washington, D. C., and fully 15,000 for the Lafayette-Washington and Jefferson game at Easton, Pa.

Of these strong teams none was an overwhelming favorite. Because of its defeat by Army last year and by Georgia early this season, the Yale Bullpup was something of an underdog. Dartmouth's high-scoring aggregation was ranked a notch or two above a Harvard team which had lost to Purdue, but the game loomed as the first real test for the Big Green team, which has met no real opposition yet. Princeton, not yet scored upon, was a slight favorite against Cornell in their first game since 1907. Between Georgetown and West Virginia, Penn State and Syracuse, Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson, all old rivals, there was little to choose.

A question mark hovered over the Navy-Duke university game, with Navy the favorite but much expected from the Southerners, who felled Boston college and swamped Richmond, although losing a close game to Washington and Lee.

Pittsburgh's powerful aggregation on the records looked capable of downing its fellow citizen, Carnegie, although the Panther's chances of keeping its goal-line uncrossed may not be so bright. Brown was an easy choice over Lebanon Valley and New York university over Rutgers.

Columbia expected to have its hands full with Williams, one of the best of the smaller college teams, while Holy Cross was pitted against an unbeaten eleven in Catholic university. On paper Colgate seemed able to cope with Wabash. Boston college, transformed in a year from a consistently winning team to a consistently losing one, foresaw a hard test in West Virginia Wesleyan.

Pennsylvania's ambitious eleven, meeting Chicago on the Middle Westerners' home field, carried the prestige of the east into the major intersectional battle with no more than an even chance of victory.

TIGERS OPEN SEASON ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Greeneville Tigers open their football season Sunday with the fast Westerly Majestics at the J. B. Martin field. Westerly has a fast bunch of former high school stars and by all reports will give a good account of themselves.

YALE STUDENTS RALLY ON EVE OF BATTLE

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Only eleven Yale men, at a time, will meet West Point on the turf of the bowl tomorrow, but tonight many times eleven were trying out a new weapon with which it is hoped the warriors of the gridiron may be aided in the struggle.

At the first rally of the season, held tonight in Woolsey hall, a new football song written by W. B. Chappel, '27, was tried out. Chappel was leader of the glee club last year.

Captain "Bill" Webster was the principal speaker, but Captain Burr Chamberlin, of the 1898 team and Jack Cutler, ex-'23, a football player, had some remarks on the desirability of a victory tomorrow.

Tunney to Speak at Choate

WALLINGFORD, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, is to arrive here tomorrow to be the guest of Headmaster Charles C. St. John of the Choate school. He is to give a talk to the boys of the school in the evening, following the regular Saturday night supper service.

CHAIRMAN WINS CLAIMING RACE AT LAUREL TRACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—H. G. Bedwell's Chairman won the LaPlata claiming handicap at Laurel today, with Athel second and Sir Teon'd third. There were only three starters. Chairman took the lead and never was headed. He was the longest shot in the field and paid $11.40. He covered the mile and one quarter in 2:07 4-5.

The Walnut Hills handicap, feature of the day at Latonia, was carried off by S. Peabody's Flat Iron, which proved to be the best of the field by four lengths. Nor'easter was second and Rhinock third. The time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 1:43 4-5.

Bull Run, with Pony McAtee up, captured the Rampao claiming purse at Empire City, a short six furlongs. Dignus set the pace at the start but was beaten out for the place by Jobcaw. Trainer Kimball Patterson saddled and trained three winners at the track. Rhyme and Reason scored in the first race, Commissioner Hannon in the second and Poeticule in the third.

Arlington's fourth race went to Sir John K., with Jack Horgan second and Watch The Time third. The winner's time for the mile and 70 yards was 1:44 1-5.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE NOT TO ATTEND ARMY-NAVY GAME

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The football bug apparently wasn't dug in at the white house.

The annual Army-Navy game, which has often drawn the chief executive to the side lines, has no unusual appeal to President Coolidge this year, and it was announced today that he would not attend the classic in New York next month.

Rides Four Winners

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Hurtz ("Shasta") Philpot, a California "apprentice" rider, achieved the unusual feat of riding the winners of the first four races today at the Arlington Heights track. He is 18 years old and weighs but 95 pounds. In the third and fourth races, the crowd backed outsiders because Philpot was aboard, and he rewarded their confidence with victories.

Holy Cross Has New Backfield

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Holy Cross faces Catholic university here tomorrow with an entirely new backfield and one lineman as the result of changes brought about by Coach O'Donnell following the Crusaders defeat by Harvard. Holy Cross is a favorite to win despite the Cardinals' unbeaten record this season.

Springfield Harriers Win

MIDDLETOWN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Springfield college today defeated Wesleyan 21 to 34 in a five mile cross country race here.

Bennett, Green and Mitchell of Springfield, were in a three-cornered tie for first place, in 26 minutes 43 seconds. Captain Mead, Kelly and Casner, of Wesleyan followed the Massachusetts men in order.

Dartmouth Golfers Win

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Dartmouth golfers defeated Harvard, 9 to 6, in an informal match today on the Charles River course at Newton Center. The match, a part of the pre-football activities between the two schools, was played in ten twosomes and five foursomes.

Harvard Wins Cross Country

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Harvard's varsity cross country team overwhelmed Dartmouth today in their annual dual meet here, taking all five first places for a score of 15 to 46.

Dartmouth Freshmen Harriers defeated the Harvard Yearlings 23 to 32.

Reiselt Retains Title

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, retained the world's 3-cushion billiard championship tonight by defeating Gus Couplos, Detroit, at the Penn A. C., 300 to 238 and breaking his own record for a 300-point match.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—It promises to be an open fight for the distinction of carrying America's rowing banner into the Olympic eight oared championship race next year at Amsterdam.

The naval academy, in 1920, and Yale's famous eight, in 1924, represented the United States in victorious fashion. Both are expected to seek the honor again in 1928 but, from present indications, they will have much keener competition than before.

If the Olympic committee accepts the recommendation of rowing authorities, decided on yesterday, to hold the tryouts a fortnight or so after the Poughkeepsie and New London regattas, probably a half dozen college crews will participate. They were held before these events in 1924.

Columbia, which swept to brilliant triumph at Poughkeepsie last June, is especially anxious to get into the Olympics. Washington probably will be another contender while Pennsylvania's crew hopes are expected to be revived next season under the coaching of "Rusty" Callow, Harvard, victor over Yale this year for the first time since 1920, also may entertain Olympic ambitions.

Yale gained the Olympic laurels three years ago with one of the most amazingly versatile performances in rowing history. The Elis disposed of all early season foes at short distances, interrupted preparations for the Harvard regatta by going down to Philadelphia to win the Olympic trials, went back to New London to outrow the Crimson over four miles, and then journeyed to Paris to beat the world's best at 2,000 meters, about a mile and a quarter.

TUNNEY DENIES MARRIAGE REPORTS

POLAND SPRINGS, Me., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Describing himself as "married" to his profession, Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, tonight emphatically declared he did not contemplate marriage while in that profession, even though he had been reported engaged to girls in three different states since he fought Jack Dempsey.

His brief visit here while returning to New York from two weeks of rest and complete relaxation at Moosehead Lake, was interrupted for a few minutes while he was asked about rumors circulated in New York that he was engaged to marry Miss Parmelia Pryor of Greenwich, Conn., sister of Samuel F. Pryor, Jr., one of his companions on his outing in the Maine woods.

"I flatly deny it!" the champion exclaimed.

"I am married to my profession and hope to continue as the champion for five years," he said.

"Any man who gets married while he is a champion makes a big mistake. I want to specifically state that I am engaged to no person. The girl in question is the sister of one or my dearest friends.

"Shortly after the last fight, they had me engaged to a girl in California, then to one in Illinois. Now it is a Connecticut young lady. I don't think it is fair to the girls. It must be embarrassing.

"I don't care a darn about myself, and don't contemplate marrying while in the boxing profession. I hope the next time they pick out one, they will be generous enough to notify me. I should like to be in on it."

Tunney, who in his early days of boxing worked here summers and delights in stopping over while returning from his trips to the Northern Maine woods, said he was taking the night train from Portland for New York. He looked the picture of health.

"I never felt better in my life," he said. "I could box again in two weeks. The trip up here has done me worlds of good."

In the Tomhegan Camps, five miles above Rockwood, on the west shore of Moosehead Lake, where he was the guest on former trips of Fert Folwer, an old friend and well known guide, he had complete freedom from the distractions and bother of the outside world, with not even a telephone connection.

Why Chevrolet Performance is Thrilling Millions
Never before was a low-priced car so delightful to drive as today's Chevrolet!
Fast get-away . . . easy, smooth operation . . . high speed roadability . . . unfailing power . . . and flashy acceleration——exactly the type of performance that everyone wants in an automobile today!
In addition, there is all the finger-tip steering, all the positive braking and effortless gear shifting that have made Chevrolet so decidedly popular for congested traffic.
And never before was a low-priced car so comfortable—for Chevrolet springs are 88% as long as the wheelbase . . . and built of chrome vanadium steel!
Come in! Learn what a feeling of confidence it gives you to drive a car that is powered for the exceptional need . . . that is smooth and quiet at every speed . . . that responds to the slightest pressure on the steering wheel.
Then you'll know why millions have acclaimed today's Chevrolet as the finest performer in the low-price field!

Some Little Bug Is Going To Find You Some Day

In these days of indigestion
It is oftentimes a question
As to what to eat and what to leave alone;
For each microbe and bacillus
Has a different way to kill us,
And in time they always claim us for their own.
There are germs of every kind
In any food that you can find
In the market or upon the bill of fare.
Drinking water's just as risky
As the so-called deadly whisky,
And it's often a mistake to breathe the air.

Some little bug is going to find you some day,
Some little bug will creep behind you some day,
Then he'll send for his bug friends,
And all your earthly trouble ends;
Some little bug is going to find you some day,

The inviting green cucumber
Gets most everybody's number,
While the green corn has a system of its own.
Though a radish seems nutritious,
Its behavior is quite vicious,
And a doctor will be coming to your home.
Eating lobster, cooked or plain,
Is only flirting with ptomaine,
While an oyster sometimes has a lot to say;
But the clams we eat in chowder
Make the angels chant the louder,
For they know we'll be with them right away.

Some little bug is going to find you some day,
Some little bug will creep behind you some day,
Then he'll get you by the gizzard—
If you lose him you're a wizard—
Some little bug is going to find you some day.

Take a slice of nice fried onion
And you're fit for Dr. Munyon.
Apple dumplings kill you quicker than a train.
Chew the cheesy midnight "rabbit"
And a grave you'll soon inhabit—
Eating huckleberry pie
Is a pleasing way to die.
While sauerkraut brings on softening the brain,
When you eat banana fritters
Every undertaker titters,
And the casket-makers nearly go insane.

Some little bug is going to find you some day,
Some little bug will creep behind you some day,
With a nervous little quiver
He'll give cirrhosis of the liver;
Some little bug is going to find you some day.

When cold storage vaults I visit
I can only say what is it
Makes poor mortals fill their systems with such stuff?
Now, for breakfast prunes are dandy,
If a stomach pump is handy
And your doctor can be found quite soon enough.
Eat a plate of fine pigs' knuckles
And the headstone cutter chuckles,
While the gravedigger makes a note upon his cuff.
Eat that lovely red bologna
And you wear a wool kimona
As your relatives start scrapping 'bout your stuff.

Some little bug is going to find you some day,
Some little bug will creep behind you some day,
Eating juicy sliced pineapple
Makes the sexton dust the chapel;
Some little bug is going to find you some day,

All those crazy foods they mix
Will float us 'cross the River Styx,
Or they'll start us climbing up the Milky Way.
And the meats we eat in courses
Mean a hearse and two black horses—
So before a meal some people always pray.
Luscious grapes breed 'pendicitis,
And the juice leads to gastritis,
So there's only death to greet us either way;
And fried liver's nice, but mind you
Friends will soon ride slow behind you
And the papers then will have nice things to say.

Some little bug is going to find you some day,
Some little bug will creep behind you some day,
Eat some sauce—they call it chili—
On your breast they'll place a lily;
Some little bug is going to find you some day.

Old Fashioned Folks

Old fashioned folks! God bless 'em all!
The fathers an' the mothers
The aunts an' uncles, fat an' tall,
The sisters an' the brothers
The good old fashioned neighbors too,
The passing time improves 'em
They drop in to chat with you
Wherever the spirit moves 'em
The simple, unaffected folks
With gentle ways an' sunny
The brave and true, that live life through
And stay unspoiled by money.

Old fashioned folks of solid worth,
On them a benediction!
The joy an' comfort of the earth
Its strength, without restriction,
The charm of every neighborhood
The toilers, uncomplaining
The men an' women, pure an' good
Of fine an' honest graining.
The plain an' open hearted folks
That make no rad a passion
The kind an' fair that do an' dare
An are not slaves to fashion.

Old fashioned folks, that live an' love
An' give their service gladly
An' deem their neighbors worthy of
Their help when things go badly.
The simple sharers of our joys
Sweet ministers in sorrow
They help the world to keep its poise
An' strength for each tomorrow,
The simple unaffected folks
That I've for all about 'em
God bless 'em all, this earthly ball
Would dreary be without 'em.

Oct. 26—Club No. 3 meets with Aunt Sarah in North Franklin.

OUR BEAUTIFUL SCENERY

Dear Editor and Cornerites: Isn't all nature beautiful today? People go across the water and to the far west for scenery but they can find nothing that surpasses the view from my front windows. Of course they will find deeper valleys and higher hills and mountains and that is all. The colors now are simply gorgeous. I never tire of looking at the colorings.

Was interested in Twice Twenty's letter as I too have a picture like it. It was taken before my day but my next door neighbor is in the crowd. If I remember correctly the teachers are Mrs. Danielson and Simeon Danielson. The building as I remember stood with the end to the street and faced south. No, the new building stood at the northwest corner of the old. I think the new building was built in 1874. The old building is the house now occupied by Butterfly. I well remember when the building was moved to its present location, as it was the first time I ever saw anything of the kind done. I began my schooldays in the west part of the old schoolhouse but we soon moved into the new one.

Calista: Feel sure I know you. Saw you at our flower show. Am I wrong?

Ethelyn will find it easier to make bayberry candles by using candle molds, for I have done it myself. Have some genuine old fashioned molds.

Congratulations Zany, hope you didn't lose your hat. Did you celebrate by going up the river for pond lilies? I saw the river this fall for the first time in many years.

Was glad to hear Pisces stand up for Connecticut. Have yet to see a place he goes ahead of the "Old Land of Steady Habit," at least in my estimation. But I presume every one likes their native land best.

Hope Just Jim had a nice shower last night in spite of the weather.

Twice Twenty: Think I saw a R. I. car go by my house Sunday, with you on back seat. Am I right?

Dan's Wife: Hope no one was hurt in the accident. Hardly knew you when you went by with Alwilda. Haven't seen you you in so long.

Thank you Lady for that picture. It came Tuesday and I have been slack in not acknowledging it before. I wonder if you would lend me that film so I can have some printed. Sent that one to a hospital in Boston.

Many thanks for birthday presents and cards.

WHERE ARE THE WRITERS?

Dear Editor and Friends: Such a lovely month (October) like a little childs face, all tears (rain), their sunshine bursting through like a smile.

Have been looking over some of the Social Corner pages of 1919 and am wondering where the writers are that used to help fill our page. They are silent now or else have changed their pennname. We are very glad that some still write and that more have been added to write interesting letters for us to read from time to time.

I wish to thank the editor for the yellow slip which came as a complete surprise, and with which I will purchase postage stamps.

How many of you read the prediction in a Boston paper yesterday of a great war for 1928? It reads London, England. "Prediction of a great war was made tonight by Basil Stewart, one of the speakers at a meeting of a society known as the British Israelites" held at Londonderry house by invitation of the marquis of Londonderry.

Mr. Stewart made the solemn prediction that the next world war will start May 28, 1928, and will continue until Sept. 16, 1936. He based his prediction on the symbolism of the great pyramid, combined with what he turned prophetic forecasts of the Bible, and he asserted that the war would be accompanied by unprecedented convulsions of nature, floods and earthquakes. England, he said, and others countries which are the "Port of Israel" will emerge victorious, but Russia will be wiped out entirely."

L. T. H.: Received box of slips in splendid condition, not even wilted. Planted them at once in new window box. Thank you.

Nonesopretty: The silk is for a fancy bag or lining for one. Thank you for your letter and gift.

Palm Leaf: Your letter came. Hope to see you some sunny day.

Jean: Hope you are not ill.

Violet: Heard you had a treat last Sunday.

Kochia: Have you forgotten us?

Sassy: Roll call! Come get that rusty pen out.

Theoda: Please keep us informed of members who are ill or those who come to the change call "death."

Interested Reader: My quilt never got any further than your block.

Aunt Jerusha: How are you these days?

Rural Delivery: We are coming over to hear your preacher some day. We had a dandy sermon last Sunday Preacher from Dayville.

Rural Aunty: Gone south yet? Adam is begining to shiver and begins to think of dashing widows of the shores of Florida.

Cactus Blossom: Your letter received. Not sure when he will start south. Any one else going south that wants a passenger?

Well, good bye, every body for this time.

A GRATE FIRE

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Did you ever sit beside a roaring fire in the grate, and watch different pictures that would form from the flames? I always took great delight in so doing.

You can see the blue flames struggling upward and I could discern figures between the bars. This time it was a little, old man, with a huge pack on his back, that seemed with the assistance of his staff to be climbing up a steep hill, just above the second bar.

I think I must have gone to sleep for a few minutes as I could not help saying to him or to my image, "Old man, what seek you?" And the wind whistled around the chimney, and I heard this old man say, "Fame, fame, yonder is the dome of the temple of fame. Eighty years have I digged for gold, and here is my fortune." shrugging his shoulders till the huge pack trembled. "Tis too big to go into my grave, they tell me, but it has grown on my back, I love it, I love it, ah yes, I love it. They shall not take it off, no I will climb this hill, and at the sacred shrine, in yonder temple, I will offer it that they may enroll my name on the grand book. Then I shall live, live, like other God's and positively know me."

A door closed and awoke me and the old man was no more. But oh! what a bright spot he left between the grate bars. I covered my eyes for a minute, and, when, I looked again the bright, almost white coals took the form of three little children as playing on the floor. How I painted them up in my mind with merry blue eyes and dangling curls. I bent forward to look at it and still it was the same. Then I laid my head back and closed my eyes to see if I had it on the walls of my memory.

It is still there, and I think now I would enjoy a fire place so those who are fortunate enough to have one sit and watch the blue flame. You would not have to cast a thought, you could cast your eye up on the coals.

Majestic: I thought you had been sick as I did not hear from you. Your aunt was down some time since. You are looking as lovely as ever.

Spook candles, make a nice salad for a Hallowe'en party Take a banana and prepare the holder from a slice of orange, pineapple or orange, the handle a strip of sweet red and green pepper, and the flame a piece of pimento. Mayonnaise laid around the candle represents the mellow wax.

TRUDA DOING HER BIT

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: Well friends, here I am again, trying to do my bit by writing a few lines for the Corner page. Today Club No. 6 meets at Grange hall, North Stonington. I would like so much to go, but find I can't.

Zany: I enjoyed your nice letter so much, also the recipe for the New Year. It's great. I trust you had a pleasant birthday and wish you many more.

Anna Brenton recently had a sister who passed away very suddenly. Connie lost her mother by death and Frances L. her husband. To these I extend sincere sympathy.

O. D.: Haven't seen you of late. How are you? Well, I hope.

E. L. M.: I hear that you and hubby are enjoying a well earned vacation trip.

Blandina and Winona are leaving soon for California. Won't they have the laugh on us, having to shovel snow and trying to keep the home fires burning while they are sitting out enjoying the warm sunshine and flowers!

Birdie: When are you coming to give me the once over? Now that you are home should think you might find the time.

Mrs. Farmer: How are you these days? Hope you will have some more of those good strawberries next season.

Just A Nut: It's time you got out your writing material and did your bit. Am wondering if you and Zulleka have gone to North Stonington today.

Best wishes to all.

AN OLD FASHIONED WASHSTAND

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Is there an old-fashioned washstand standing around uselessly in your cellar or attic? Haul it out, if there is, and put it to work. You can make, if not an elegant tea-wagon, at least a very practical service-wagon out of it.

Some of these old washstands have side pieces that were used as towel racks. Leave these on, or remove one or both, as you please. But they will prove handy in wheeling your service-wagon about. However take off the little back piece, so the top will be perfectly free and flat. Then nail a narrow strip of wood or moulding all around the top edge. This makes a sort of tray, and it will prevent things placed on it from slipping off. Nail the same sort of a wooden strip around the bottom shelf, put four small rubber-tired wheels and put them on, and lacquer the whole wagon an attractive shade that will go well with your dining room. You can put a gay piece of cretonne on each tray and fit a glass top over it, or a piece of linoleum can be cut to fit inside the tray, and used instead of the cretonne and glass. It will, perhaps be cheaper, and just as serviceable.

A black lacquered wagon with black and white linoleum would be quite attractive. If an added decoration note is desired, flowers in some gay color, such as orange, red, etc., may be painted on the center of the drawer. When the meal is finished, draw the wagon to the table. Pile the dishes on it, and wheel them to the sink. After they are washed, and as you are drying them, put them back on the wagon and wheel them to the cupboards. Or they may be left on the wagon trays, the silver put into the wagon drawer, and left ready for the next meal.

A service wagon of this kind can be a great step and time saver.

OLD SONGS WANTED

Dear Editor of the Social Corner: If any of the members of the Social Corner have these songs I'd be very glad to get them, or search for them if I can be told where they may be found.

1. There was a man named Johnny Sands and he married Betty Hague (English, I believe.)

2. A ballad in which the refrain runs (English, I believe.)
Och, Mother, he's going away! (There is a line in it something like the following,
His ghost
Stood at my bedpost.)

3. A later song, American I believe. They have taken my mother's picture from its accustomed place,
And hung beside my father's a young and fairer face.

4. A child's song, having the refrain
And the Lambie answered 'Ba!'

I am under the impression that Johnny Sands has been reprinted in the Corner but do not know the date. I always enjoy the Social Corner page. It was a great idea!

HALLOWE'EN RECIPES

Dear Corner Members: Here are some Hallowe'en recipes:

Lantern Cake: 1 cup sour milk, 1 heaping teaspoon of soda, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1-2 cup of molasses, 1 tablespoon of ginger, flour enough to make a stiff dough. Bake in round baking powder tins and frost them to represent lanterns. Frost all over in white, the bars and rims being in chocolate, the outline in little red candies and for the handle a carrot ring.

Black Cats: 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon of molasses, 1 teaspoon of ginger, 3 cups of flour, 3 teaspoons of baking powder, 1 teaspoon of melted butter. Roll out and cut in shape of black cats, frost with chocolate. Use red cinnamon candies for eyes.

Pumpkin Faces: One large cup (coffee) of sugar, one of molasses, one of butter, 4 of sour milk, 4 of flour, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon of ginger, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon of saleratus beaten in sour milk and poured in last. Roll these out and cut in pumpkin shape. Frost with white frosting and make eyes, nose and mouth with chocolatet frosting.

KEZIAH DOOLITTLE'S OWN RECIPES

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I have been intending to write ever since I attended Club's 4's at Moses Wife's. It was the only one I have attended this past summer. In spite of the down pour of rain they all seemed to enjoy themselves. Moses' Wife proved herself a member of good standing in Club 4.

Calista: I think I know "who is who," weren't you at Moses' Wifes and did you assist with the dinner? Hope the weather man will be good and you have a big crowd at your Hallowe'en party. Am not sure whether it will be so I can meet with you or not. Will think of you anyway.

Votami: Yeast cake is still raising. Are you going to the Social Corner party the 27th? If so you may be able to have your fortune told.

Barbara: Haven't heard from you in a long time. It must look pretty on the hill now. Was up to Maple Crest last Sunday. Enjoyed the view from there as much as ever.

E. J. H.: Isn't your patient able to write for you yet, or is he as "high minded" as ever? How are crossword puzzles faring nowadays?

Primrose: Did the letter reach you? Were you surprised at the contents?

Moses' Wife: Do you want me to send that stamp so you can write? The lost is found, so you won't have to look for it anymore.

Would any of the sisters like to try my way of fixing red cabbage. Take a small head and run it through the fod chopper, then add sugar and vinegar to taste. To change the taste add a small pepper, a small onion, a little celery. This is something I made up all by myself. It's original.

We wanted something different for lunch the other day, so we fixed some potatoes, sliced them, then put on a small kettle, put in some grease, fried an onion (chopped.) When most done added the potatoes. When they were almost ready to serve added a steero cube. This is also original. Hope if you try them you will report what luck you have.

I thank all those that have sent me cards. My belongings are scattered, so, I never am able to find anything when I want it, so can't thank each one separately.

KEZIAH DOOLITTLE.

COLLEGE CANDIES

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: When chill winds blow and the young people gather indoors of an evening because a cosy fireside is a pleasant place to be near, very often some one's "sweet tooth" begins to claim attention.

Shall they run down to the corner store for candy and then into the movies, or shall a young hostess produce a chafing dish or an electric grill and make her own while her guests assist or "tune in" on the radio?

Aside from the fun and sociability there is the satisfaction of knowing that the ingredients are pure; the candy is fresh and the cost is lower. But the very best reason for encouraging homemade candy for young folks is so that we may know where they are and what they are doing. This is most important, you mothers will agree. So clip out these "college candies" and pass them along to daughter. The remainder you will wish for your own use. As fudge is a universal favorite many of these recipes are of that nature. These candies are simple to make, though mostly new and different.

Masterpiece Penuche: Two tablespoons butter, 2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup thin cream, 3 tablespoons marshmallows cup up, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 cup raisins, 1-2 cup nut meats.

Melt in saucepan the butter, sugar and cream. Boil until candy forms a soft ball when tried in cold water. Stir occasionally to prevent burning. Remove from fire and add chopped marshmallows. When cool add salt, vanilla, raisins cut in pieces and nut meats coarsely chopped. Beat until creamy. Press candy into a greased pan. When firm cut into squares.

Ginger Cream Candy: Two cups white sugar, 1 cup brown sugar, 3-4 cup thin cream, 2 tablespoons corn syrup, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons crystallized ginger.

Put sugar, milk and corn syrup in saucepan and boil to the soft ball stage. Remove from the fire, add butter and ginger which has been cut fine; when mixture has cooled a little, add vanilla and beat until creamy. Pour into a buttered pan and cut.

Hollywood Cream: Two cups sugar, 1-4 cup water, 1-4 cup lemon juice, yellow coloring.

Boil sugar, water and lemon juice to "soft ball" stage. Set pan in cold water and beat; add yellow coloring and drop on waxed paper to form waters.

Simmons College Fudge: Two cups sugar, one cup milk, two squares bitter chocolate, one-quarter teaspoon salt, two tablespoons corn syrup, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup nut meats.

Melt chocolate; mix sugar, milk, chocolate, salt and syrup, and cook slowly. Stir occasionally to prevent burning, until soft ball stage. Remove move from fire, add butter. When candy is lukewarm, add vanilla, and nuts, and begin to beat. Pour into slightly greased pan.

I have a few others I'll send later.

RECIPES BY MOTHER PRESTON

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sister: How are all the folks especially the sick and shut ins? I do hope they are gaining in strength and that soon all will be well. The cold weather is coming slowly to greet us all, to let us know that winter isn't very far away but we must be brave and face it as it comes to see us. We have had some very nice warm days this fall and I really think we are going to have more later before winter sets in.

I supposed most of the sisters have finished with their canning. I have a few more to do yet, and they are tomatoes and quinces.

Here is an old recipe for

Tomato Preserves: Take ripe scalded and peeled tomatoes 13 pounds, nice scalding hot molasses, 1 gal; pour the molasses upon them and let stand 12 hours; then boil until they are properly cooked; now skim out the tomatoes; but continue boiling the syrup until quite thick, then pour again upon the tomatoes and put away as other preserves. A tablespoon of ginger tied up in a bit of cloth and boiled in them gives nice flavor; or the extracts can be used: or lemon peel as preferred. If sugar is used, pound for pound is the amount.

Quince Preserves: Pare, core, and quarter the fruit, boil in clear water enough to cover until they are tender; make a syrup with two pounds of sugar and a pint of water; when boiling hot, add the quinces; allow three quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit; use parings and cores for jelly.

Quince Marmalade: Ten pounds of ripe yellow quince, wash clean, pare, and core them and cut them into small pieces. To each pound of quinces allow half a pound of white sugar; put the parings and cores into a kettle, with enough water to cover them; boil slowly, until quite soft; then having put the quinces with the sugar into a porcelain kettle, strain over them through a cloth, the liquid from the parings and cover. Boil the whole over a clear fire until it becomes quite smooth and thick, keeping it covered except when you are skimming it and watching and stirring closely to prevent sticking at the bottom. When cold, put into glass jars.

Preserved Watermelon in Place of Citron for Cakes: The harder part of watermelon, next the skin, made into preserves with sugar, equal weights, cooking down the syrup rather more than for common use, causes it to granulate, like citron, which is kept for sale.

This chopped fine, as citron makes an excellent substitute for that article and for very much less cost. Call in the neighbors to help eat about a dozen good sized melons, and you have outside enough for the experiment and if the doctor is near he will help without a fee. They are nice also in mince pies in place of raisins. Best wishes to all.

HOW KOCHIA SPENT VACATION

Dear Social Corner Members: Autumn once again is paying her annual visit, all robed in her splendor of brown and gold, which makes us feel that we all want to go some where either to visit a friend, or take a ride out into the woods or stroll along the country way side, and enjoy what wonders nature is trying to do for us. And I hope many have had that pleasure as well as myself, which I have enjoyed very much. A short time ago, I had a vacation of five days and visited some sections of Rhode Island, visited places I had not been to in over 20 years. Many changes had taken place since then. I visited the large dam which is owned and built by the city of Providence out in Kent county, near Hope, which is well worth any one's time, but it did seem rather hard upon many in that section to see where people had only a few years ago had good farms, and large wood lots. Now, the timber is cut, houses torn down, factories sold and striped of machinery and the stone buildings left to crumble, and water piling back over the meadows, and orchards to provide water for the city of Providence. I enquired after several different people who used to live around that section, and was informed, some had passed on to their reward, others were forced to sell their homes of their childhood, and moved to new fields as the city wanted their land. So what nature does not change for you, those who hold the wealth of the earth force upon you, which seems rather hard upon those whose forefathers and themselves have worked and built up.

During my trip I attended the Pawtucket Valley fair, having two days of it. There I met many that I knew, some not for years. One young man I met, I had not seen him in 25 years and I saw him doing the same vocation as he was doing 25 years ago and that was mounted upon a beautiful saddle horse. He informed me that he was a riding instructor and that he had a large class of young ladies and men.

I also visited the Lakewood Riding academy where I found 20 saddle horses, as nice a string of horse flesh as any one wants to cast their eyes upon. They informed me that never in history was horse back riding as popular as it is today. I certainly was much interested, as for many years I had as many as five saddle horses at a time, and a single foot was my favorite.

Perhaps I could not have found a better section for me to spend my vacation, for I certainly did enjoy every day of my stay and I am in hopes that the readers of this will try and get some enjoyment out of this letter. Trust the young man in J. C. who took the pains to get out the dictionary and hunt up the definition of my pen name is at ease and won't look in vain this week for my splatte.

Fuller Phun: Many thanks for the good time and pleasant evening, say nothing about the wonderful feed that you served. Soon I hope I may be able to return the compliment, but will wait so hubby and the kiddies can come along also.

Nonesopretty: Received your letter. Am deeply sorry for you if it is true, that you are having some of Job's afflictions, for people tell me they are terrible. As space and time are somewhat limited, I'll come to a close with best of wishes to all the readers.

GOOD TIME AT NO. STONINGTON

Dear Social Corner: Those of us who were at the meeting of Club. No. 6 in Grange hall, North Stonington Tuesday know what a good time we had. Those who were not there must imagine it. Laurel and Idalease were hostesses and they certainly knew how. Some of the regular attendants were missing. On the other hand a number of new faces were seen which all hope to see again. We all missed dear Rebecca and our thoughts and sympathy were with her. We thought of Frances L., too, and with much sympathy.

Melissa: Do you ever see The Bulletin now-a-days? We miss you from our Corner gatherings. Aren't you ever coming back to the Granite town? Thank you for the nice card I received from you weeks ago. I should have answered it while I knew your address. Just now I do not know where you may be reached.

With kind regards to all.

PROCRASTINATION IS THE THIEF OF TIME

Dear Sisters: You've met people whose motto seems to be, "Never today what can be put off until tomorrow."

People with impressive education call this "procrastination." Others call it laziness.

In reality it's a very human tendency. There's a little bit of it in all of us, and it gets either of the above names only when it is excessive.

I think it more pronounced in men than in women. You ask them to get a hod of coal, empty a pail of water, help carry a table in the other room and you know the result. There's a little element of laziness in it, but it is in far greater measure a mere lack of self discipline, for you'll often find it in people who really are not lazy at all, but who simply rebel at the idea that a thing ought to be done. If it made no difference whether it was done or not they would probably be interested sufficiently to do it. But the mere fact that it is expected of them, or that their own interest demands it, makes the little task distasteful to them, whether it is the paying of a bill, the writing of a letter or calling some one on the telephone.

That is what I call selfishness in men, but I guess after all it is putting off until their times comes to execute it.

AUNT SARAH TO ENTERTAIN CLUB 3

Dear Social Corner Friends: It has been a long time since I last wrote to the Corner.

I want to tell you Club No. 3 is trying to wake up after its long rest, and if we don't have a blizzard will meet at my house, Oct 26.

All are welcome. Bring your friends. I think some of the members will remember the last time I tried to have them meet here, also the blizzard.

The C-V train leaves Willimantic at 10:58, reaches Lebanon station at 11:16 leaves Lebanon for Willimantic at 2:-56. I think most of you know where I live; one mile west of the station on the direct road to Lebanon Center. Look for the yellow bow.

Tansy: Will you come? Hope you are feeling better than when I last saw you.

Zany: I like your recipe for happy New Year.

With best wishes to all and hoping for a good day, Oct. 26.

SOME CHEESE RECIPES

Dear Sisters of the Corner: I wish you would try these recipes and let me know if you do not have good success. We think they are fine.

Cheese Straws: Sift 5 1-2 cups sifted flour with 2 teaspons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper and 1-8 teaspon cayenne. Mix with 2 quarts fine fresh bread crumbs. Cream 1-2 cup butter and work in the flour mixture. Add 2 quarts grated cheese. Mix well with 1 cup milk. Roll 1-4 inch thick, cut in narrow stripes and bake until brown in a moderate oven.

Quick Club Cheese: Mix a few grains cayenne and 1-2 teaspoon salt with 2 beaten eggs and 1 tablespoon melted butter. Beat into 1-2 pound grated American cheese. Continue beating until creamy.

Savory Cheese: Cook 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 minced green pepper and 2 tablespoons minced celery in 3 tablespoons butter until softened. Add 4 tablespoons sifted flour and blend well. Gradually add 2 cups strained tomato juice mixed with 1-2 teaspoon soda. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly, and strain. Add a few grains paprika and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Add 2 cups chopped American cheese, let stand over hot water until melted, stirring constantly. Beat 1 egg, add to mixture, stir briskly 2 minutes, or until egg is set, and serve on toasted crackers.

BUFFALO CREAM CAKE

Dear Editor of Social Corner: I was invited to the last meeting of Club No. 3 of the Social Corner and had a fine time and was invited to become a member of the Corner and club. I am sending in one of my favorite cake recipes.

Buffalo Cream Cake: 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 2-3 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon cream tartar, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1 2-3 cups flour, flavor to suit taste. It can be baked in a loaf or in layer tins. It is fine, I think.

At the suggestion of Club No. 2, I will take the name of

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, October 12, 1852—Many Norwich residents have taken advantage of the opportunity of inspecting the new bills being issued for the Uncas bank. These bills feature the face of Uncas, the famous Indian chief, while on some of them are group pictures of Indians or farming scenes. The bills are very attractive in design and without doubt will also prove attractive to anyone who might obtain them through payment of bills now due.

Farmers in this vicinity are now getting 75 cents a bushel for potatoes and 28 cents a pound for butter—not such a bad price at that.

David Goodspeed of Greeneville is now advertising for 20 girls for his shop and also has work for 400 thin sack and 300 pairs thin pants for anyone who understands the work.

S. Robinson Parlin has bought out the jewelry business formerly conducted next door to the Norwich bank by Edward Colt.

Thursday, Oct. 14, 1852—The house and barn of Alonzo Goodrich, at Rocky Hill, were destroyed by fire last Sunday night.

Swallow's India Rubber Clothing manufactory at Ansonia was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday morning about 4 o'clock, along with the large Brass building, the File works and the extensive buildings of the United States Spring company. The total loss is in excess of $100,000. The fire is believed to have been caused by sparks caused by friction of the machinery.

The Greeneville Scott and Graham club have opened a reading room in Mr. Greene's building opposite the residence of William F. Clark, Esq. All daily papers are being kept there so that people may be informed as to the latest political situations.

Saturday, October 16, 1852—People in Norwich as well as in New London have learned with regret of the death of Frederick R. Griffing of Guilford, president of the New Haven and New London railroad. This road owes its existance to his energy and his death is a heavy calamity to that corporation.

A million and a quarter "dead" letters have been opened in Washington during the past quarter and some $11,000 obtained from them.

Johnson and company's famous Empire circus is to show in this city today, many people following the usual custom of watching them arrive in the city and prepare for their show.

Henry Bill has moved his office to the Strand building next door to Dr. Eaton's Drug store. Here he is to carry on his agencies in the book business.

WOODSTOCK VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Keith and family spent Sunday in Worcester.

Jerry Hall has returned to his home in the valley, improved in health.

Leonard Frenier of Hackensack, N. J., a former resident here, spent a few days in town this week visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hayter of Clinton, Mass., were in town last week guests of Mrs. E. M. Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Benoit of Pawtucket, R. I., were callers in town Sunday.

Howard Carpenter was a visitor at his uncles, Allen Kenyon, Sunday.

POETRY

October's Bright Blue Weather

Oh, suns and skies, and clouds of June
And flowers of June together,
Ye can not rival for one hour
October's bright blue weather.

When loud the bumblebee makes haste,
Belated thriftless vagrant,
And goldenrod is dying fast,
And lanes with grapes are fragrant.

When gentians roll their fringes tight
To save them for the morning,
And chestnuts fall from satin burrs
Without a sign of warning.

When on the ground bright apples lie
In piles like jewels shining,
And redder still, on old stone walls
Are leaves of woodbine twining.

When all the lovely wayside things
Their white winged seeds are sowing
And in the fields, still green and fair,
Late aftermaths are growing.

When springs run low, and on the brooks,
In the idle golden freighting,
Bright leaves sink noiseless in the hush,
Of woods for winter waiting.

Oh, suns, and skies, and flowers of June
Count all your boasts together,
Love loveth best—of all the year—
October's bright blue weather.

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

The Rose and Thorn

She's the loveliest of the festival throng
In delicate form and Grecian face.
A beautiful, incarnate song,
A marvel of harmonious grace,
And yet I know the truth I speak:
From those gay groups she stays apart,
A rose upon her tender cheek,
A thorn within her heart.

Though bright her eyes' bewildering gleams,
Fair tremulous lips and shining hair,
A something born of mournful dreams
Breathes round her sad enchanted air;
No blithesome thought at hide and seek
From out her dimples smiling start;
If still the rose be on her cheek,
A thorn is in her heart.

Young lover, tossed 'twixt hope and fear,
Your whispered vow and yearning eyes
You marble Clytie pillared near
Could move as soon to soft replies;
Or, if she thrill at words you speak,
Love's memory prompts the sudden start:
The rose has paled upon her cheek,
The thorn has pierced her heart.

—Paul Hamilton Hayne.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Instructor—Now, don't you think her voice is improved?

Father—Yes, but it's not cured.—Detroit News.

Is that girl letting her hair grow? No, she's just stopping it.—Tit-Bits.

Father—The question is, can the young man support you?

Daughter (yawning)—Well, father, he can keep me up.—Boston Transcript.

That's about all I expected he would leave you.—Life.

The world is round, isn't it?

Yes.

Then if I wanted to go east, I could eventually get there by going west.

What are you, a taxi driver?—Pathfinder.

Caveman Husband (sternly to his wife, who has been shopping)—What do you want with a new frock?

His wife (happily)—How thoughtful of you, darling! Of course I'd like a new hat to go with it.—Answers, London.

Prisoner—I admit, your honor, that I was exceeding the speed limit, but I was afraid of being late at court.

Judge—And what was your business in court?

Prisoner—I had to answer the charge of exceeding the speed limit.—Vancouver Province.

Smith returned fro mthe office one evening and eyed his wife gloomily.

"My dear," he said, "I've something important to tell you. Er—as a matter of fact, a receiver has been appointed to take charge of my affairs."

"Oh, how lovely, darling!" cried his wife. "Do tell me when he is going to hold the first reception?"—Tit-Bits.

A new job for the census taker is figuring the ground squirrel population of Yellowstone national park. A recent estimate placed the number at 1,000,000, but E. J. Sawyer, park naturalist, is inclined to think that this figure is much too conservative. He says that he tried two years ago to get a rough calculation, and that his result was nearer 6,000,000 than 1,000,000.

There is a sign in a favorite cafe of the Boulevard St. Michel, Paris, in the heart of the student quarter, which reads: "Ladies are requested not to smoke pipes." It was posted after an irate waiter routed two girl students who chose a corner table in the sun as a pleasant place to smoke their briar pipes and to philosophize on the latest gossip of the Latin quarter.

An appreciable increase in the number of young people who fall prey to mental disease is found by Dr. Menas S. Gregory, head of the psychiatric department of Bellevue hospital, New York. People are more enlightened about the danger of letting mental and nervous ills gain headway, and as a result more youthful cases reach the hospital, he says, but this does not fully explain the increase. "The higher standards of the present day are largely responsible," he states. "The demand for material luxuries is greater today than it has ever been. The longings of youth are more intricate, more difficult to attain. They are more likely to be thwarted. And an increase in thwarted longings and ambitions makes for an increase in abnormal mental and nervous states."

STOCK MARKET BROKE WIDE OPEN IN THE LAST FEW MINUTES OF TRADING

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—The stock market today opened irregular, turned upward under the leadership of the oils and high grade rails and industrials, and then broke wide open in the last few minutes of trading. Net declines in scores of active issues ranged from 2 to 5 points, with a few larger losses. Houston Oil was the outstanding weak spot, collapsing from an early high of 167 1-4 to 151, off 14 points net, on publication of an unfavorable 9 months earnings report. Total sales ran above 2 3-4 million shares and it was 22 minutes after the market closed before the final quotation appeared.

Although many observers were inclined to regard the reaction as a further correction of the market's weakened technical position, the liquidation of stocks undoubtedly was stimulated by bearish trade news. The weekly mercantile reviews continued to report irregularities in general business, freight car loadings have been disappointing, third quarter earnings reports generally are falling below expectations and some uneasiness has developed over the recent decline in commodity prices.

Easy call money rates, apparently the chief bullish influence during the recent advance have been disregarded almost entirely this week. Call loans were quoted all day at 3 1-2 per cent, with "outside funds" available as low as 3 1-4. The increase of nearly $40,000,000 in brokers' loans reported by the federal reserve bank yesterday also was disquieting, although it was generally conceded to be due to the temporary financing of new bond offerings, which have exceeded $200,000,000 again this week.

U. S. Steel common and General Motors touched new low levels on the current down swing at 139 1-8 and 127, as against the year's highs of 160 1-2 and 141, respectively. Steel had sold as high as 742 1-8 earlier in the session and motors at 131 7-8. American Telephone dropped from 176 3-4 to 172, Commonwealth Power from 69 to 65 1-2, Dupont from 327 1-2 to 320, General Railway Signal from 131 to 122, International Harvester from 209 7-8 to 204, Timken Roller Bearing from 117 to 111 and Warren Bros. from 135 to 128 1-2.

Some sharp breaks also took place in the railroad shares. Lehigh Valley was the hardest hit, dropping from 100 1-2 to 92. Chesapeake & Ohio fell from 208 to 201 1-8 and Erie common from 67 1-8 to 63.

Time money rates were unchanged at 4 to 4 1-4 per cent, but prime commercial paper was again available at 3 3-4.

Foreign exchange rates were irregular, with some rather sharp advances in Norwegian, Spanish and Polish currencies. Sterling cables held fairly firm, around the year's high of $4.87 7-32.

A further collapse of about 2 cents a bushel in wheat prices, carrying them to new low levels for the season, featured the commodity markets. Selling of wheat was influenced by reports of large Canadian shipments and the continued lack of export demand. Cotton prices eased slightly and coffee and sugar quotations were irregular.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Bonds steady, International Paper 6s active at year's peak.

Cotton steady, trade buying.

Sugar steady, Cuban buying.

Coffee higher, firm Brazil.

Chicago

Wheat easy, selling northwest houses.

Corn easy, fine weather.

Cattle irregular.

Hogs irregular.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

ODD FELLOWS

Danbury was selected as the next convention city of the grand encampment I. O. O. F., when it met in New Haven this week and George E. Travis of Danbury was elected grand patriarch.

Officers, who will serve with Grand Patriarch Travis, are as follows: Grand high priest, Edward H. Birdsey, Meriden; grand senior warden, George A. Brannnan, Bridgeport; grand scribe, William S. Hutchinson, New Haven; grand treasurer, William J. Bergin, Stamford; grand junior warden, Henry A. Jessen, Hartford; grand representatives, Frank M. Canfield, Bridgeport; Harry W. Tuttle, Bristol; grand marshal, August H. Simonson, South Manchester; grand sentinel, Walter B. Klein, Torrington; grand outer sentinel, Henry H. Pritchard.

Grand Master Dorr H. Whitney of Bridgeport, and Grand Secretary William S Hutchinson of New Haven paid an official visit to Thames lodge, No. 22, I. O. O. F., of Montville Tuesday night. There was a large attendance. Visitors were present from lodges in surrounding cities. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Walter R. King of Willimantic was elected grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias grand lodge at the annual convention held Tuesday at Bridgeport, succeeding Charles Andres of Bridgeport, who held the office for two years. Other officers elected are as follows:

Grand vice chancellor, Louis A. Beehler, West Haven; grand prelate, Melvin R. Marquand, Stamford; grand master at arms, Joseph I. Koppleman, Hartford; grand inner guard, Herbert A. Evans, Watertown; grand outer guard, Ernest C. Falk, Torrington; supreme representatives, Frederick M. Parsons, Seymour; Thomas H. Troland, New London.

Seventy past chancellors, of various lodges, received grand lodge recognition Tuesday. More than 175 delegates were at the convention.

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS

Buckingham council, No. 14, is now settled in its new meeting place, Eagles hall in the Eagles building on Cliff street where the meetings are held every Wednesday evening. At the meeting this week there was a large attendance and Councilor Sidney Vars presided at the business session. After the business, pinochle and whist were played. The juniors are organizing a new bowling and rifle team so that all members who are interested will do well to attend the next meeting.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

The regular meeting of Victory lodge was held Thursday evening in Steiner hall with an unusually large attendance in spite of the bad weather. Noble Grand Elisabeth Houston, presided. An invitation from Hugh Osgood, lodge to attend a dance and entertainment in Ponemah hall was accepted. The past grand had a sale of work table, which was well patronized and a good sum realized. The meeting adjourned for a social time and the committee served sandwiches, cakes and tea. November 5th is a baked bean and salad supper which will help toward the expense of the banquet which takes place at the Wauregan hotel in December.

LADIES AUXILIARY, A. O. H.

Division No. 54, received an interesting report of the recent county convention in Taftville, given by Miss Catherine Coughlin, county secretary, at its regular meeting Wednesday evening in A. O. H. hall at which Miss Nellie McCarthy presided. The local branches are to purchase two copies of a new book, The Nuns of the Battlefield, written by Mrs. Ellen Ryan Jolly, a former national officer of the L. A., A. O. H. One of the books is to be placed in each parochial school library.

Mrs. Annie Brooks was appointed chairman for the next whist and pinochle evening, and it was decided to hold a social night once a month for the members. This is intended to serve as an incentive to better attendance and Miss Catherine Coughlin was made chairman for the year.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

With the president, Mrs. William E. Bogue, in the chair, the regular meeting of the Women's auxiliary, No. 2, American legion, was held Monday evening in their rooms. The welfare committee reported making a visit and rendering aid to a needy family. Final arrangements were completed for a whist and pinochle to be held in Buckingham Memorial next week. The president appointed the following members as a nominating committee, Mrs. Perry Raymond, Mrs. Grace Willey and Mrs. Harlow Bogue. An invitation was read for the auxiliary to attend the joint district meeting to be held at Stonington, Oct. 20. At the next regular session the annual meeting is to be held, at which a large attendance is expected.

CATHOLIC LADIES OF COLUMBUS

Tuesday evening in the rooms on Broadway, Mercier assembly, No. 12, held its regular monthly social meeting. Preceding the entertainment, a short business meeting was held at which Miss Mary J. Sullivan, recording secretary, read the minutes of the recent convention in New Haven where Mercier assembly, together with the other assemblies throughout the state, was most hospitably entertained. The assembly is proud of the re-election of the most efficient state president, Mrs. Margaret Dutton, a Mercier assembly member. The convention this year proved to be the most interesting ever. Many important discussions were thoroughly propounded, ratifications to the constitution, etc., were carefully voted upon.

The local meeting was then turned over to Miss Nonie Nagle, chairman of the social part of the evening, which consisted of a fashion review. Entertainment in a good wholesome manner and plenty of it was the result. There were some 10 models displaying fashions of every sort, great-grandmother's favorite dresses, bathing suits and the very latest models worn at this season. Miss Frances Kingberger was awarded first prize and Mrs. E'la Bonne received second. Each model wore such a complete costume it was a difficult problem for the judges to decide upon the prize winners However, it was unanimous without a doubt, that the winners were entitled to their honors. Miss Nagle certainly was responsible for a perfect evening's entertainment.

Much enthusiasm is aroused by these regular social meetings. There are many attractive features in store for the remainder of the winter.

Miss Margaret Daly is chairman of a bridge to be held in the rooms the latter part of the month.

The annual requiem mass for the deceased members was discussed and the date thereof will be announced soon.

GALES FERRY

Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Clark, and sons, Walter T. Jr., and Malcolm Whiting Clark, joined Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reynolds of Wallingford, and motored to Hammonasset beach for the day Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham returned from a motor trip of a week through the lake regions of eastern and northern New York. Mr. Buckingham an assistant cashier of the Thames National bank, Norwich, resumed his duties there Monday.

Nathan A. Gibbs' auxiliary yawl, May went out of commission Monday and was hauled out for the winter.

Miss Helen L. Colver of the Submarine Base was the supper guest of her classmate, Miss Adria Cheney of Williams Memorial institute, New London, at her home there following the Bulkeley—South Manchester football game. They attended the theater in the evening.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago this week little out of the ordinary occurred in Norwich. It was a quiet week as far as news was concerned. About the only happening of note that occurred was the annual republican county convention for the nomination of county sheriff. The convention nominated as its candidate Henry Larrabee of Ledyard. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Norwich Bulletin of October 1877 follow:

Monday, Oct. 15, 1877—The crew of the steamer City of Lawrence took an exercise in rowing on the river yesterday, in accordance with the new regulation of the New York line of steamers, requiring the boat hands to become skilful in handling a rowboat. They were all found to be quite handy at the oar.

The steamer Ella took about 200 passengers from this city, Montville and New London, to view the stranded steamer, Massachusetts. The weather was agreeable, the sail a fine one and all enjoyed themselves. The unfortunate steamer lies off Moore's Point, one mile above Rocky Point and 10 above Horton's.

Tuesday, Oct. 16, 1877—Yesterday was a June day and summer clothing would hardly have been too light. At all events overcoats were at a discount. One year ago there was about three inches of snow on the ground. The foliage still remained on the trees.

Three of our mighty hunters, Hannis, Gilbert and Berkeey, brought in the best bag of birds from their hunt in Lisbon, Saturday, that have yet been reported.

Two of the life boats of the steamer City of Lawrence were lowered and manned in the short space of less than five minutes, by the first mate, Elias King, and his assistants, at the semi-weekly practice Sunday morning.

The first of a series of socials to be given by enterprise club takes place this evening at Steiner's hall.

Wednesday, Oct. 17, 1877—Dr. Brewer brought in a fine string of partridges yesterday, the best done this season, he thinks.

The convention of the Baptist churches of the state met yesterday with the Central Baptist church, this city. The convention proper met at 11 o'clock with the president, Mr. James L. Howard in the chair.

Mr. James B. Coit announces in our columns that he will redeem the tickets issued to the Seventh Series of Winter Night's entertainments today between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Have you had your annual stock of sweet cider through a straw? All should do it.

The wind kept the streets full of dust yesterday and made it decidedly unpleasant for pedestrians.

Thursday, Oct. 18, 1877—The republican county convention for the nomination of sheriff was held at the city hall yesterday. The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock by Mayor Osgood and Judge Charles P. White of North Stonington was chosen chairman, and William T. Cook of Ledyard, secretary. Mr. John Brewster presented the name of Henry Larabee of Ledyard. Mr. Ripley presented the name of O. N. Raymond, the present incumbent. State Senator Lucius Brown spoke in support of Mr. Larabee, maintaining that he would be a strong candidate as he would have the support of the prohibitionists. Mr. Raymond's nomination, on the motion of Mr Brown, was made unanimous amid cheers and expressions of good will on every hand.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at the residence of Mr. Andrews on Elm street last evening. The audience was composed of ten deaf mutes and the lecturer was Prof. Job Turner, a deaf mute missionary, who spoke very intelligently in the language of the mutes.

The Hon. Lafayette Foster of this city read the poem at the celebration of Burgoyne's surrender at Schuylerville, yesterday.

Friday, Oct. 19, 1877—The marriage of Charles E. Dyer, business manager of The Bulletin and Miss Cornelia Meeker, was celebrated at the residence of the bride, on Washington street, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Palmer performed the ceremony. The wedding was not a large one, but a quiet social and very pleasant affair.

Fire was started in the furnace of the City hall building yesterday, greatly to the comfort of the occupants of the several offices, who have done a great deal of shivering the past few days.

Saturday, Oct. 20, 1877—The third of Mr. Kies' current series of organ recitals will be given this afternoon at half past three.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from this city, met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dennison P. Allen, in Scotland, last Thursday evening, the 25th anniversary of their marriage, and completely surprised the happy couple by filling a table full of beautiful presents.

Mr. Palmer Smith has purchased of the heirs of William M. Converse their real estate lying below Commerce street and extending to the river, the price paid, as stated in the town records, being $9,500.

Mr. C. D. Noyes and his bride have been seen at Niagara Falls.

The crew of the steamer City of Lawrence were out for practice in the life boats yesterday. They will probably adopt the English stroke.

Little Mrs. Peter Has Regrets.

Pity one who has let fall
The hasty word beyond recall.
—Mrs. Peter Rabbit.

Now all the time that Peter Rabbit was working himself into a jealous rage up in the Old Pasture little Mrs. Peter was living quietly in the dear Old Briar-patch and doing a lot of thinking. She missed happy-go-lucky Peter. She had known she would miss him, but she missed him even more than she had thought she would. At first she tried to make herself believe she didn't care.

"If Peter didn't care enough for me to stay, when he knew that I just couldn't leave the dear Old Briar-patch I am glad he went. I am so! He is too selfish for anything. I am glad I told him that if he chose to go he needn't come back. I don't want him back. No, sir. I don't want him back."

Tommy Tit the Chickadee had brought back word that Peter was living up in the Old Pasture

But right down inside little Mrs. Peter knew this wasn't true. She was simply trying to make herself think that way. She knew she did want Peter back and she was hoping and hoping that Peter would come back. She hoped he would think that she didn't really mean what she had said. So as one day after another passed she spent more and more time on that side of the dear Old Briar-patch nearest to the Old Pasture. She was watching. That is what she was doing—watching. She was watching for Peter. Whenever any visitor came to the dear Old Briar-patch little Mrs. Peter pretended to be happy, and certainly she looked well. You see, she wasn't losing her appetite. She believed in keeping herself looking well, no matter if Peter wasn't there. So it was that it was quite true that she looked well and seemed happy, which was the word that had been carried to Peter.

She had heard about Peter once or twice. Tommy Tit the Chickadee had brought back word that Peter was living up in the Old Pasture. Tommy had told her that Peter didn't seem to be taking good care of himself and this worried her. Then, too, Tommy had said that Peter seemed a little reckless. This worried her still more.

"It's a bad place for Peter up there in the Old Pasture," thought she. "Yes, sir, it's a bad place. Reddy and Mrs. Fox live up there. So do Old Man Coyote and Mrs. Coyote. If Peter is going to live there he ought to be careful. He cannot afford to be reckless. It is bad enough to be reckless, anyway, but to be reckless in a place like that is running a together too great a risk. Peter is crazy!"

Then little Mrs. Peter sat in her favorite form there in the dear Old Briar-patch and began to dream. Her dreams were day dreams, of course, and they were all about Peter. She remembered that it was up in the Old Pasture that they had first met. It was up there that she had been born and had lived all her life until she met Peter. She remembered when she first saw him and how handsome she had thought him. She had thought him the most wonderful person in all the great world. She remembered how her father, Old Jed Thumper, the big, gray old rabbit, who was then bigger and stronger than Peter, had hunted him all through the Old Pasture and tried to drive him out. She remembered how she and Peter had finally left the Old Pasture and come down to the dear Old Briar-patch, where they had lived ever since. And as she remembered all these things, her thoughts grew very tender. She sighed deeply.

"I shouldn't have sent Peter away like that," said she regretfully. "No, I shouldn't. I'm sorry I did it. I just can't get along without Peter. I did think he would come back, but I guess he thought I meant what I said. If he won't come back I'll have to go after him."

I get clothes whiter this easy way

WHY should I scrub my strength away when I can now soak clothes whiter and brighter!

Rinso makes washday so easy. I just soak the whole wash in its safe, creamy, sterilizing suds—and I haven't a bit of hard rubbing to do!

Dirt and stains float off in the rinsing. Even the most soiled parts need only a gentle rub between the fingers.

Of course this gentle way saves the clothes. Saves me fuel and fuss, too; for Rinso sterilizes without boiling.

Why don't you try Rinso next washday? See for yourself how soft and sudsy it makes the water.

Rinso is all you need—no bar soaps, chips or powders.

TOOK MOTHER-IN-LAW'S GOODS, NORWICH MAN IN NEW LONDON COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 21—William R. Bissetti, 23 North Cliff street, Norwich, was presented in the police court this morning charged with theft. The case was continued two weeks to permit Bissetti to make restitution and this he has promised to do by paying a second-hand dealer the amount of money Bissetti received for personal property which he stole from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Zelenski, formerly of Norwich, now residing at 9 Hill street and which he sold to the second hand dealer, Williams Daniels, Golden street.

Mrs. Zelenski was convicted recently of violation of the liquor law in Norwich and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail there. After having served the sentence, Mrs. Zelenski discovered that a phonograph and a sewing machine belonging to her had been removed from the house. She moved to New London and it was later revealed that Bissetti had stolen the articles and had sold them to Daniels for about $40. Mrs. Zelenski learned of her son-in-law's act and made complaint to the police, with the result that Bissetti was arrested last night by Patrolman Braxton Hill. Bissetti claimed that Mrs. Zelenski had given the talking machine and sewing machine to him, but this statement was quickly proved false.

FLANDERS MAN INJURED BY HIT AND RUN DRIVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 21—Charles Bailey, 75, of Flanders employed as janitor of the Flanders school, is in a critical condition today at Lawrence Memorial hospital. He is suffering from a fractured skull, a deep laceration of the thigh and a laceration of the elbow and hand, which he received last night when he was hit by an automobile driven by the constantly growing type of hit and run drivers.

Bailey was walking along the highway in Flanders when the car struck him, the driver then speeding away. There were no witnesses to the accident, so far as known and for that reason the markers were not noted. Bailey was left unconscious in the highway where he was found by another autoist and brought to the hospital.

The continued case of Antone Enos of Bayonet street, charged with breach of the peace, was nolled. Enos was arrested several weeks ago upon complaint of his wife.

Pasquale Caponi, of Groton, was charged with violation of the city's laws in parking his automobile in restricted area on State street. He did not present himself in court, so his bond of $2 was declared forfeited. Caponi was arrested yesterday by Patrolman William Riordan.

Edward McLaughlin of Union street, was charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. The case was continued to Nov. 1. McLaughlin went to his home about 9 o'clock last night and engaged in an altercation with his brother, John McLaughlin. The latter, rather than continue to argue, made complaint to the police and Edward was arrested by Patrolmen Walter O'Neill and Cornelius Moriarty.

Walter Davis, 51 Hempstead street, was charged with violation of the state dog law and was fined $6, besides being compelled to obtain a license for the dog, so that the violation caused Davis an expenditure of about $12. Davis was arrested this morning by Dog Warden John Sweeny. Neighbors of Davis had made complaint to the officer because of the acts of the dog and when Sweeny went to the Davis house to discuss the matter with the dog owner, Davis abused the officer. That indiscretion brought about his arrest and penalization.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles R. E. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the driver's license of Richard L. Dean, 34 Cottage street. The license was suspended several weeks ago.

Betty Johnson and Marion Pottis, both about 18, were arrested this morning charged with lascivious carriage. They will be in the police court tomorrow. The girls, who are strangers in New London, obtained lodging accommodations at the Central house, Starr street. Their conduct became such that complaint was made to the police. Policewoman Jane H. Cassidy went to the lodging house and after obtaining admissions from the girls as to their conduct since they arrived in New London, they were locked up at police headquarters. They will probably be sent to their homes.

There is but slight improvement today in the condition of Robert Murphy, huckster, familiarly known as Spud, who was found helpless in his room on Golden street Wednesday and taken to Lawrence-Memorial hospital. Murphy's sight and limbs are affected and due to high blood pressure and an aggravated condition of the kidneys. His condition took a turn for the worse yesterday afternoon, but today the improvement was reported. Murphy's sister, a resident of Boston, was summoned to his bedside today.

James H. Blackman of St. Petersburgh, Fla., has sold a building lot on Gardner avenue to Clarence G. Brooks.

Pequot Realty company has sold two building lots on Worthington road to Albert C. and Charlotte L. C. Woodruff.

Mrs. Daniel Angelo and infant daughter of Blackhall; Mrs. Clifton Lanphier and infant daughter, Old Mystic; Mrs. Henry Gottzen and infant daughter, 47 Church street and Mrs. William Nott and infant son, 115 Broad street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Mrs. William Bauer, 119 Thames street, who made complaint to the police yesterday that Wednesday night her chicken coop was visited by a thief and several chickens stolen, today informed the police that she had recovered her property, for she said that when she went to the yard she found the chickens there, they having been returned during the night.

Patrolman John Foley reported at police headquarters when reporting off duty at 3 o'clock this morning that a Ford touring car was parked on the sidewalk on Winthrop street and had been there the entire night. He said that the auto carried Rhode Island markers P-206, but that there was no registration in the auto.

The police of Willimantic today requested the New London police to maintain a lookout for a Dodge sedan that may display signs of having been damaged and which is being driven by a man evidently a salesman for the auto contains a quantity of salesman's sample cases. The driver is wanted on a charge of evasion of responsibility.

Roscoe Manley, colored, residing at 109 Water street, reported at police headquarters at 10 o'clock this morning that his automobile had been stolen. Manley drove the Essex coach to John street at 11 o'clock last night and parked it there. Manley was absent about four hours and when he returned he discovered that the car was missing. Manley believed that the auto had been taken by a friend and for that reason he did not report the disappearance of the machine to the police until he was reasonably sure that it had been stolen. The state police at Groton and Centerbrook and the police of Norwich, Westerly, New Haven, Hartford and Middletown were notified, also.

This evening Sergeant Henry J. Albright, state police, Groton barracks, found the car in a garage at Poquonoc to where it had been towed after having been found near there practically a complete wreck. There is no clues as to the identity of the thief who stole it.

Boleslaw Sewesyk, 211 Crystal avenue, was struck by an unidentified automobile last night and is now a patient at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital suffering from severe contusions and abrasions of the body and limbs.

Theodore F. Downing, former lieutenant of the state police and at that time stationed in New London, is spending a few days in this city. Mr. Downing is no longer connected with police work, but is in the industrial diamond business, having a business, both importing and exporting, at 119 Avenue Des Eglantiers, Antwerp, Belgium.

New London will observe Armistice day this year, for already tentative plans are being arranged by the American Legion. At the last meeting of the city council, City Manager William A. Holt was instructed to bring before the council a report for the consideration of the councilors of the proposed celebration and since then he has conferred with legion members. It is known, however, that if the celebration is given it will not be on an elaborate scale because on Armistice day in 1928, a mammoth celebration will be held the event probably occupying the greater part of the day and night.

GORDON ESTERBROOK NOT KNOWN BY AUTHORITIES

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 21—Chief Inspector of Detectives William Lahey, New York police department tonight informed the New London police that Gordon Esterbrook, of this city, died today in St. Peter's hospital, New York and requested that the mother be notified. Esterbrook's name does not appear in the city directory and neither he, nor his mother is known to the police. An effort is being made, however, to locate Mrs. Esterbrook, in the event that she is a resident of New London.

MISSING ELSIE POTTER CAUGHT FOR LONG LANE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 21—Elsie Potter, about 18, who escaped from Long Lane farm, Middletown five months ago, has been apprehended for she was arrested in New York yesterday and is being held for the state farm authorities to take charge of her. The Potter girl, whose father and brothers reside on Shaw street, New London, escaped from the farm early last summer. She succeeded in eluding the New London police although it was known that she came to Ne wLondon occasionally for on two such visits to her home the girl barely missed arrested. She frequently visited relatives or friends in Norwich, after visiting her father.

Mrs. Harry Titus, of 207 Montauk avenue, made complaint to the police tonight because of the mischievous practice of boys returning home from school damaging the hedge in front of her residence.

An automobile owned by Charles Welsh, of Noank, was stolen this afternoon. It is a Ford touring and carries Connecticut registration, L-3155 and was stolen from Noank. When Welsh discovered his loss he reported the fact to the state police, Groton barracks and that department requested the New London police to be on the lookout for the auto.

The residence on Granite street, owned and occupied by Mrs. Morris Bacon till she died, was entered by juvenile crooks this afternoon for the second time within a few days. One of the crooks is a Shapiey street boy, who has been arrested three times within a fortnight for thieving. The boy and a companion went to the Granite street house and the eldest boy who is about 16 smashed a cellar window and through it he crawled so that he could gain entrance to the upper floors. He succeeded in doing so and ransacked the house, but so far as is known, there was nothing in the way of loot that could be carried away. The youth was observed to enter the cellar by a resident of that section and she notified the police. The youthful crook, however, had opened a window leading to the veranda so that he could leave hastily if necessary. Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolman Ernest Opperman arrived at the house just too late, but not too late to eventually arrest the boys. The lads had departed but a minute or two in advance of the arrival of the officers. A description of the boys was furnished the officers and a search of the neighborhood resulted in the boys being found in the rear of Bulkeley high school.

Thomas P. Conboy, of this city and Miss Mabel Olson, R. N., of Waterford, were married at the rectory of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church last night by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley. Matthew Sullivan, of this city, was best man and Miss Agnes Olson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. Conboy is employed as ticket agent by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad; his bride was until recently a staff nurse at Lawrence-Memorial hospital. She was graduated from the Joseph Lawrence Training School for Nurses in the class of 1922. Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Conboy will make their home at 62 Montauk avenue.

A Dodge sedan, owned by C. K. Smith of 33 Broad street, which was stolen from in front of the Smith residence, Aug 20, last, has been recovered in Paterson, N. J., for the police of that city today notified the state police, Groton barracks, that the car had been found abandoned in the highway. The delay in making it known that the auto was owned by Mr. Smith was due to the fact that the car carried Florida markers. A Studebaker auto was found abandoned on Montauk avenue, corner of Bellevue place early Aug. 21. This auto did not have markers and it has been ascertained that the machine was registered in Paterson. It is also believed that the auto was abandoned after the markers had been removed and that the Dodge auto was then stolen and the markers from the Studebaker placed on it.

Cornelius P. Barry, superintendent of Groton post office is having his vacation. During his absence, Superintendent Barry's duties will be attended to by William Mansfield, an employe at the New London post office.

The C. W. Campbell company, of Westerly, grain, hay and mill feed dealers, are to have a storehouse erected in Groton and the contract for the building has been awarded to Charles A. Marquardt. The store house, which will be erected on property of the New Haven railroad, adjacent to a side track in the Groton freight yard, will be of one story, will have a frontage of 46 feet and a depth of 60 feet. Work on the construction of the building will be started next week.

The condition of Thomas F. Morton, former New London newspaperman, who is a patient at Home Memorial hospital, is reported today as being very slightly improved. Mr. Morton was operated on last Tuesday, the operation being of a serious nature.

William Adam Webster, captain of Yale football eleven, was last Thursday elected president of the Yale University Catholic club for the coming school year in accepting his election, Captain Webster greeted the upper classmen and welcomed the freshmen, urging them to unite in promoting the club's activities as a part of university life. A former New London resident, on fashionable Ocean avenue, Rev. Father T Lawrason Riggs, chaplain of the Catholic students of the university, presided and outlined plans for the year. Although the meeting was held in the assembly room of the William L. Harkness hall, the bi-weekly meetings of classes will be held at the Whitney avenue residence of Father Riggs. The subject announced was "The Christian Catholic Doctrine as a Whole." Several addresses by prominent outside speakers will be given. Father Riggs, who was graduated from Yale in 1910, was a prominent member of the University Dramatic association as an undergraduate. He returned later to the Yale faculty as an instructor of English to the freshman class. He has been chaplain of the Catholic club since 1922. Mr. Webster resides in Shelton.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

Grotesque faces, mysterious hands, bizarre settings and eerie incidents parade across the silver sheet in "The Cat and the Canary," a Universal photodrama now playing to crowded houses at the Broadway theater. One of the best all star casts ever assembled is headed by Laura La Plante, petite, blonde star. The players are Creighton Hale, Arthur Edmund Carew, Forrest Stanley, Tully Marshall, Gertrude Astor, Flora Finch, George Siegmann, Lucien Littlefield and Martha Mattox.

The Cat and the Canary will be shown for the last times tonight.

"The Way of All Flesh" Emil Jannings' first American starring vehicle will be the feature attraction at the Broadway theater for four days beginning tomorrow.

According to reports from exhibitors and critics wherever this picture has been shown, it is the crowning achievement of Jannings' brilliant career as the foremost dramatic film actor of the world today.

It finds the great star of "Deception," "Variety" and "The Last Laugh" in a human, sympathetic role that demands all of his talents. The story takes Jannings through three separate and distinct cycles of life, each demanding an exactitude of treatment that required months of preparation and study.

Belle Bennett, whose "Stella Dallas" established her as great screen artist, plays opposite. Phyllis Haver is the "other woman."

Strand Theatre

"Shipwrecked" a thrilling photoplay of storm and disaster at sea redolent of the perfume of tropic isles—a great love story with a background of intrigue, treachery and passion, at the Strand theater tomorrow (Sunday only), also a big comedy feature attraction "Partners Again," with Potash and Perlmutter. Don't miss this wonderful program for Sunday only.

Student Musicians at Y. M. C. A. Sunday

At 3:30 Sunday afternoon, the public is invited to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to hear the popular chorus and musicians from the Dudley Bible institute. These talented young people have, on several occasions, been heard over the radio from station WBZ. A fine group of these musicians will delight the Norwich audience by rendering several of their songs which are indeed unique, and many requests have been sent in in the various places where they have appeared. The unusual program by these students has been given in many churches both small and large, and the pastors and people are loud in their praises. In addition to the musical program, President Howard W. Ferrin of the institute will speak. The "Y" management is glad to be able to have these people under its auspices, and there will doubtless be a large audience to greet them.

Woman's City Club Courses

The literature committee of the Woman's City club opens with its first event in the literature course for the season of 1927-28 in the Wauregan ball room at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Oct. 25. The committee are delighted to be able to present Mrs. Elsie Ripley Noyes to the members and to many of her old friends. Mrs. Noyes will speak on "Book Selling Gossip" and will tell us muc hof interest, also much that will be an inspiration to us in our selection of agreeable companions to take up through the winter evenings and incidentally give us help for our winter book clubs, or in the selection of Christmas books. Above all, Mrs. Noyes possesses much magnetism and a ready wit as a true daughter of the Ripleys, whose father was one of the sons born in the old house at the top of Broadway hill, and the members of the Woman's City club will give her warm welcome.

The study classes, offered by the musical department, which will meet the last Tuesday of each month, will begin on Tuesday next, at 4 o'clock, in the club room. A study course in understanding of music, prepared by the National Federation of Music Clubs, is to be the topic of work. Current events in music, and a quizz will be a feature of the study class and a musical memory contest is being prepared. Dr. Lawrence Erb of New London has consented to lead and train a woman's chorus. If a sufficient number of names are signed for this the chorus practice will begin October 28th.

Christ Episcopal Church

There will be special intercessions at the altar in Christ Episcopal church at the 8 o'clcok Sunday morning service. The contest for best attendance between girls and boys will continue at the 9:15 church school service. The Choral Eucharist at 10:30 will be opened with special organ numbers by Mr. Pierce. The preacher at this service will be Rev. Fleming James, professor at Berkeley Divinity school. The Girls' Friendly society will meet on Monday evening at 7:30 to complete arrangements for the G. F. S. pageant to be held in Boston early in November. Their corporate communion Sunday, comes Nov. 6th, all over the world.

Christian Science Services

John Bauchmann, Rockville, Conn., in English. This will be a union service.

A. M. E. Zion Church Meetings

Wednesday evening, prayer service. Friday evening, choir rehearsal.

Sign Board Blown Into Street

A strip of board from the sign of the Manhattan Outfitters on top of the building at 266 Main street was torn loose by the high wind Friday morning and blown down into Main street, but fortunately landed without hitting either a pedestrian or a vehicle. Flying through the air before the wind, the board landed first on a double strand of telephone wires, tetered back and forth there for a minute or two and then slid off into the street where nothing happened to be passing at the time.

Embroidery Club Met

The meeting of the Wannasleep embroidery club was held this week with Mrs. Louis Hull of Hamilton avenue. The meeting next week will be with Mrs. Fred Cruthers of Hedge avenue.

GREENEVILLE

The death of Eugene L. Hickey, formerly of Greeneville, occurred Sunday, Oct. 16, at his home in Brooklyn, Mr. Hickey was a retired police lieutenant of that city. He is survived by his wife, Margaret F. Sullivan Hickey, two sons, William P., and Eugene L., Jr.; also two daughters, Mary M. and Sister M. Joseph Clare of the Order of St. Dominic. Funeral services were held at his late residence on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 9:30 o'clock, followed by solemn high mass at St. Patrick's church in that city. Burial was in the family plot in Calvary cemetery, Brooklyn. When Mr. Hickey lived in Greeneville years ago, he was a great amateur runner, entering in a number of meets under the Caledonian club, of which he was a member. Joseph McIsaac, Mrs. Peter Gadle of Seventh street, Edward Maloney, David and John Maloney, Mary and Catherine Maloney of Fifth street, are cousins of Mr. Hickey. News of his death was received with sincere regret by his many friends here.

On Friday evening at 7 o'clock the members of the Euphemian circle of Kings Daughters met in the social hall of the Greeneville Congregational church to celebrate the 35th anniversary of the organization. About 25 members were present. At 7:25 o'clock the members took places at the table in the center of the hall, where a dainty supper was served. The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, chicken patties, cranberry sauce, rolls, pickles, celery, salted nuts, ice cream, assorted cakes and coffee. The table was prettily decorated with Halloween effects and at each end were beautiful bouquets of chrysanthemums; also Halloween candles, which were lighted at the beginning of the supper by the president, Miss Kate MacKenzie. A number of members were called upon for toasts. The favors were presents with a rhyme attached to them, each member reading the rhyme. The members also received a conundrum, which they were supposed to try and work out. Many other games were played. The committee in charge was as follows: Mrs. Thomas Hasiam, chairman, Mrs. Frederick Fox, Mrs. Frederick Thompson, Mrs. James W. Semple, Mrs. Thomas Young, Mrs. W. H. Stebbins and Mrs. James Service. The entertainment committee comprised Miss Louise Hovey and Mrs. William L. Clarke. Piano solos were rendered by Mrs. W. H. Stebbins and Mrs. Waters.

The boys choir of St. Mary's Memorial church will sing for the first time at benediction Sunday evening under the direction of Mrs. Farrell, the organist of St. Mary's church.

TAFTVILLE

Commander Thomas Perkins Sears presided at the regular meeting of the Taftville post of the American legion held this week at the Naturalization club. Favorable reports were made by the committee in charge of the play and dance held recently at Ponemah hall. A committee was appointed to conduct a novelty dance on Armistice eve, and another to take charge of a military whist in the near future. At the next meeting the post will elect its officers for the year 1928. After the business meeting refreshments were served by Arthur Bessette, Stanislaus Benac, Ernest Colburn, and George Hermann.

George N. Beardow and Miss Anna M. Beardow of Providence street have returned from a motor trip over the Storm King highway.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Atterbury, Jr., and family have moved from Norwich to the house which they recently purcased on the Blissville road.

William H. Whitehead who has been spending the past ten days with friends in town started on the return trip to his home in Cleveland, Ohio, Thursday by automobile. Mrs. Whitehead and daughter, Arline, are remaining for the present.

A meeting of the members of St. Veronica's T. A. and B. society was held Wednesday evening at the society rooms on Providence street with the president, Miss Mary Ward presiding.

Uncle Sam continues to make inquiries regarding the income of people who he suspects as being liable to make tax returns and who didn't. A number of questionnaires from the office of the collector of internal revenue arrived at the local postoffice this week.

Many local people are contributing jams and jellies for the W. W. Backus hospital, the work in town being in charge of Mrs. Walter S. Sharples and Mrs. Napoleon T. Parent.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Lebreque and family have moved from Blissville road to one of the apartments in one of their houses on Central avenue, Greeneville.

Miss Evelyn Campbell was a guest early in the week of Miss Ethel Holland of Plainfield, formerly of Taftville.

Frank Kogut of South B street has resigned his position with the No. 3 weaving department of the Ponemah mills.

The Misses Beauregard of North B street are soon to move to a house on Providence street.

Cleophas Martin of South B street has purchased a new automobile.

Mr. Fiefield Saved From Constipation

"Though about 78 years old I always remember Dr. True's Elixir and the good it did me. I tell everyone about a severe sickness which befell me 30 years ago. I paid lots of money for advice—did everything. Could not leave my bed. I took first one bottle of

WHEELER SCHOOL FOUNDERS' DAY OBSERVED WITH SOCIAL AFFAIR

Founders day was celebrated at Wheeler school, North Stonington, with an informal party which was held in the library hall on Friday evening.

The party was a get-together, get-acquainted social affair and was attended by people from all parts of the town, pupils of the school, their parents, and friends, members of the Alumni association and of the board of directors of the school.

Arrangements for the party were in the hands of a committee made up of members of the student council and townspeople. Mrs. Henry M. Pendleton was chairman of the committee. Mrs. Pendleton was assisted by Mrs. George A. Thompson, Mrs. Allan A. Coats, Mrs. John D. Avery, Mrs. George W. Tryon, Edgar N. Harland, Rev. Inor Partington, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Atwood of the school faculty and John Thorp and Sally Stewart of the student council.

The evening was enlivened by the singing of the Wheeler school song and many old favorites, by the students of the school under the able direction of Mr. Stabler of the faculty. Rev. Mr. Partington spoke of the origin of the school and formally introduced Mr. Atwood, headmaster. Mr. Atwood assumed his duties at the school in September, coming to Wheeler from Colchester and the party afforded an excellent opportunity for the townspeople to make his acquaintance.

Mr. Atwood responded briefly and then introduced Principal Henry A. Tirrell of Norwich, a director of Wheeler school, whose interesting remarks held the close attention of his audience.

An usher committee of the pupils made up of the members of the student council and assisted by George Stewart, Katherine Maine, Thelma Schmitz, Ansel Coats and William Magnus, kept the company moving and made sure that those present were introduced to their neighbors.

The library room was decorated with autumn flowers and leaves, the committee in charge of the work being Erving Smith, William Dodge, Bertha Edwards, John Thorp and Aubrey Whitelaw.

During the evening light refreshments were served under the direction of the committee assisted by the following students: Lucile Wheeler, Sally Stewart, Genevieve Mattison, Anna and Vivi Bergius, Pauline Niemi, Violet Swain, Lucie Caswell, Margery Gray and Margery Harland.

Thanksgiving Doll Offering

School Superintendent Edward J. Graham has received a communication from the national Thanksgiving doll offering committee asking that the school children of this city donate their discarded dolls for presentation to orphans in local institutions on Thanksgiving. Last year over 50,000 dolls were collected in the United States and given to orphans, according to Mrs. Edna McCready, president of the New York University Alumnae club, and chairman of the Thanksgiving doll committee.

The following institutions in this locality will be glad to receive dolls for Thanksgiving: New London County home, 66 Smith street.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER ESCAPED NEAR YANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 21—Benjamin Davis, son of Maurice Davis of 122 Bridge street, had a rather damaging experience with a hit-and-run driver on the Norwich-Willimantic highway a short distance this side of Yantic this morning when his machine was sideswiped by a Dodge coupe which sped on before the identity of the driver could be ascertained. Davis was driving a Paige sedan and was coming to this city unaccompanied. He said that on a straight stretch of road where there were no other cars or other obstructions to cause a collision, the Dodge car, traveling in the direction of Norwich, came speeding toward him. The coupe crashed into the side of the sedan badly damaging the left side. Davis was thrown across the front seat by the impact and before he could regain his position the driver of the coupe had made his escape. Davis then went to the nearest telephone and called the local police. Chief Grady spread the alarm throughout eastern Connecticut. There is little doubt but that the Dodge also suffered considerable damage. Davis drove his battered machine on to this city.

CALLS ON CHURCHES TO DEFEAT "WET" NOMINATION

Connecticut church members can prevent this state giving its support to the nomination of a "wet" candidate for president, "if somebody isn't asleep at the switch," declared Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt of the Central Baptist church of this city in making his opening address as president of the Connecticut Baptist convention, which held its 104th annual meeting this week in Hartford.

"Before we meet again," Dr. Pitt said, "a presidential candidate probably will be nominated. The wets are preparing to nominate a wet, and are counting on Connecticut to help them do it.

"What are the churches going to do to array themselves against the forces of evil, which are seeking to undermine our constitution and our country?"

He then cited the work of various churchmen throughout the state in fighting the track gambling bill during the past legislature session by protest and petition—so effectively he pointed out that the bill was defeated.

"This," he said "is what can be done if somebody isn't asleep at the switch, who should be defending the cause of righteousness."

Dr. Pitt also took occasion to declare against the practice among clergymen of indiscriminate performance of marriage ceremony for couples of whom they knew nothing.

"I have decided that I will no longer perform a ceremony for people of whom I know nothing, simply because the state has sanctioned the marriage by issuing the license. Let the state finish the job. Let the state provide a justice of the peace to perform the ceremony. I have for a long time felt that if the church has no value to some people, other than to marry them and bury them they may as well get a justice of the peace to perform both jobs."

Dr. Pitt also urged the convention to follow the program of the Northern Baptist convention and to take up a three-year evangelical campaign throughout the state. Following the acceptance of the report of the nominating committee, which called for the re-election of most of the officers and board of managers of the convention, President Pitt again spoke briefly advocating a change in the leadership of the convention be made next year. He was re-elected.

BAPTISTS WILL HEAR ECHOES OF CONVENTION

At the Central Baptist church on Sunday morning there will be echoes from the recent Baptist state convention in Hartford. This is considered one of the greatest conventions ever held by this organization, not only in point of numbers, but in the splendid program and enthusiastic response of the people to the spirit of the convention.

Mrs. Charles Hagberg, Mrs. George A. Ashbey, Judge Allyn L. Brown, C. Edward Smith, and Dr. Pitt will give echoes of the convention at the 10:30 service on Sunday morning.

In the evening there will be a great gospel sing, led by the young people, who are to occupy the front seats which will be reserved for them, and the choir and the orchestra. The orchestra has been rehearsing each week and will add greatly to the community sing. A special surprise feature is planned for the group, either young people, men's class, or Gleaner's class having the largest number present at the evening service.

SUES FOR $10,000 FOR DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Lena Blatherwick, Preston, widow of George Blatherwick, late of that town, has brought suit against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad asking damages of $10,000 for the death of her husband who was killed in his automobile by a train at the 12th street crossing in Greeneville, August 5th. The suit is returnable to the superior court the first Tuesday of November. The plaintiff claims negligence on the part of the railroad in that no watchman or signal was maintained at the crossing; that the train was being operated at a dangerous speed; that the company's right of way was in an unsafe and dangerous condition by reason of trees, bushes, etc., that obscured the view of the approaching locomotive.

Mr. Blatherwick, who was employed by the Warner Arms company, left the company's plant at noon August 5th to drive home for dinner. As he was crossing the railroad tracks his machine was hit by the passenger train and he was killed.

Fifth Birthday Party

A very pleasant birthday party was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walski, 60 Fountain street, in honor of the fifth birthday of their son, Edward. Twenty of his little friends enjoyed games, a radio concert, music and a bounteous repast.

The prizes were won by Stella Bania, Nellie Morosky and Carrie Riski for pinning the tail on the donkey. Those who attended were: Mary, Stella and Francis Bania, Loretta, Stasia, Nellie and Mary Morosky, Sonny Corcoran, John Billiche, Carrie, John, Frank and Victoria Riski, Mary and Stanley Duch, Theodore Walski, Albert Cohen, Henry and Frank Szymanski.

The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Edward Cooney and Mrs. Stanley Riski.

LIGHT DELIVERY TRUCKS MAKE ACCIDENT HAZARD

Light delivery trucks are involved in 20 per cent, or one-fifth, of all motor vehicle accidents at private driveway intersections in Connecticut, investigation by the state motor vehicle department has shown. The majority of such accidents are in the populous centers where these trucks usually operate, in fact, more than half of the "private driveway" accidents thus far this year have occurred in 11 cities.

The frequency with which delivery trucks are called upon to use private ways is found as a direct influence upon the number of such accidents but it has been shown that a large percentage of the collisions might have been avoided.

Ignorance of the law relating to the right of way at private driveway intersections with the public highway has played a large part, but greater causes of accidents are "inattention" on the part of operators and "careless backing". These two latter causes, with "failure to grant right of way," have been responsible for nearly two-thirds of all such accidents.

The law regarding right of way at private driveways, which has frequently been published, and which is usually made a part of the questionnaire at the examination of prospective drivers, is specific. It reads, "No operator or driver entering upon a public highway from a private way shall have the right of way."

The motor vehicle department does not interpret this to mean that persons operating on the public highways should give no consideration to those entering from private ways—quite the contrary—but it does consider that the private-way driver must exercise the utmost caution in entering a stream of traffic and do so only when it can be done with safety and without interfering with the rights of those who are already operating upon the public highway itself.

Heavy traffic hours, when accidents of all types are most numerous, are also the hours in which private driveway accidents are most frequent. Particularly bad hours for accidents at these intersections are from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon and from noon until 3 o'clock.

Many causes are listed, aside from the three major reasons, for crashes at private intersections. Skidding accidents have been numerous and other causes frequently listed are intoxication, too much speed, cutting in, runaway cars, improper parking, lack of inexperience, and defective equipment.

Contributors, other than motor vehicle operators, have also been responsible for many accidents of this type. On the list as contributors are motormen, bicyclists, teamsters, animals, and highway workmen.

WINTER HEALTH HINTS BY STATE DEPARTMENT

Now that the winter season is approaching it is time to pause and consider what health opportunities there are ahead. Some folks rush to cover as soon as the first touch of cold weather appears—close all the windows, turn on the full heating apparatus, and plan nothing more strenuous than air fishing for radio message. This may be mental exercise (as well as anguish) but it hardly deserves a prominent place in a well regulated health program says the weekly bulletin of the state health department.

In the first place fresh air is needed winter and summer—and not enough is secured by those whose only appearance in the open is the distance from the house to the closed car. The winter health plan should call for a brisk walk each day from one to two miles, rain or shine, in spite of that auto. Children who go to school usually walk that distance and, besides, plan for vigorous play out in the open. From this they come in with shining eyes, and red cheeks, and appetites that do justice to the next meal.

Adults would do well to copy their methods. The returns in health would more than pay!

It has been found by the New York ventilating commission and others who have studied this problem that overheating of rooms in cold weather tends to lower the resistance to respiratory diseases since it reacts on the mucous membranes of the nose and throat and makes it difficult for the heat regulating mechanism of the body to adjust itself to the two extremes of heat and cold. So keeping the temperature below 70 degrees F. in the home and office is an important part of the winter health plan.

Then there is exercise! Now is the time to make some definite plan for that or the muscles will become flabby, the complexion muddy, digestion erratic and general health below par.

No matter what form of exercise you adopt, provided there is some of this outdoors as well as in, it will pay 100 per cent. health dividends. Get the habit now!

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Miss Lucy D. Wilcox, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Franklin S. Wilcox, is a student at Simmons college, Boston, this year.

Julius W. Cadden and the Misses Cadden are at their home on Broad street, having spent the season at their cottage in Neptune Park.

Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Utley returned to town and opened their home on McKinley avenue, after occupying their sumer residence on Mott avenue, Neptune Park for the season, having left for the park the middle of May.

Miss Carrie E. Rogers is making a visit to her sister, Mrs. James Lewis Smith, of Broad street, on her return from her home in Washington and from several days' stay in New London, when she was entertained by Principal and Mrs. Walter A. Towne of West street.

The ravages of the gypsy moth and the European earwig in the nurseries and estates across the Rhode Island border have become so menacing that the Rhode Island Nurserymen's association has voted to ask the city of Newport for a special appropriation with which to fight the pests.

Try this Easier, Cheaper Way of Doing the Washing

Check it any way you want to, and you will find that laundry washing costs less. Laundry washed clothes are cleaner. If you won't bake your own bread, then why spend a seventh of your lifetime in the wet of home washing? There is an easier, more economical way. Investigate. You will find the TROY laundry does it best.

PROHIBITION PADLOCKS MAY BE PLACED ON R. R. COACHES

Any Sleeping Car, Day Coach or Lounge Car, Where Passengers Are Discovered Drinking Intoxicating Liquors With Soft Drinks Served Them, May Be Padlocked and Taken Out of Service For One Year.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner tonight said that sleeping cars, day coaches and lounge cars on any railroad trains where passengers are discovered drinking intoxicating liquors with soft drinks served them may be padlocked and taken out of service for one year as the government's next move to enforce the Volstead law.

Backed by the recent action of the United States supreme court, in refusing to review evidence in the case of two Chicago cabaret owners whose places were padlocked for one year because they allowed patrons to imbibe liquors, the government has already started an investigation to determine the extend of drinking on trains, the newspaper says.

"If government agents find passengers drinking in any car on a train," the newspaper quotes Alexander Jamie, assistant prohibition director of the Chicago district, "such evidence will be sufficient to warrant injunction proceedings. If a padlock is ordered, the car or cars affected must be removed from the service for one year."

A group of Chicago cafe owners met today and decided to raise a defense fund by a public banquet to aid any cafe proprietor confronted with padlock proceedings becaused he failed to be vigilant enough to stop a patron from drinking.

A committee also was appointed to visit E. C. Yellowley, district prohibition director, and pledge their support in liquor law enforcement.

COL. LINDBERGH NOW AT MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y.

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 23—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindberg dropped out of the air today, completing a 22,350 mile tour of the country in his Spirit of St. Louis, just one minute ahead of his scheduled time.

He greeted questions as to his future plans with a smile and a shake of the head.

"I haven't got any," he said, and his expression indicated his pleasure at once more being a free agent with no fixed daily schedule.

"Where can we see you tomorrow?" a reporter asked. "Why, I don't believe that's going to be necessary," he replied. "I feel that I have won the right to drop out of the public view for a while."

A lowering sky failed to keep away a crowd of about 2,000 admirers who wished to view Lindberg's arrival and long before two o'clock, the hour set for his appearance from Philadelphia, the field was rimmed with spectators.

"The Spirit of St. Louis is in fine shape, it gives more (revolutions per minute) now than when it was new. But this looks like a good time to do it so I'm going to have it completely overhauled. That's never been done since it was built, you know, and it's been almost 350 hours in the air. No, it isn't destined for a museum yet. Eventually, but not now."

"I have no plans," he said. "I'm going to rest a few days and then make a short visit to Michigan, flying, but not in the Spirit, after that I frankly don't know. Old St. Louis will be my present headquarters. I am going to confer with Harry Guggenheim, president of the Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, which sponsored my tour, and a report will be made on accomplishments."

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY TO SLAY THREE RELATIVES

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 18—(AP)—A 40-year old spinster who habitually dresses in white and is prominent in social and women's political circles of Middlesex county, goes on trial here tomorrow on a charge of conspiracy to slay three of her relatives with whom she is to share the $100,000 estate of her father.

The woman, Miss Bessie Morse, is charged specifically with having conspired with a Negro maid, Maimie Todd, who was taken into the Morse home 13 years ago from a Philadelphia institution, to hire a gunman to waylay and assassinate Mrs. Grace Dey, a sister, her husband and their adopted son, during mid-summer.

The prosecution expects to offer witnesses who posed as gunmen and who it is alleged were paid several hundred dollars in advance on their promise to waylay the Deys. The witnesses will testify, Prosecutor John F. Toolan says, that they had been promised $1,200 as soon as the deed was done and $4,000 after the Morse will was probated. The prosecutor nipped the plot, he says, last summer by sending the fake gunmen, after a farmhand is alleged to have told him of the plot. The Negro maid will be one of the state's principal witnesses.

KILLED HIS FATHER SO MOTHER COULD HAVE PEACE

CHICAGO, Oct. 23—(AP)—William Schumacher, who confessed yesterday to killing his father, Christopher Schumacher, 53 years old, "so my mother could at least have some peace on earth," will enter a plea of guilty to a murder charge when arraigned tomorrow, his attorney announced tonight.

Schumacher, who is 28 years old, detailed in his confession existence on the farm under the iron rule of his father. He told of beatings administered his mother and other members of the family, how he was taken from school when he reached the third grade, and made to work as a farm hand, and the distraction that finally caused him to shoot his father, because of the continued abuse of his mother.

His attorney said the defendant would enter a plea of guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court.

TRAGEDY AT CARNIVAL AT SANTIAGO, CHILE

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 23—(AP)—Santiago's gay spring carnival yesterday was marred by a tragedy. As the traditional masked street parade was moving slowly along early in the evening, Marvin Garetto, a well known businessman, ran out from the center of the crowds of spectators lining Estado street and climbed into one of the brilliantly decorated automobiles. He snatched the mask from the fact of a woman garbed as Pierrette; it was his wife Elena Ibanez Ovalle de Garetto. Manuel Rivero Aldunate, dressed as Pierrot, who was riding in the same car as Elena, hastily jumped from the car, and in a moment Garetto was in fierce pursuit of him.

The pair dashed through the throngs of costumed merrymakers, and finally Rivero was trapped in a doorway. He drew a pistol and shot and wounded Garetto, and the latter, returning the fire killed him.

SOLO FLIGHT MADE BY GOVERNOR TRUMBULL

HARTFORD, Oct. 23—(AP)—Realizing his long-cherished ambition, the training and preparation for which accomplishment has earned him the title "the flying governor", Connecticut's chief executive, Governor Trumbull, this afternoon made his first solo flight in an airplane, a feat achieved as far as is known by no other governor in the country.

Motoring from his home in Plainville alone, the governor arrived at Brainard field about 2:30 this afternoon for his flying lesson, which of late has been under the instruction of First Lieutenant Harry D. Copeland of the 118th observation squadron. After a short time in the air, the governor and Lieutenant Copeland landed, whereupon the governor suddenly sought permission from his instructor to make his first air flight entirely alone. Lieutenant Copeland, who said tonight that unquestionably Governor Trumbull had much more flying experience than the average candidate for solo honors, granted the chief executive's request and a moment afterwards the flying governor was off on his first "all alone" trip.

Governor Trumbull made three separate flights and was in the air nearly half an hour. During that time he successfully maneuvered the plane through many "figure eights" and through a number of blides and banks in a manner to do credit to an experienced aviator. Lieutenant Copeland said tonight.

RESCUED CREW OF STORM-WRECKED SCHOONER

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—The story of the rescue of the crew of a storm-wrecked schooner and the burning of the derelict in the Caribbean sea was told today by Captain Harry Spencer of the United Fruit liner, Calamares.

Captain Spencer said he sighted a four-masted schooner with fire blazing from her quarter deck about 52 miles southeast of Fort San Antonio, on the western tip of Cuba and headed toward the burning vessel.

When his ship arrived in the vicinity of the sailing vessel, he said, he found the liner President Adams, of the Dollar line, standing by.

The President Adams reported to the fruit liner that the schooner, William E. Burnham, had been disabled in a Northerly blow and that after her master and crew of 12 had been taken off, she had been fired to destroy her so that the wreck would not become a menace to navigation.

The William E. Burnham is listed in Lloyd's register as belonging to the Whitney and Bodden Navigation company. Her home port is Mobile, Ala.

FORESEES A COLLEGE WITHOUT EXAMINATIONS

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 23—(AP)—A college without examinations; no credits obtained by present sterotype method; routine banished except that self imposed; a place where the student may get the most fun out of life. Such is the university of the future in the mind of President Max Mason, who has just completed two years as head of the University of Chicago.

Opportunity rather than compulsion is the keynote of President Mason's ideal education institution. "We are shooting at a system that will do away with credits and present examination methods and make out of this a research institution in which students are stimulated to work out things for themselves," he said.

"Our idea is that the first two years in college should be given over to general education. At the end of that period the student may call himself an educated man. He knows enough for general purposes. From that time on he should begin to specialize."

DAIRY PRODUCTS CONSUMED BY AVERAGE AMERICAN

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23—(AP)—If you are an "average American" last year you consumed 55 gallons of milk, 17 pounds of butter, four pounds of cheese, two and two-fifths gallons of ice cream and 13 1-4 pounds of condensed and evaporated milk.

And these dairy products total only four times your weight whereas they should be five, or so the dairy industries exposition, which opened today, would have you believe.

Nine thousand manufacturers of dairy machinery and dealers in dairy products are attending the convention of their national organization. The 300 companies represented brought exhibits valued at $1,000,000.

JEWISH LEADERS IN CONFERENCE AT CHICAGO

CHOCAGO, Oct. 23—(AP)—Graphic accounts of how the impoverished Jews of Europe are gradually becoming self-supporting were told more than 400 leaders of American Jewry today. A two-day conference of outstanding Jewish leaders in United States and Canada closed tonight after plans were laid for adding an additional $35,000,000 to the rehabilitation fund.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 23—(AP)—Queen Marie has faith in her son, the former Crown Prince Carol, and believes that he will never attempt to regain that which he has renounced—the throne. She hopes also that he will finally abandon Mme. Lupescu.

LONDON, Oct. 23—(AP)—Jose Collins, daughter of the famous Lottie Collins and popular figure on the London and New York stage for many years, particularly during the war time period, yesterday found herself heiress to a substantial sum in the will of the late Frank Curzon, widely known theatrical promoter and racehorse owner.

GOVERNMENT SPEAKEASY HAD TOTAL EXPENSE OF $7,264.50

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—Congressman F. H. Laguardia today made public a letter which he said was signed by the secretary of the treasury under date of Feb. 11, 1927, itemizing expenses of equipping and operating the Bridge Whist club, government speakeasy in East 4th street, and giving the total expense at $7,264.50.

"These figures," Laguardia said, "now confirm every single solitary charge I made in congress as to the improper use of public funds."

Items for purchase of liquor for the speakeasy, which was operated by federal government under cover agents to trap bootleggers and get information from them, totalled $1,451.25. There was an item of $15 for analysis of liquor specimens. Most of the liquor failed to reveal the prices paid but one showed the gin was bought for $65 a case.

Installation of the bar and bar fixtures cost $345, according to the letter, and the premises were rented for $375 a month. One item gave the bar tender's salary as $75 a week, monthly rentals are listed from November, 1925, to May, 1926.

The Bridge Whist club was abandoned as a government speakeasy after its existence became publicly known.

WARNS THAT GERMANY IS NOT A WEALTHY NATION

BERLIN, Oct. 23—(AP)—Germany is not a wealthy nation and ought not create the impression that she is. Foreign Minister Stresemann warned in the course of a speech at a meeting of the German peoples' party at Liegnitz, Silesia, Saturday night.

"The reduction in unemployment, together with the improvement in Germany's economic position," said the foreign minister. "This must not lead to the assumption that Germany's economic position is safe, for the loss of her former fortunes and the little inclination of the people to save have made Germany dependent upon foreign loans, which are in great danger unless they are fully used for productive purposes."

The foreign minister expressed the belief that in view of her productive energies, Germany could absorb further loans, but this could not continue forever and she ought not create the impression that she is a wealthy nation, which is not the case. He finally urged the necessity of reorganizing and effecting economies in the civil service to prevent fresh burdens being placed upon the reich budget.

MOTHER PAID FOR GEMS THAT HER SON LOST

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—A mother, who has made restitution for a parcel of gems which her son lost almost a year ago, today asked police of the missing persons bureau to find her boy who went away last December to stay until he made enough money to pay for the jewelry.

Mrs. Sarah Stewart told police that her son, William, 15, disappeared just before Christmas last year after being entrusted by his employer with the delivery of some jewelry to a firm in Malden lane. Later he wrote his mother telling her that he had lost the package in the subway but that he feared no one would believe his story. He said he would work hard and earn the value of the lost gems before he would return.

Mrs. Stewart has saved enough to pay the jeweler who declares that he believes William to be honest and will not prosecute him if he comes home.

SIX PERSONS INJURED WHEN STAND COLLAPSED

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 23—(AP)—Six persons were reported in a serious condition tonight from injuries suffered yesterday when a section of the stands at Mayo Island park collapsed as spectators rose to cheer a brilliant play in the football game between Virginia Military Institute and Maryland. Many others were suffering from cuts, bruises and shock, but the majority had left hospitals today for their homes.

Newspaper estimates tonight placed the actual number treated for injuries at 94, although there were other instances of minor cuts and bruises that were not reported through an offical source.

Probably 15 persons were receiving treatment tonight in addition to the six reported in a serious condition, but their injuries were said to be of a temporary nature.

BODY OF MISSING MAN FOUND ON RIVER BANK

MOUNT MORRIS, N. Y., Oct. 23—(AP)—The bullet-riddled body of Alfonso Leonardo of Cuylerville, missing since October 11th, was found tonight at the high banks along the Genesee river near here. Five bullet wounds in the head indicated that Leonardo had been murdered and the body thrown over the precipice.

FRENCH AVIATOR MADE RECORD FOR 40 H.P. PLANES

BERLIN, Oct. 23—(AP)—The French aviator, Finat, today established a record for 40 H. P. planes. He made a non-stop flight with his wife as a passenger from Paris to Berlin in ten and a half hours.

Death of Gen. Jos. Theodore Dickman

Organized and Commanded the Third American Army in the World War.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Major General Joseph Theodore Dickman, organizer and commander of the Third American Army in the World war, died at his residence here early today at the age of 70 years from a sudden attack of heart trouble.

Entering as a cavalryman, General Dickman had spent practically all of his service in that branch since his graduation from West Point in 1881.

Leading the Third division of the regular army overseas in March, 1918, General Dickman participated in virtually every major campaign of the American troops, rising rapidly in rank and finally receiving command of the Third American army which he led into Germany.

He returned bearing the Distinguished Service Medal of the United States and the decorations of Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium. He then commanded the Eighth Corps area with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, until his retirement after 45 years of service on October 5, 1921.

General Dickman also participated in the Philippine insurrection and was chief of staff of the China relief expedition of 1900. At the outbreak of the World war he was in command of the Second cavalry at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont.

General Dickman had been enjoying comparative good health lately. Early today he asked for medical aid and died shortly afterward. He is survived by a widow who was at the bedside; a brother, John, of this city; three sisters, Mrs. R. E. Murphy, of Dayton, Ohio, native city of the general; and Mrs. F. W. Freck nad Mrs. Clem Stueve, of Wapakonet, Ohio; and two daughters, Mrs. H. E. Knauss and Mrs. Charles W. Foster, of this city.

RUTH ELDER SUFFERED ATTACK OF SEASICKNESS

LISBON, Portugal (By wireless to the Associated Press from the steamship Lima) Oct. 23—(AP)—Ruth Elder, American aviatrix, caught cold at Ponta del Gada, where she was beset by photographers and operators of film machines. Many pictures were made of Miss Elder and her co-pilot, George W. Haldeman, despite the rain.

Friday the weather was so rough that it caused Miss Elder to experience an unexpected attack of seasickness, although she persisted in remaining on deck. Saturday she had quite recovered her health and was in high spirits. She permitted the taking of films of herself while she was on the bridge of the Lima, where she said she was quite at home.

In her male attire and cap pulled down over her eyes, she jokingly imitated the commander of the Lima, Captain Paul Pinto, in giving orders.

JOINT PENAL CODE FOR GERMANY AND AUSTRIA

BERLIN, Oct. 23—(AP)—Preliminary negotiations for the drawing up of a joint code for Germany and Austria by parliamentary representatives of the two countries have begun at Berlin. An agreement has been reached that the work of this Austro-German commission is to be reported step by step to the parliamentary committees on punitive law of the respective countries and they will then decide on the question of Austro-German cooperation.

After long preparations a bill was presented in the reichstag in June providing for a new penal code. This code as outlined is very similar to that of Austria, and this has been taken as an indication that Germany and Austria are drawing closer together.

DEATH OF OLDEST WORKING PRINTER IN UNITED STATES

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Major Philip F. Coghlan, the oldest working printer in the United States died here today of heart disease at the ago of 94 years. Hi was at work yesterday as usual in the composing room of the St. Louis Dispatch, where he has been a case worker for 44 years.

Major Coghlan was awarded a gold medal by the National Graphic Arts exposition last August, as the oldest working printer in the country. Both his employers and the Typographical union offered to retire him on pension 20 years ago but he refused saying: "Work keeps me going."

He was a past commander of the G. A. R. in Missouri.

HANKOW GOVERNMENT HAS BROKEN WITH NANKING

HANKOW, Oct 23—(AP)—The political council of the Hankow government announces a severance of all relations with Nanking, which is accused of breaking all promises to Wuhan. The commissioner of foreign affairs has notified all consular representatives to this effect.

The commander of the retreating Wuhanite fourth army has mined the Yangtse river midway between Nankind and Wuhu for a distance of about 100 miles and Chinese and foreign steamers cannot pass without permission from the local military authorities.

LIFELESS BODY OF A FISHERMAN FOUND

STAMFORD, Oct. 23—(AP)—John Mellowicz, 45, did not live to take his last fish off the hook.

When Walter Griffin, a boatman, found Mellowicz's lifeless body in Long Island sound this afternoon, with his feet resting on the edge of the boat from which he had been fishing, and his head and shoulders submerged, there was a large flounder on the line which had been in the water, apparently, Mellowicz fell overboard.

Dr. Ralph W. Crane, medical examiner, pronounced death due to submersion and alcoholism. Mellowicz is survived by a widow and three young children.

HADLEY, Mass., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Alexander W. Montgomery, a nationally known authority on the growing of roses is dead here at the age of 52. A native of Andover, Mr. Montgomery was a graduate of M. A. C., and an active member of the American Rose association and the Society of American Florists.

Fatal Auto Accident on Milford Turnpike

Miss Frances Thomas, Aged 19, Was the 26th Victim Since January 1st.

MILFORD, Oct. 23—(AP)—The Milford turnpike claimed its 26th victim, and perhaps its 26th since January 1, shortly after midnight today when Miss Frances Thomas, 19, of Martinsburg, W. Va., was almost instantly killed and Winifred Smith, 18, of Bridgeport, received injuries expected to prove fatal.

The two, with Miss Betty Soule, of Bridgeport, were passengers in an automobile operated by Gerald H. Howell, 22, of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., which overturned after leaving the 36-foot cement pavement not far from the center of Milford. Miss Soule and Howell escaped with lacerations and minor injuries.

Miss Thomas received a broken neck and punctured lung, and was dead when picked up by a passing motorist. Miss Smith is in Milford hospital with a punctured lung, and is not expected to live. Miss Soule is also in Milford hospital, as is Howell.

Conrad Satitowicz, who lives near the scene of the accident and was just entering his yard when it took place, said that the machine operated by Howell, going rapidly, passed another car going in the same direction, got into soft sand at the side of the cement, and after going back onto the cement ran off again and overturned, apparently twice. The marks on the road indicate that from where the machine first left the road to where it overturned it travelled a distance of slightly more than 360 feet.

4-YEAR-OLD BOY WAS STRUCK BY AN AUTOMOBILE

EAST HAMPEON, Conn., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Chrles Robinson, 4, was probably fatally injured this afternoon when he was struck by an automobile operated by Walter J. Bass., of Worcester, Mass. He was reported from the Middlesex hospital at Middletown to have sustained a fractured skull and concussion.

Bass said the child apparently ran into the automobile, at the side of the road, and was struck by the rear left fender. He said he did not see the little boy. His brakes were tested and found in satisfactory condition. He was held under $1,000 bonds by order of Corone Lowndes A. Smith of Middetown.

ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY REPLIES TO BISHOP BARNES

LONDON, Oct. 23—(AP)—Doubts as to whether the archbishop of Canterbury would make a public or private reply to the recent letter addressed to him by the bishop of Birmingham, were dissolved today when the archbishop communicated to the press a long letter of tactful reproof which he had sent to the bishop, at the same time outlining the view of the head of the church on the questions raised.

The bishop of Birmingham, the Rt. Rev. Ernest William Barnes, in his letter to the archbishop declared that the doctrine of transubstantiation was untrue, and ranged himself on the side of scientists regarding the theory of evolution, as opposed to theologians who ignore scientific teachings.

The archbishop of Canterbury treats rather lightly the question of reconciling the theory of evolution with the Bible story of the creation, and begs the bishop to dismiss from his mind the idea that anyone "desires to lead or drive you either to Rome or to Tennessee."

Remarking that he does not attach great weight to denunciations of "gorilla sermons," the archbishop addresses his chief reproof to the bishop's treatment of the question of the sacraments. The archbishop says that from complaints which have reached him it is not the long familiar doctrine or evolution which stirs the minds of churchmen, but that in the bishop of Birmingham's legitimate opposition to the doctrine of transubstantiation he has been led to speak of the sacrament "in a way which gives real ogense to the great body of churchmen and churchwomen."

SPILLED ACID ON FACE OF HIS ESTRANGED WIFE

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—A drug clerk who told a story of unrequited wedded love was held in $1,000 bail for felonious assault today after he had spilled searing acid upon the face of his estranged wife when she ignored his greeting in the lobby of a mid-town hotel last night.

Grace Worth, 36, denied that he intended injuring his wife, Norma, and said that she was burned on the face and arms in an attempt to prevent him from ewallowing the acid to commit suicide.

Worth said that he was married in 1919 and that during the past eight years his wife had left him five times. He declared that he had spent $20,000 in following her and only recently had bought her a $300 coat and a $500 ring.

SCOUTS TO VISIT GRAVE OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—Under the leadership of Daniel Carter Beard, national scout commissioner and famous woodsman, more than 2,000 boy scouts of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut will make their eighth annual pilgrimage to the grave of the late Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, at Oyster bay, next saturday.

The tribute to Colonel Roosevelt, is made in memory of the late president's support of the boy scout movement, during his life he was chief scout citizen.

Ezra Meeker, nationally known pioneer and marker of the Oregon trail, and Dr. Joseph Root, of Hartford, Ct., will address the scout assemblage at Colonel Roosevelt's grave.

Confident of ironing out their divergent views on farm relief legislation, the newly organized group of western republican senators under the leadership of Senator Norris, of Nebraska, will meet in Washington today in an attempt to map out an agricultural policy.

In a stunt flying contest at Tempelhof airdrome in Berlin, the French aviator Martin Doret was declared the victor by a jury made up of Dutch, Swiss and Czechoslovak judges. The German stunt flier Flesier lost a number of points through his failure to land at a given place.

The criminal conspiracy trial of Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair will enter upon its second week today with Justice Siddons determining whether the government is to be permitted to present to the jury testimony which the defendants gave before the senate oil committee nearly four years ago.

AFTER TEN HOUR FLIGHT DAWN WAS FORCED BACK

Had Hopped Off at Old Orchard For Copenhagen—Was Driven Back by a Defective Motor and Heavy Fog—Had Made Better Than 90 Miles an Hour From 6.13 a. m. Until 10.30 a. m.—When Engine Went Wrong the Gas Was Dumped and the Lightened Plane Rode Fairly Well.

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, Oct. 23—(AP)—The Grayson plane, the Dawn, which hopped off this morning for Europe, landed ten hours later at the starting place after being driven back by a defective motor and heavy fog. Although he had but "one and a half engines" functioning, Pilot Wilmer Stultz made a perfect landing here on the beach shortly after 4 p. m.

"We had made better than 90 miles and hour", he said, "from the take-off at 6:13 a. m., to a point off Cape Sable at about 10:30 a. m. Suddenly for a cause we do not know as yet one motor went bad and we could not run it at more than half speed.

"I sent out an S. O. S. and we were quickly in touch with a ship, I think it was the Como City. By radio I told the skipper that a forced landing might be necessary and asked him to stand by. He told us, if we did have to come down, to land on the starboard side.

"We dumped the gas in the tanks which streamline the two engines and with our lightened ship decided we could proceed to land under our own power. We found that the lightened ship rode fairly well, so we kept on toward Old Orchard.

"The first place we sighted was Bar Harbor. Things were all right, so we kept on."

By a curious twist of fate, Mrs. Goldsborough and Mrs. Stultz were standing in the operating room of the Naval Radio Compass station at Cape Elizabeth at 11 o'clock, when the husband of the former was sending the message which told of their predicament and forced return to Old Orchard. Because of the interference of other stations Radioman Paul H. Clark, although he recognized the Dawn's raido "sending tone", was able to catch only the last three words: "see you later".

Because the last message only an hour before, which came in clearly, had reported better progress than expected, neither wife gathered from those words more than an idea that Goldsborough referred to a home-coming after the expected reception in Copenhagen.

They returned to Old Orchard and waited confidently for an evening train to New York. At 3 o'clock, this afternoon, they were startled by the message that a tender of the Cape Elizabeth station had heard that the ship was returning.

Since the position of the Dawn was not reported in that message, a greater surprise came in less than an hour, when the Cape Elizabeth coast guard station sighted the returning amphibian. A few minutes after 4 o'clock, the plane landed on the beach and the fliers and their wives were re-united.

Navigator Goldsborough explained the crew's confidence in the return flight in a crippled condition by the fact that they expected, if necessary, to land on the water and make repairs and return to the shore. The outward flight lasted approximately four and a half hours. The return flight, mainly because the ship was lighter, was made in about five and a half hours despite the crippled engine.

Even the landing on the beach was accompanied by a thrill, it was learned later, when Mrs. Frances Grayson and her two companions, sat down before the faithful fireplace which has warmed them for two weeks in the Hotel Brunswick, to review the happenings of the day.

"Did you use any of your soup or coffee?" Mrs. Grayson was asked.

"Did we?" she chuckled, we had to pour it all into the hydraulic apparatus in order to force the landing gear down for the landing."

Mrs. Grayson said that no decision as to the future of the expedition would be made until tomorrow.

Pilot Stultz said: "Everything was running smoothly when suddenly the left motor made a terrific noise and great quantities of smoke poured out. I did not know whether it was going to blow up or not. So I said, 'Goldie, pull the string.'

"That liberated 250 gallons of gasoline and lightened the plane. I had seen a steamer a few minutes before and I looked around to see if it was still there. I decided to land as near it as possible, but before that was necessary we decided we could remain in the air."

Navigator Goldsborough said that the plane had gained an altitude of 700 feet by the time it reached Nova Scotia and that the speed of the plane was picking up all the time. The wind had freshened from a mere whisper to 28 miles and hour from the northwest. After the engine trouble, however, only 300 revolutions could be had from the left motor, which is less than half the standard speed.

The crew rapidly gained confidence, as they flew back, and were seen munching sandwiches which had been expected to sustain them on the flight to Europe.

"It certainly was a shame when everything was going so well," said Mrs. Grayson as she rose from her chair to wash the grime of the flight away before sitting down to her first real meal of the day.

Pilot Stultz said he was completely at a loss as to the causeof the motor trouble. Only after the motor is taken down and inspected tomorrow, could any definite explanation be given, he said.

AVERAGE INCOME IN FRANCE LESS THAN $1,000

PARIS, Oct. 23—(AP)—Income tax figures in France look puny compared with those of the United States, partly because there are fewer rich people in this country and also probably because quite a number of those who have money do not tell the government all they know about their incomes. Out of a population of 41,000,000 less than 2,000,000 reported their incomes last year. The average income reported was slightly under $1,000. Two thirds of those who filed reports affirmed that their incomes were between $280 and $800.

For the entire year half a million Frenchmen reported earning between $800 and $2,000, while 8,689 acknowledged incomes between $2 000 and $4,000. Forty-seven thousand Frenchmen reported incomes ranging from $4,000 to $20,000 and 1,484 admitted making between $20,000 and $40,000. In the millionaire class—a million francs being about $40,000—there were only 345 returns.

FOUR OF CREW REMAIN ON STRANDED SCHOONER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23—(AP)—All but four members of the steam schooner Coos Bay, which piled up in a fog on Reef End rock, last night, just outside the Golden Gate, were taken ashore by the coast guard shortly before noon today. Captain Hans Olsen and three of the crew remained aboard.

The vessel, wedged tight in rock and sand, started to break up at 10.30 o'clock this morning when the tide turned out. Most of the crew were taken off at that time.

STAFFORD SPRINGS MAN WEDS WORCESTER WOMAN

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 23—(AP)—Announcement was made last night that Fred Wildey, 61, prominent woolen manufacturer of Stafford Springs, Conn., and Miss Mary A. Toomey, 51, a seamstress of this city, were married last Monday at the rectory of St. Cecelia's church, Boston, by the Rev. Fr. Fletcher. Mr. Wildey is president of the Fabian Woolen company of Stafford Springs and the Mystic Woolen company of Old Mystic, Conn.

NEWPORT MAN DROWNED WHEN CANOE CAPSIZED

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Orville Dowler, of Newport, was drowned today when a canoe in which he had gone duck hunting on Easton pond, capsized. His companion, Fred E. Ferguson, was rescued, keeping himself above water by clinging to a bunch of reeds until help arrived.

MEXICAN TROOPS ARE SEARCHING FOR GEN. GOMEZ

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The forces of General Aguirre, federal commander, are scouring the region around the Orizaba volcano where it is supposed, General Gomez, the rebel chief is located. Several federal columns are advancing in various directions and a meeting between the opposing forces is expected soon.

FIRE IN PATERSON, N. J., WITH DAMAGE OF $200,000

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 23.—(AP)—A 400 foot open storage shed and half of a large enclosed storehouse of the Dilliatin Lumber company was destroyed by a fire tonight which called out every available piece of fire apparatis in the city and did damage estimated at $200,000.

Hundreds of houses were showered by sparks and thre other alarms from the fire area were caused by roof fires in dwellings. Susquehanna railroad yard engines hauled 20 cars of lumber out of the fire swept yards. Passenger service on the railroad was held up for three hours.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT DEAD BY HIS BROTHER

MILLINOCKET, Maine, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Roland Cotton, 13 years old, was accidentally shot by his brother, Harland, one year older, near their home in this town yesterday. They were returning from a partridge hunt and Harland, pointing to a mark, said: "That's a partridge—see who can shoot first."

Just as Harland, who was a little in the rear, fired, Roland stepped into range, and the slug with which Harland had loaded his gun instead of a shot shell, struck him in the back, penetrating the lungs. He died in a few minutes.

CHICAGO MAN KILLED BY FALL FROM FOURTH STORY

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—(AP)—James E. McGinley, 61, Chicago lawyer and former member of the state legislature, leaped or fell to his death from the fourth story window of the Garfield Park hospital this morning.

Upon returning to his room after a few minutes' absence, his nurse noticed an open window and saw his body below. He was dead when attendants reached him. He had entered the institution last Saturday.

TO MAKE DEBUT WITH THE PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP) — The story of the rise of a poverty-stricken young violin student from obscurity to a position among the elect of the music world will be culminated Nov. 18 at Carnegie hall when 21-year-old Benno Rabinoff will make his debut with the Philharmonic orchestra.

Leopold Auer, teacher of Heifitts Elman, Zimalist, and now of Rabinof, has consented to come from his self-enforced retirement to lead the orchestra at the time of his youngest pupil's first appearance.

NEW SAFETY RECORD FOR RAILROADS FOR SIX MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A new safety record for railroads made during the first six months of 1927, was announced by the American Railway association. During that entire period only two passengers out of the millions carried on trains were killed in train accidents, which compares with 22 fatalities in the same field during the first half of 1926; 32 in the six months of 1925, and 23 in 1924.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 23—The program for the observance of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Baptist church here resumed with increased attendance Sunday. Services, which started last Thursday, were omitted Saturday. Rev. David Winslow Lovett, the pastor, conducted the morning worship today at 10:45 o'clock. The choir rendered a special program with Mrs. Charles Tucker at the organ. Rev. Joseph C. Robbins, D. D., of New York city, secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society delivered the sermon-address. The church school met in an enthusiastic session at noon and carried out a program appropriate to the occasion with Superintendent Harold Nichols in charge. Mrs. Charles Robinson led the regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor at six o'clock.

The evening service started at seven o'clock. Rev. Mr. Lovett addressed the large gathering in an interesting review of the church history in which he praised beneficial works by former pastors and church members. Rev. Elbert A. Gates of Hartford, general secretary for the Baptist churches of Connecticut was the principal speaker of the evening. In connection with the program for Monday night it was announced that Rev. Raymond J. Bates of Waterbury, a former Willimantic boy, will lead the scripture reading and prayer. Rev. Ralph G. Hartley of Yonkers, N. Y., who was pastor here from 1909 to 1912 will deliver the address of the evening. Members of the local Calvary Baptist church have accepted an invitation to attend this service and sing Negro spirituals.

Former pastors of the Baptist church with the dates of their service follow: Rev. Chester Tilden, 1827-1830; Rev. Alfred Gates, 1830-1831; Rev. Alva Gregory, 1831-1834; Rev. J. B. David Larcque, 55, died in St. Joseph's hospital late Friday night. He was born in St. David, Canada, September 12, 1872, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Larcque. Surviving him besides his wife, Mrs. Emilise Laroque are: One son, Doma Laroque of Providence, R. I.; five stepsons, Amedo, Omer and Ovide Caya of this city, Harvey Caya of Taftville and Paul Caya of Providence; two step-daughters, Mrs. Narcisse Lawrence and Mrs. Louis Messier of this city, and one sister, Mrs. L. Bousquet of Providence. The deceased was an ardent member of St. Mary's church and was affiliated with the Sacred Heart and Holy Cross societies of the parish.

His neglect to pay a board bill to Mrs. Esther Reynolds of Warrenville cost C. Oliver Dorne, an engineer employed on the road work in Warrenville a fine of $25 and costs of $11.70 extra in a session of the Ashford town court Friday night. Dorne was charged with issuing a fraudulent check in not having sufficient funds in the bank to cover the amount.

Peter Gialluca of Birch street was taken to the hospital for treatment of an injury to his nose Saturday morning following the crashing of his Whippet coach with a telephone pole on West Main street opposite the town almshouse. Witnesses say that Gialluca was traveling at a rate of about 25 miles an hour when he seemed to lose control of the car. The machine mounted the sidewalk and collided with the pole, damaging the bumper and one fender and snapping the pole in two so that the upper half fell and rested on top of the car. The steering wheel was broken, when Gialluca was thrown forward. His nose came in contact with the framework of the cowl. The man was released from the hospital shortly after receiving treatment. The accident was reported to the police.

Willimantic people who attended the Yale-Army football game at New Haven Saturday include: Attorney and Mrs. Harry S. Gaucher, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Arnold, her sister, Mrs. C. E. Cline and Mr. Cline of Worcester, Mass., Mrs. Frank Blish, Lester H. Blish, Mr. and Mrs. C. Harry Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Parker, Attorney and Mrs. E. Frank Bugbee, Mr. and Mrs. Roland B. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. David Harvey of Yonkers, N. Y., guests of the Bugbees; Mrfl and Mrs. George F. Taylor and guests, Dr. and Mrs. Louis L. Hills of Westbrooke, Me., Mrs. Otto B. Robinson, Miss Phyllis Robinson, Miss Helen Reise, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth N. Hillhouse and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Lathrop of Mystic, Miss Florence B. Hevrin with Edward Brady of Hartford, Nelson A. Daniels and Frank M. Lincoln.

At the session of police court Saturday morning five cases were disposed of in quick order with Judge Foss on the bench. The non-support case of William Segar, charged with failure to provide for his wife, Mrs. Mabel Segar and their four minor children, was continued for one week. Florimond Guay of Chaplin, charged with tampering with a motor vehicle, was fined ten dollars and costs amounting to $21.70, which was paid. A nolle without costs was entered in the breach of the peace case of Frank Rousseau of this city. Two intoxication cases were heard, one accused being given 24 hours to leave town and the other case nolled upon payment of costs.

Mrs. Fannie Pollock of Gurleyville who was fined one dollar and costs in the Columbia town court last Wednesday afternoon for issuing a fraudulent check to Archie Berkowitz, was arraigned in the Ashford town court on a similar charge, the check in this case having been dated July 16, last, for the mount of $31.88 and made out to Whitehouse brothers, proprietors of the Warrenville store. It was drawn on a Hartford bank where it was protested. Mrs. Pollock did not take advantage of a time limit to settle and she was fined $25 and costs, amounting to $36.07 which was paid plus the amount of the check.

In honor of Mrs. E. Frank Bugbee, Mrs. Raymond A. Parker entertained at a pretty Halloween bridge party in the afternoon, with five tables in play. Mrs. Harold F. Taylor won first prize, Miss Beatrice Bill second and Mrs. Bugbee was awarded the guest prize. Guests from out of town included Mrs. David Harvey of Yonkers, N. Y., Mrs. William P. Little of Bridgeport, Mrs. Elsie Polouektoff of Hartford, Mrs. W. R. L. McBee of Willington, Mrs. Louis L. Hills of Westbrook, Me., and Mrs. Robert C. Johnson of Norwich. Luncheon was served.

The new Hartford-Willimantic highway, considerable of which is expected to be of concrete, is now actually "in the works." A mammoth steam shovel has gone into the fields about two miles west of the city line, between Mathieu's hill and Katzman's corners, and is opening the way for a new roadbed. The dirt taken from digging through several knolls is being used as filler in a marshy plot of land over which the new road will be laid in the elimination of several hazardous curves over the present course.

Residents of Eastford who came here Saturday told of the landing of an airplane on the Lewis Lewith farm in that town late Friday afternoon. The landing was safely made. Although undamaged to all appearances, the plane remained on the farm this afternoon. Little information of the identity of the plane or its pilot could be secured, other than the fact that it carried mail and was traveling from Boston to Hartford at the time of the forced landing. The plane bore the inscription C-129 and was of the monoplane type. In reply to a telephone call to Brainard Field, Hartford, another plane was dispatched to Eastford to take the mail on to Hartford.

William Krug, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Krug of this city and Windham high school graduate has been elected business manager of The Nutmeg, the Connecticut Agricultural college year book published by the junior class. He is president of the Debating club and member of the campus board and of the honorary forensic fraternitq of Pi Kappa Delta.

Memories of the recent invasions of thieves in the city added to excitement which prevailed about 8:35 o'clock Saturday morning when the burglar alarm over the entrance to the Willimantic Savings institute began a continuous ringing. The police guarded the building while awaiting the arrival of Clarence E. Chamberlin, a bank employe, who was notified. It was found that a defective wire connection had caused the ringing.

Theodore F. Downing, former lieutenant of the state police and resident of this city for many years, visited old friends here and in New London over the week. Mr. Downing is now engaged in the industrial diamond business.

The practice of charging tolls for use of roads was known as long ago as 2,000 B. C.

Said Edward F. Keating, noted long distance swimmer, to his friend, James A. Burns, at a Toronto, Canada, beach.

Captain Charles B. Scully,
Noted Swimming Coach and Lecturer,
writes:

"As Director of The Life Saving Service of The N. Y. American Red Cross I am called on to make frequent speeches and to broadcast weekly. I must always have a clear voice—unirritated, with no chance of coughing. Lucky Strikes, my favorite cigarette, permits me to smoke as much as I choose and still keep my voice in perfect condition. Furthermore, because of their fine flavor, I recommend Lucky Strikes to all the champion swimmers whom I coach."

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"
